ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater

There is no more perfect pair of lovers on the screen today than Norma Talmadge and Eugene O'Brien. And, in Graustark, Norma's latest Joseph M. Schenck production, they are reported to have achieved new heights in the art of love-making. This picture, adapted from George Barr McCutcheon's popular novel, will be shown at the Breed theater today for the last times.

For Wednesday and Thursday the Breed will offer picture fans one of the best double feature programs seen here this season.

Heading the bill is Cecil B. DeMille's most lavish production since The Ten Commandments. Made for Love, with Leatrice Joy and an all star supporting cast.

This is a picture of ancient and modern Egypt—life on the Nile—the tombs of the Pharaohs, and the like, all brought to the attention in a most fascinating manner and with thrilling effect. Miss Joy's portrayal is as usual most artistic, while that of Edmund Burns, as the Egyptian prince, is satisfying. The cast generally is highly efficient.

Every boxing fan will want to see the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, Blarney, the second feature. It shows some accurate reproductions of the old time bare knuckle championship fights and every student of fisticuffs will be amazed at the contrasts between prize ring procedure then and now. Renee Adoree and Ralph Graves have the leading roles in the picture.

BEIT BROS. TO LOCATE IN THEIR NEW MARKET

That Norwich offers great opportunities to the thrifty and industrious is demonstrated by the marked progress made by Beit Bros., as meat retailers, who will locate on Saturday in their new market at No. 252 Main street.

Twenty years of most industrious toil and honest service to the public have rewarded the Beit Brothers with a following of the finest character. Their thousands of patrons are to be found not only in Norwich and New London, but also in many adjacent towns. To serve this ever increasing patronize Beit Brothers found their former quarters entirely inadequate and have been compelled to cast about for a home of their own; with the aim of building one of the finest plants in the country. They were fortunate in securing the building at 252 Main St., which is an ideal location for the style of business they are conducting. In July Beit Brothers took possession of their new premises and began rebuilding the interior on a grander scale than was ever attempted by a meat selling concern in the state. From this date Max Beit separated himself from Beit Brothers' staff and devoted his entire time to the building of the new plant. Day and night he has toiled and planned and today he has the satisfaction of a task well performed. His inspiration has resulted in building one of the most up-to-the-minute and the most sanitary meat-refrigerating plants which money, effort and modern building science can produce. The other Beit brothers backed Max to the limit and no labor expense or endeavor was spared with the result that the new Beit Brothers plant now completed is one of the finest retail stores to be found in the country.

A unique novelty of the Beit refrigerating plant is the second floor of the establishment. It consists of a cooling room measuring 800 square feet with the three large front windows provided with five layers of plate glass making 15 plate glass windows; and yet the interior is entirely visible from the street to the passing public. The warehouse on the third floor is built upon most modern approved principles with special arrangement for ventilation, cleanliness and facilities for quick handling of merchandise. The fouth floor is equipped as a baking plant. The machinery of this bakery is all electrical and is the marvel of the twentieth century mechanical inventions. The entire baking process will be consummated with hardly a touch of human hands, assuring the most sanitary, cleanliness and purity of the bread and pastry baked.

The store walls are faced entirely with standard sanitary white tile, metal ceiling and cement floors. The fixtures and show cases are most unique in construction, all the meat cases being refrigerated with heavy galvanized coils of the most approved construction so that meats can be displayed in any weather without fear of deterioration.

The meat display window received the most careful attention and was designed particularly with regard to sanitation, it being completely enclosed and refrigerated.

Special cases of new design were provided for the bread and pastry with the idea of cleanliness predominating. An outstanding feature of the fruit and vegetable handling is the fact that all merchandise sold will be kept under glass cases. A word about the fruit refrigeration will introduce the public to the wonders of the basement of the plant. This plant measures 450 square feet and is constructed to keep the fruits and vegetables perfectly fresh under an even temperature.

The sewerage in the building is the most worthy of note and deserves special mention. It is so arranged that after the business day is over the walls, ceiling and floors may be flushed with water and thereby dust, or any impurity which may collect during the business hours is washed away and drained off into the sewer, leaving the entire plant spick and span for the next business day.

Friends and business associates are greatly pleased to learn of Beit Brothers undertaking and wish them success in their new enterprise.

Club Meeting At Willimantic

The S. S. club held their annual dinner at a Willimantic tea room. The table was prettily decorated with Hallowe'en colors and favors. After dinner the club attended the theatre in Willimantic.

NORWICH TOWN

In honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Alice M. Ayer of Preston, with J. Elliot Ames, of Norwich Town, a miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. Elliott's cousin, Miss Lucy Saunders and his sister, Miss Delsie Ames, Saturday evening at the Ames homestead, 91 West Town street. The company of forty-five included chiefly Mr. Ames' relatives, [illegible] friends and neighbors in the village where he resides. A shower had already been given by Miss Ayer's sister, Mrs. Morris J. Ayer, at which relatives, friends and [illegible] were present. At the gathering Saturday evening music was provided by Wilson Maynard, banjo and Miss Alice Hall, piano and they also rendered several vocal duets. There were selections over the radio during the evening a most enjoyable [illegible]. Among those present were friends from Hope Valley and Westerly.

During the evening delicious ices and fancy wafers were served. The assisting committee, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Anderson, brother-in-law and sister respectively of the bride-elect, Miss L. E. Delbarre and M. Malpeche. The beautiful gifts were displayed on a table of china, cut glass, silverware, linen, [illegible] pieces, [illegible] in gold.

"The Need of a Trained Ministry," was the theme of Rev. Albert E. Whitten's sermon at the Sunday morning worship at the First Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. Mr. Whitten spoke in the interests of the [illegible] University school of theology. His text II Timothy [illegible] Study thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

The Young People's Christian Endeavor service was omitted because of the storm as was also the prayer meeting service, which was scheduled for the same reason.

At the First Congregational church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. Gordon F. Bailey chose for his theme "The Unknown." The text was Luke 8:3 And Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna and many others, which ministered unto them of their substance. In the evening Rev. Mr. Bailey was leader of the Young People's Christian Endeavor service, when the topic was "Lessons From Great Athletes'. I Corinthians 9:24-27; Hebrews 12:1-3.

For the Congregational mid-week service of conference and prayer, on Thursday evening, the [illegible] is Educational Institutions. [illegible] 8:11, with special reference to [illegible] The above comes under the head of School of Congregationalism.

To the meeting of the New London Association of Congregational Ministers and Churches at North Stonington church, today (Tuesday) the delegates appointed from the North Town churches are Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Reeves and Herbert L. Yerrington. Others from this church who will attend the conference are [illegible] Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey and Mrs. Bailey.

Irving Manning represented the Norwich Town Congregational church at the Boys' conference, held Friday in Waterbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jillson, moved during this month from 21 West Town street to 243 Broad street, Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. House and family of Town street and David Kinney of Tanner avenue were visitors at Lord's Point Sunday, making the trip by automobile.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"

Better than Soda

Next time, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Stocks irregular; minor steel shares at 1926 low.

Bonds steady; Belgium 7s lower as new loan is announced.

Foreign exchanges mixed; French and Italian currencies higher.

Cotton higher heavy short covering.

Sugar lower; Cuban selling.

Coffee weak; lower Brazilian markets.

Chicago

Wheat easy; disappointing foreign buying.

Corn lower, increased stocks

Cattle firmer.

STOCK PRICES LOWER

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—(AP)—Stock prices drifted lower in today's market, one of the quietest sessions in recent months. Uncertainty over the future trend of business and election unpredictables were among the many reasons assigned for the liquidation of stocks. A bearish interpretation also was placed upon the government estimate of a cotton crop of 17,444,000 bales, the largest on record, but cotton prices actually closed at small net advances after dropping about $2.00 a bale immediately after the publication of the report.

The sharp deflation in reserve shown in last Saturday's bank statement had manifested itself in the call money market when rates exchanged at 3-32 per cent after the close of the market the New York Federal Reserve bank announced a decrease of nearly $72,000,000 in brokers' loans in the week ended last Wednesday, showing a decrease of approximately $2,000,000 the week before. This brought the total loans down to $2,655,214,000, the lowest since July 28 and nearly half a billion dollars below the peak established in the first week of this year.

U. S. Steel common failed to respond to unprecedented quarterly extra cash dividend at tomorrow's meeting of the board of directors, closing unchanged at a point lower at 137 3-4. A wide weakness cropped out in some of the independent steels, Gulf States closing over 4 points to 71 3-8, the lowest price since 1922, Lukens and Youngstown 3 points to a new low for the year, at 97 3-4 and Sloss Sheffield finishing 6 1-2 points to 113 1-2.

Motors were also under pressure on renewed talk of price cuts and decreased production. General Motors from 147 ½ to 144 1-4 and then rallied to 146 off 1 1-8 net; Mack closed 6¾ from 4 to 91 1-4 and snapped back 3 to 93 off 1-2. Willys Overland preferred sank to a new low at 58 1-2 after Indian Motorcycle at 16 and White rose 3 a point. Another bullish demonstration was staged in Tobacco Below Bearing, which rallied from 37 1-4 to 84 1-8 and then eased to 82 3-4 up 2 1-4 net.

Among the dozen or so issues to show new low prices for the year, or later, were Lorillard Tobacco, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Century Ribbon, Advance Rumely preferred, National Department Stores and New York State Railways. On the other hand, May Department Stores and Lambert Co were bid up to new highs. Eastman Kodak was bid up over 4 points in the late dealings. Good buying also was noted in some of the coal and amusement stocks.

Rails held steady on publication of additional favorable September earnings reports. Considerable interest was manifested in the meeting Norfolk & Western directors in Philadelphia, tomorrow as a result of reports that the extra dividend may be increased.

Commodity prices were mixed with little interest shown outside of cotton. December wheat sold down more than a cent a bushel with later options yielding fractionally. Raw Sugar was unchanged and coffee scored net advances of 37 to 41 points.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Wide movements in the continental currencies featured the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling sank to $4.84 1-4 the lowest of the year, but French francs held firm around 3.05 cents. Belgian francs ruled just above 2.75 cents, the reported stabilization price fixed by the Belgian government. Italian lire rallied 13 points to just under 4 1-2 cents but Norwegian krone broke another 24 points to 24.80 cents.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—(AP)—Trading in the bond market today was unusually dull and prices showed a tendency to ease off after an early period of strength. Some uneasiness was created by the weakness of the stock and cotton markets but there was nothing in the money outlook to cause alarm.

The attention of investment circles was focused on the plan announced for stabilizing the

HUGHES URGES RE-ELECTION OF SENATOR WADSWORTH

Former Chief Justice in Campaign Address in New York Told His Audience to "Vote as You Please on Prohibition, But Don't Destroy the Republican Party"—In Advocating the Election of Ogden L. Mills as Governor, Mr. Hughes Asserted That He Has Always Liked Governor Smith, But Believes It Just as Well to Give Another Man a Chance.

NEW HUSTER, N. Y., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Charles Evans Hughes in urging the re-election of Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., in a campaign address today, told his audience to "vote as you please on the referendum, but don't destroy the Republican party."

"I am well aware that there are republicans who oppose the re-election of Senator Wadsworth because of his attitude in relation to the 18th amendment," said the former secretary of state. "But it should be remembered that there is no issue between the parties upon respect to the provision for the referendum. That provision has been made. Nor is there any issue between the parties as to the question submitted in the referendum. The line of division on this question runs across the parties, not between them."

The question between the parties is whether you will support a sound republican administration in Washington. The question between the parties is whether you will have a thoroughly trained, well-equipped senator of great influence in the senate or a new man whose political principles I do not approve."

Failure to re-elect Senator Wadsworth, he said, "would be a national misfortune" and a "very unintelligent performance for the people of the state of New York." "A vote not cast for Wadsworth," he said, "is in effect a vote cast for Judge Robert F. Wagner."

"If Judge Wagner were chosen with his ability, which I do not underestimate it would take him years to reach the level of experience on which Senator Wadsworth now stands."

Mr. Hughes reviewed the administration of national and international affairs under Presidents Harding and Coolidge and spoke highly of the economies affected by the Coolidge administration, the funding of the foreign war debts, and the immigration and tariff laws.

"By a republican," he declared, "it seems to me that it should be regarded as an agreeable duty to support in the senate and the house a national administration which does the party the highest honor. By all citizens, irrespective of party, it seems to me that it should be deemed a privilege to approve and make secure the present conduct of national affairs—sane, sound, conserving and progressive under the leadership of President Coolidge.

In advocating the election of Ogden L. Mills, republican nominee for governor, Mr. Hughes said:

"I have always liked the governor, but I think it just as well to give another man a chance. There is no reason why the governorship should become a personal perquisite. It would be well at this time to try a new broom."

Pointing out that the new state reorganization plan will go into effect under the next administration, Mr. Hughes asserted the power given the governor under the plan "can be abused so as to create a great state political machine under the personal authority of the governor."

"Now there are many democrats, as well as republicans," he said, "who, while they like Governor Smith, do not care to see such power united to that already exercised in New York city by Tammany Hall."

QUEEN MARIE AND ROYAL PARTY ARE IN TORONTO

TORONTO Ont. Oct. 26—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania set foot on Canadian soil today for the first time. She saw the wonders of Niagara and then came by special train to Toronto with beaming face and jaunty carriage as she strode through lanes of humanity in the station, the queen acknowledged the cheers of Toronto.

In her sprightly step she seemed to feel the feeling which she had expressed a few hours before at Hamilton, Ont., when she told Mayor Thomas:

"I have always dreamed of coming to Canada, and now I am here. It is good to be here."

At Hamilton Queen Marie and Princess Ileana conversed in Rumania with a group of their own people, who crowded about the observation car. It was a joyous gathering and there was much smiling and nodding of heads. But before the train departed Marie found the major what lines of business had claimed her countrymen in Hamilton, and he replied: "All lines, your majesty."

The queen was the guest of the Women's Canadian club this afternoon, and of Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Cockshutt at government house this evening.

INCREASE IN EARNINGS OF NEW HAVEN ROAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—Gross revenue of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad for September increased $197,925 over September, 1925. Freight earnings were $151,284 more than last year and passenger earnings increased $34,613. Net income for September was $1,284,374 and for the nine months this year $5,994,539. After allowing for guarantees which the interstate commerce commission charged direct to profit and loss instead of to income as heretofore, the figures would be reduced to $1,152,941 for September and $5,162,939 for the 9 months. The comparable increases over last year then would be $162,962 for September and $353,000 for the 9 months.

PERUVIAN SUBMARINES HAVE SAILED FOR COLON

NEWPORT R. I. Oct. 26—(AP)—The two Peruvian submarines R-1 and R-2, built at New London, Conn., for the government of the South American republic, sailed today for Colon on the first leg of their voyage to Callao, Peru. The submarines had been here since October 21 taking on supplies for their cruise.

The vessels were ready to put to sea on Sunday but were detained in port because of the stormy weather conditions. The submarines, which are 186 feet in length and of 800 tons displacement, will be the only craft of their type in the Peruvian navy.

DEMURRER SUSTAINED BY JUDGE A. L. BROWN

MIDDLETOWN Oct. 26—(AP)—Judge A. L. Brown in a decision handed down here today, sustained a demurrer filed by attorneys for Harriet A. Wilder, mother of the late Edna H. Wilder, librarian at Russell library, in a case involving compensation.

Miss Wilder, who had been librarian for eight years, suffered a nervous breakdown last fall and was ordered to take a rest. This she refused to do. Later she was sent to a sanitarium for treatment and then to the family retreat. She was returned to the sanitarium here and last March took her own life.

$60 MACHINE GUNS FOR MARINES GUARDING MAILS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Mail bandits are to be fought with their own type of weapons. Postmaster General New has purchased 250 Thompson machine guns for immediate delivery to the marines on guard at various mail centers and has placed orders for an additional supply.

The gun selected is an improved model of the kind used by the Elizabeth N. J., bandits in their holdup of the mails there recently.

NON-UNION CARPENTER WAS BEATEN TO DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26—(AP)—Murder charges were filed here today against two officials of the Carpenters' union and five others in connection with the fatal beating of C. W. Campbell, a non-union carpenter on an open shop job a few days ago. All were arrested and the matter of their bail was postponed in the police court until tomorrow.

Two men are Archibald Mooney, vice-president of the Carpenters 8 union, organization; Paul Clifford, business agent of the local Carpenters union. Albert and Sam Moore, brothers, Christophers O'Sullivan, Gus Madsen and George E. Pasco.

All of the murder defendants and three others were arrested last night in a police round up of suspected strikebreakers and not conspirators, but most of them were released on bail.

The murder of Campbell was the first in the strike. The condition of the suspects came after a citizens' committee of one hundred members demanded in the press that "they get busy."

DANBURY MAN SUES TO COLLECT $50,000 INSURANCE

DANBURY, Oct. 26—(AP)—A jury was selected in superior court today in the suit of George N. Cardin against a group of six fire insurance companies to recover $50,000 of insurance.

A factory owned by Cardin was burned on May 16, 1925, the cause of the blaze having been undetermined. Cardin, a manufacturer of batteries, put in a claim for $50,000 insurance. This the companies refused to pay until an investigation had been made. Cardin is now bringing suit against the companies.

Two hundred witnesses have been summoned, many of them former employes, and it is expected that the trial will last six weeks. Judge John W. Banks is presiding.

16-YEAR OLD BOY ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF WOMAN

MONTICELLO, N. Y. Oct. 26—(AP)—Confronted by an apparently overwhelming weight of circumstantial evidence, Charles Wise, 16-year-old ward of the Brooklyn Children's Aid society, sat unperturbed in Sullivan county court today while his attorneys questioned the men who will decide his fate. Wise is charged with the murder last July of Nina Vaupel, 30-year-old parent of a Mount Vernon motion picture theatre.

The motion upon which the jurors with examined since the trial opened yesterday, was answered in the affirmative.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER LEAPED TO THEIR DEATHS

NEW YORK Oct. 26—(AP)—A mother and daughter leaped to their deaths from a window on the eleventh floor of the Martha Washington hotel, East 30th street, tonight. Police said the women were Mrs. Bertha Wasbauer, 59, and her daughter Dorothy, 30.

The addresses of the women were not learned.

Shortly after the alleged double suicide, A. Hegrahman, of Brooklyn, who said he was a brother of Mrs. Wasbauer, claimed the bodies. It was said the two women residented at the hotel an hour before they leaped to their death.

FRIENDSHIP OF 15 YEARS END IN DOUBLE TRAGEDY

DELAWARE, Ohio, Oct. 26—(AP)—The bodies of O. H. Betts, postmaster at Garrett, Indiana, and Mrs. Grace Brown, Columbus saleswoman, were in a Delaware morgue tonight while police pieced together the story of a friendship of fifteen years' standing, which ended in swift tragedy in Betts' automobile, on a country road near here.

The bodies were found today, each pierced with a bullet.

Bett shot Mrs Brown, then killed himself, probably last night, the police believe. He was incensed at attentions Mrs. Brown received from another man.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The former kaiser's reported issuance of invitations to a "royal hunt" at Rominten, East Prussia, cannot be true, the official Prussian press service says, "for technical reasons alone."

TEHERAN, Persia, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The shah of Persia escaped uninjured when an automobile which was escorting him on a tour of the province of Manzanderan was blown up near Damavend. Several officers were killed and two injured.

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The monarchist conference held at Niewiez yesterday with the attendance of Marshal Pilsudski has led to the supposition in some quarters that Pilsudski has a desire to become king. This supposition is declared to be at least premature.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A report published in the Sunday Express that The Most Rev. Randall Thomas Davidson, archbishop of Canterbury was about to resign because of ill health has been denied by the archbishop's chaplain. "There is no foundation for the report that the archbishop is contemplating retirement," the chaplain stated.

PRE-ELECTION CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES RECORDED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Pre-election campaign expenditures, ranging from 30 cents to thousands of dollars, were reported to clerks of the senate and house today by a host of candidates and a number of political organizations.

The republican national senatorial committee reported disbursements of $47,564.20 and the democratic senatorial committee listed expenditures at $85,793.04, the republican group placed contributions at $95,058.17, with a balance on hand of $47,528.75 while the democrats reported contributions of $92,999.58 and balance of $14,200.94.

All funds of the republican senatorial organization were reported as coming from the republican national committee. The democratic group listed a group of contributors headed by Thomas F. Ryan with $40,000; B. M. Baruch, $12,000; T. L. Chadbourne, $10,000; the democratic national committee, $10,000, and $5,000 by its chairman, Senator Gerry, of Rhode Island.

The democratic report showed $22,500 had been sent to Ohio, while the republican statement made no mention of Ohio expenditures. The republicans sent $2,500 to Senator Gooding in Idaho and the democrats, $5,000 to J. F. Nugent, who is opposing him.

COURTS WILL DECIDE THE OWNERSHIP OF $320,000

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 26—(AP)—Having successfully answered the question of what becomes of $320,000 in [illegible] investigators of Pittsburg's board [illegible] were confronted tonight with the problem of ownership of the money, which promised to be equally perplexing.

Pending establishment of the owners, Inspector of Detectives [illegible] Baldwin carried the cash in a satchel and placed it in a safe deposit vault to be "safe" for the city.

The courts are expected shortly to decide the ownership of the money.

In the connection it was pointed out that the [illegible] of R. A. Van Inda, president of the Moose Brotherhood of America and Treasurer [illegible] of Liberty bonds and [illegible] which, when forwarded to Washington, were found to be counterfeit. This led to the [illegible] of Grady's association with other men who were under arrest, have failed to appear in court [illegible] fear of [illegible] the men [illegible] legal [illegible] [illegible] the bondsmen.

FAVORS REGULATION OF MOTOR TRANSPORTATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Motor trucks and bus transportation over highways should be subjected to regulation by the states, Attorney General [illegible] declared today in an address before the annual convention of police heads assembled today at Interstate commerce commission hearing on the subject.

Power to regulate should be vested primarily in the states he said, proposing a system of interstate agreements in which state utilities commissions or other department might function in deciding issues from cases decisions he said, an appeal might be given to the interstate commerce commission.

Legislation also might be necessary in his opinion, to make more effective existing transportation companies, such as railroads could enter freely into the motor carriage service.

Prior to Mr. Macdonald's appearance, C. A. Reitz of Baltimore, secretary of a Maryland state association of bus and truck operators, held federal regulation upon the highway carriers unnecessary.

BOOTLEGGERS OFFERING BRIBES TO "DRY" AGENTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—With the supply of alcohol almost entirely cut off, bootleggers are offering tempting bribes to prohibition agents. Major Chester P. Mills prohibition director for this district, announced today. He admitted that a few of the agents are unquestionably accepting bribes.

"The prohibition department in this district," he said "has almost complete control of the grain and denatured alcohol situation. Bootleggers are frantic and every agent is surrounded by some type or other with tempting bribes. In fact there is bribery going on, but we have the upper hand."

NOTHING FROM "KEY MAN" IN MELLETT MURDER CASE

CANTON Ohio, Oct. 26—(AP)—While the state delayed further questioning Patrick Eugene McDermott, recently apprehended "key-man" in the Mellett murder case counsel for those jointly indicted with him for the slaying today attempted to reach him without avail.

Prosecutor C. B. McClintock and Detective Ora Slater put off their quizzing of McDermott, pending the return to Canton of Bernard McDermott, brother of "Pat" who aided in his apprehension.

Y. M. C. A. NATIONAL COUNCIL CALLS FOR $54,000,000 BUDGET

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The national council of the Y. M. C. A., through affiliated local association, has set for its 1927 task, the chore of meeting a budget of approximately $54,000,000.

The report of the budget committee, submitted today to the first plenary session of the annual council meeting, outlined "Y" activities at home and abroad which will call for expansion in several departments.

Tole[illegible]acher Was Clubbed to Death

Women of the City Are Terrorized — Mentally Deficient Persons Are Being Rounded Up.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 26—(AP)—A round up of mentally deficient persons was ordered by Chief of Police Harry Jennings, tonight, in the search for the attacker and slayer of Miss Lily Dale Croy, 26, Toledo school teacher.

Five hundred of the murderer, who brutally beat the teacher to death in a school yard two blocks from her home last night, so resembled the operations of the notorious Toledo clubber of a year ago that police prepared for another wave of hysteria.

Women, frightened by the attack on Miss Croy remained within their homes.

Authorities are convinced that the slayer of Miss Croy is a degenerate. The mentally deficient persons taken in the proposed round-up will be subjected to rigid examination, Chief Jennings said.

By this method, during the reign of the clubber last year police succeeded in sending a number to hospitals for insane, although the clubber's identity remained a mystery. Rewards totalling $3,000 posted at that time will stand, officials said.

Miss Croy, who was a night student at Toledo university, and an active church and Sunday school worker left her home last night to attend classes at the university. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Croy became alarmed when she had not returned at a late hour.

About 1:30 o'clock this morning, while police were looking for the woman, Julius Wiest, half-brother of Miss Croy found her body under a fire escape at Washington school. Much of the young woman's clothing had been torn away although her outer cloak had not been removed. She apparently had been struck from behind.

There was direct evidence of criminal assault either before or after death, Coroner Hanzler declared.

Toledo school teachers held an unofficial meeting today and discussed the hiring of private investigators to run down the slayer.

The circumstances surrounding the death of Miss Croy were very similar to [illegible] Hazel [illegible] in the spring of [illegible] Although [illegible] three years [illegible] passed [illegible] The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

FRANK P. BROOKE STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 26—While attending the matinee performance at the Capitol theatre in this city this afternoon, Frank P. Brooke, aged 68, of South Coventry, was stricken with a severe attack of hemorrhages of the stomach. He was removed to the theatre office where everything possible was done for his relieve while awaiting the arrival of Dr. J. Arthur Ground. Mr Brooke was then removed to St. Joseph's hospital where his condition was regarded as serious late in the evening. Mr. Brooke is retired from business and has been a resident of South Coventry for about ten years. He is the father of Grand Juror Robert G. Brooke and of Mrs. Edith Colburn of South Coventry.

SUPERIOR COURT WILL MEET ON ELECTION DAY

(Special to the Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 26—The business of holding court will not be halted on election day, next Tuesday, it was announced at the short calendar and assignment of cases session held here Tuesday by Judge Alfred C. Baldwin, who presided at the opening of the civil side of the October term of the Windham county superior court. Judge Baldwin stated that the attorneys should have assignments prepared for specified dates to go through without fail and that he planned to clear up all possible matter on the present docket. Business was slow in the court, Tuesday however, only one of the five cases listed being heard. The case was that of Laurette B. Green of Plainfield vs. Joseph Glowski of Jewett City, a suit brought to recover rent on property leased by the defendant from the plaintiff on November 15, 1918.

Cases which had been assigned for Tuesday and failed to come up for trial were: Lena H. Imhoff vs. Antonio Gerosa; A Kommell & Sons vs. Robert Gallighan; Mary Vertefeuille vs. Moise Vertefeuille; Fred L. Stevens vs. James Demarchi and Napoleon Brindamour vs. Francis Calderado.

A session of reassignment of Tuesday's cases will be held in the local court room Friday by Clerk of the Court Miss Marjorie Bradford. Other cases will also be assigned at this time. Judge Baldwin will not be in court Friday but will preside next Tuesday when another short calendar session will be held.

Disposition of several short calendar cases was made Tuesday. Judgment by default was obtained in the case of Shirley Mills vs. Lawrence Keegan Co., a motion to disclose the defense. On request of Attorney Morse for the plaintiff, Judge Baldwin awarded the full bill of damages, amounting to $1,690.36, plu sinterest for a total of $2,128.88.

A finding for the plaintiff to recover by default the sum of $10,467.17 was rendered in the case of Paul M. Broomfield vs. The Lawrence Keegan company.

Another judgment by default, asked by Attorney Howard C. Bradford, was granted in the case of the Town of Putnam vs. the Estate of Walter T. Phinney, a bill of particulars was furnished H. Miron, tax collector, state to be indebted to [illegible] and liens. The the plaintiff to recover [illegible] 63.04.

[illegible] S. E. Aaron company vs. the George A. Vaughan corporation, a hearing on the defendant's motion for permission to file separate accounts and demurrer, both were granted and the plaintiff's motion for judgment by default was declared off.

The attorneys argued in the case of Rose K. Clark vs. the Hartford Connecticut Trust company, executor, a motion to cite in an additional party as defendant Judge Baldwin took the papers for consideration.

The motion for disclosure of defense in the case of Arthur E. Howard trustee, vs. Rose Levine, was not contested. Attorney Morse asked for judgment in foreclosure of lein. The request was granted and judgment awarded to the amount of $2,796. At the suggestion of Attorney Morse, the court appointed George E. Grant and W. E. Wheaton of Putnam, appraisers, and set Tuesday, November 30, as limitation for the period for redemption.

The case of the Independent Refining company vs. E. A. Buck & Co, was put over by consent.

Two uncontested divorce cases listed for Tuesday did not come up for trial. They were those of Julia Swierad vs. Lawrence Swierad, the case having been withdrawn according to Attorney A. G. Bill, and the case of Antoinette Sears vs. Amedee Sears, also declared off the list.

Four cases were listed to be heard Wednesday: Estelle H. Remington vs. the Willimantic & Hartford Jitney association, R. G. Remington vs. The Willimantic & Hartford Jitney association, Robert Edward Dzomba vs. Alfred E. Smith and George E. Lummis admr., appeal from probate, estate of Frank C. Lummis.

Court was adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

District Governor Allan D. Colvin of Hartford, was guest of the Willimantic Rotary club at the noon meeting Tuesday in the Nathan Hale hotel on the occasion of his annual visitation to the club. Governor Colvin, who is head of the 30th Rotary district, brought out many inspiring thoughts of the possibilities of Rotary. He opened his remarks with words of praise for Harry H. Rogers of San Antonio, Texas, new president of Rotary International. Rotary at the present time is composed of 123,000 business and professional men of the world and each club as a unit has Rotary as an opportunity to make application of fundamental truths for good. Governor Colvin was accorded a rising vote of thanks in the evening he met with the club council, composed of the officers, board of directors and committee chairmen of the club, at an informal gathering in the Nathan Hale hotel at 6:30 o'clock.

An unusually enjoyable entertainment was furnished at the meeting by Gerald Griffin reknown tenor soloist, who is playing an engagement at the Capitol theatre and who was guest at the luncheon. He was introduced by Valentine L. Murphy. Mr. Groffin favored with solos, some of them of his own composition, and with clever Irish jokes. He was accompanied by his own pianist. Rex McGraw. Michael H. Flynn of the Hartford Rotary club, was another guest.

Roland E. Jordan, chairman of the On to Danbury committee outlined the prospective arrangements to attend the Danbury Charter Night meeting on the evening of Wednesday of next week. Indications are that about a score of members will attend.

Perfect attendance bars for September and October were presented to the following members by Secretary Loiselle: Walter Abbe, Fred L. Avery, James P. Bath, William A. Dawson, Richard E. Dodge P. D. Donahue, H. Everett Harrington, Roland B. Jordan, William E. Jackson, Louis A. Kingsbury, P. J. Laramee, Gerard E. Loiselle, Alfred J. Martineau, James P. Mustard, Albert F. O'Neill, Frank M. Attorney Harry S. Gaucher of this city, one of the speakers at the annual convention of the Connecticut society of Franco-Americans held in Hartford Tuesday, reviewed the progress of citizens of French descent in this state. Attorney Gaucher, who is historian of the society, stated that the French-American population is now above 65,000, comprising 15,481 families. About 15,400 of this number are voters, and the total population controls property valued at over $30,000,000.

The gambling cases, resulting in the arrest of men found gambling in the rear of store and pool room at 13 Railroad street Monday afternoon by Chief of Police Thomas F. Grady, were taken up in police court Tuesday morning. The case of Walter Rivers, which appeared on the docket as listed for trial for gambling following the arrest, proved to be a case of mistaken identity before court and Rivers was discharged of any implication in the case without being required to appear before the court. Glen Foster of Lebanon was also discharged when it was found that he had not taken part in the gambling. The four remaining cases were those of John Brown, 28, Frederick Nevers 29, John Smith 34 and William Smith 21. Brown had been charged with keeping a gambling place for the accidental that he was not one of the original proprietors of the establishment, the charge was changed to one of gambling. Brown pleaded guilty to this and was fined $3 and costs amounting to $8.15. Nevens and the two Smiths did not appear for trial and the bonds of $15 each were declared forfeited by the court.

AIRPLANE LANDED AT JEWITT CITY TUESDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWITT CITY, Oct. 26.—A big biplane made a landing in one of F. H. Gilbert's big fields in mid-afternoon Tuesday. The pilot was bound from Schenectady, N. Y., to Narragansett Pier where his wife is ill. The plane was of commercial register and was at present on an advertising trip for the owners of Alexander the Great, the wonder movie dog.

The landing was made here to fill up on gas. The machine of Tuesday was the second one to pick Mr. Gilbert's big fields as a landing place.

By a coincidence in the fishing records for the season just closing are three 7 1-2 pounders, as follows: A large mout hblack bass to William Magel, caught in Hopeville pond, July 25, a pickerel, caught in Glasgo pond, Aug. 11, by a resident of the town, and an eel, caught by a Polish man in Aspinock pond, Oct. 25.

Dahlia growers about this section are busy taking up the "toes" and storing them for the winter. Last winter many valuable bulbs were lost by local growers. The Old Cluey Watson gardens harvested close to 1,000 bulbs of 142 varieties. The blossoms have been admired all summer, with Maud Adams and the purple Junipr as favorites.

A report from Mr. Weaver at the Jewett City reservoir on Stone Hill shows that in the storm of Sunday night the [illegible] official rain gauge tells that 2.01 inches of rain fell. The reservoir is 70 inches low, which is 7 inches lower than on Oct. 1, 1925.

POETRY

Content with her toiling
That stayed not, day nor night,
Finished with her harvest
All safe from frost or blight,
Clad in richest raiment,
Gown, and cap, and shoon,
Nature now is dreaming
Through the golden afternoon.

Nature now is dreaming—
And smiling in her dreams!
The world has reached the woodland,
And the little silver streams;
The trees are whispering softly,
The streams are murmuring low—
With never sound to ripple
On the pebbles as they flow.

Every sound that pulses
Through the veiling violet haze
Comes all hushed, and hesitant;
The little breeze that plays
Among the gold and scarlet
Of leaves that drifted to
Makes but a faintest rustling—
And no one wonders why.

For Nature now is dreaming.
Is it of harvest stored
In barn, and bin, and cellar,
A proud and priceless hoard?
No, no! It is of Springtime—
Buds and shower-bright gleams,
That Nature now is dreaming,
And smiling in her dreams!
—Minnie Leona Upton in The Christian Science Monitor.

The Brier

My brier that smelled sweet,
When gentle spring's first heat
Ran through thy quiet veins;
Thou that couldst injure none,
But wouldst be let alone,
Alone thou leavest me, and naught of thine remains.

What! hath no poet's lyre
O'er thee, sweet-breathing brier,
Hung fondly, ill or well?
And yet, methinks, with thee
A poet's sympathy,
Whether in weal or woe, in life or death, might dwell

Hard usage both must bear,
Few hands your youth will rear,
Few blooms cherish you;
Your tender prime must bleed
Ere you are sweet; but, freed
From life, you then are prized; thus prized are poets too.
—Walter Savage Landor.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

There is no way to make it rain, says a weather expert; but it seems to help some when you put on a white suit.—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

"I always find that hen roosting on the mailbox."

"Sure. It was hatched from a parcel post egg."—Boston Transcript.

Cop—What's the matter with you, why don't you blow your horn at crossings?"

Motorist—Salesman—"Sorry sir, but every time I do all the girls step out to the curb."—Sample Case.

"Why did Agnes break off her engagement with Harry?"

"The electric fuse burned out at her home last night, and the boob went and fixed it!"—Devon Ledger.

Mrs. Yearswedd—I am all run down. I think I'll hire a cook and husband my strength.

Yearswedd—Yes do, dear, and strengthen your husband.—Exchange

Jones: "Sorry to keep you waiting—but I've just been setting a trap for my wife."

Friend: "Good heavens! What do you suspect?"

Jones: "A mouse in the pantry."—London Opinion.

Third Floor: "What was your husband swearing so violently about last night?"

Second Floor: "Oh, he came in in the dark and stepped on the new prayer rug I had just bought."—Cougars Paw.

Very New Office Boy (who has just handed long column of figures to employer)—"I've added those figures up ten times, sir."

Very New Office Boy (handing up another slip of paper)—"An' here's the ten answers, sir."—Chicago Tribune.

KALEIDOSCOPE

October and January head the list of months for bad colds.

The farthest known star is about 1,203,572,675 billion miles from the earth.

The life of uranium, the parent element of radium, is about 8,000,000,000

The smallest area that can be detected with present microscopes would be big enough to be paved with 30,000 atoms.

The government recently spent $25,000 in repairing a temporary office building, damaged by white ants known as termites.

Rubberized wall paper, which may be washed or disinfected without injury, is being used by hospitals and some other public buildings.

Some natives of the Fiji Islands are said to wash their hair three times a day, sleeping with their necks on a stick of wood to protect their headdress.

The Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone river, 1,000 feet deep and twenty miles long is regarded as Yellowstone park's finest scene. The soft rock walls of the canyon are colored in pastel shades from deep green through yellowish brown orange.

A thirty inch 45,000,000-candle power searchlamp has cut the theft rate of motor cars in half, according to officials of the Worcester (Mass.) police department, where the powerful light is used. Instructed to be on the alert for flashes from the light from its position on a building, the police, on seeing it, go at once to the nearest police box for details of the theft. The idea is that arrest on the part of the cops where the theft was committed.

Rheumatism costs the world as much as tuberculosis in loss of wages and labor, according to a report to the American Medical association. The remedy is much more important economically than is generally believed and an international society to combat it has been organized through the action of an association of physicians in the Netherlands. This society is about to issue a world-wide rheumatism questionnaire to collect information about the causes, climates and social conditions and other factors that enter into the prevalence of the affection. These data will be used as a basis of scientific studies and determine better methods for its treatment and cure.

Holland is draining the Zuyder Zee in order to make more grazing land for the fat cattle that supply the world with Dutch cheeses. When the feat is accomplished Volendam, long one of the show spots of the Netherlands will be a herring town without a harbor. The brown sailed fishing fleet will be left high and dry and the pink cheeked Dutch girls who parade the dykes on Sundays when the fleet is in port will no longer have any reason for parading. Other towns of the Zuyder Zee will share Volendam's fate. The village economy, ever always been commercial with the sea must turn to agriculture or become extinct. Tourists who go to Zuyder Zee towns to see the colorful costumes and hearty fishermen must go elsewhere when the bed of the Zuyder Zee has been annexed to the fertile fields behind the dykes.

SOUTH KILLINGLY

Mrs. Albert Grover has returned from a visit with friends in Moosup valley.

Ada and Myra Spaulding and William Potter spent the week end at Spaulding cottage.

S. B. Ray of Moosup and F. C. Tillinghast of Central Village called on friends here one day last week.

THE EXECUTIVE RIGHT

There are constitutional questions which arise and continue to be debated without finding out when contention is right. Others go for a long time without discussion while some thought [illegible] and more quickly.

The power conferred upon the executive by the constitution, as regards filling a state of [illegible] long time half century there has existed a law by which congress undertook to curb it. As has been interestingly brought out in the decision in the so-called Myers case this developed at a time when there was a heated difference of opinion between the then president and the majority leaders of congress." It resulted in legislation which provided that postmasters of the first three classes "shall be appointed and may be removed by the president, by and with the advice and consent of the senate."

President Wilson contended that the law was unconstitutional, that the president had a constitutional right to remove those he appoints from office and he did remove, not long after appointment, Postmaster Myers of Portland, Ore. The decision of the supreme court just rendered upholds President Wilson and determines once and for all the executive power. It is a decision which is rendered, as the chief justice says, at such a time so far away from the action by congress that the matter can be reviewed in a calm spirit.

By its action congress undertook to tie the hands of the president in connection with matters which were covered by the Constitution. Instead of the executive branch of the government standing by itself it was being made subject to the legislation. The law made it possible for the senate, if it so desired, to keep a person in office however unfit he might be and even if the president wanted him removed.

The effect of the court's decision, reached by a vote of 6 to 3, is to end that situation, or contention, and give the president his constitutional right to record to appointees. The right of the chief executive has been upheld and is henceforth fixed. It was a matter of much importance and it is well that a decision has been reached in this age old dispute.

INSTRUCTING THE MARINES

In calling upon the marines for the purpose of suppressing the mail robbers, it is remembered that it isn't the first time that this branch of the army has been employed for suppressing such an element. They gave effective service when the situation required their services in stopping the train holdups and there is good reason for believing that they will be equally successful in the latest endeavor.

When, however, Brigadier General Feland gives instructions to the marines in connection with the work to which they have been assigned he makes no mistake in warning them of its serious character. He has made a study of the methods of the mail robbers and recognizes that they are desperate men, so determined to accomplish their purpose that they let nothing stand in the way. The idea of killing doesn't interrupt their plan. They are prepared and they intend to get their loot at any cost. Thus it is timely advice which the brigadier general furnishes when he warns the marines to give their whole attention to their work, to speak to no one while on duty, to guard attempts at drugging, to be ready for attacks and to "be guarded even against your friends for with such stakes as these bandits play for the life of a friend means nothing."

When the marines were placed on trains for the suppression of holdup men they were given orders to shoot to kill. It was evident that business was meant and recognition was given to it. A similar order, that of "shoot to kill at the slightest sign of an attack upon the mails," at this time is open to only one interpretation. The marines have not been called upon for service in this direction with the idea of serving as targets or making a bluff. They are expected to get the desired results and there is good reason for believing that they will, but it is only proper that the character of the service should be carefully presented to them, and this it would appear had been carefully and pointedly done by Brigadier General Feland. He has not overdrawn the situation if the recent New Jersey case was what he had in mind.

FIGHTING THE PRIMARY

In entering into the fight against the primary Vice President Dawes is expressing views which coincide with other observers. He has noted it in operation and he has become convinced that it does not accomplish what was expected of it, that the theory does not work out well in practice and that there ought to be a change without further trial.

The primary was supposed to correct the convention evil. It does away with the convention but it opens up the avenue for an even greater evil. It was supposed to stop the use of money in conventions where nominations were sought. With no conventions, money is not employed under such conditions, but in the primary sums are spent for in excess of anything ever heard of in conventions. The primary has failed to do what was expected of it, but has done just what it was expected to cure. It has created opposition among its friends, who have seen the effects of its operations. It has opened up the way for the candidate with wealth in back of him to spend lavishly and it has made it necessary for any candidate, regardless of his financial standing, to require a large backing if he is going to reach the voters in a legitimate way.

The primary presents in some instances such a long list of names that it is utterly impossible for the voters to know them or their qualifications. It makes it possible for a minority to name the candidate regardless of fitness or desirability and it is natural that it should be regarded as playing much more successfully into the hands of the politicians than the convention.

The longer the primary remains in operation the stronger becomes the evidence against it.

ELECTION NOT REFERENDUM

The mistaken idea seems to prevail among many that the coming election is the occasion for giving expression to the wishes of the voter as to prohibition.

This may be true in some states like New York where there is a referendum on that question, but for the voters in states where there is no referendum to vote for or against certain candidates on that one question alone and in disregard of their own interests as to federal or state government is a short sighted policy. Such means a lining up of the wets and drys in both parties without regard for anything else. As for the desirability of getting an expression by the people as to the wisdom of the present prohibition enforcement or modification there is no question. A strong demand but the present opposition is not waiting for organization. Candidates who have nothing to do with any such question but who are concerned with the assumption of the responsibilities of such offices as they have been chosen for and should be treated on their merits on election day.

Whose wishes among party and try to use the election as a referendum on any one particular question is the utter disregard of everything else they are inviting consequences which they little realize. New York's method of getting the opinion of the voters is the correct one.

THE WATERBURY AMERICAN

In recognition of the occupancy of its new building The Waterbury American which occupies the plant jointly with the Republican, has issued a special edition of 194 pages. As is characteristic of the paper it is a most attractive issue presenting in detail the interesting new building and the corps of workers.

In reference to its new home The American points out that it is "an experience so rare that it may be unique for a newspaper to build itself two new homes within a little more than a quarter of a century but such is the case and its stands to the credit of the newspaper, its officials and the city which supports it.

The Waterbury American has been published since 1844, appearing first as a weekly when the city had but 3,000 population. For 45 years Charles F. Chapin has been editor in chief and had a most influential part in the development of that excellent newspaper. In 1922 the American was merged with the Republican, first published in 1881, but the publication of both was continued with energetic W. J. Page as the publisher and it is this joint publication which has now moved from the American building to a new and larger plant.

MY FAMILY QUARREL

Nothing had been farther from my mind than to precipitate the quarrel, yet it is rather natural to bring one's worries home. There had been a question of conduct, first a friend's, and, in consequence, mine. What had happened was this:

A politically minded classmate of mine, a persistent and most successful hunter of lions, gave a luncheon for a big person from Washington. She invited me, and in doing so said, "I shall expect a toast from you. Be your wittiest," and, flattered, I admit, I agreed to do my best. How many sleepless hours, how many rejected ideas this involved only my fellow sufferers know, but I gathered a few careful sentiments into what should seem a spontaneous outburst, and went to the party.

And then? She not only never asked for my toast, so conscientiously prepared, but it was one of those meals where the mighty are collected comfortably at a real table while the rest of the invited are star-scattered about at card tables and unconvivial tabourets, I was in the latter group. Indeed, to be frank, in the hurry of his departure for his next feeding ground, I did not even meet the lion at all!

On the way home I grumbled and growled to myself.

As I entered the safe haven of my bedroom I became vocal. I made several sentences of a terse and incisive nature as I put away my hat and exchanged the unappreciated gown for the comfortable vesture of a suburban evening. I settled into an easy chair before the crackling wood fire and meditated reprisals.

My husband was out at dinner. My mother, always a wise counselor, was still in California. I longed for some advice in the matter and decided to wait till breakfast and ask for a man's point of view, when somehow, without any especial surprise on my part, I seemed to hear my mother speaking.

"You always let people trample on you. Have some proper self-esteem! Assert yourself! That woman should realize her rudeness."

But it seemed that my father thought differently, for I could hear him say: "I have generally found that if you go quietly on your way these matters right themselves. 'Least said soonest mended,' as your old copybooks used to say."

Then the voice of my Uncle James, long dead, put in laconically, "Whatever you do, don't write. Half the trouble in the world comes from letters."

The voice of my late Aunt Ella joined the discussion. She was the society dictator in our family. "Use finesse. Give a tea or dinner and leave the culprit out. That will be the most galling thing you can do."

Grandmother Bickleham—my literary grandmother—suggested: "Write something witty about her and pass it among her friends." They say the old lady wielded no mean pen in her day.

Grandfather Bickleham, who used to amuse my childish imagination with his freehand sketches, slyly hinted that my whilom friend had certain characteristics or face and form that would lend themselves to caricature! His had been at times a saucy pencil!

A sonorous voice from the corner of the room boomed mellifluously. "Lay your burden on the Lord, dear child. He is ready to sustain you in all your troubles"—but while I meditated as to the possibility of Great-grandfather Grey's being in the room an intonation answered him: "Ah, bishop, but did not the Lord also say, 'Vengeance is mine?'"

Then a hot, bitter voice loudly called for revenge. "Revenge, no matter what comes after. Spanish blood will brook no insult!" How lucky I had those Spanish lessons! So the story really had been true of the sailor from the armada wrecked on the Irish coast. He had always been blamed for my brown skin, but I had thought him a myth.

A comfortable voice somewhere else advised calm, coolness, serenity. The accent was unfamiliar. Something like the German. Oh, Dutch, of course. The dear old thing who handed me those two mighty passions for bulbs and soap!

A gentle English voice joined the discussion. "Methinks had thee been left a poor widow with nine fatherless little ones to do for, thee would not upset thy mind over nonessential things." Ah, she might well advise me, that brave little Pilgrim mother! How proud we all were of her! But an unpleasant voice seemed to rub it in when he amplified: "Yea. If thee did more weaving and spinning, candle-dipping, preserving, nursing of the sick, fine-stitching, and if thee spent they leisure reading the Good Word, slights to thy vanity would concern thee less."

At this point the debate became a babel. I only caught random words, but I fancied I heard a raucous voice, unmistakably feminine, announcing that it would like to take "a good big club and whack good manners into my erring friend," but, devoted as I am to the theory of evolution, I hate to admit so Piltdowny a lady into my counsels.

Next morning at breakfast I submitted the matter to my husband, mother, as I said, being in California, and the rest of my family dead long ago.

That gentleman disengaged himself from the newspaper long enough to give the matter the quasi-attention considered sufficient in such cases.

"What would you do, dear?" I queried earnestly.

With praiseworthy brevity, never, alas, to be achieved by my more loquacious sex, he replied.

"Forget it!"

So I silenced the family, and did.—Exchange.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

M. Venezelos, who has announced his withdrawal from public life, has been known for many years as the strong man of Greece, of which country he has several times been premier. Since his first entry into public life it has been his aim and ambition to make Greece the most powerful and respected of all the nations of the Near East. Though this patriotic ideal was rudely shattered by the German intriguers in the pay of the Kaiser, Venezelos remained steadfast in his determination to create a Greece worthy of the noble traditions of the Greece of ancient history. The veteran statesman, who is a Cretan by birth first came into prominence in 1909, when he joined the Greek Military league, which then practically dominated Greek affairs. He immediately became leader of a strong party, and from that day to this he has stood out head and shoulders above his countrymen.

YOUR HEALTH

ARE YOU RULED BY YOUR LUNGS OR YOUR SKIN?

By AGNES C. VIETOR, M. D., Boston, Mass.
Member Gorgas Memorial Institute

The human body is actually a manufacturing plant, whose power comes from the food and water we eat and drink in and which is transformed into the kinds of energy that characterize the living body.

Without oxygen the human manufacturing plant could not exist. Oxygen of the air is the great activator of the combustion carried on within. Every four or five seconds, whether awake or asleep, air is breathed into the lungs. The oxygen is set free from the other gasses composing the air, and is taken up by the red corpuscles of the blood and carried by it to every part of the body.

These red corpuscles, loaded down with oxygen, deliver it safely for the combustion processes taking place everywhere in the tissue cells.

Practically, it is very difficult to insure this continuous supply of oxygen-containing air, even though we live in an ocean of such air, much as a fish lives in an ocean or water. The difficulty is due to the habit of retiring into "house caves" where the circulation of air is not good and where air easily becomes stagnant and vitiated.

The skin is the great impelling agent which drives us into these "house caves." One of the important duties of the skin is to help maintain an equable temperature of the body. This is accomplished through certain activities of its own and also through its nerves, sending and receiving messages to and from all the other organs of the body.

But the skin, like any other organ, may become impaired and it may not send or receive its nerve messages correctly.

The most common derangement is in connection with temperature changes. It loses its adaptability to variations in temperature changes. Instead of reacting vigorously and in proper balance, the skin shrinks and fails to respond properly to messages, and urges the body into "house caves" to escape temperature changes, both hot and cold.

As a result the body forms certain "house cave" habits which not only depreciate the general health but which are extremely difficult to change. Our bodies become the battleground of a struggle between the whole body, continually calling for oxygen-containing air, and the skin, demanding a continuance of the indolent or perverted habits it has developed.

A continuous flow of oxygen-containing air is a vital necessity. The remedy is to find out why the skin has lost its adaptability to temperature changes and why a retreat into the "house cave" is necessary to quiet its discomfort.

Whatever the obstacle, have it removed without waiting for the development of anemia, tuberculosis, or other forms of ill health. Break open the "house caves" to the sparkling air and invigorating sunshine.

Make the Most of Books

By James Hosmer Penniman, Litt. D.

Difference Between Reading and Study

We can no more become acquainted with a book on a single reading than we can know a man on a single meeting. "Between reading and study there is the same difference as between a guest and a friend," said St. Bernard. Ruskin thought that reading the same thing over and over again aided him greatly in getting thoroughly to the bottom of matters; and Dr. W. T. Harris has remarked, "It is my experience with great world poets that the first reading yields the smallest harvest. Each succeeding reading becomes more profitable in geometrical ratio. At first, Dante's Divine Comedy was a dumb show written over with hard, dogmatic inscriptions. It has become to me the most eloquent exposition of human freedom and divine grace."

Bacon tells us that books are to be read in different ways. Some are to be read here and there, others to be skimmed and a few to be studied. Be content with gradual progress, the best growth is slow, but keep constantly at it. Milton speaks of "industrious and select reading," and that is the only kind that gives true culture.

HOW MORE SENATORS REGARD SENATOR BINGHAM

Senator Hiram Bingham, as viewed by his associates in the United States senate:

"Senator Bingham is one of the ablest and most conscientious members of the upper house of congress, constant in his attendance upon the sessions and devoted in the highest degree to the interests of his people. He has achieved an enviable position as a legislator during his first term. Outstanding in his work during the last session might be mentioned his leadership on the president's aircraft board, and the splendid way in which he directed this important legislative program through the senate. The people of Connecticut are to be congratulated upon having as their representative a man of Senator Bingham's type and it is to be hoped that they will not fail to show their appreciation of his singularly valuable and distinguished service in their behalf."

Arthur Capper, United States senator, Kansas.

"Senator Bingham has impressed himself upon his colleagues as possessing in a marked degree the one quality which makes for success in the senate, namely, intelligent industry. He has a concise grasp of legislation in general, and an ability to state his opinions compactly and with force, and he seeems to me to be high upon the road to a place of commanding influence in the senate if his constituents manifest continued good sense by reelecting him."

George H. Moses, United States senator, New Hampshire.

"Senator Bingham in his short term of service in the senate has been unusually prominent and influential. I think he has impressed the whole senate as a man of wide knowledge, of quick, active mind, of skill and readiness on debate, of keen interest in a great variety of subjects and a very attractive personality. He has made his mark and I have no doubt his influence will grow steadily with experience."

Frederick H. Gillett, United States senator, Massachusetts.

(Senator Gillett is a member of the committee on education and labor with Senator Bingham.)

Stories That Recall Others

Not Today

Little Betty who lives in a new white bungalow seems to have a tendency to write on the outside walls of the house. One day her father saw her and gave her a spanking. This however, did not seem to have the desired effect, for several days later her father noticed other markings on the house. Calling Betty, he sternly asked: Betty, did you mark on the house after daddy told you not to?

Betty slowly answered her father thus: Yes, daddy, but I don't want a spanking today.

IN THE DAYS NEWS

JOHANNESBURG

"Johannesburg, South Africa, city of gold, bids fair to equal another desirable title," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society. "Johannesburg, as it is familiarly known to its citizens, is now putting as much energy in the cultivation of its parks as it used by diamond find in the neighborhood.

"Johannesburg is accustomed to booms and busts, contributes the bulletin. "Kimberley, which has dominated the diamond mining industry for years, may have a live competitor. Last April reports that $6,000 worth of diamonds were found near the city caused a stampede of adventurers and more thousands answered the irresistible call of the precious stone a few days ago when news of a new find was circulated throughout the Union.

"Until the latter part of the last century, the whole South African Union was little known to the outside world. It was a pastoral and agricultural region and such notoriety as it won was principally due to frequent difficulties between the Boers and the British local or imperial authorities, and to the native tribes. It was seldom visited except by traders and hunters but the discovery of enormous gold deposits of the Witwatersrand near Rand in 1886 brought a rush of English, French Portuguese, Germans and Americans into the country in search of wealth. Out of that rush, Johannesburg was born. It is often referred to as the world's record-breaking city. It commenced breaking records 40 years ago when some 10 shanties stood on one of the bleakest portions of the Rand. The passing of another year saw all of these hundreds of shanties and the magnificent mansion of the former on which the enemies stood into a full-fledged mining camp.

"Pioneers of the 80's and 90's little imagined that by 1925 their settlement would have a population equal to that of Toledo, Ohio, spread over an area approximately that of St. Louis. They little imagined there would be 500 miles of well-paved streets over which 80 miles of street car tracks are built. Like many of our modern cities the streets run checker-board fashion and parks are numerous. The shanties have gradually given way to the march of progress with which Johannesburg is keeping step and wide thoroughfares, tall banks, mansions, schools, churches and luxurious clubs give it the appearance of a bustling New England city. Its location in the hills, with mine dumps on all sides sometimes makes life miserable in the city, when heavy winds blow great clouds of dust from these dumps, covering everything in their path. Trees and grass will not grow on the dumps and the only relief from the nuisance is the rain which falls heavily in March and April. Immediately following these rains Johannesburg is at its best — but very wet and muddy.

"Since the founding of Johannesburg it has undergone several metamorphoses, but it has maintained its place as objective of health and pleasure seekers and adventurers in South Africa. It is the most populous city in that Union and considered the commercial capital. Such a large city as Johannesburg with its heavy passenger traffic and cattle usually is not regarded as an ideal vacation or holiday resort, but in keeping with its distinctiveness the metropolis is an exception. The citizens have established exceptional facilities for recreation. Tennis is the favorite amusement and tennis courts may be seen everywhere. Motor motor drives help make it a resort. Cosmopolitan hotels, restaurants, and theatres seem more European than African.

"The Transvaal district, in which Johannesburg is situated, for years has been the greatest gold producing region in the world. More gold was produced from the Rand last June than was mined in California and Arizona during the whole year of 1924. Gold is the chief export of the district, with production and export increasing each year. Tin mines and tin mining industries operate. Iron ore is found in large quantities but on account of the inaccessibility of the South African market, mining of this ore has not been heavily developed."

Modern Medicine Ends Chronic Coughs and Croup

No chronic, hang-on, weakening cough can resist the soothing, healing, antiseptic action of Bronchuline. A dose or two often stops the ordinary cough. One bottle many times clears up the worst, all-season, racking cough.

Bronchuline contains an ingredient that is much used by specialists in treating coughs and throat troubles.

For weakening, persistent bronchial coughs Bronchuline is recommended.

It stops the hacking, asthmatic coughs of elderly persons and for persistent coughs, croup, bronchitis, hoarseness, asthma, catarrh and loss of voice there is nothing like Bronchuline.

Bronchuline contains no alcohol, sugar or drugs. On sale at all good drug stores.

WEDDINGS
Doyle-Kane

Rev. Father St. Jean's church, Montville, on Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock, Miss Mary E. Kane, both of Montville, were united in marriage by Rev. James J. O'Meara. The ceremony was performed in the presence of Miss Helen C. Murphy and Nicholas J. Doyle of Norwich. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the couple's home on Hamilton's Cove, Montville, only members of the immediate families were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle left for a wedding trip to New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. After Nov. 15 they will be at home to their many friends in Montville.

Marlowe—Pendergrast.

Tuesday morning at 8:30, St. Joseph's church, New London, Miss Helene A. Pendergrast, daughter of Mrs. Richard J. Pendergrast of Montauk avenue, and Daniel J. Marlowe of Boston were united in marriage by Rev. William J. Fitzsimmons. The bride was most attractive in a gown of white duchesse satin cut with train. Her veil was of point lace caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of orchids and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Kathryn Pendergrast was her sister's only attendant and wore orchid georgette with purple velvet hat. She carried an arm bouquet of orchid chrysanthemums. Edward Daugherty of Boston, was best man. Richard D. Pendergrast and John D. Regan were the ushers.

After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Marlowe left for a wedding trip which will include visits in Washington, Philadelphia and Pinehurst, N. C.

Mrs. Marlowe is the niece of Mrs. George W. Mahoney, of Woodmansee avenue, Norwich.

Demurrer Overruled.

Defendant's demurrer to the amended complaint has been overruled by Judge Newell Jennings in the suit of Melville Smith, et al., against Automobile Insurance Co., of Hartford.

METHODISTS WILL PUSH WORLD SERVICE WORK

Determination to push vigorously forward this year in the World Service work was expressed in resolutions adopted by Methodist ministers of the Norwich district attending a World Service inspiration meeting at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church.

Rev. Marion E. Gerter of this city, district superintendent, presided at the meetings which had an attendance of about 50 ministers. The following were the resolutions adopted:

After considering the needs and extraordinary opportunities now pressing upon the church from all parts of the world we urgently make the following recommendations to every pastor in our areas:

1. That in view of the dangers of our literary loving age, our pastors begin at once to beckon their people to the noble heights of a sacrificial life. Only the cross is strong enough to humanize the materialism everywhere about us.

2. That a more intense effort be made not to "hold the fort," but to bring every soul within the scope of our influence to a saving knowledge of Christ.

3. That in the classes for religious instruction which every pastor is called upon to organize, stewardship, in its deep and manifold forms (including tithing and systematic giving) be earnestly taught.

4. That in the face of the present crisis, our comparatively low scale of giving for 1926 warrants a definite advance to $2.84 per cent. be practiced at our churches, and in many cases much more; and that the final goal should be, "As much for others as for ourselves."

5. That every pastor in our area begin at once to bring his church up to the standard of giving, and that there be no resting until the goal be attained.

6. That the "World Call" containing the addresses of the bishops in foreign administration at the recent bishops' meeting in Washington be as widely circulated as possible and its arresting facts be set before the people.

Morning Session

The conference opened at 11 a. m. the morning with a devotional service conducted by Rev. Dr. C. E. Spaulding of New London, who followed this with an address upon the Best Bible Description of a Faithful Pastor. After prayer by Rev. W. D. Hamilton of Gales Ferry and Rev. Mr. G. Creeger of Hazardville, Dr. Spaulding spoke upon the world service plan in Methodism.

Superintendent Gerter explained from charts the standing of the 57 different churches in the district in relation to World Service.

Luncheon was served by the women of the church at 12:45 and an afternoon session was held at which Bishop W. F. Anderson of Boston spoke briefly, but was unable to give his expected address as he was obliged to leave to keep another appointment.

Rev. Walter E. Davenport of Mystic spoke of the pastor's relation as the layman in stimulating his church toward the World Service movement and he was followed by Dr. C. F. Lipp of India who gave an inspiring talk upon experiences in the work there.

After supper which was served at 6:30 by the women of the church, there was an evening session at 7 o'clock at which Dr. Lipp was again the speaker.

Because of illness, Bishop John L. Nuelsen of Zurich, Switzerland, was not able to come here for the conference.

Among the clergymen present were: Revs. H. H. Conklin, Battle and Versailles; George Davies, Bridgeton, R. I.; F. W. Gray, Burnside; R. C. Stimson, Danielson; G. O. Richardson, East Glastonbury; G. E. Davis, East Thompson; G. W. Hamilton, Gales Ferry; M. J. Creeger, Hazardville; J. M. Potter, Hockanum; J. E. Duxbury, Manchester and Windsorville; S. J. A. Rook, Mapleville, R. I.; W. H. CHARLES L. STEWART HEADS NORWICH SOCIETY FOR MENTAL HYGIENE

After listening to a most interesting and highly instructive lecture by Dr. Lloyd J. Thompson, clinical director of the Yale School of Medicine, at Slater hall Tuesday evening, the meeting organized a branch of the Connecticut Society for Mental Hygiene, to be known as The Norwich Society of Mental Hygiene. Charles L. Stewart was elected chairman of the new society.

At the close of the lecture the chairman of the evening, Mrs. Edwin W. Higgins, presented Mrs. Charles Gilbert as temporary chairman of the organization and stated that the dues will be two dollars a year. She also stated that the two dollar membership entitles the members to the mental hygiene bulletin published monthly.

Through its chairman, Miss Betsy Mitchell, the nominating committee appointed at an informal meeting last Friday, made the following nominations for officers of the new organization:

Chairman, Charles L. Stewart; vice chairman, Mrs. Charles Gilbert; secretary, Philip L. Johnson and treasurer, Mrs. William G. Park. The officers were elected as nominated. The nominating committee comprises Miss Betsy Mitchell, chairman, Mrs. Arthur L. Peale, and Mrs. Orrin Payson.

DR. LLOYD J. THOMPSON

Announcement was made that folders explaining the aims of the organization are now being printed and will be distributed among those who attend the lecture next Tuesday evening.

Dr. Thompson, who spoke on the subject, Family Relations, was presented to the audience by Mrs. Higgins. This was Dr. Thompson's second lecture in a series of four mental hygiene lectures which he is giving in Norwich and which are open to the general public without admission. The lectures are given under the auspices of the United Workers. In his lecture Tuesday evening Dr. Thompson said:

The subject of this lecture might suggest to some that I intend talking about uncles, aunts, cousins and even mothers-in-law; or telling you how to figure out your relations to the uncle of the nephew of your third cousin. It might be taken to be a lecture on geneology. Perhaps a better title would be, "The Emotional Relations Within the Immediate Family." The value of the family as a social unit must not be underestimated, and society would find it very difficult to find a suitable substitute for the family group on a large measure. It is true that at times children are better when taken away from their own families, but usually these children are placed in better family groups and not kept in large institutions. In New York state about 77 per cent. of the deserted children turn out well, but in almost every case they have been placed in a foster home because it has been found that it gives the child a more nearly normal environment. The value of mother love and father love and the attachments of brothers and sisters is not to be underestimated, because they are more or less necessary for normal development and may have a tremendous dynamic constructive value. However, it is being recognized more and more that is relations so complicated there may be pitfalls which the majority of people may not or will not recognize, because it is almost entirely an emotional situation and logical thinking on these problems is more or less of a stranger in the house. In fact, for the peace of mind and safety of the individual members of the family the stranger may be an unwelcome guest and may be told that nobody is at home. If the individuals of the family should become better acquainted with this stranger, or in other words learn to look things squarely in the face I am sure they would find him an interesting and helpful guest.

If, in pointing out some of the pitfalls it seems that the criticism is a bit destructive, I ask that you remember that we started with the statement that the value of the family as a social unit and the value of love within the family must not be underestimated. Not much will be said about the obvious neglect in these matters of family relations, as, for example, where a mother abandons a child or gives its care entirely over to someone else while she attends to a career or social duties or the father's business takes him entirely away from the family both in time and emotion. The results are obvious and readily and eagerly recognized, and such instances are after all not so very common. There are many more instances of a subtle unwilling neglect and still more instances of too much love and attachment between members of the family." These are the things that need frank discussion.

Dr. Joseph Collins, in a recent book, "The Doctor Looks at Love and Life," finds that America has fallen prey alarmingly to a disease diagnosed as "adult infantilism." What is meant by this term is that the individual has reached adulthood on a physical and purely intellectual basis, but has remained at lower childish or infantile level in his emotional development. Such individuals have weak judgment, are suggestible and imaginative, have outbreaks of emotional irritability or anxiety, are oversensitive and are apt to have a superficial attitude towards life. Dr. Collins says, "Adult-infantilism is our chief deficiency as a people; our most conspicuous national shortcoming. It is responsible for more maladjustment, more family discord and more intellectual vagrancy than any disease of mind and body." Dr. Collins believes that the parents are to be held responsible for it. It is not willful neglect on the part of the parents that produces this infirmity; it is usually the unconscious and selfish desire of the parents to hold the love of the children and by undue protection, guidance and solicitation they prolong the emotional dependence of childhood into adulthood and produce an adult orphan. Many would hesitate to believe that there could be such a thing as too much love or that it could be detrimental, and would perhaps decry the spreading of the above statement — feeling that it would tend to make parents more neglectful. I do not hesitate to state that many more adults are handicapped by emotional immaturity due to too close family attachments than by actual conscious neglect. After all this is just what Dr. Collins says, and what, I believe most psychiatrists would say.

To understand the condition, it is necessary to consider the emotional development of the boy and girl. As the child grows from infancy to adulthood, he goes through a series of love experiences that are calculated to make him untimately socially efficient. The infant is his child goal. His first love goes to the one who satisfies his wants — to the one who feeds him, keeps him warm and ministers to his needs. Usually this is the mother and she becomes the first object of his love, but it is a selfish love. The infant inherits no tendency toward mother love. Another very important factor in forging this bond is that the mother, because of her love for the child, ministers to his wants in a way that no one else can. Again there is a selfish side to this mother love. Infants are more or less alike. Some are a little more lovesome than others, but in her particular child the mother sees something that not only belongs to her but seems a part of her. In the child are possibilities of reflections of her own ego, and tangible possibilities of her quest for immortality. The infant is one person to whom she can pour out her love and be fairly certain that the more she gives the more she will receive—at least in the early years. So it is no wonder that a strong attachment is formed between the mother and child in the first few years. Children who have been separated from the mother at the time of birth may later reunite, show a sudden development of love, not because of some mysterious inheritance but because they have seen in other children a relation which they could not attain with anyone else. A young woman, age 22, came for treatment of a nervous disorder, an hysterical symptom which interfered directly with her work. She had been separated from her mother the first ten years of her life. Now she swears that she will never leave her mother. Ever, the work which tended to separate them was too much of a threat and the hysterical symptom saved the problem for her.

From birth up to the age of eight or ten, the mother plays the principal role which is one of protection and guidance, and the attachment is her strongest than to anyone else. Of course, there is the tendency pointed out by Freud for the little girl to become attached to the father, but that is only relative, and should the little girl get very sick it is easy to find the one in whom she has the most dependence.

After this first stage, the paths of emotional development are somewhat different for the two sexes. From about 8 to 12 years the boy turns considerable of his attachment to his father. He is going to be an engineer or a lawyer like "Dad" when he grows up. The father becomes the object of hero worship if he is at all worthy. If the father is absent or very unworthy then the attachment to and dependence on the mother persists. This makes it more difficult to jump the gap to the next stage.

From the age of 12 to 16 or 18, the boy finds interest and close friendship with men and other boys. At first it is someone older, like the father. Later the boy gives up his fanciful hero worship; comes nearer to reality and forms close bonds with boys of his own age. If he reaches this stage successfully he is more or less socially efficient in that he has a feeling of independence and adequacy. But to reach to adult love, or social adjustment he must be able to transfer his love to someone of the opposite sex and establish a home of his own. This final step will usually come quite easily if something has not happened to arrest or fix him at one of the lower levels of emotional development.

For girls, the attachment to the mother may persist a little longer and the mother becomes the object of hero worship. From 10 to 15, as the outside world demands more recognition, the attachment goes first to older women, perhaps the teacher, and then to girls nearer her age. In the later grammar school years the crushes are usually on the teacher while in high school it is more likely to be some other girl. During this stage the girl will hesitate to walk down the street with a boy.

From 16 to 18, the father plays an important role in the transfer of the attachment to the opposite sex. The father is used as a sort of measuring stick for the opposite sex. If the father is gentle and understanding and a man to be respected, then the transition is easy. If the father is absent or has produced a negative reaction, then the transition is difficult. It usually becomes more difficult because the mother has tried to assume the role of father as well as mother and because the mother—her emotional outlet through father being thwarted, lavishes it on the girl and makes the attachment too strong to allow an easy transfer to the opposite sex.

To come to other considerations it is quite obvious that the adjustment of the parents to each other is of prime importance in the family relations. If the parents are well adjusted and find adequate emotional outlet in each other, there is not the tendency to turn to the children for this adjustment. It is not infrequent, however, to find that the father has become absorbed in outside interests and fails to be all that he should to the mother. The mother in turn finds her emotional satisfaction in the children. Unless the mother is wise enough to diffuse some of this outlet in channels outside of the family the children become the sole object of interest. Then a little later in life when the time comes for the children to go out from the home the mother is left not only without a job, but without any outlet for her interests. It is only natural then that she should more or less unconsciously strive to hold the attachment of the children. The personal problems of the parents that interfere with good adjustments are so numerous that they cannot be mentioned in this lecture.

While on the subject of the parents it would be well to point out that the grand-parents and even the in-law relatives play an important part in the family relations if they are present. These situations are more or less obvious and well known.

The situation of the children in the family is an important item in the family relations. We all know that the only child has a very difficult time. It has been said that being an only child

FUNERALS

Mrs. Catherine Caughey

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Caughey was held Tuesday morning from her home, No. 91 Thames street, and at 9 o'clock a solemn requiem mass was held at St. Patrick's church. Rev. John Miley was celebrant of the mass, Rev. Myles Galvin, deacon, and Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael H. May, sub deacon. Henry J. LaFontaine presided at the organ and Roderick F. Sullivan sang Pie Jesu at the offertory and Lead Kindly Light as the waiting hymn. The choir sang Nearer, My God, to Thee as the recessional. Burial took place in the family plot in St. Joseph's cemetery, Rt. Rev. Msgr. May conducting the committal service.

The bearers were Thomas F. Murphy, Patrick McCarthy, George Emback, Francis Cox, Charles Hathaway and Joseph Potts. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends from New York, Brooklyn and other cities and there were many beautiful floral tributes of esteem. Undertakers Cummings and Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Joseph W. Fiske

At 8:20 o'clock Tuesday morning the funeral of Joseph W. Fiske was held from the home of his mother, Mrs. Jennie Fiske, in Fitchville, with a large attendance of relatives and friends. At 9 o'clock there was a requiem mass in St. Joan's church. Rev. Philip J. Mooney celebrant. Francis Shea presided at the organ and played De Profundis at the offertory and Some Sweet Day as the waiting hymn. Burial took place in St. Joseph's cemetery, this city, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael H. May conducting the committal service.

The bearers were William J. McManus, Patrick Lynch, Thomas Sweeney, Charles Rogers, John Gribbins and William Kane. There were numerous beautiful floral tributes. Undertakers Hourigan Bros. had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Sarah Osgood Gamwell.

Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, funeral services for Sarah Osgood, widow of William Wirt Gamwell, were held at her home, 791 East Housatonic street, Pittsfield, Mass. many friends attended. There were exceptionally beautiful flowers. Burial was in Pittsfield.

The funeral service was that of the Congregational church. The bearers were Mrs. Gamwell's son, Osgood Morgan and the latter's son, Richard Morgan, nine years, Richard and William Gamwell, her grandsons, Frederick W. Osgood, Jr., of Norwich and Wirt Osgood, Jr., of Norwich.

Among those in attendance were Mrs. Gamwell's sisters, Miss Mary G. Osgood and Mrs. Martha L. Osgood, Jr., of Norwich, also Mrs. Charles Henry Osgood.

Mrs. Gamwell was born in Norwich the daughter of William Colt Osgood, of Norwich, and Sarah Adams, of Colchester, Conn. Her father was for many years merchants of a century a prominent man in Norwich business and civic affairs, coming here from his native town, Lebanon. For a time he was in business with the late E. Y. Thayer, later becoming a large landowner in Lebanon, Bozrah and Norwich. One of his two Lebanon farms was the place on which Connecticut's war governor, William A. Buckingham, was born. In Bozrah he owned over 200 acres of pasture and woodland with his Norwich farm, which was one model dairy, was so large that in 1905 he sold it as the nucleus of the present Mapewood cemetery.

He served for many years as alderman, tax collector, assessor and member of the board of relief of the town of Norwich. The Osgood family residence was at 35 East Main street, the present Elks home. Mr. Osgood survived his wife by several years. She died Jan. 3rd, 1920.

They had two children, William Colt Osgood, Jr., who married Fanny Griffin, of Norwich, both now deceased, and Sarah. The latter married Henry Morgan, of Winsted, Conn. and they had one son, William Osgood Morgan, now an attorney, of Montclair, N. J. Her second husband was Wm. W. Gamwell, of Pittsfield, by whom she had two children, Mrs. James Hagar, of Dalton, Mass. and William Osgood Gamwell, of New York. There is also a stepson, Richard Gamwell, of Pittsfield. Mrs. Gamwell's death occurred Sunday at her home in Pittsfield following two years of failing health and complete invalidism. Mr. Gamwell died several years ago.

Mrs. Gamwell was a woman of strong personality, brilliant in conversation and held a prominent place in society in Norwich during her girlhood as she did in Winsted and Pittsfield throughout her married life.

Mrs. John P. Adams

The funeral of Mrs. John P. Adams was held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock from her home in Hanover with a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. Mrs. Stone conducted the services and the Hanover choir sang two selections. Burial took place in the Hanover cemetery. The bearers were Vladert Adams, Nelson Adams, Henry and Frank Smith. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Undertaker C. C. Grant had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Robert Caldwell

The funeral of Mrs. Robert Caldwell, who died in Jersey City, was held Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the parlors of Undertakers Henry Allen & Son on Main street. Relatives and friends were present and there was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes. The service was conducted by Rev. Charles E. Ricketts, pastor of the Greeneville Congregational church and the burial took place in the Yantic cemetery. The bearers were James William and Carl Fleming and John Orr.

Mrs. Caldwell's body arrived from Jersey City Monday. She was a former resident of Norwich and died Saturday at her home in Jersey City.

Stanislaw Izbicki

The funeral of Stanislaw Izbicki was held Tuesday morning from his home, No. 56 Bushnell road, with a large attendance of relatives and friends. There was a requiem mass in the Polish National church with Rev. J. A. Czarkowski and Rev. W. J. Pawlowski officiating. J. Iazwiak presided at the organ.

The bearers were six members of the Kosciuszko society, Frank Kuharski, Albin Prezekpe, Dominik Kertanis, Anton Ciplenski, Hipolit Kubiak and Antoni Dzienkie and burial took place in the Notre Dame Providence cemetery, where Rev. Father Czarkowski and Rev. Father Pawlowski conducted a committal service. The large attendance included members of the Kosciuszko society.

FRANKLIN STREET PROTESTS OVER NEW MAIL ROUTE

Protests have come to Postmaster Casper K. Bailey in the last few days from the firms in the business section of Franklin and Chestnut streets over the re-routing of the mail carriers' routes, which went into effect Monday. Business places in this section complain that they do not receive their mail now before 9:30 or 10 o'clock where they used to get it about 8 in the morning.

Postmaster Bailey said Tuesday night that a re-routing has been general all over the city under orders from the department at Washington and he is hopeful that the plan will work out satisfactorily as soon as it has time to get into good working order. The Franklin street route, he said, is the only one from which he has had any complaints so far.

The new arrangements on all the carriers' routes take them in blocks instead of the old system and the routing plan has been worked out in the past two months by the local post office officials under orders from the department at Washington which have been in operation on the new routes adopted.

The carrier who serves the Franklin street route goes on Main street to the post office where he leaves for Bozrah, square when he leaves the post office and then goes down Franklin street on the southerly side of Main street and [illegible] street before he [illegible] Franklin square.

ARMY TEAM HAS HIGH HOPES OF VICTORY OVER YALE ON SATURDAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP)—The Army Mule stalks into the bowl at New Haven on Saturday scenting its first victory over a Yale team in 15 years.

Not since 1911 have flying West Point hoofs left the imprint of a defeat on the flanks of the Bulldog. Twice since then, however, Army has drawn off with honors even, the record showing 2 games at 7-7 in 1922 and 1924.

Yale's defeat by Brown and Army's string of four successive victories made the basis upon which critics have installed the cadet team as a favorite, yet no excess of confidence has been reported at West Point, for a parallel condition prevailed last year.

Army with a powerful machine, had swept aside Notre Dame and Yale two weeks after the Eli team had been shredded by Pennsylvania. The rubber team was a heavy favorite but the lean basket was found in one of the season's most surprising form reversals. Army was outplayed, routed by Ted Jones' brilliant attack and the limping Mule that had left the bowl, carried the tag of 1926 Titan.

Today's foes will grapple in at least as other outstanding game, but Brown entered to turn the tables on Dartmouth after six straight defeats. New York university smothered Fordham in 1924 and 1925 saw a scoreless tie in its game here with Maroon.

While college dope Brown always has been respected as one for Dartmouth has been able to beat the Indians more than a single touchdown, the team's Brown team held Army's high powered machine of Jess Hibbs to a lower score of the season of 14 points.

Both Army victories have fallen to the Brown eleven by a difference of a season. Last week's triumph over Yale at the team's greatest game as the team's greatest. Prior to this game Coach Biggs had selected Lehigh as about within a single point of the

AGGIES PREPARING FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE GAME

(Special to The Bulletin)

Durham, Oct. 26—Preparing for with the Bussey University New Hampshire eleven at Manchester, N. H., Saturday, the Connecticut was put through a brisk this afternoon by Coach

Last assignments on the plays were carefully rehearsed by the backfield during a scrimmage, when the varsity used out an attack and the varsity composed eleven.

Penfield, Dole and Eddie and halves, Williams at full Sullivan calling the signals. This is the combination that will start against New Hampshire unless there is a last minute change in present plans. In front on the line were Callahan and Hall on the wings, Sawers and Hughes, Lorentzen and Conrad positions, and Capt. Hall at center. This is the first that Connecticut followers will see the talents of the Sawers. Keeps Hair Combed, Glossy

Well-Groomed all Day

"Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which costs only a few cents a jar at any drug-store. Millions use it because it gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to the hair—that final touch to good dress born in business and on social occasions. Even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy,

PURDUE GIVEN PLACE ON HARVARD SCHEDULE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Purdue is to meet Harvard at football in 1927. The announcement that the second western conference game had been added came today with the completion of the hardest schedule which Harvard has accepted in years and perhaps in its history. Opening with the University of Vermont, the schedule contains seven more games, any of which might test the mettle of the Crimson.

The schedule as now announced follows: Oct. 1 University of Vermont; 8, Purdue; 15, Holy Cross; 22, Dartmouth; 29, University of Indiana; Nov. 5, Princeton; 12, Brown; 19, Yale.

Followers of Harvard sports saw in this schedule a concession to the demands of western alumni for games with teams of that section and also a sign that football is to be resumed in earnest at Harvard. The demand for a western game led to reports early this season that one had been arranged with Michigan, which would probably result in the dropping of Princeton by Harvard. Later after a meeting at New Haven, Athletic Director William J. Bingham of Harvard announced that there would be no disruption of the Big Three.

The schedule as now stands shows the abandonment of smaller colleges with games which for the record of the past few years showed practice far stronger competition for Harvard. Holy Cross, which has beaten Harvard for two successive years is retained.

To meet the demands of such a schedule, significance is seen in the several substitute players whom Coach Arnold Horween has been developing and to whom have been entrusted a large share of this years work.

Ray McMillan's Groton team which defeated Harvard 6 to 0, a defeat the second and last suffered on the 1925 season, and Williams and Mercersburg, a week ago Saturday.

ROGERS OUT OF PENN BACKFIELD FOR SATURDAY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26—(AP)—Charley Rogers, Penn's varsity halfback, is confined to his bed with an attack of intestinal indigestion, and may not be able to get into the game on hand against the University of Illinois Saturday.

Rogers' sensational runs have featured every game Penn has played to date, and his ripsnorting is the most important link in the Red and Blue's ground attack that has proved so successful thus far. In five games he has carried the ball 677 yards. Three years ago the celebrated Red Grange, the galloping ghost of the Gridiron himself, piled up a total of 1,044 yards in the season.

Penn Penn's other leading runner, Joe Rogers, is in the hospital suffering from a bad knee. Lingle has been sidelined during the week and Ellis is also out. Both are being used against the Penn State regulars in practice.

Reports from the Illinois camp today were that the brown father of nine sons would be Penn backs would be protected. The pads, which are worn and said to be designed to protect players from injury, were said to be of such a nature that they would not affect the protection over the back of the arm and not to add bulk."

ACADEMY STARTS PRACTICE FOR GAME WITH CHAPMAN

After a day's rest following the Academy defeat by Harding high of Hartford, Coach Bingham brought out his squad for a lengthy practice on Tuesday at the Academy campus. The Saturday's game was gone over and the plays by play discussed. A sharp signal drill followed and the afternoon practice wound up with a lengthy but not strenuous scrimmage, which featured scoring passes close to the goal line. The second varsity showed up well and scored several times on the varsity.

LaCroix was used at an end position on the varsity and showed up well, especially as a receiver of forward passes. Jack Marks was used in the backfield part of the time during the scrimmage and his line plunging was

FRED CLARKE RESIGNS AS VICE PRESIDENT OF PIRATES

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 26—(AP)—Fred Clarke tendered his resignation as vice president and assistant manager of the Pittsburgh National baseball club, it was announced today. His resignation will be acted upon by the board of directors on Thursday.

It was around Clarke that the trouble centered which resulted in the recent ousting of Manager Max Carey. Babe Adams, Lee Meadows and Glenn Wright, who were suspended by Carey before the 1926 season closed. These three players were charged with having started a movement to have Clarke removed from the bench during games.

His resignation follows the release of Bill McKechnie as manager and the appointment of Donie Bush to take over the managerial reins.

NUTMEGS PREPARING FOR GAME AT NEW HAVEN

The Nutmegs held a practice drill on Tuesday afternoon at which time signals were rehearsed. The local eleven has been inactive for nearly a month due mostly to weather conditions, the game scheduled with the Noank Crushers for last Sunday being again postponed.

A game with the New Haven Boys' club is now pending for the coming Sunday to be played in the Elm City and a peppy team for this contest the Nutmegs will call upon several of the second string backfield men of the week.

DALEY RESTS COMFORTABLY AFTER HIS OPERATION

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 26—(AP)—Leo Daley, regular guard on the Harvard football team was resting comfortably tonight after an operation for appendicitis performed this morning. His physicians built up said. Daley had been under observation since the opening game this fall and physicians decided it would be dangerous to postpone the operation which was performed by Dr. T. K. Richards, Harvard physician.

Daley last spring underwent an operation on his knee to correct an injury sustained in the first play of the Princeton game last year. Injuries also forced him out of the game while captain of his freshman team.

MULLIGAN TO OPEN BOXING SEASON WITH HEAVY BOUT

HARTFORD, Oct. 26—A heavyweight bout of real caliber will inaugurate the indoor boxing season in Hartford when Pat McCarthy of Boston and Harry Persson, the Swedish heavyweight, come together at the state armory Monday evening, November 8.

The McCarthy-Persson match was clinched yesterday by Matchmaker George Mulligan who has been negotiating for two weeks with Jim McDonald, McCarthy's manager, and Jimmy DeForest, who formerly handled Luis Firpo, and is now doing business for Persson.

The semi-final will find Jack Gagnon pitted against Harry Lamson, the Indian heavy, who has been active on heavyweight cards in Boston of late.

Gagnon scored a quick knockout on the McCarthy-Risko card here and the fans, who had no chance then to see him really put to the test, are eager to watch him in action against a real opponent.

Joe Smith, local amateur, plans to make his professional debut on this card and Mulligan is seeking a boy to pit against the rugged simon pure, who has fought many amateur battles.

Another bout on the card will send Battling Boy Blue, colored heavy, into action against Battling Thomas.

This show will be the first of several at the armory, Mulligan planning a busy indoor season.

McCarthy made many friends here by his showing against Johnny Risko, the Cleveland "rubber ball" and a return engagement hits a popular chord here.

Persson has won ever bout since landing on these shores and is touted as a leading contender for the heavyweight title.

He is slated for a bout with Jack Dempsey, according to Fair Play, a bout being planned as one of Dempsey's tune-up bouts before he makes an essay to regain the crown from Gene Tunney.

N. Y. COMMISSION SAYS TUNNEY MUST FIGHT BEFORE SEPT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Tex Rickard's plans for a heavyweight championship fight next September once more have come into conflict with the rules of the New York state athletic commission.

James A. Farley, chairman of the board, whose support of the challenge of Harry Wills led to the shifting of the Dempsey-Tunney battle to Philadelphia, today said that the six months' period within which all championships are required by the New York regulations to defend their crowns, would apply to Tunney the same as it had to Dempsey and all other title-holders. Fulfillment of this rule would require Gene to sign for a championship match before next April.

Farley said he believed the winter boxing season would develop an outstanding challenger and that it would be possible to stage a heavyweight championship battle next spring. Thus far there is only one application for a title fight before the commission. This came from Jack Sharkey of Boston, who recently won decisively over Wills. Rickard considers Dempsey as Tunney's logical rival." He has announced his plans to continue an elimination heavyweight series at the garden, with Paolino, Persson, Maloney, Snarkey and Delaney to fight it out. He then proposes to pit the winner against Dempsey in an early outdoor fight, with the survivor to battle Tunney.

Dempsey, however, has indicated he would like to engage in one or two preliminary matches this winter at the Garden. He expected to confer with Rickard this afternoon, but the meeting was postponed until tomorrow.

"Paolino, who is due here next month from Buenos Aires, will probably appear in his American debut at the Garden in December," Rickard said. "Paolino may prove the best of the contenders," the promoter declared. "That Basque can fight, and I rank him on a par with Sharkey, Maloney and Persson."

Rickard said that Monte Munn, the former Nebraska football star, also must be considered. Munn is now nursing an injured hand which may keep him out of the ring for a month. Carl Carter, the Cuban heavyweight on whose head Monte damaged the hand, today was marked up for a 30-day suspension by the commission as a result of his stalling and clinching.

SUB BASE TO PLAY U. S. S. FLORIDA TODAY

SUBMARINE BASE, Oct. 26—Owing to the unexpected movements of the giant navy dirigible Los Angeles at Lakehurst, N. J., naval air station football team will be unable to appear here against the submarine base eleven today, Navy day. The fact that a number of plans for the trial trip movements of the Los Angeles, coupled with the injury of several members of the squad in practice, makes it impossible for the airmen to come here, according to a message received by Lieut. P. L. Mather, Submarine base athletic officer, from the Lakehurst athletic officer.

But football fans and visitors at the base on navy day will be afforded a rare treat in the appearance of the U. S. S. Florida eleven, a team known up and down the coast as one of the most powerful service machines that ever crossed a goal line. The battleship is at present stationed in Boston harbor.

The U. S. S. Florida boasts three star players who won their gridiron spurs with the naval academy team: Ensign Edwards; a tackle on last year Navy varsity and Ensign Wellings, a quarterback in 1924, were groomed under the tutelage of Coach Bob Folwell, while Lieut Wiedorn, a tackle in 1920-21 received his football training under Gloomy Gil Dobie. So far this season, the Floridans have lost one game, to the Fitten A. C., in their first start. Since then they have bowled over everything in their path, including the Harvard second varsity. The Newport Training station eleven has fallen before the sweeping attack of the Florida machine.

Having rested for two weeks, since its victory over the Philadelphia Marines, the Sub Base team will be in the best of condition for tomorrow's game. The Blue and White aggregation took a day off Sunday when the game with the All New Britains was postponed on account of rain.

The game will start at 2.30 o'clock and owing to the large number of visitors anticipated for Navy day, the stands will probably be filled to overflowing.

NAVY-MICHIGAN GAME FEATURE OF INTERSECTIONALS FOR SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Michigan's Wolverines, wrecking crew of the western conference, have paused in their demolition of big ten title aspirations to fix up something fancy for the eastern trade.

Yost and company will call on the navy at Annapolis, Saturday, to show the midshipmen some samples of what Minnesota, Illinois and other corn belt customers are wearing this season in the way of football defeats. Last year, Friedman, Molenda, Oosterbaan and their mates were 54 points better than the navy, and the Wolverines are confident of a somewhat similar showing this year.

But, the pessimistic Yost goaded his players tonight through new defensive combinations against Navy plays, pointing out that Illinois did not succumb easily and calling attention to the Navy's improvement over 1925, indicated to the west by victories over Purdue and Drake. Except for Michigan's smashing victory in 1925, the Navy has not lost a game since 1924.

Illinois, preparing with some trepidation for Pennsylvania's invasion Saturday, won a tactical victory when Penn promised Zuppke to paint black, its brown jersey pads. The Illinois coach demanded that they do this so his charges could distinguish between the pig skin and an enemy elbow, and threatened to paint the football white if the jersey leather stayed yellow. He thinks football is enough of a guessing game without decoys.

The showing of Nowack and Perkins, tackles, and Schultz, guard, against Michigan, have won Zuppke's promise that they will be in the Illinois line against Penn. Defense .. getting the principal attention in Zuppke's camp.

Taking a page from Rockne's ledger, Coach Thistlethwaite of Northwestern is grooming a complete second team to start against Indiana Saturday. Only Rosie, soph center, was kept in the lineup, in which Holmer, Schumacher, Colin and Griffith are the backfield. Baker, Lewis and their first string pals will rest for coming tussles with Iowa, Chicago and Purdue, and probably will work but briefly against the Hoosiers, unless Page's men are so much better than two weeks ago that the wildcat aces are needed.

Wisconsin preparing for Minnesota, trotted out tonight some plays unused against Indiana, and adapted them for the Gophers game. Little also inspected his defense, which will get some hard raps from Joesting and Almquist. Minnesota worked on Wisconsin plays and on a smother attack.

Marek's broken hand is the only thing Ohio State has to worry about and Wilce gave his men only enough work to keep them from growing stale. Chicago, which entertains the Buckeyes Saturday, hopes only to hold the score to a low score. Half backs McKinney and Anderson are out of commission, and Marks has been shifted to half.

Iowa and Purdue eased off in their preparation for contests respectively with Carroll college and Indiana State normal, and looked toward resumption of conference play a week from Saturday.

Notre Dame had an easy night, too, for Georgia Tech does not look formidable this year and the army game is in the offing.

FRANCIS OUIMET NOTED GOLFER PLAYS HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Francis Ouimet, noted amateur golfer will be the guest of the Norwich Rotary club at the weekly luncheon today and following the meeting will play 18 holes of golf at the Norwich Golf club. Ouimet will be paired with E. A. Harris against William G. Park and Willis Austin in a best ball foursome.

This is the first time that Ouimet has played over the new 18 hole golf club course and it is anticipated that he may hang up a new course record although such golfers as Hagen, Farrell, Donaldson, Walker and McLean were unable to do it. The course record of 71 is held by Sam Wilcox.

Brown Beats McIntyre

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 26 (AP)—Harry Kid Brown of Philadelphia won over Johnny McIntyre of Glace Bay, N. S., in the eighth round of the main bout at the arena tonight, the loser's seconds tossing in the sponge.

FAST BOUTS AT LORRAINE SHOW AT WESTERLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 26—The opening boxing show given at the Lorraine Community house here tonight was attended by about 700 and proved to be one of the best shows ever put on by Matchmaker Phil Fortin. The show opened with a lively four round flyweight bout between Young Jonkas and Battling Jinks which was a good draw.

Young Lewis punished Kid Blue severely in the second four rounder while Kid Tramp and Young Sposato fought a four round draw in the welterweight class.

Another feature bout was between Young McCarthy of Norwich and Battling Irk of Westerly who fought a fast found round draw. Both boys showed plenty of speed and were willing to swap punches in the mix-ups.

In the semi-final Farmer Hill and Jackie Rose mauled each other about the ring for six rounds with Rose having the better of the furious exchange. Hill was warned several times for butting in the breaks.

The main bout saw plenty of action between Sailor Wilkins of the Coast Guards, substitute for Sailor Shatraw, and Walter Main of Westerly, substituting for Jim Ross. Both boys show plenty of steam and the bout was one of the evening's features.

Young Ducini issued a challenge to any of the 126-pound boys in this locality, Battling Irk preferred.

FRATERNAL LEAGUE OPENS AT AETNA BOWLING ALLEYS

On Tuesday evening the Fraternal league opened with four teams rolling. The Elks came through their match with the Grotto team with two games won and the third going to the Grotto. Driscoll took the individual honors in this match getting high single with 110 and high total with 304.

The Knights of Columbus team came through their match with the Knights of Pythias with a clean slate winning all three games and taking the lead in the league. Purdon was the star of the evening with 336 for high total and 120 for high single. The scores:

YALE SQUAD PUTS IN HARD DAY AT PRACTICE

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 26—(AP)—The Yale football squad had several hours of hard work today in preparation for the Army game Saturday. Duke Richards, a veteran of two seasons, returned to the varsity line, going in at right guard. He has been out of the game for several weeks because of injuries. Quarrier, remained at left tackle in Richards' old position and it is expected that he will start in that position Saturday. Hoban was tried out behind the line in place of Foote and late in the afternoon Goodwine replaced Noble.

Chapman Gets Decision

BOSTON, Oct. 26—(AP)—Red Chapman, Chelsea featherweight won the decision over Steve Smith of Bridgeport, Conn., in a 10-round bout here tonight.

JUDGMENT FOR DEFENDANT IN DUNLOP VS. GREENE

Judgment for the defendant is rendered by Judge Newell Jennings in a decision handed down Tuesday in the foreclosure suit brought by Frances Dunlop against A. A. Greene, purchaser of the property of the Braided Thread corporation in Stonington, which had given a mortgage for $32,500 to Mrs. Dunlop, dated Oct. 31, 1923, providing that it should be paid off in three instalments of $2,500 each in 1924, two instalments of $5,000 each in 1925 and a final instalment of $5,000 on Jan. 1, 1926.

The plaintiff (Dunlop) upon the trial contended that the whole amount was due on the mortgage and that a certain agreement, made Aug. 31, 1925, not to demand any further payment on the mortgage for two years, under certain conditions, was without consideration and void.

The defendant (Greene) contended that the mortgage was void as against the defendant because the mortgage did not describe the debt with accuracy and that, at any rate, nothing was due until Aug. 31, 1927.

Judge Jennings finds as follows: 1. The mortgage is valid. 2. $7,500 has been paid on the principal. 3. The interest has been paid to July 15, 1926. 4. No payment of principal or interest was due at the time of bringing this suit. Judgment for the defendant.

NAVY DAY OBSERVANCE AT SUBMARINE BASE

Navy day will be observed today (Wednesday) at the submarine base at Groton with Governor Trumbull, Senator Bingham, Congressmen McLean and Freeman and city and town officials in this section as invited guests.

The base will be open to the public from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. A feature of the program will be a football game in the afternoon between the base and the U. S. S. Florida eleven. Between halves of this game, it is planned to present the prizes to the winners of the essay contest which the base is conducting for school children of New London and vicinity. The essays are on the subject, The United States Navy and Our Merchant Marine. They must be limited to 1,500 words and the authors must be between the ages of 10 and 16. The prize for the winner will be a silver loving cup while fountain pens will be presented for second and third place.

Taken to Hospital With Shock.

Frederick Kind, a former well known barber, was seized with a shock about one o'clock this (Wednesday) morning at No. 88 Franklin street where he has been residing for some time, and was taken to the Backus hospital in the ambulance. Mr. Kind formerly conducted a barber shop on Franklin street and at one time was employed as a barber at the Norwich state hospital.

Connecticut College

"The Penal institution today really is a contributor to keeping the professional criminal and perpetuating more strongly than ever his previous criminal career" said Frank Tannenbaum in his lecture on "The Prison and the Prisoner" given at the convocation hour in the Connecticut College Gymnasium Tuesday afternoon. "A prison is organized mainly to keep the men safely behind the bars until such time as their sentences are up. What happens to them while they are behind the bars few people know or care."

Mr. Tannenbaum well known economist and criminologist, is one person who has learned what happens behind prison walls. He has had personal experience in prison, once following his arrest as a participant in an unemployment disturbance in New York, and later as a voluntary inmate of Sing Sing where he went to study prison conditions in a course of research which took him eventually to visit practically every prison in the United States.

Mr. Tannenbaum gave a clear description of the formation of a professional criminal. The process which goes to make up a professional criminal is no so different from that which produces a lawyer or any professional man. It is a matter of the establishing of habits through long training in a certain environment. A poor home is the starting point; as a child the criminal has lived on the streets where the "gang" finds petty crimes adventurous. A crime brings an arrest, and the child is sent to an institution, where under an organized, disciplined system he is deprived of normal, noisy recreation, and comes to seek, in the company of other repressed youngsters, evil amusements in secret. He becomes sullen, suspicious, silent, and it does not help him to come back home where no one will accept him socially but the "gang," the boys who have had his experience. To a world isolates them; the good children don't play with them; the policeman looks at them as he walks by with a knowing look." Another crime committed, and the reformatory receives the boy. Out again, in the grip of the vicious circle, prison is the next step, for the boy has by this time become a really dangerous member of society. The professional criminal is made; henceforth, until his probably early death, or life-sentence, he alternates between the prison and his unsocial life outside.

Although the improvement of conditions within prisons is a constructive top in this situation, the remedy must go deeper than that, said Mr. Tannenbaum in a discussion after the lecture. A new social attitude toward crime and the criminal must be created, and it will be a slow process.

TERRAPIN SCARCE AS EPICURISTS LAMENT

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26 (AP)—Once so plentiful that Maryland legislators saw fit to limit its use as food, the Chesapeake diamond back terrapin, delight of epicures, today is so scarce that state conservation officials face the problem of protecting the "terrapin" itself from extinction in its wild state.

Time was when the marshes that fringe the eastern shore of Chesapeake bay were overrun with terrapins. Years before the old-timers learned to appreciate the delicately flavored black meat in its rich broth, and only a statute forbidding slaves to be on terrapin more than three times a week prevented their masters from furnishing the then costless turtle as a steady die

What You Find

To try Luckies for a change is to smoke them always from choice. For a trial reveals their extra goodness.

First, they are made of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended—and something more.

In addition, a costly process—toasting—gives them unique superiorities which win you to higher standards of enjoyment.

A trial of Luckies offers you:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

TRAVELING GAVEL IS COMING TO KILLINGLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 26.—Highland grange of South Killingly is to neighbor with Killingly grange at its meeting Monday night, Nov. 1, and bring with it the Connecticut state traveling gavel. Much interest centers in the gavel in its 12 year journey about the state as it is being carried from grange to grange until all the 193 Connecticut granges have been visited. Each grange has the possession and use of the gavel one month, after which it is presented to another grange, accompanied by a large delegation of grangers who give a suitable program. The purpose of the gavel is to promote neighborliness. The gavel has now been on the road two years and has covered most of New London and Quinebaug Pomona districts. John B. Perry, a brother of Sidney Perry of Danielson, donated the gavel and started it on its mission beginning with his own grange, No. 138 of North Stonington, Conn. The gavel is to be returned to the donor at the end of its long journey. It is expected that Mr. Perry, as well as a number of state officers will be present on Monday night when the gavel is presented to Killingly grange. A big attendance is looked for and refreshments are to be served.

DEATH AT DANIELSON OF MRS. ELIZA CAPRON

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Eliza Capron, 81, died here this afternoon at her home on Academy street. Mrs. Capron fell some time ago and broke her hip in an accident directly responsible for her death. She was the widow of Charles M. Capron and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stone for many years residents here. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. W. Clarence Bacon and Miss Maude D. Capron.

It was given out here Tuesday that the civic federation has selected a week from Saturday as the time for their annual tag day. Last year this organization, which is engaged in philanthropic work, raised about $370 on tag day and this year hopes to make a new high record of at least $400.

Old-timers "fanning" about political campaigns of the past considered on Tuesday the great change that has come about in the manouvering for the election of a party's candidates.

No longer is it regarded as necessary to have a party headquarters, a store or hall where party members gathered "to talk over the situation", read campaign literature and listen to "pep" talks. Gone are the colorful parades with torchbearing legions, red fire, bands, drum corps and all the other trappings intended to stir up enthusiasm and solidify party loyalty, no less than to impress the opposition with the strength they would be called upon to meet election day. Both republican and democrats did this sort of thing—and managed a thrill from it. One imagines they liked the display almost as well as the expected effect.

All that is past and gone. Now the electorate gets the bulk of its campaign information from the newspapers—reads the speeches, the political comment and editorials. And not unlikely Mr. and Madam, sitting quietly at home, may come to any decision they may have to make politically by listening to a radio broadcast of the big political issues of the day.

Rallies hold little appeal for the modern day public. Likely they never will unless the big parade with all its fascinating features is brought back into vogue.

Killingly has had and will have only one rally in the present campaign. The one rally, arranged by the democrats, brought out a few more than a score of people. The republicans have entirely passed up their opportunities to hold rallies here. They are depending largely on newspaper advertising to stress the points in their campaign.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

WINTER VEGETABLE SUPPLY ESSENTIAL

Prof. R. M. Koon of the Market Garden Field station, Waltham, says there are two principal reasons why we should have plenty of vegetables in winter. In the first place, a supply of vegetables will mean a great saving in the grocery bill. The foods we are obliged to buy in winter are of an expensive type. Secondly, the body soon rebels at a diet which does not include a variety of vegetables. There are few substitutes and they are costly.

There is much garden produce which can easily be saved in addition to that which has been canned.

Green tomatoes and peppers are usually hanging on the plants when the first severe frost ruins them. Their season may be prolonged. Before frost wrap the large tomatoes in paper and lay them in a shelf in an outer building where they will be cool but above freezing. They will ripen as do southern tomatoes, which being picked green, ripen in transit north. They will not be so high in quality as they are in normal season but they will be good eating, nevertheless. Pepper plants should be potted up with considerable earth, adhering to them, and stood on the earthen floor of a barn or shed. The fruits will remain fresh a long time, particularly if a little water is poured upon the roots occasionally.

Onions and squashes must be fully mature. They should be kept in a dry, well-ventilated room above freezing. Dampness and low temperature will cause their decay. The cellar is no place for them.

Many vegetables may be stored outdoors in trenches, pits and root cellars; but the most convenient arrangement for the home supply is in the indoor storage room. This avoids the inconvenience of opening a snow covered, ice-bound trench or mound in mid-winter. The sloping cellar compartment or the cellar from the heater is justifiable, when we consider the purpose.

A wall of masonry is best, but a double thickness of boards with an insulating space between will do. The size of the room will vary with the amount of vegetables to be stored. The conditions essential to successful storage are a temperature just above freezing, good ventilation and sound vegetables to begin with. A window, hinged at the bottom, will provide for proper temperature and ventilation. If it is manipulated according to the weather. A two-inch space under the door will permit an outlet.

The root crops, such as beets, carrots, turnips, winter radishes, and artichokes (Jerusalem) can best be stored in the root cellar by covering them with clean, moist sand. Earth will cause them to rot.

Celery should be dug as late as possible, but before severe frosts. With plenty of earth adhering to the roots it is placed upright in the cellar bottom in a manner comfortable and moist of closely together. A useful way to use, on the open side to support the stalks falling over. The foliage must be dry when stored, and keep so. A little water may be added to the roots occasionally, but not enough to start growth. Celery, parsnips and salsify may be stored age and the hearts, will continue to grow.

Cabbage should be placed on a slatted shelf in the storage cellar. Crates or barrels will do nearly as well if they are open enough to permit circulation. The air must not become too moist or the cabbage will decay.

Potatoes placed in a slated bin will remain firm, with little tendency to decay, provided they were sound when stored.

Parsnips and salsify may be left in the ground until spring, as freezing only improves their flavor. Should a supply be desired during the winter, however, they may be dug in late fall, stacked in an open shed and covered with just enough earth to prevent their drying out. They may be pried off the pile as needed, and thawed in cold water.

MEANS OF COMBATING THE CORN BORER

Recent field experiments conducted by the United States department of agriculture have demonstrated the value and necessity of plowing under cornstalks and corn refuse and other plant debris as a means of corn-borer control. This method leaves the borers without adequate winter quarters, with the result that most of them finally perish, either being eaten by birds, beetles, or ants, or killed by various native parasites or by exposure to the weather.

The use of plows with wide bottoms and a chain or wire to aid in burying all debris is an important help in doing a clean job. It is important that the material turned under not be dragged up by later cultivation.

In the experiments where the stalks were poled down and plowed under, as high as 97 per cent of the borers were killed. The disking of cornfields gave very unsatisfactory results. This practice, says the department, will have to be discontinued if effective control of the corn borer is to be achieved.

Miscellaneous Circular 84-M, How to Fight the European Corn Borer, contains regulations promulgated by the department in states in the Lake Erie region together with suggestions for control of the corn borer.

BIG POTATO YIELDS ENTIRELY POSSIBLE

A potato field meeting to demonstrate that large yields of potatoes can be grown in Hartford county when quality seed and proper methods are used was held Friday afternoon October 22 at the farm of Louis L. Grant, Blackland.

Mr. Grant is the largest potato grower in Connecticut, and according to County Agent Southwick, one of the most skilful and successful. For the field meeting a measured acre of potatoes was dug and weighed from one of Mr. Grant's best fields.

Mr. Grant is firmly convinced that high quality seed potatoes is the most important essential for securing good yields. This year Mr. Grant grew 50 acres of potatoes from very select certified seed that he secured directly from northern growers. His seed included one strain of New York certified seed and three strains of Vermont certified. Green Mountains. Five acres of Cobblers that he grew were also Vermont certified seed. During the last half of September, Mr. Grant visited personally some of the very best seed potato growers in New York, Vermont and Maine. He drove 2,000 miles in doing this but considers the trip well worth the expense in time and money.

Mr. Grant started digging in September a field he estimated was the poorest that he had. He was happily surprised by securing from this field a yield of fully 350 bushels per acre. In 1925 he raised 72 acres of Green Mountains potatoes from which he harvested 23,000 bushels. His yields this year will more than equal those that he secured last year. He does not attribute good yields of potatoes to luck, but to good seed, good fertilization and very thorough spraying.

COMMISSIONER'S ADVICE ON CONNECTICUT APPLES

In a letter recently sent out to the apple growers of Connecticut, Philo T. Platt, commissioner of agriculture, points out that the state is a heavy importer of apples, despite the fact that local fruit is recognized by experts as being of exceptionally high quality.

Mr. Platt says:

"According to a survey recently completed, Connecticut, during the past year, imported more than 200,000 barrels of apples. This seems like a stupendous amount to have unloaded in our markets when perhaps the local merchants have little demand for Connecticut's own home grown fruit, although it is universally recognized as the best in quality.

"Connecticut's annual fruit crop is valued at more than $4,000,000 and of this amount the apple takes the lead with a valuation of over $2,000,000.

"However, under our present market conditions, I would not advise rushing blindly into the fruit business simply because figures show that Connecticut is not producing enough for herself. In fact, I would urge that we do not increase our present plantings but take the supply that we have and put it on the market in such shape that it will attract attention and make the people want more and more Connecticut fruit.

"Connecticut has established by law standard grades and packages that should prove effective in meeting the outside competition. It is my aim this year to begin the enforcement of this law in order to help the fruit industry. In a previous letter I enclosed a copy of the laws and explained that the first enforcement steps would be along educational lines. We have under way a big publicity campaign for the Connecticut apple which we hope will show the public the value of buying Connecticut's graded apples hoping a list of grading and packing demonstrations to be held this fall will be sent to you giving the time and place one of which should be of your vicinity.

COLD

Colds can be ended in a day. They can be prevented by taking the right help at the start. Millions of people have proved that.

The way is HILL'S—a prescription tablet combines four modern discoveries. It is quick, efficient and complete. It stops the cold, checks the fever, opens the bowels and tones the entire system. It is such an ideal method that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

Colds rarely develop if HILL'S is on hand to check them at the start. They stop quickly when HILL'S is taken later. Find this out and you will never use a lesser help for colds.

A Happy Woman

A MAN dreams of wealth, success and power.
A woman dreams of a home of her own and babies to love.
Happy is the young woman whose dream is fulfilled. With good health, housework is not a burden. Her home echoes to the prattle of healthy children. She must not fail those tiny hands. Her husband is still her comrade and confidant, sharing her new responsibilities. She is content.
Happy, too, is the older woman who holds her children's children in her arms and lives to see a new generation dreaming dreams of its own.

A young girl in Iowa was in such a weakened condition that she had to leave school. One day, after being in poor health for about two years, she picked up an advertising booklet and read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
"I began to take your medicine," she writes. "Now I am a housekeeper with six children and I have taken it before each was born. I cannot tell you all the good I have received from it. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."

AT NEW LOWER PRICES, the Chrysler "60" is recognized as a value further removed than ever from any other light six in the industry.

NOTHING so surely emphasizes the unique value that Chrysler "60" offers as the attempt to compare Chrysler "60" performance with that of the ordinary type of six.

So clearly defined and obvious is the difference in Chrysler "60" riding qualities—in speed and smoothness of operation, in roadability and riding comfort, in pliability of power, in response to accelerator and steering wheel—the least experienced driver cannot fail to class the "60" as immeasurably ahead of all other cars anywhere near it in price.

The difference is in creative engineering—in fine-measurement-manufacturing—in short, in Chrysler Standardized Quality. Walter P. Chrysler and his engineers and manufacturers believe they have never produced a car more brilliant than the Chrysler "60".

At its old prices, the Chrysler "60" was recognized as far beyond comparison with the ordinary six. The new lower prices widen the gap—emphasize more clearly than ever its unapproachable leadership in the light six field.

Lighter Six Chrysler "60" Prices

	OLD PRICES	NEW PRICES	SAVINGS
Club Coupe	$1165	$1125	$40

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Danny Goes Looking

If you think home life has a lack
Just go away and then come back.
—Danny Meadow Mouse.

Danny Meadow Mouse was back in Farmer Brown's barn. That was almost the same as being home. Once it would have been home for Danny and Nanny had lived all one winter in Farmer Brown's barn. It wasn't home now, however, for Nanny wasn't there. So Danny didn't waste any time in Farmer Brown's barn. He started straight away for the Green Meadows, and he was in such a hurry to get there that he was careless. Yes, sir, he was so. He didn't give a thought to Spooky the Screech Owl, or Hooty the Great Horned Owl, or Black Pussy, or Reddy Fox—any or all of whom might be out hunting that night.

It was quite a distance from Farmer Brown's barn over to the place where he had met poor Nanny. It sadly entered his head that she wouldn't be living there now. He had been at the seashore nearly all summer, and that is a long time in the life of a Meadow Mouse; but he expected to find Nanny just as he left her.

At last he drew near to the place where his home used to be. Then he suddenly became sly. He didn't know just what he was going to say to Nanny. You know explanations are sometimes difficult. However could he explain to Nanny why he had gone away in the first place and why he had stayed away so long?

So as Danny drew near the place where his home used to be his movements became slower and slower. He was just like a small boy who doesn't want to go home for fear he'll get a scolding. Every now and then he sat down to try to think of just the right way to Nanny. When he was near enough he paused to see if he could hear some sound of her.

At last Danny was at the very entrance to his home. So far he hadn't heard a sound from inside. He fidgeted about. Half a dozen times he started to poke his nose inside and drew back. Finally, in a very thin, squeaky voice he called "Nanny." Nanny didn't answer. He tried it again a little louder. The result was the same. Then Danny began to become anxious and he called loudly in that squeaky voice of his. Still there was no reply.

A strange sinking feeling took possession of Danny's heart. He fidgeted about and waited, and then tried calling again, but with no result. Then he did venture to poke his head inside. No one was there. Danny went in. It didn't take him one minute to show that Nanny hadn't been in that house for a long, long time. It was deserted. Yes, sir, it was deserted. It had been deserted for a long time. Could it be that something had happened to Nanny? Could it be that Reddy Fox or Hooty Owl had caught Nanny? Or that something else equally mad had happened?

Then Danny remembered that it was only a few days since Skimmer the Swallow had seen her. He remembered something else. He remembered what Skimmer had said about the strange Meadow Mice who had come to the Green Meadows, and who seemed to be so much interested in Nanny Meadow Mouse. Could it be that Nanny had gone off with one of these? That must be it. It must be that Nanny had given Danny up for lost and had found a new mate. At the very thought Danny gritted his little teeth and ground them together and flew into a dreadful rage. He was jealous. He was just plain jealous. He rushed out of that deserted little house and he was still grinding his teeth. He was going out to look for Nanny Meadow Mouse.

MRS. JAMES J. DUNN DEAD FOLLOWING BRIEF ILLNESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 26.—After an illness of only three days with pneumonia, following a previous brief indisposition, Mrs. James J. Dunn, 74, died shortly after 2 o'clock this evening at her home on North Main street. Mrs. Dunn had been a resident of Danielson for more than 30 years, coming here from Worcester. She leaves the following children, Mrs Sarah Nolan of Bridgeport, Mrs. Anna Reynolds and Miss Mayme Dunn of Danielson, Miss Elizabeth Dunn of Hartford, John of Nashua, N. H., George of Hartford and Frank of Worcester.

Norwich Produce Market

Apples continue plenty with good grades finding ready sale. A few greenings and other winter varieties are being offered in bushel baskets but do not find much demand yet. California grapes remain steady with New York Concords slightly easier 20c-22c for 2 lb. baskets and $5-$1.00 for 18 lbs., while supplies of natives are limited. Moderate supplies of quinces sell for 75c per 14 qt. basket.

Beets, carrots and other roots are offered quite freely but with only moderate demand. Cauliflower and cabbage are both plenty and small lots of Brussel sprouts sold at 15c per qt., and spinach 75c bushel. Potatoes continue firm and sweets easy.

The egg market remains unchanged. All grades are firm with strictly fresh eggs scarce at any price. Poultry continues steady and butter firm.

Calves are scarce and native cows plenty, veal a little firmer and other meats steady.

REPUBLICAN RALLY STIRS ENTHUSIASM OF VOTERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 26—An enthusiastic republican rally was held at the town hall tonight with a large attendance. The principal speaker was Congressman Walter W. McGee, of New York and other speakers were Governor John H. Trumbull and Mrs. R. J. Whitham of Groton, state grange lecturer. Representative A. Linn Weatherhead was chairman, reviewing the qualifications of the nominees in his opening brief address.

The Imperial Male quartette sang several numbers during the rally.

Governor Trumbull spoke first, outlining the business operations of the state. He severely flayed the ballot-slackers in a plea for a big vote. He gave promise of a continuance of the pay-as-you-go policy of the republican party, which has placed Connecticut second to none in financial standing in the Union, in fact the only state of the 48 that is completely solvent.

He spoke in praise of Sheriff Charles A. Gates, one of the oldest politicians in point of service in the republican party and senior member of the state central committee. He expressed the hope that Sheriff Gates would serve the people for many years to come. He also urged the re-election of Representatives A. Linn Weatherhead and Charles D. Pomeroy, because of their previous legislative experience. The gathering responded to these suggestions with heartiest applause.

Mrs. Whitham lauded the unparalled record of Governor Trumbull and appealed to the women to vote next Tuesday. She scored the laxity shown before this by the women as regards participation in elections.

Congressman McGee made a stirring address on national issues, especially the protective tariff, in predicting the seniority rights as they will exist in the house and senate during the coming session. he said that it was absolutely useless to send a democrat to Washington as all the important chairmanships will be held by southern democrats who dictate to their northern brethren, when the democratic party holds sway in congress. This dictation he claimed to be the reason why such states as Massachusetts, New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Connecticut bear the burden of the federal expense. He concluded with an endorsement of Senator Hiram Bingham, who, he said, should be returned to the United States senate and there should be a strong republican majority.

FALLING IS A SCIENCE FOR MOVIE COMEDIANS

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP)—Comedians who make good in fast-moving pictures not only must be athletes but they also must have the stamina and courage to withstand hard knocks and falls.

"It isn't what a man stands for that counts—it's what he falls for," wisecracked Walter Catlett.

"And it's not the fall which knocks him out, but the way he falls," supplemented Charlie Winninger.

"It isn't always the big falls that hurt, but many times it's a little fall of three or four feet," added Bobby Vernon.

"The fall not properly broken is the one that keeps the comedian laid up in bed for several days," concluded Al St. John.

Catlett and Winninger of circus days are now clowning for Fox Films but they are serious when it comes to falling.

"Falling into a net should always be done with the feet downward," Winninger says, "but at that moment of striking, you should elevate the feet so as to strike on the back. If that is impossible you should gather yourself as nearly as possible into a ball, but hold all your muscles loosely. You can break your leg by not grounding properly."

Bobby Vernon, a chubby athletic chap who plays for Educational, continues:

"If you can run full speed into a heavy parlor chair, fall over it and keep on going and come off with nothing worse than a barked knee, you may qualify as a screen comedian. You have no idea how many corners and edges there are on a chair until you drive into one going as fast as you can run.

"While taking falls is only the least of a comedian's requirements, it is one of the most trying things in the profession."

LOUISIANA CAMPAIGN IS ONE OF LANGUAGES

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 26 (AP)—He spoke to the voters in French from platforms in the southern parishes, he addressed them in the King's English in North Louisiana; he "harangued" crowds in the Creole "patios" and in straight-from-the-shoulder American language.

And at the end of his campaign in the democratic primary Dudley J. LeBlanc of Abbeville, scion of an old Louisiana French family, emerged with a lead of 15,462 votes.

LeBlanc's campaign was unique. Louisiana is divided, racially speaking, into North Louisiana and South Louisiana. North Louisiana is settled by the stock which is to be found in practically all other southern states. South Louisiana's people are often descendants of the old French settlers, but most of them claim as forebears those famed Acadians who drifted down the Atlantic coast with Evangeline, Longfellow's heroine. These latter are commonly known as Cajune.

So in South Louisiana he made his promises in French; in North Louisiana he made the same promises in English.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestents that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia, to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

WILLIMANTIC MAN'S COTTAGE AT OCEAN BEACH RANSACKED RECENTLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 26.—Frank Rosen, 628 Main street, Willimantic, made complaint to the New London police this afternoon that his cottage at 50 Ocean View place, Ocean Beach, had been broken into recently and that some of the furnishings had been stolen. Rosen stated that he discovered the break today and the thieves gained entrance to the cottage by smashing a lock on a rear door. Included among the plunder taken were a quantity of dishes and two bureaus. Because of the amount of plunder taken it is believed that the thieves used an automobile truck to carry it away.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brownell, 59 North Court street, Fall River, Mass., communicated with the New London police today in an effort to locate her brother from whom she has not heard in 25 years. Mrs. Brownell stated that the last she had knowledge of the whereabouts of her brother, James Henry Gillespie, was in New London. Mrs. Brownell states that he is 69 years of age and that he was familiarly known as "Dinny, the Hack Driver." He is described as being about 5 feet, 8 inches in height and dark red hair. The police have no knowledge of Gillespie having resided in New London and nothing is known of him here.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the driver's license of Morris Socol, Shaw street, suspended.

The police of Stamford today requested the New London police to arrest Edward J. Brisor, should he put in an appearance in New London, for it is believed he will. A few days ago Brisor left Stamford and said that he was coming to New London. He is described as being 21, about five feet, seven inches in height, brown curley hair. He wore a greenish shade top-coat and gray hat. When Brisor departed from Stamford, it is claimed he took with him a traveling bag, a suit of clothes and a sweater belonging to his room-mate.

With an election at which national and state officials will be chosen only a week off, less interest is outwardly manifested than is usually apparent.

DECLINE IN NUMBER OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 26.—The police declare that there have been fewer automobile accidents of consequence in this city in the past month than have ordinarily occurred here. Some of the officers attribute this condition to the fact that there are fewer autos in use at present than have been used during the warmer weather, while others say that operators are more careful.

The funeral of George H. Sheflott, former Niantic merchant, who committed suicide at his place of business last Saturday evening by sending a bullet into his head, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his late home. The services, which were private, were attended only by relatives of Mr. Sheflott and a few former intimate acquaintances, and were conducted by Rev. John E. Montgomery. Burial was in Union cemetery, Niantic.

The funeral of Mrs. Anastasia Esposito, widow of Charles Esposito, who was found dead of heart trouble at her late residence, 10 Shaw street, last Sunday night by her son, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William J. Fox, pastor of Sacred Heart church, Groton. Relatives of Mrs. Esposito acted as bearers. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Marcus Jones and infant son, Mystic; Mrs. Irving Whitney and infant daughter, 368 Williams street and Austin Sackett, 94 Glenwood avenue, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Walter T. Murphy, proprietor of the Lyceum, Capitol and Crown theatres, who surprised his friends here by taking unto himself a bride in Miss Lena Arnold, New York show girl, in New York last Tuesday afternoon, arrived in New London, accompanied by his bride this morning and is stopping temporarily at the Hotel Mohican.

Councilor James A. May returned to his home, Montauk avenue, last night after having enjoyed a week's automobile trip through New York state, Maine and Canada.

Louise Derick, residing with her parents on Crouch street, was struck by an automobile driven by James F. Smith, Vauxhall street extention, this afternoon on Vauxhall street. The child was in the act of attempting to cross Vauxhall street and ran in front of the automobile. She escaped injury, except for bruises and contusions.

NEW LONDON POLICE TO ACT AS TRUANT OFFICERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 26.—The police of this city have been requested to act as truant officers now. In a letter received by Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney from City Manager William A. Holt, the head of the department is instructed in so many words to cause patrolman to pick up truants and bring the mto the schools that the children should attend. The letter was sent at the request of Superintendent of Schools Warren A. Manson. For several weeks there have been a large number of boys who failed at attend school sessions regularly. Heretofore and under the former plan of municipal government a truant officer was employed and it was his duty to see that truants were rounded up and that they attended sessions regularly.

STATE POLICE RECOVER TWO STOLEN AUTOMOBILES

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct 26.—Groton state police today recovered two automobiles that were stolen from New London and vicinity this month. Sunday night an automobile owned by Joseph A. Dalton, 176 Crystal avenue, which he had parked in front of his home for the night, was stolen. Dalton did not discover his loss until Monday morning when he reported the theft to the police. The state police were also informed of the theft and this morning the auto was found abandon on a side road in Groton. On October first an auto belonging to Charles McCracken, Uncasville, was stolen from that place, but no trace of it was obtained until last night when the state police at Foster, R. I., recovered the auto in Rhode Island. The state police were busy today endeavoring to recover a Ford roadster, owned by Nicholas Danatella, 2u Pratt street and employed by the Robert Gair company. Montville Danatella parked his auto on the grounds of the company last night and this morning discovered that it had been stolen.

Four cases tonight awaited the attention of the police court tomorrow morning. Three of them are ordinary drunks. The fourth case is that of John C. Toupasz, Lyme, and employed as chauffeur by the Connecticut college for women. This afternoon Toupasz drove the auto, a Ford roadster, to Green street, a street where traffic restrictions are necessary because of its narrowness and great traffic. Toupasz is alleged to have stopped the auto in the middle of the street and caused a traffic congestion. His act was observed by Patrolman William Riordan, who arrested Toupasz. He was ordered to present himself in court. Toupasz was arrested several months ago by Patrolman Riordan when it was claimed he had disregarded the officer's signal at the corner of Main and Williams streets. He was not penalized at that time for he had witnesses in two or three college girls, who substantiated Toupasz's statement that he did not see the signal.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Capitol Theater, Willimantic

Interesting to the follower of the movie chronicle is the fact that John Gilbert has become a star by reason of his work in The Big Parade, which will be presented at Capitol theater, Willimantic, Sunday night, Oct. 31st and Monday matinee and night Nov. 1st.

Mr. Gilbert has enjoyed conspicuous success in a larger number of romantic roles the past season than any other male player. His American doughboy, Jim Appersen, in the big picture that King Vidor made from Laurence Stallinge's story, is the fitting culmination of a splendid series of portrayals.

Vaudeville By United Guild.

Tonight at the Community house there will be a vaudeville show of five big acts under the direction of the ways and means committee of the Woman's Guild of the United Congregational church.

The committee has spared no effort in providing entertainment that will please and amuse. The Harmony Four never fail to satisfy. The Music Shoppe is a delightful sketch that is bound to make a hit. No Men Wanted indicates from its very title that it is something you want to see, while Allah Dahn Falk, a crystal gazer act, is a scream. Classical dancing by pupils of Mrs. Andrews is the fascinating number that completes the bill. Norwich vocalists, humorists and dancers can be relied upon for an enjoyable evening.

Will Lecture On American Fjords.

The Norwich Fish and Game association has been able to secure from the Bureau of Commercial Economics of Washington D. C., the services of L. O. Armstrong, the internationally known explorer and lecturer, who has spent 40 years in the joyous occupation of exploration for governments and railways. A life in the open has given to the world one of the most interesting speakers on the modern platform who draws from the wealth of his own rich experiences of which hunting whales and sea lions from an iceberg is but one.

Mr. Armstrong's subject will be "The Fjords of America," and will be illustrated by colored lantern slides and moving pictures. This lecture with others are the contribution of the Bureau of Commercial Economics to the campaign of the Outdoor Recreation conference inaugurated by President Coolidge, to foster a love of outdoor life and the health and welfare of the nation. Mr. Armstrong is one of a number of well-known men and sportsmen from different parts of the world chosen to carry this message to our people.

The Community house has been engaged for the evening of November 11 and the public will be invited.

Breed Theater

A luxuriously appointed houseboat on the dreamy Nile—moonlight—music—a beautiful American girl, and an ardent Egyptian prince—all of this makes up the scene in romantic situations, as presented in Leatrice Joy's new starring vehicle, Made for Love, which is scheduled for showing at the Breed theater today and Thursday as the main attraction of a double feature presentation.

No effort or expense was spared to give Miss Joy a vivid background for her dramatic work in Made for Love, which has modern Egypt for a setting. Shifting from the romantic to the melo-dramatic, the scene changes to the interior of an Egyptian tomb, where many thrilling episodes take place. The flash-back into Egypt thousands of years ago, vests the production with genuine interest. Made for Love is an original story by Garrett Fort and finds Edmund Burns, Ethel Wales and Bertram Grassby featured in support of Miss Joy. Paul Sloane directed the production.

Broadway Theater

Following closely on the heels of the popular Little Annie Rooney, Mary Pickford's newest photoplay Sparrows coming Sunday to the Broadway theater under a United Artists Corporation release, bids fair to duplicate Little Annie's success. It is brimful of comedy and human interest that is bound to please those fans who did not care for "Our Mary" in pretentious costume dramas.

Sparrows is the story of a baby farm, harboring nine wistful scraps of humanity who are at the mercy of a flinty-hearted old villain and his half-crazed wife. The children range in age from mere babies to Mamma Mollie, a girl of 12 whose heart yearns over the unfortunate little waifs.

Pictorially the picture is one of the most effective Miss Pickford has ever done. The action takes place on an island farm in a southern swamp. There, in the midst of moss hung trees, in the shadows of an old colonial house gone to decay, a story of rare dramatic interest and human appeal is unfolded.

There are thrills aplenty in the picture. An encounter with live alligators during the stirring escape of Mama Mollie and her little band across the treacherous swamp forms one of the most exciting sequences. Humor and melodrama intermingle convincingly in Sparrows making with Mary a combination to intrigue the interest of the most jaded picture fan.

Palace Theater

The problem of selecting a program to follow such a great production as The Big Parade was not an easy one and the management has solved it by securing two of the finest pictures of the whole season, the first is So This Is Paris directed by Ernst Lubitsch and acted by a great cast including Monte Blue, Patsy Ruth Miller and Lilyan Tashman. Flippant, feathery, furious . French, the great Lubitsch does it, again in the style of Kiss Me Again and The Marriage Circle. You've never seen the Charleston danced until you see the mad rapturous rhapsody of the joy-clacking knees in So This Is Paris and the smart, daring gay sophistication that thrills you and tickles you with a new zest for life. Don't miss it it's the great stuff and in contrast to the gayety of this picture we have the adorable Irene Rich in Compromise, a stirring drama of tumultuous thrills. With a climax showing a terrific tornado with a whole town wrecked the supporting cast includes Louise Fazenda and Olive Brook. The story is that of a young bride who said, "Nothing can come between me and my husband," but something did, for when a modern girl wants a man she gets him, even if he's married. In Compromise, see it. Added attractions include Gene Tunney in chapter eight of The Fighting Marine and The Palace Topical Events truly a wonderful program and all at the regular low prices.

A Rare Musical Treat

At the Central Baptist church Sunday evening, at 7:30, Mrs. Dorothy Birchard Mulroney of Springfield, Mass., will be heard in recital on the Gale Memorial organ.

Mrs. Mulroney, formerly Dorothy Birchard, was born in Norwich, daughter of Arthur R. and Grace Dickson Birchard and is a descendant of John Birchard, one of the founders of the town of Norwich.

She is a young woman of unusual gifts and attainments and of great personal charm. She is a leading teacher of Springfield and is associated in the studio with Royal Dadman, famous baritone, doing concert work with him, Lambert Murphy and other artists of note.

Frederick J. Maples, cousin of the artist and choir director at the Central Baptist church, fortunately secured her at this time as her regular engagements at the Municipal auditorium as organist on Sunday afternoon keep her closely confined for the musical season.

The public is cordially invited to come and enjoy a musical program of unusual merit.

Broadway Theater

Tonight will end the phenomenal record of the sensational Columbia melodrama, The Lone Wolf Returns at the Broadway theater. Patrons who have not yet availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing the wonderful mystery adventure by Louis Joseph Vance in its screen accoutrements, are missing one of the season's screen treats, which is the main feature on a double program.

The Lone Wolf Returns stars Bert Lytell, who created the character for the screen, and Billie Dove, most beautiful of screen women and is one of the most widely talked of motion picture features of the season.

One of the most popular types of photoplays now before the public are what is known as "dog" pictures and one cannot wonder at it after seeing the latest Gotham production The Phantom of the Forest which features Thunder, the marvel dog, and is the second feature attraction.

A third feature offered for tonight only and at no advance in prices is a complete program of semi-professional vaudeville that just bubbles over with fun.

A brand new program of Keith-Albee vaudeville and pictures is scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Palace Theater

"The most striking thing about The Big Parade is the extraordinary simplicity of the story, and the truly incredible way in which interest is sustained by the highly imaginative and splendidly human incidents. It is a triumph of brilliant direction. Mr. Vidor cannot be praised too highly for the patient skill with which he has illumined the picture.

The story in its real essentials can be told in one short sentence. An American doughboy falls in love with a French girl, is wounded and returns to France after the war to marry the girl. It is this single directness of the story which makes the picture the greatest one filmed in my opinion. With no more than this as a plot, the men and women who are responsible for the direction have contrived to produce a human document on the Great war which for dramatic intensity and the building of tremendous suspense, has no equal on the stage or screen.

Renee Adoree rises to the heights of unrestrained and buoyant acting that I believe have never been exceeded in the pictures. She is human; she is French; she is a woman in love. It is hard not to be a little actress as well. She achieved it.

"The incident in the shell hole between Jim and the mortally wounded German youth is, in my honest opinion, the finest single incident I have ever seen in any picture. When Jim takes the cigarette from the dead boy's lips and smokes it himself I felt that never before had I seen an evidence of more skilful and wise direction. The whole brutality of war was in that action. So in the love scene between Jim and Melisande with its exquisite background of chewing gum! Such scenes as these, to say nothing of the great movements of excitement and suspense, cannot be dismissed as unimportant. They are important to art; they are art." Today, is your last opportunity to see this marvelous production.

Don't dose a Child's Cold

CHILDREN hate to be dosed with medicine, Vicks VapoRub relieves colds, without dosing, in two ways at once. When rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime:—
(1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled right to the inflamed air passages and lungs;
(2) At the same time it acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the pain, tightness and soreness.
Of course Vicks is just as good for the cold troubles of adults.
acts 2 ways at once

From 7 shades of white
A JURY of experts chose their ideal tone—a soft new "sun-white".
We named it Suntone.
The New Murale Process guarantees uniformity. Now you can be sure of getting exactly the same white tomorrow—or next year—that you buy today.
18 Suntone colors picked by the same jury give the newest, most alluring tones.
If you want supreme beauty and quality without added cost ask us about Suntone.

POULTRY.

FOR SALE—100 White Leghorn pullets, May 28 hatch; will begin laying next month. Edward Lovell, Canterbury Green, Conn. oct26d

START THE EGG MUSIC

This Guaranteed Way

Go to any dealer named below and get enough Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-ce-a to last your moulted hens and pullets 30 days.

Mix one pound Pan-a-ce-a with every 50 pounds of mash. Then see the change come over your flock, see the combs and wattles begin to turn red, listen to the song, scratch and cackle — that's when the eggs begin to come.

These results absolutely—or you return the empty container to the dealer and get your money back. No quibbling. No questions.

Costs little to use: One egg pays for all the Pan-a-ce-a a hen needs for six months.

For Lice: Use Dr. Hess Instant Louse Killer.

For Roup: Use Dr. Hess Roup Tablets.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Stocks: Firm; rail shares strengthened by large earnings.

Cotton: Lower; southern selling.

Sugar: Lower; increased spot offerings.

Coffee: Higher; firm Brazilian market.

Chicago

Wheat: Lower; good weather and Canada.

Corn: Barely steady; sympathy with wheat.

Cattle: Easier.

Hogs: Steady.

MARKET CLOSED ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Stock prices lacked uniformity in today's quiet stock market, due to a rather general disposition on the part of traders to await the outcome of important directors' meetings after the close. Prices drifted lower during the morning, stiffened in the early afternoon when a brisk demand developed for some of the high grade railroad shares, and turned irregular toward the close.

Directors of the United States Steel corporation declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the common, setting at rest rumors of a cash extra of $3 or a possible stock split-up. Net income for the third quarter totaled $52,026,826, as compared with $47,814,145 in the preceding quarter and $42,400,412 in the third quarter of 1925. The General Motors corporation showed net earnings for the nine months this year, including the corporation's equity in subsidiary companies, of $149,317,553, compared with $86,921,018 in the same period of 1925, or at the rate of $17.77 a share on the outstanding common stock. U. S. Steel common closed unchanged at 137 3-4 after fluctuating between 137 and 138 3-8, and General Motors showed a net gain of 1-2 at 146 1-2 after having sold between 144 and 147 1-2.

Rails displayed a shrinkly better undertone than the industrials, due to the publication of a series of unusually favorable September earnings statements by Union Pacific, Rock Island and Chesapeake & Ohio, and the Delaware & Hudson stockholders' approval of a plan for separating the transportation properties. The advance in Pennsylvania to within a fraction of the year's high was accompanied by rumors of a possible increase in the annual dividend at tomorrow's meeting of the board.

At no time was there any concerted selling pressure against the market, although about a dozen issues sagged to new 1926 low prices. The list included International Agricultural Chemical, common and preferred, Mack Trucks, MacKay companies, National Cash Register, Worthington Pump B, U. S. Smelting preferred and Electric Refrigeration. On the other hand, new peak prices were registered by May Department Stores, Gotham Silk Hosiery (new), Elkhorn Coal and Columbia Gas certificates.

By-products Coke jumped 8 points in a sudden outburst of buying just before the close. Montgomery-Ward and Sears Roebuck were active and strong despite official denials of a contemplated merger of those two companies. Timken Roller Bearing, a recent strong spot, fell back over 3 points on realizing and short selling.

With brokers' loans reduced over $150,000,000 in the last two weeks and no appreciable increase in commercial borrowing, call money was in liberal supply, although the rate was maintained at 4 1-2 per cent. Time money rates softened slightly, 60 to 90 day loans being quoted at 4 7-8 to 5 per cent, instead of on a flat 5 per cent basis. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Inauguration of trading in the new Belgian unit of currency known as the belga, which is equivalent to 5 Belgian francs, featured the foreign exchange market. Opening quotations were around 13.90 to 13.91 cents, or just five times the "pegged" rate of 2.78 cents on the old franc. Demand sterling ruled around $4.84 1-4, which is close to the "gold import" point. French francs were firm above 3.05 cents and Norwegian krone rallied 25 points to above 25 cents.

The principal commodity markets kept ground. Active cotton futures closed 14 to 16 points net lower after an early interval of moderate strength. Wheat prices also sagged slightly. Raw sugar was unchanged but coffee advanced 19 to 29 points.

NORWICH, CONN., WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, 1926

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

The Bulletin.

Norwich, Wednesday, Oct. 27, 1926

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The disturbance that was over southwestern Missouri Monday night has advanced southeastward to the northeast Florida coast. Relatively high pressure covers the Ohio valley.

The outlook is for fair weather Wednesday and Thursday in most of the states east of the Mississippi river. Temperatures will rise Thursday in the Atlantic states.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Fresh west weather partly overcast Wednesday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh west and northwest; weather partly overcast Wednesday.

Forecast

For southern New England: Partly cloudy Wednesday and Thursday; rising temperature Thursday.

Observations

	Ther.	Bar.
8 a. m.	40	29.80
2 p. m.	52	29.80
8 p. m.	38	29.90

Highest 52, lowest 38.

Comparisons

Predictions for Tuesday: Partly cloudy, slightly cooler.

TAFTVILLE

The second of a series of whists was given by Division 28, Ladies' auxiliary, A. O. H. in their rooms this week and proved to be a great success. The prizes were donated by the members and were awarded as follows: Ladies' first, Miss Abbie Murphy; second, Mrs. John Wunderlich and consolation Miss Nora Murphy. Gentlemen: First, A. Caron; second, Joseph Poulen; consolation, James Murphy. Refreshments were served after cards by the following committee, Mrs. Margaret Nolan, chairman; Mrs. Tenas Beaudt and Mrs. William J. Malone.

The standing committee of the Taftville Congregational church met Tuesday evening in the church vestry with the chairman, George H. Young, presiding.

Louis Thibeault of Providence street has resigned his position with the Ponemah company.

The annual meeting of the Taftville chapter, A. R. C. will be held in Ponemah hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 28, at 8 o'clock.—adv.

FINED FOR OPERATING AUTO UNDER INFLUENCE

Found guilty of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and operating without having his driver's license with him, Richard J. Driscoll, 23, of this city, paid $210.50 in the city court Tuesday morning. He was arrested late Monday afternoon by Officer William Sharvan at the corner of Williams avenue and Broadway. The officer noticed him acting queerly around a Maxwell coupe which he was driving.

The officer testified that when he ordered Driscoll that he was under arrest, Driscoll put up a struggle and struck him off on several times. In return Driscoll received a black eye and bruises about the face. Chief George Linton and Officer Charles Smith testified that Driscoll was intoxicated when brought to police headquarters.

Driscoll claimed he did not strike the officer, stating that he was not wrestling with him. He denied being intoxicated claiming that his condition when he arrived at headquarters was due to the beating inflicted on him by the officer. He was fined $50 for operating under the influence of liquor, $3 for not having his license with him, and $10.50 costs were added on. The charge of resisting an officer was nolled.

A charge of reckless driving against Michael Golumb, 27, local taxi driver was continued until Wednesday morning.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Charles W. Prentice has had as her guests Mrs. Stanley W. Hunter and Mrs. Frederick Curtis, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dr. and Mrs. Witter K. Tingley who have been on a motor trip of ten days to Cleveland, Ohio, have left for the Thousand Islands and are expected home Thursday.

Miss Frances D. Young of Norwich Town, leaves today (Wednesday) for a visit with Mrs. Charles L. Hubbard and Mrs. Rosalie Hubbard Lee, at their residence at Eastern Point.

During Monday, Mrs. Albert Lee and her cousin, Mrs. Gardiner Greene returned from Boston where they had spent a fortnight. They also visited Mrs. Lewis's cottage at Gloucester.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris S. Lippitt, who since Sept. 1st have been occupying their cottage on the seawall, Neptune Park, are to leave Thursday for Ridgewood, N. J., the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Z. Haviland.

Miss Rosalie Decatur Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Richards (Rosalie Lanman) of Chicago, formerly of Norwich, with her dancing partner, Donald Grant, has been engaged to dance at the exclusive Opera Club, Chicago, Wednesday and Saturday evenings during the season. Miss Richards' skill and grace in interpretive dancing won great favor during her visits to her uncle and aunt, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Clarence A. Carr, of The Pequot. She is a niece of Miss Mary E. Richards and Mrs. Albert H. Chase, of Norwich. This is her first professional engagement.

NEW SCHOOL IS TO PERPETUATE NAME OF REVOLUTIONARY PATRIOT

The new school at Norwich Town which is to be called the Samuel Huntington school will perpetuate the name of the most distinguished resident of Norwich during the days of the Revolution. The name was adopted by the town school board from a suggestion made by the society of the Founders of Norwich, which voted at its June meeting to make this suggestion to the school board, this motion originating with Henry G. Peck, one of the members of the society.

The following sketch of Samuel Huntington is given in a book owned by Mr. Peck and entitled "Biographical Sketches of the Signers of the Declaration of American Independence," by J. B. Lessing, published in Boston, 1856, by John Philbrick:

The family of Samuel Huntington was among the earlier settlers of Connecticut, who located at Saybrook. He was born at Windham, Conn., on the second of July, 1732. His father was an industrious farmer and the only education he was able to allow his son was that to be derived from the common schools in his neighborhood. Samuel was very studious and the active energies of his mind surmounted many obstacles that stood in the way of intellectual advancement.

He acquired a tolerable knowledge of the Latin language and at the age of twenty-two years he commenced the study of law. Like Sherman, he was obliged to pursue it with borrowed books and without an instructor. He succeeded however, in mastering its difficulties and in obtaining a good practice in his native town before he was 30 years of age. At the age of 28 (1760), he removed to Norwich where he had greater scope for his talent.

Mr. Huntington was elected to the general assembly of Connecticut in 1764 and the next year he was chosen a member of the council. In the various duties of official station he always maintained the entire confidence and esteem of his constituents.

He was appointed associate judge of the superior court in 1774; and in 1775 was appointed one of the delegates from Connecticut in the general congress. The following year he had the glorious privilege of voting for, and signing the Declaration of Independence. He was a member of the congress nearly five consecutive years and was esteemed as one of the most active men there. His integrity and patriotism were stern and unbending and so conspicuous became his sound judgment and untiring industry, that in 1779 he was appointed president of congress, then the highest office in the nation. At length his impaired health demanded his resignation of the office in 1781, yet it was with great reluctance that congress consented to dispense with his services.

On his return to Connecticut he resumed the duties of the office he held in the council and on the bench, both of which had been continued while he was in congress. He again took his seat in congress in 1783, but left it again in November of that year and retired to his family. Soon after his return he was appointed chief justice of the superior court of his state in 1784. He was elected lieutenant governor in 1786 and was promoted to the chief magistracy in 1786 which office he held until his death, which occurred at Norwich, on the 5th day of January, 1796, in the 64th year of his age.

Governor Huntington lived the life of the irreproachable and sincere Christian, and those who knew him most intimately, loved him most affectionately. He was a thoughtful man and talked but little—the expression of his mind and heart was put forth in his actions. He seemed to have a natural timidity, or modesty, which some mistook for the reserve of haughtiness, yet with those with whom he was familiar, he was free and winning in his manners. Investigation was a prominent characteristic of his mind, and when this faculty led him to a conclusion, it was difficult to turn him from the path of his determination. Hence, as a devoted Christian and a true patriot he never swerved from duty or looked back after he had placed his hand to the work. The cultivation of this faculty for decision we would earnestly recommend to youth, for it is the strong arm that will lead them safely through many difficulties, and win for them that sentiment of reliance in the minds of others, which is so essential in securing their esteem and confidence. It was this most important faculty which constituted the chief aid to Samuel Huntington in his progress from the humble calling of a ploughboy to the acme of official station, where true greatness was essential, and to which none but the truly good could aspire.

GIVES $4,000 JUDGMENT FOR MRS. ELIZABETH JENNES

In a suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Jennes of Summit street for $15,000 damages against the city of Norwich for injuries in a fall which was recently tried before Judge Newell Jennings of the superior court, judgment for $4,000 for Mrs. Jennes was handed down Tuesday by Judge Jennings.

In a memorandum of decision he says:

The plaintiff lives on Summit street. Summit street connects with Washington street on the western part of the city. It is used by many people and is of considerable importance as a means of the regular beat of [illegible] of the department of [illegible]. The part of Summit street where the accident occurred is [illegible] and dangerous in bad weather.

On the morning of December 24, 1925, the plaintiff and Grace [illegible] were coming down Summit street as they approached the corner of Norwich street with a sheet of ice which was covered with [illegible] snow. Between seven and eight o'clock on the morning of the [illegible] the plaintiff slipped and fell on the sidewalk at the rear of the Methodist Episcopal church and was seriously injured.

There was ample evidence that the [illegible] had been in existence [illegible] days, and that defects in the walk and snow thereon for a considerable period before the accident. [illegible] claims, however, that [illegible] the condition then existed, he the following citation: Cook, Katzing vs. Norwich, 104 Conn. 425, 427:

"When once a defective condition [illegible] and every one has established the fact that thereafter by reason of storms or melting, that condition exists in some other form, it will not relieve the city of liability and will not in itself preclude a finding of constructive notice to it."

The plaintiff is 52 years of age and prior to the accident had done all the work for a family of seven. She is a heavy woman and the fall dislocated her shoulder. Owing to the infiltration of fat into the ligaments supporting her shoulder it can never be permanently replaced. She has had no use of her right arm since the accident and will become time before she can make any use of it, if indeed she ever can. She has gone through a long course of treatment and several operations and has already spent $672.95 for medical care and expenses.

Judgment may enter for the plaintiff for $4,000.

PLANET MARS IS NOW PROMINENT IN HEAVENS

The most interesting sight in the heavens at present is the planet Mars that will be nearer to us Wednesday than it will be in another year, says the Good Digger. A swift aircraft could make the trip in a few hundreds of thousands of years, as Mars is only 43,000,000 miles away.

Mars has been six or seven millions of miles nearer the earth but will not be this year as the fiery little war god starts away from us Thursday a. m. very early but will still be very bright for a long time. November 4, Mars and the earth will be in "opposition" that is the sun and Mars are in a straight line on each side of the earth.

While the earth travels its orbit in 365 1-2 days—one year—it takes Mars 687 days to completely travel its orbit and make a year. While Mars is the brightest planet at present in sight, Jupiter is very nearly as bright.

While all kinds of scientific stories are told of Mars and his wonderful canals the fact is that we will never know actually what Mars is like and what is going on there until telescopes are more than 140 times as strong as they are today, you can figure that out easily when you know that the moon gets within 222,000 miles of us at times and Mars is never closer than 33,000,000 miles.

Automobiles are a good deal like men. The cheaper they are the more [illegible] they make.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE IN HONOR OF TWO MEMBERS

The O. G. sewing circle met with Miss Nellie Malcom at her home on Washington street, Monday evening with all members present. After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed in honor of birthdays of two of the members, Mrs. Margaret Cox and Mrs. Rose Fournier. A large birthday cake was placed on the center of the table and Mrs. Francis Williams presented each with a gift in behalf of the members. A collation of sandwiches, cake and coffee was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Cox and Mrs. Francis Williams. Those present were: Mrs. Margaret Cox, Miss Nellie Malcom, Mrs. Francis Williams, Mrs. Louise Williams, Mrs. Ora Malcom, Mrs. Francis Mowller, Mrs. Rose Fournier, Miss Anna Connell, Miss Barbara Sullivan, Miss Lida Cook, Mrs. Gertrude Shaw, Miss Freda Ratkowski, Miss Helen Fournier, Miss Mary Cox.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Shaw.

MASON'S ISLAND INJUNCTION BRINGS IN 40 WITNESSES

With more than 40 witnesses present, trial in the injunction and damage suit brought against the Mason's Island Co., and Dr. Gurdon S. Allyn by Mrs. Helen E. Dodge of Brooklyn, N. Y., a summer resident and property owner on Mason's Island for 21 years, was begun in the superior court at New London Tuesday before Judge Newell Jennings.

Testimony given by Mrs. Dodge gradually led up to the question of an alleged right of way on her land, which was fenced at a point upon it and which fence, Mrs. Dodge said, had been knocked down many times, the last time occurring this year when Dr. Allyn broke it down with his automobile.

Attorneys Arthur T. Keefe and Marion Davis, for the plaintiff, and Attorneys Philip Z. Hankey and Warren B. Burrows for the defendant, skirmished continually as Mrs. Dodge answered volley after volley of questions which finally came so thick and fast that Judge Jennings said: "You are way ahead of me," and declared a short recess.

Mrs. Dodge alleges that the defendants have attempted to use a right of way across her property and that also they have entered her land and laid water pipe for a distance of 300 feet.

She alleges that she and her husband had the first title to property there, her husband having purchased the land from Andrew Mason two years before the latter's death. She claims that her husband received from Mr. Mason a warranty deed.

The claims that it was after Andrew Mason's death that the defendants received a title to any Mason's Island land and that they purchased from the administrator of the elder Mason's estate. She became owner of the Dodge land when her husband quit-claimed the deeds to her.

Mrs. Dodge seeks an injunction restraining the defendants from using the right of way and also seeks an order forcing them to remove the water pipe. Also the plaintiff asks $2,000 damages.

Attorney Hankey addressed the court, saying that the Masons held the island for many generations and that for a long period of years a right of way had existed across the island, had been used by many, that it ran across the property now claimed to be owned by the plaintiff. He said that when Andrew Mason [illegible] to sell lots [illegible] were all laid out with a back road [illegible] to this roadway as it was the natural and only [illegible] for the purpose to which the [illegible] were put. He said that after the Dodges came [illegible] the property and when in [illegible] was [illegible] "Private way, please close the gate."

[illegible] Dodge, [illegible] Mason to Mr. Dodge, dated [illegible] that the land was purchased [illegible] 1912.

Auto Knocked Gate Down

Mrs. Dodge testified that there was no right of way on her property and that the path referred to by the defendants was nothing more than a sheep path. She said there was a well-defined highway on the east side of the island, which had always been used to get to the southern end until Dr. Allyn closed the road after a Mr. Lowell had built his home.

She said that in July, Dr. Allyn came upon her property and knocked down the gate. She said that the gate was only placed across the road and that one morning a man, employed by Dr. Allyn had come up to the gate and asked that the gate be open so that he could drive through to dump gravel on the road. He was politely told that the gate would not be unlocked, said the witness whereupon after realizing that such was the case he notified Dr. Allyn to that effect.

Mrs. Dodge said that the doctor came along in his car, drove around the fence, and came back on the other side of the gate whereupon he struck the gate three times with his car, finally smashing it. She said that when her husband, who was not in good health, came out and remonstrated with Dr. Allyn, the latter ordered his man to drive on with the gravel. She said that Dr. Allyn ordered the driver to drive "right over him" and that her son fearing for his father stepped in his place, with the result that the physician offered to resort to physical violence if necessary.

She testified to one Sunday night when 47 cars passed by her house upon the right of way and said that some of these rumbled by as late as 2 o'clock in the morning.

On cross-examination by Attorney Hankey, the witness displayed some remarkable ability in testifying, clearly demonstrating that she was extremely well versed in the history of Mason's Island.

When asked by Mr. Hanker what the sign on the gate said, she replied, "I think it said, Private way, please close the gate."

She then added, "But the gate was locked for 24 hours each day since it was placed there."

Upon being questioned further, the witness stated that until the year 1925 she never saw a team or an automobile go over the right of way.

She told exactly when the gate was put up and when Mr. Hankey asked her how she remembered this, she said that ever since she and her husband had begun their camp at Mason's Island, they had recorded events in a "log-book," and "the log-book is here for your inspection," she asserted.

She was asked why it was that the gate only went across the road and that on either side of the gate there was open space. She replied, "If attempts had been made to go around the gate, it would have been extended further."

New London Scouts Will Parade

An invitation from the Armistice day parade committee of the American legion of Norwich was read and accepted at a meeting of the New London Boy Scouts on Monday evening. It is expected that a large delegation of Scouts will journey to this city to take part in this parade. The New London delegation will be headed by the combined drum corps of Troops 3 and 5, which will number about 40 pieces.

Birthday Surprise Party

A surprise party for the 15th birthday of Miss Julia Perrone was recently given at the home of Mrs. Perrone, 20 Platt avenue. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake, candy, cream and fruits, were served by Mrs. Rosa Perrone and games were played.

Those present were Miss Antonette [illegible], Mary Emilio, Francesa Lovatto, Irene Blanchette, Margaret Connell, Rose Mingo, Julia Ambrosia and Rosa Perrone.

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST

A proprietary medicine like everything else that comes before the public has to prove its merit. It has to meet competition. The law of the Survival of the Fittest applies to this as to other things. The fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after fifty years of success, is still one of the largest sellers, proves that it is a dependable standard remedy and one in which women may have perfect confidence.

ASKS $25,000 DAMAGES IN BREACH OF CONTRACT SUIT

On the allegation that the Capitol Theatre corporation of Willimantic has refused to permit Abe Davidson of this city to act as manager of the theatre since it was opened on Jan. 21, 1926 Mr. Davidson has brought suit against the theatre corporation for $25,000 damages for breach of contract. The value of his services as manager is placed at $5,000 per year.

Davidson in his complaint alleges that on July 11, 1923, the Capitol Theatre's board of directors at a meeting duly called and held, voted to employ the plaintiff as manager of its theatre for a term of five years with the privilege of renewal for a like term of five years.

Subsequently on July 11, 1923, the board of directors entered into a contract of employment with the plaintiff as follows:

"It is hereby agreed that the Capitol Theatre Corp., acting by its secretary hereunto duly authorized engages Abe Davidson for a term of five years from date with privilege of renewal for a like term as manager of the said Capitol Theatre Corp., and the said Davidson hereby agrees to accept and does hereby accept said contract of employment for said term of five years with privilege of renewal for a like term, said employment to begin as soon as the theatre now being constructed shall be ready for occupancy and this contract then to be in force for a term of five years from said date with said privilege of renewal.

In witness whereof, the parties hereunto set their hands and seals, at Willimantic, Conn., this 11th day of July, 1923.

Reports of Earnings by 33 of 185 Class One Railroads Show an Increase of 6 Per Cent in Operations Compared With a Year Ago—Similar Reports Are Being Made by Leading Industrial Companies.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(AP)—Continuance of the unbroken prosperity that the great majority of the country's railroads has enjoyed in recent months is reflected in earnings reports for September thus far made public by 33 of about 185 class one carriers showing an increase of 6 per cent. in aggregate net operating income compared with a year ago.

Similarly striking results are being shown by leading industrial companies, notably the United States Steel corporation and General Motors corporation. Earnings of General Motors for the nine months of 1926 amounting to $146,317,756, broke all records, being greater than those of any preceding full year while the steel corporation stood at $145,902,216.

Total net for the 33 roads reached $33,651,006 against $69,454,000 for the same months in September 1925 while gross earnings aggregated $312,967,000 in contrast to $299,101,000 an increase of $13,866,000 or 4.6 per cent, indicating the heavy flow of freight traffic throughout the country.

Conspicuous among the larger gains reported for September were those of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe with an increase of more than $1,000,000 in gross and $2,362,706 in net operating income, The Pennsylvania, which raised its annual dividend rate on its $50 par value stock from 6 to 7 per cent. up $3.50 a share, reported an advance of $1,116,028 in net operating income and the New York Central showed a gain of $77,000 in net.

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER SPEAKER AT REP. RALLY

HARTFORD, Oct. 27—(AP)—"The government has got to be taught to mind its own business; it doesn't do it very well, but we want it in ours," President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university told a republican rally which nearly filled Foot Guard hall here tonight. Dr. Butler warned against the substitution of a system of blocs and coalitions for the two party system in government as a menace to government and scored the raising of the issue of "state's rights" in the sense of secession, as an issue "as dead as Julius Caesar," and one whose doctrine "had been shot to death on a hundred battle fields and buried forever in the graves of 500,000 brave men of both the north and south.

The Columbia president, called secession and the "transfer to the federal capitol of all forms of control" as two means by which the government may be destroyed and using a sarcastically humorous story to bring out his point, declared the present flood of laws, "raises lawlessness to the plane of a benefaction." Obedience to all laws, he stressed, meant infinite knowledge and time for their understanding on the part of every citizen.

Quoting a United States senator as saying "there is no such thing as liberty under a republican government," Dr. Butler, in closing his speech, declared, "surely it is time to go to the polls, no matter what the opposition or how certain of election is the ticket and register in a voice that can be heard on Puget sound, at the Golden Gate and on the gulf of Mexico that there is liberty under a republican government and that the republican party is devoted to its maintenance."

U. S. Senator Bingham was the first speaker on the program, but before introducing Dr. Butler, Congressman Hess called upon ex-Governor Marcus H. Holcomb, of Southington, who was recorded a very warm reception.

CONFLICT OVER REGULATION OF MOTOR TRANPORTATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(AP)—Conflicting views on the advisability of federal regulation of motor vehicle transportation over highways were put before the interstate commerce commission today, with the national grange on one side, and the chief spokesman for railroad executives on the other.

T. C. Atkeson, Washington representative of the grange, says the farmers' interest "lies in the utmost freedom of highway use from interference regulation or impediment" while Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the association of railway executives, declared legislative control of the highway carriers was necessary.

There is a constitutional objection to federal attempts to regulate bus and truck transportation, Atkeson argued because their commerce could not properly be declared as interstate. Thom, on the other hand, contended, that commodities moved by the vehicles usually constituted articles in interstate commerce, even when the vehicles themselves were not engaged in common carriage.

SEARCH FOR KNOWLEDGE OF MARS' HIDDEN MYSTERIES

LONDON, Oct. 27—(AP)—Mars' which now is closer to the earth than ordinarily, failed to flash an S. O. S. or any other signals tonight which sent thrill British astronomers or other listeners at the radios, but thousands of enthusiastic star gazers and others remained hopefully on the job.

The committee will appeal to the supreme court.

QUEEN AND PRINCESS ARE GUESTS OF CITY OF MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 27—(AP)—Prince Nicholas broke away from the royal Rumania party today and went off with a few close friends for a private lunch, while his mother, Queen Marie, and Princess Ileana were being entertained as the guests of the city.

The young prince told inmates that he had no desire to offend anyone but "the sight of a silk hat" was not pleasing to him He had been away from court life for eight years with the Rumanian navy and has lots his taste for official functions, he said, while dining at the T. James club. "When you are keen on the service," he added, "that really is the main thing."

At the St. James club, which has entertained the Prince of Wales, King Edward and King George of England, the prince enjoyed a leisurely meal. At its conclusion he hurried to the hotel where the royal party was being feted by the city. He arrived just in time to rejoin the procession as it left for a second tour of the city.

HONOR THE MEMORY OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The memory of Theodore Roosevelt was honored throughout the nation today, the 68th anniversary of his birth and officially designated by the government as navy day.

Ships at coastal towns were thrown open to public inspection, ceremonies were held to show reverence to the name of the former president, special radio programs carried, minute studies of his private and public life by friends and relatives, and banquets were held by associations formed in his honor.

Among the activities in New York was a banquet at Roosevelt house where "Teddy" was born at which Roosevelt medals were awarded to Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge and Dan Beard, national commissioner of the Boy Scouts.

A Roosevelt memorial meeting was held at town hall under auspices of the Women's Roosevelt Memorial association with Mrs. Douglas Robinson and Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett among the speakers.

HAS GERMANY DUMPED STEEL PRODUCTS IN U. S.?

BERLIN Oct. 27.—(AP)—It is left to the respective governments of the United States and Germany to draw their own conclusions as to whether Germany is dumping steel products into the United States

The German-American commission, which has been investigating the alleged cutting by German steel manufacturers of prices on their exports to the United States in violation of the American anti-dumping act has reserved no decision in its report an outline of which has just been made public.

Certain facts have been established by the investigation, the commission states, and these are laid before the two governments for consideration and future action.

The commission is composed of William Coffin, American consul-general at Berlin and Charles L. Thurrill, customs attache in London for the United States, and Herr Hamann, of the German foreign office, and Herr Vogt of the ministry of commerce for Germany.

Mixed Commission's Report on Armaments

Would Create a Permanent Body Charged With Surveillance of Manufacture of War Materials.

PARIS, Oct. 27—(AP)—The creation of a permanent body charged with surveillance of armaments and manufactures of war material is recommended in a report completed today by the "mixed commission of the league of nations.

"The recommended committee would be charged with control of armament statistics and would be instituted in order to see that whatever arms limitation program the projected disarmament conference may agree upon, will be compiled with rigidly.

The mixed commission, which has been sitting at Paris, has been discussing the details of the economic phases of disarmament and will make its report to a subcommittee of the preparatory disarmament commission, now sitting at Geneva, on which the United States is represented.

The commission also adopted a resolution saying that the question of the limitation of war budgets should be arranged by separate agreements between the states which sign the eventual disarmament protocol. A recommendation was made that all states subscribing to the eventual disarmament convention engaged to publish the full amounts of their arms expenditures of all categories.

The findings of the commission are recommendations only and the United States delegates to the preparatory disarmament commission will enjoy full rights to suggest and combat them when they come up for action at Geneva discussions. Partial satisfaction is given in the findings to the view of the United States that disarmament cannot be effected by a mere proportional scaling down of military budgets.

That portion of the French press which is officially inspired tonight showed a tendency to exult over the conclusions of the mixed commission as a blanket endorsement of France's disarmament program which has been put forth at Geneva since May. The commission's report is technical in nature and is designed merely to clear the ground for the deliberations of the separate disarmament commission.

OBITUARY

Charles F. Chapin

WATERBURY, Oct. 27. — (AP) — Charles F. Chapin, 75, editor of the American, died here this evening at 7:40 o'clock after a short illness. He had devoted over a half century to the work of keeping the public mind alert through the medium of the editorial page. Mr. Chapin came to the American when hardly more than a boy and his sound opinions and literary style soon placed him in a prominent place among the newspapermen of New England.

Mr. Chapin in spite of his advanced age had diversified interests. He was an ardent follower of sports and an equally ardent fan and was a regular attendant at the games. It was while witnessing the Yale-Dartmouth game that his recent illness started.

Charles Frederic Chapin was born at South Hadley Falls Mass., Aug. 3, 1852, the son of Enoch and Harriet (Abbe) Chapin, of that town. He prepared for college at Wilbraham academy and was graduated from Yale university in the class of 1877, the same class of which Arthur Reed Kimball and Henry S. Couse, both of whom were afterward associated with him in newspaper work, were members. He served an apprenticeship in his youth as a printer on the Lowville, N. Y., Democrat and the Lowville Journal and Republican.

After his graduation he came immediately to Waterbury, where he became connected with the American. Having learned in the counting room, the newspaper business on its practical side, he assumed the editorial management. A self-assertion which was persistent, but unobtrusive, good-natured and considerate, he made his personality felt throughout the city and secured for the paper a strong following of thinking people who admired and steadily followed his editorials. Mr. Chapin's humor was trenchant and subtle, cutting clean through its object, yet not unkindly.

On Oct. 12, 1877, Mr. Chapin married Katherine A. Mattison, of South Shaftesbury, Vt., who died on July 10, 1905. He is survived by a son, Carl Mattison Chapin, associate editor of the American, and one daughter, Mrs. Barbara Chapin Russell, and two granddaughters, Misses Katherine Russell and Harriet A. Chapin. Another daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Chapin Martin, died in August 1918.

On January 1, 1878, Mr. Chapin became editor of the American. In 1883 he became secretary as well as editor. He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars. He attended the services of the First Congregational

BIRGER LIQUOR FACTION DECLARES WAR ON RIVALS

Roadhouse Near Marion, Ill., Has Been Fortified—Birger Gang is Going to Shoot It Out With the Shelton Brothers Gang, in the Night Time, as Soon as They Can Locate Them—Reporters Are Promised a Good Story Within a Few Days—Each Faction is Equipped With an Armored Car.

MARION Ills., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Armed to the teeth, members of the Birger liquor faction tonight were fortified at their road house near here to "shoot it out" with the rival Shelton brothers gang. Two members of the Birger faction were slain Monday night in a new outbreak of the warfare which is said to have cost seven lives so far.

"There is going to be a battle between the two factions," Charles Birger, faction leader, told reporters at his road house mar today.

"We are not going to be chased out. We have stood as much as possible from the Sheltons and we are going to shoot it out, as soon as we can find them. We can't look for them in the day time, but we are going to get them at night. If we don't get bumped off, we'll have a good story for you in a few days."

Birger showed the visitors bullet holes in the log cabin road house, known as "Shady Rest" which he said were made by enemy bullets.

He also showed the newspaper men his armored car, which is a horseless affair mounted on automobile wheels. Asked whether the armor plate would withstand gun fire Birger did not say a word but took out an automatic and fired. The bullet rebounded from the plate.

The interior of the armored truck was bare except for seats along the sides. None of the ten or 12 machine guns Birger is reported to have were in evidence but Birger assured newspapers his men were "ready, well armed."

To demonstrate their skill in machine gunnery, Birger and the four men with him then engaged in pistol practice, shooting several rounds at bottles. When the firing ceased four more of Birger's men rushed out from the woods nearby and it was thought a battle had broken out. Birger and each of his men were armed with a pistol and a rifle.

In the meantime, members of the Shelton gang were on patrol with armored car and heavily armed were reported to be making reconnaissance at West City, a small town in Franklin county near Benton and 20 miles south of Marion. Birger's road house is 12 miles east of Marion just south of the Williamson county line on the state supreme road to Harrisburg. A state road also runs to Marion and Benton.

GRAFT IN EVASION OF DRY LAW IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The "influential and upstanding" men of the alleged conspiracy to circumvent the prohibition law through the illegal withdrawal of more than 1,000,000 gallons of bonded wine from warehouses under the "arrangements" and alleged grafting at the federal court trial today of Major Percy Owen, former Illinois prohibition director, and Lowell B. Mason, state senator.

Mason is seeking re-election next week as a dry.

The "middle man" Harry Sehlan, former bail bond keeper indicted with Major Owen, Marsh and five others, said the major's first bit of grafting in the wine conspiracy was a $750 bail he slipped into Owen's pocket.

The "outside man" Louis Abelson, also indicted, was arrested, he testified, and Sehlan brought him a $1,000 Liberty bond in a tobacco can with the statement, "That's from the major; if you need any more, I'll get it." The Liberty bond was to be posted as a bond.

GOV. SMITH ANGERED BY STATEMENT OF O. G. MILLS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Governor Smith, never averse a prepared campaign speech or the Brann tonight to reply to the statement attributed to Ogden L. Mills, republican candidate for governor, that "the (Smith) can not be trusted in either his public or private life."

Declaring he defied Mr. Mills to produce anything against him whether public or private, Governor Smith said:

"He'll either produce the evidence or retract that statement and explain that it was made in the heat of passion. If not, he will have to answer for it."

"My public life has been under the severest scrutiny of any living man in the past 15 years. One particular man with a vast fortune has tried to find out something about me but he never has been able to do it. As for my private life, I will compare it any time with that of Mr. Mills."

COURT DECISION IN FAVOR OF PACKING COMPANIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Litigation of several years between the government and the large packing companies over the government's right to examine the packing companies' books was decided for the packers today by the United States circuit court of appeals which ruled the government has no right to examine or make copies of the books and ordered the dismissal of mandamus proceedings instituted by the United States attorney general and previously upheld by federal and Judge Adam C. Coffee.

The government action was based on the packers and stockyards act which gives the government control over the packing industry and empowers the secretary of agriculture to examine and make copies of the books and records of packers for the purpose of ascertaining the profits of companies and for use in the prosecution of conditions in the packing business.

THE MORSE MAIL FROUD TRIAL DRAGGING ALONG

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The slow progress of the Morse mail fraud trial was the subject of comment today by Federal Judge Thacher [illegible] and observations [illegible] in the court [illegible] of the [illegible] waiting three weeks for the [illegible] allegations contained in [illegible] ment. I think we ought to come to it."

Frequent clashes today as in previous days, were held accountable for the slow movement of the trial. The defense made 30 objections and the government alleged these retarded the trial. The 17 defense attorneys contended that each defendant was entitled to oversee and each counsel entitled to protect the rights of his defendant.

PURSE MAY PROVE CLUE TO TOLEDO CLUBBER

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 27—(AP)—Recovery of a purse that was taken from Miss Lois Dale when she was attacked on the night of the killing of a young woman last week by a man who is believed to be the same assailant with which she was [illegible] to death, brought the police nearer today to Toledo's notorious clubber.

The young woman's purse was found on a side street down town. It had been dropped, police believe, not more than an hour before a pedestrian picked it up. This contained clews that led the clubber slain roaming to streets here.

The purse was engraved with Miss Dale's name and address. When she left her home Monday night to attend classes at Toledo university she had it in the purse. This money was missing as well as the automobile keys and calling cards which she carried.

An open box, about a foot long and a foot wide between ends and about four inches deep, was found in the purse, it was observed today. Upon the cover was engraved today. Upon the cover was engraved the name James Harris Nason, or a name like The purse also was in the vicinity of Washington street where Miss Dale's body was found under a [illegible] early Tuesday morning.

Fear [illegible] expressed [illegible] would [illegible] Miss Dale was struck on the head earlier [illegible] and criminally assaulted. Her death has been attributed to the clubber who murdered three Toledo women this year.

FORMER INEBRIATE NOW HAS GOOD REPUTATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 27—Constable Thomas W Doyle paved the way for the newly elected constables about one o'clock this morning when he took into custody a peculiarly acting man who said that he was William Winters of 240 East Main street, Torrington, and a former inmate of the state asylum at Norwich. Winters was arrested as a suspicious character in a local restaurant. He said that he had escaped from the state asylum some three years ago and that for the past three months he had been working on farms in Scotland. The Norwich State hospital authorities said that Winters had left the institution at the time mentioned and that if the authorities desired such action, Winters would be returned to the hospital. Winters was sent to Norwich from Torrington as an inebriate and for idleness. From Scotland authorities it was learned that Winters had a good reputation as a worker there. He had been employed on a farm by Charles A Brown and recently by Benjamin Bassett. Mr. Brown notified Chief of Police Grady that he would have Winters employment and later in the day the man was returned to Scotland. Winters' clothing was chuck full of miscellaneous articles and he had about $30 in his possession when apprehended.

JEWETT CITY

MR. GILBERT IS SOMEWHAT PEEVED AT AVIATORS

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 27—Seen on Wednesday, Fred Gilbert says he doesn't understand why all the recently passing airplanes that find themselves short of gas pick him out as being supplied with that commodity. Neither does anyone else hereabouts that is acquainted with Fred. He is genial, good natured and all that, but far removed from being given to "gas." Last spring one evening just at dusk amid a roaring of motors and a rattling of levers a big Martin bomber landed in a newly plowed field furrowed out for potato planting. Fred rushed out of his cyclone cellar, to hear, shouted by the much begoggled pilot, "Hey thar, Pop, got any juice to sell." Fred is neither a bootlegger nor a gas vendor, so invited Mr. Man in the plane to "beat it out of his potato patch." This week Tuesday afternoon, while Fred was enjoying a little postprandial siesta, down came another one all with whirling tips of his barn by the grace of the hand, and mowing off several aerial radio braces. Rushing out, again he heard, "Hello you there, got a couple buckets of gas?" The visitor on Tuesday was not altogether uncourteous for he offered to take Mr. Gilbert over to Narragansett on a little ride. A demurrer was entered over on plea that he was digging potatoes, and feared his absence would so excite that they might run the ground, and more than that was due to prompt at a dance Wednesday evening and hated to disappoint the boys. Mr. Gilbert is planning to make arrangements with his brother Earl to cause a contract for a landing field in the rear of his barn with a big sign "Air planes use this place for alighting, instead of my potato fields and backyard."

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! Is tongue coated, breath feverish and stomach sour?

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

DANIELSON

AMERICAN LEGION PLAY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 27—There was good entertainment for a large audience this evening at the Orpheum theater when the comedy drama Wives to Burn was presented under the auspices of Leo J. L'Homme post, American legion, with a local cast. The players were Mrs. Myrtle Arnold, Miss Lucile Caron, Miss Monica Lambert, Mrs. Eva Bodo, Miss Wanda Niejadlik, Leo Bodo Hento Bodo, Harold Warner, Francis Cayen, James Harney and Bernard Casey. A part of the proceeds were added to the Legion's Memorial building fund.

Announcement that the Civic federation's annual Tag day is scheduled for Saturday of next week is a matter to call the attention of the general public here. For years the federation has been engaged in work that no other organization has undertaken in Danielson and a work that likely would be neglected if the funds failed to realize to the amount call for funds. The Tag day goes to meet the cost of maintaining a visiting nurse service, the holding of clinics for children, for the purchase of nourishment for the sick and needy and to such other humanitarian [illegible] Last year Tag day netted approximately $[illegible] which was a high record and an evidence of the public's interest in what the federation is doing. PUTNAM

PUTNAM GIRLS SIGN VAUDEVILLE CONTRACT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 27—The Misses Dorcas and Ruth Bartlett have signed a contract for a long engagement on the Keith vaudeville circuit. They were very successful while with Swarthmore Chautauqua in their musical act but this year it will be much more pretentious. They will appear as a trio with Miss Marion Stone in Coraopolis, Penn., as the third member. Miss Stone arrived in Putnam yesterday and the three young ladies are now engaged in long, daily rehearsals. Miss Stone was a student at Wesleyan and was graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music. She is quite a talented musician and has had considerable experience in professional appearances.

Mrs. Delia Laflamme of Church street has announced the engagement of her daughter Alice to Eugene Gendreau of Danielson. The marriage is to take place November 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bruce, former residents of Putnam, who removed from here in the early spring to Pequonnock River, Conn., have returned to this city and are now living on School street.

Mrs. George L. Badgett, who was called to New York city last week by the sudden death of her brother, Harry Sloan, is detained there by matters in connection with the settlement of her brother's estate. Mr. Sloan's other blood relative is his daughter Mary, who is a minor.

A large number of Putnam Odd Fellows are planning to go to Plainfield next Saturday, October 30, when a class of 25 candidates is to be taken into the order. The initiatory work will be performed by the degree team of Israel Putnam lodge.

Protection lodge, No. 79, I. O. O. F. of Central Village, Quinebaug lodge, No. 34 of Danielson and Israel Putnam lodge, No. 31, of Putnam will take part in the exercises. There is no lodge in Plainfield and the team will be headed by Quinebaug lodge. The 25 candidates are divided among the different lodges.

MEDBURY BOY ENJOYS ANOTHER BIG THRILLER

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 27—Lloyd Medbury, junior, and one high year student in the Putnam high school, motored to Windham county to have an experience of an aerial ride. From the height of one mile he looked down on the town of Putnam this afternoon and when he and his friend Raymond Medbury, who were passengers in the plane had safely landed with the youngster had an absolute request that the flying automobile exchanged for one that would travel through the sky "quite some." It is claimed, as he was assisted to alight and he seemed generally regretful that the trip had been of such short duration.

"Were you afraid?" he was asked by one of the spectators at the landing place when the plane alighted after a thrilling journey, far from the ground and stopped.

"Naw," he snapped, out of scorn for the query. "What was there to be afraid of?"

And Medbury has been through some experiences more than a year ago. He was piloting an ore of the heavy transports of the firm of McKinney & Trowbridge. He released the motor in some way and the ship started to move. The boy jumped out and got in front of the wheels and one of them passed over his abdomen. It was thought at first that he could not recover but after many days of illness he passed in the hospital and was found that no vital organs were injured and was feeted within the year.

Two airplanes were also owned in Hartford have been in this vicinity for several days and connection with the meetings and one or two others could take a ride through the town even. In a few instances the passengers were willing to pay double the fare to have the trip shortened. A field on the William May farm at Pomfret was selected a very desirable landing place.

Howard G. Glawson of this city has many friends here who are interested in the announcement of the engagement to Miss Charlotte Sherman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lee Sherman of New London. The bride-to-be has been employed in a clerical capacity at the Chester-Pond company; Mr. Glawson is a wholesale dealer in shell fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Booth and their little daughter have returned from a visit to relatives at Shelton, Conn.

Miss Eliza Reed, money order clerk at the post office, who was so desperately and it was feared at first, fatally injured in an automobile accident at Worcester during the summer, is slowly recuperating at her home in this city. She returned from a hospital a few weeks ago but it will be a long time before she has regained her normal health. She has just got back from a visit of a few days to her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Brady of Uxbridge.

Ralph E. Jenkins, superintendent of schools, announces that the average pay of teachers in the grammar grades of the public schools in Putnam is $1,190 a year. A very careful survey, covering the entire country, of the salary of grammar grade teachers, shows that it is $1,250 in cities of from 5,000 to 10,000 populations, or $60 more than Putnam teachers are receiving.

Samuel Rich, candidate for representative in the state assembly, Mrs. Rich, Mrs. George A. Hawkins and Miss Mary Eddy have closed their cottage at Quonochontaug beach. They returned home Tuesday. Mrs. Mary R. Bishop was in Hartford yesterday attending a state meeting of the Mayflower society of which she is one of the officers.

It has been announced that Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chandler of Brookline, Mass., formerly of Putnam, have obtained a satisfactory settlement with the driver of the automobile with which their own car was in a collision last summer. The accident occurred at Canton, Mass., on July 28th. Mrs. Chandler had four fingers broken and he right wrist injured. The damages to their car were also made good.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FUNERALS

Thomas W. Avery

The funeral of Thomas W. Avery was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence, 910 Eastern Point road, Eastern Point, with services by the Rev. Henry W. Hulbert, D. D., pastor of the Groton Congregational church. The bearers were Verne Dewey, Everett Thompson, Edwin Greene, Frederick Mather, Raymond Brown and Thomas Wheeler. Burial was in Groton cemetery.

Mr. Avery was a direct descendant of the Avery family that settled in the town of Groton in early colonial days, and of the same family whose many sons have had their names engraved on the roll of honor among the heroes who made the supreme sacrifice in the war for American independence.

All of the land which now embraces the Eastern Point colony was formerly owned by the Avery family and much of it was in the large farm once owned by Thomas Avery's father, Thomas W. Avery was born on the farm.

A number of years ago, the elder Avery sold the farm to Mr. Sturtevant and this transaction, together with subsequent exchanges of title, began the development of Eastern Point.

Mr. Avery built the Griswold garage when the late Commodore Morton F. Plant came to Eastern Point, and conducted it for several years afterwards. The Eastern Point golf links is built on land which was formerly a part of the Avery estate, sold to the Shennecossett country club by the Bowman syndicate.

Thomas W. Avery was a deacon of the Groton Congregational church for 40 years. It is significant that ever since the church was founded there has been an Avery on the board of deacons.

WEDDING

Buechse-Dempsky

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Joseph Buechse of Preston and Miss Rose Elfreda Dempsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Dempsky of No 723 Boswell avenue, were united in marriage at the German Lutheran church, Franklin street, by Rev. Herman A. Hunzinger. Over 100 guests, some from Detroit, New York, New Britain, and New Haven, were present. The bridesmaid was Miss Frieda Dempsky, a cousin of the bride and the best man was Arthur Buechse, brother of the groom.

The bride's gown was of beaded white georgette crepe with tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was gowned in orchid crepe and her bouquet was white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Frank Herr was in charge of the music at the church.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Dempsky at No. 723 Boswell avenue. The reception continued throughout the evening and music was furnished by the Mannerchor band.

The groom's gift to the bride was $50 in gold. The bride presented the bridesmaid a rhinestone bracelet and the groom's gift to the best man was a gold piece and pair of cuff links. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Buechse will reside at the home of the bride's parents on Boswell avenue. He is employed as a cook at the Norwich state hospital.

CLEVER VAUDEVILLE BY NORWICH AMATEUR CAST

A clever vaudeville performance was given Wednesday evening at the Community house by the ways and means committee of the Women's guild of the United Congregational church, having a good sized audience that applauded the well rendered program. It opened with a sketch, No Men Wanted, which was capably given by Mrs. A. C. Freeman, Mrs. Philip O. Roberts and Miss Nellie Glover. This was followed by the Harmony Four—Lyle Pillmore and George A. Turner, tenors, William A. Lund and Joseph Hands, bassos, with Alfred M. Brousseau accompanist. Their well rendered selections were The Bells of St. Mary's, Kentucky Babe and Larboard Watch Ahoy, with a solo, On the Road To Mandalay, by Mr. Turner.

Classical dances by pupils of Mrs. Andrews made an interesting group on the programme. The numbers were as follows, all given in costume: Polyhymnia, Nancy Pitcher; Songs of the Sea, Myrtle Fuller; Hungaria Rhapsody, with banjo selections as encore, Dolly Edmond; Cupid, Evelyn Beubeck; Gypsy Vagabond, Ruth Brown.

A particularly laughable number was Alla Dahn Falk, with E. V. Ross as the mystic crystal gazer and Edward A. Rich as Eddie, the youthful prodigy.

The concluding number was The Music Shoppe with William A. Bottomley and Loren B. Sampson as the shopkeepers, Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham in solos and the Misses Kathryn Zumbro, violin, and Betty Zumbro, piano, in duet numbers.

Homemade candy was sold by the Misses Kathryn and Elizabeth Zumbro, Emma Thompson and Elizabeth Rose. The entertainment was under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Sibley, chairman, Mrs. C. T. Bard and Mrs. A. M. Thompson, vice chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harold Nichols, Mrs. E. A. Rich, Mrs. R. L. Dent, Mrs. Henry Lyons, Miss Martha Reynolds, Mrs. H. B. Campbell, Mrs. J. A. French, Mrs. F. W. Lester, Mrs. R. P. Gregson, Mrs. P. O. Roberts, Mrs. E. V. Ross, Mrs. H. E. Lanz, Mrs. L. B. Sampson, and Mrs. A. D. Lathrop.

Attended Civil Engineers Meeting

A group of Norwich men, that included Shepard B. Palmer, H. B Wightman, P. O Roberts, B. H. Palmer, Jr., W. S. Spencer and Street Commissioner John C. Donovan, attended the meeting of the Connecticut Society of Civil Engineers in New Haven Tuesday.

At 1 in the afternoon the society members were guests at dinner of C. W. Blakeslee & Sons and the New Haven Trap Rock company, following which they made an inspection trip at 2 o'clock to the North Branford dam and at 3:30 they inspected the quarry and mill of the trap rock company.

MORRIS SPEAKS TO GATHERING OF LOCAL DEMOCRATIC WORKERS

To remain free and independent citizens of Connecticut remember that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, said Charles G. Morris, candidate for governor on the democratic state ticket, Wednesday evening in an address before a gathering of democratic workers at the Wauregan hotel. Mr. Morris was speaking at a complimentary dinner given the democratic workers of the town by the democratic town committee. The dinner was attended by about 150 men and women workers of the party. There were to have been four speakers at the dinner but two were unavoidably detained. David Richman, democratic candidate for secretary of the state, was unable to be present as he was a speaker at a democratic rally in Colchester Wednesday evening, and William H. Palmer, of Oxford, a former United States marshal was the other absentee.

About 8.15 o'clock Mr. Morris was escorted to the dining hall by Mayor Milo R. Waters, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and members of the democratic town committee. Mr. Morris, Mayor Waters and members of the party town committee occupied the head table.

The following menu was served:

Soup

Roast Duck Dressing
Baker Sweet Potato Gravy
Ice Cream Coffee

While the luncheon was being disposed of Pepin's orchestra entertained with a splendid concert programme and Edward T. Connelly ably officiated as song leader. There were group and community song numbers, a duet by Mr. Connelly and Alec Pasnik, a solo, My Girl Sal, by Thomas Sheehan, two vocal solos, by Mr. Connelly, one, Mother Machree being sung by request and a vocal solo, Just a Cottage Small by a Waterfall by Nicholas J. Snellman. Mr. Spellman accompanied the vocalists.

Mayor For Amendment Repeal

Shortly after 9.15 o'clock Mayor Milo R. Waters, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor and chairman of the evening, called the gathering to order. In his address Mayor Waters said:

Ladies and gentlemen:

In behalf of the democratic town committee, I am very glad to welcome you this evening. I remember a similar occasion last spring in this very room. Our opponents will not soon forget the results of that meeting. This is the first time we have all been together since, and I wish to extend to you, who have all done so much for the democratic party in this city, the heartfelt thanks of the committee for the glorious victory at the June election. Best of all, it was not a one man victory, but a real straight ticket victory, with only a few votes difference between the lowest and highest on the total vote.

Norwich is a consistent democratic city. For twenty of the last twenty-six years, it has had a democratic mayor, a democratic administration, and tonight we are here to meet our leaders to plan for another victory on next Tuesday, that we may carry the same enthusiasm into a state election that wins our battles at the city election.

I am not an orator. I have not the biting sarcasm of a Morris, nor the clear logic of a Tyler to see through the mass of bunk that is fathered by the republican state central committee, but I have at least the innocent respect for honesty in public officials of the average voter of the state of Connecticut. I have been criticised by some republican papers and some republican friends because of some interviews that have been given out. I am sorry, I admit, that I am not ashamed to call a spade a spade, or a thief a thief, it is not good form, but not one paper in this state has denied the truth of my statements.

I have no quarrel with Mr. Roraback as to his personal character, but I have as to his being a "good" boss. If he has the power to rip the charter of the city of Bridgeport apart to put down a political foe; if he can alter the charter of the city of Waterbury, to see that one of his henchmen gets a job, if he can change the charter of New Haven to pay a political debt, then when the time comes that the Connecticut Power Co. wishes to come into the city of Norwich, we will be powerless.

I believe in the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It has tended to hypocrisy in private and corruption in public life that is almost unbelievable.

There is just one way to protect ourselves and that is to vote the straight democratic ticket. Not only for Tyler and Morris and Waters, but Ellis and James and Williams and Ray. A rousing democratic majority means the election of a senator as well as two representatives. I appeal to you all to work for the democratic ticket just as you did in June. I have promised our candidates the biggest democratic majority Norwich has ever given. I appeal to you to help put this across. Never have you failed me yet and tonight I am not asking you to vote for me or to work for me, but to work for the whole democratic ticket.

At the conclusion of his address Mayor Waters said: "We have with us tonight the standard bearer of the democratic party in the state. He is honest, he is true. It is our duty to put him in office next Tuesday. Mayor Waters then presented Charles G. Morris, democratic candidate for governor of the state. As Mr. Morris was introduced all present stood and applauded him.

Candidate Morris Speaks.

In part Mr. Morris said:

Liberty and freedom under the rule of the republican party in Connecticut are in the same category as hash. Do you know the definition of hash?—the substance of things hoped for, the essence of things unseen. With eager eyes the defendant voters look to the state government for substance of things hoped for. But the essence of our government is not as it is laid down in the constitution. Our government no longer derives its essence from the people acting through the representatives when they have chosen freely and senators whom they have trusted with the public welfare and a governor whom they have chosen to be the head of the state.

The republicans have changed all that. The essence is of things unseen. Privileged souls may enter the holy of holies in Canaan whence flow the waters of, shall I say the Connecticut Power company?

It is sure that the republicans in this state have made hash of the constitution and our state government. Speaking of the Connecticut Light and Power company, the city of Bridgeport did not tax its citizens to suit his majesty at Canaan. So a bill known as the Ripper bill was passed by the legislature and the people of Bridgeport deprived of a right guaranteed by the Declaration of Independence. One of the things that the people objected to in this country was that King George "had imposed taxes on us without our consent."

West Haven has suffered in the same way, though not so severely. The Connecticut Power company dam at Monroe, costing six millions of dollars was assessed at only $205,000.

Special privilege is one of the outstanding habits of the republican party. The democratic party cannot grant special privileges and remain democratic because the good of all the people is greater in the democratic eyes than the good of any select few.

Are we free, or are we subject to His Majesty, Henry 1st, asked Mr. Morris. In order to remain free and independent, remember, that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

Mr. Morris disputed the republican claim that the state is free from debt. He said that the state has a debt of $16,000,000. The speaker acknowledged that the state has the money on hand to pay the debt, but he contended that as the state has not paid its obligation, it is still in debt. He also called attention to discrepancies in the cost of running the state as announced by Governor Trumbull, republican candidate for re-election, and State Treasurer E. E. Rogers, republican candidate for re-election.

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Morris was roundly applauded while all in the audience stood.

Mayor Waters then took occasion to present several candidates on the democratic state ticket who were present in the audience. They were introduced in turn as follows:

The playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the orchestra brought the gathering to a close about 10.15 o'clock.

C. J. CLENDENEN PRESIDENT OF PYTHIAN BOOSTER CLUB

Members of the newly formed Knights of Pythias Boosters' club, gathered at Buckingham Memorial on Tuesday, to make the organization permanent and to elect officers. Fourteen women and 16 men representing Knights of Pythias from Mystic, Salem, New London and Westerly and Norwich were present and selected C. J. Clendenen of Mystic as chairman for the evening. By a unanimous vote of those present the following permanent officers were elected: President, C. J. Clendenen, of Mistuxet lodge No. 42, Mystic; vice president, F. B. Ames, Woodbridge lodge, No. 80, of Salem; secretary, Charlotte Fowler, of Clover Temple, Pythian Sisters of Norwich; treasurer, William Bosworth, of Trumbull lodge, No. 45, of New London. In taking the chair as president of the Pythian Boosters' club, Mr. Clendenen very eloquently set forth of the object and aims of the new organization, putting special emphasis upon the fact that its greatest function should be to bring about closer fraternal and social interrelation between the numerous lodges in the domain in order to weld them into one larger American brotherhood and also to promote all activities beneficial to the welfare and happiness of the members of the domain. To carry on this work an able and efficient publicity committee was essential and therefore, the president asked for a thorough discussion in the matter of this appointment. By a unanimous vote the chair was empowered to appoint a publicity committee and most excellent chief, Gertrude Abramson of Goff Temple, No. 1, Pythian Sisters of New London, and Max Hammer of Norwich were appointed to have charge of the publicity.

Several communications were read by the secretary and one of great interest was an invitation from Wauregan lodge, No. 6, of Norwich, to the members of the Boosters' club, asking them to become instrumental in urging Pythian Sisters and Brothers from neighboring lodges to participate in the Armistice day celebration to be held in Norwich on November 11. A very earnest discussion of the subject was set in motion and Dr. Goldberg made an earnest plea for a dignified Pythian representation in the Armistice day parade as a patriotic duty of the Order of Knights of Pythias which stresses devotion to the American flag as its first and foremost precept. Josiah Grotenstein chairman of the local Pythian parade committee, reported that he had sent invitations to the principal Pythian Sisters and men's lodges in the domain and that he expected generous responses from them. He also stated that Wauregan lodge, No. 6, is making preparations to fittingly entertain the visiting Knights and Sisters on the evening of the parade. The discussion ended with all present pledging to appear in the parade and also to bring some members of their organization.

The most important business of the evening then came up for discussion and that was the furtherance of the Pythian Farm House, the first which will be obtained next Tuesday. The home will be known as the Connecticut Farm House association. It was incorporated at $150,000 at $20 per share which are to be sold only to sisters and brothers of the Knights of Pythias. Vice President F. B. Ames, the moving spirit in the project gave an outline of the value and the benefits of the property to be acquired. He said that the property was in the possession of one family for over 100 years and that it was offered for sale and that the owners in their enthusiasm with the prospect of their property being applied for such a worthy object have offered the estate for the price at which it was secured 100 years ago. Mr. Amer said that only a minor part of the $150,000 capitalization will cover the price of purchase and the balance of the proceeds will be applied to improvement and maintenance. The property is located in the town of Lyme and East Haddam, about 17 miles from Norwich, and consists of 2,223 acres of land, traversed by two rivers, has an 18 hole golf course, a very large ball grounds, a fine double tennis court and it has four good houses and a barn, plenty of sites for camping and hunting and fishing grounds. To give a concrete idea of the size of the property, Mr. Ames said that it was about a mile wide and three miles long. He also said that by climbing to the highest part of the grounds, one can see a beautiful panorama of Long Island sound, one of the most glorious sights seen by human eyes. To give a comprehensive expression of the real value of the property he said that by spending about $75,000 for improvements, the property would be easily worth half a million dollars.

Mr. Bosworth of New London, who is also largely instrumental in procuring this valuable property very eloquently spoke of the good uses the property will be applied to. He explained how it will serve as a home for the sick and needy Pythian sisters and brothers and also as a recreation center for the Pythian members who desire to use the place for outings, camping and other pleasures. Mr. Bosworth also emphasized the fact that the home is not intended to be a burden to any of the lodges in the domain, as it is expected to make the property entirely self-supporting. George Schiller promised to interest all members of Wauregan lodge, No. 6, in furthering the project by purchasing stock in the Connecticut Farm Home association.

A distinguished visiting Knight from Syracuse, N. Y., was C. S. Ross, traveling representative of the Sunshine Product Co., of Syracuse. Mr. Ross has the particular distinction of having crossed and recrossed the American continent eight times during his years of travel. He astonished the gathering by his wonderful knowledge of the doings of the order which, according to Mr. Ross, numbers over 1,100,000 members and has the distinction of having received a charter direct from the U. S. government and that the Uniform Rank of the order is pledged to answer in a body should the nation ever issue a third call to the colors. Mr. Ross also related that he witnessed an initiation in Detroit, Michigan, of a class of 412 members and that the ceremonies lasted a full day and night. The Detroit lodge has a membership of 1,500. Mr. Ross was unanimously voted as an honorary member of the Boosters' club.

A set of by-laws for the organization was submitted by Mr. Bosworth who prepared them for the occasion. The by-laws were referred for study by a committee consisting of George Haven of Westerly, William Bosworth of New London, Sister Mima Jeffrey of Goff Temple, No. 1, of New London. Mrs. Jeffery has the honored distinction of being a past grand chief for 24 years and also of having held the office of grand mistress of finance for 14 consecutive years. Knights and Sisters of the domain universally accord Mrs. Jeffery's the title of "Mother of the Order."

Before the meeting adjourned all members present signed their names and address upon the roster of the club and paid dues for the first quarter. After the meeting, Pythian Sisters of Norwich furnished delicious refreshments.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening, November 4th, at the home of Mr. Ames, at Salem.

CONGREGATIONAL MINISTERS MET IN NORTH STONINGTON

The semi-annual meeting of the New London Association of Congregational churches and ministers was held Tuesday at the church in North Stonington, Rev. Inor Partington, pastor. There were in the conference pastors and delegates from 20 of the 29 churches in the association. Rev. Charles H. Ricketts of Greeneville Congregational church, this city, acted as moderator, and Dr. J. H. Weeks of Stonington as scribe. The delegates of the 20 churches gave reports of their activities for the past six months. These in the main showed a great deal of work in the line of religious education.

A letter of dismissal was granted to Rev. Arthur Varley from this to the Middlesex association, and Rev. G. W. Clark of Jewett City was received into membership.

Rev. Gurdon S. Bailey, treasurer, gave a report which showed a balance on hand of $142.52.

The moderator appointed as a nominating committee Rev. Giles F. Goodenough of Ledyard, Rev. Gurdon S. Bailey of Norwich Town and Rev. E. G. Crowdis of Taftville. Resolutions of sympathy were ordered drafted and sent to Rev. Dwight C. Stone and Rev. G. M. Pollock, both of whom could not attend, owing to illness. Rev. Aiken Shaw Rush of Gales Ferry and Dr. J. B. Lee of New London were the committee named to attend to this matter.

The chairman of the several association committees gave reports covering the period of six months.

Words of welcome were given by the pastors of the entertaining church.

The address of the morning was by Rev. Wallace L. Gallup of the Stonington Borough church, who spoke on the topic, "The Function of Public Worship." There was a discussion led by F. S. Sadler of Lebanon, Rev. F. S. Chester of Mystic, and Dr. J. Beveridge Lee of New London. Luncheon was served in the vestry at noon, and a fine array of good things was provided by the women.

The afternoon session opened with the report of the nominating committee. The officers chosen are the delegates to the National Council, to be held in Omaha in June, 1927. The following were chosen: First delegate, Rev. C. H. Ricketts; first alternate, Dr. James H. Weeks; second delegate, Oliver L. Johnson; second alternate, Rev. Giles F. Goodenough; third delegate, Dr. H. L. Hurbert; third alternate, Rev. Dwight C. Stone.

Then followed the order of worship. The pupils of the Wheeler school, 14 in number, took part in the processional. The prayer was by Rev. Giles F. Goodenough of Ledyard. A solo by Mr. Hammond of Westerly followed and Rev. G. F. Bailey of Norwich Town read the scripture lesson from Isaiah 40 using from the first verse.

The sermon was by Dr. Samuel H. Howe of Norwich, who took for his text the words in the 10th chapter of Luke, 37th verse. The discourse was given close attention, for he had words of instruction and helpfulness and his theme was one for present day thought. Dr. Howe is the dean of the association in point of years of service as a Christian minister and years of living. The benediction was given by Rev. Inor Partington of the entertaining church.

SUMMONED TO COURT AFTER AUTOMOBILE CRASH

After an automobile collision about noon Wednesday at Yantic Angelo Chioda of 68 North Main street was summoned by a state policeman to appear in the Norwich city court next Monday morning on the charge of reckless driving. Chioda was driving a machine belonging to Dominic Falcone of 68 North Main street which collided head-on with a machine driven by Mrs. William Nichols of 51 Belleview street, Willimantic. The crash happened at the corner near the American Woolen Company mill.

Three people in the Willimantic car, which was a Maxwell coach, were injured. William Nichols, Jr., 2, was thrown through the windshield and received a cut on his face and bruises. His sister, Jean, 3, received cuts on the head, and Mrs. Luella Matthews of 24 Hewitt street, Willimantic, received a sprained wrist and one of her legs was badly hurt. They were taken to the Backus hospital by Mrs. Wallace Bennett of Yantic and later went to their home.

The Willimantic machine was badly damaged and the other car was crippled so that it would not run.

EASTERN TEAMS HOLD ADVANTAGE IN INTERSECTIONAL FOOTBALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The battle for intersectional gridiron supremacy this season, in which the east has set the pace so far, will find the middle west on the warpath this Saturday, seeking revenge in a series of notable college engagements.

Four of the middle west's strongest elevens—Michigan, Illinois, Missouri and Notre Dame are after the scalps of foes from other sectors, reinforced in the conflict by the Redskins themselves, the Haskell Indians, and Michigan State.

Michigan's Wolverines, invading the Navy's stronghold in a game at Baltimore, and Knute Rockne's Hoosiers, tackling Georgia Tech, at South Bend, Ind., are strongly favored to win but the other middle western contenders face less promising prospects of victory. Neither Michigan nor Notre Dame has tasted defeat so far and both figure in the front rank of teams seeking national championship recognition.

Illinois entertains one of the east's most powerful bidders for title honors in Pennsylvania, which will go west with high hopes of atoning for the stunning reverse that Red Grange and the Illini handed the Quakers in the mud of Franklin field last fall.

Missouri, champion of the Missouri valley conference in 1925, meets another strong and unbeaten eastern array in West Virginia. The Missourians haven't been defeated either but they have been tied twice and the Mountaineers appeared to have an edge for the contest, scheduled at Morgantown, W. Va.

The Haskell Indians have their warpaint on for Bucknell, which has not measured quite up to its usual standard this year in spite of the coaching efforts of "Uncle Charley" Moran, who guided the Centre Colonels to National fame a few years ago.

Michigan state, which gave Cornell something of a scare two weeks ago, makes another sortie into New York to engage Colgate with a keen battle in prospect.

So far the east has made almost a runaway of the intersectional tussle and figures to keep the lead regardless of the outcome of this week's games. With twenty-five major intersectional tilts recorded up to date, the east has won seven out of eleven from the middle west and nine out of ten from the south, the other is a tie.

SUB BASE BEATS FLORIDA BY SINGLE TOUCHDOWN

The Florida Hurricane swept up the Potomac river on Navy day as far as the Submarine base and there died to a man, before the submarine squad leaped to and silenced the red-coated invader with a broadside that resulted in a lone touchdown, the final score of the Navy day classic being 6 to 0. Heralded as the champions of the Atlantic coast the crimson crew of the U. of S. Florida showed little that could be called championship form.

The reputation of the Florida team whose champions did not seem to bother defenders of the base in the least and with the exception of the last few minutes of play the base ripped and tore at the Florida team. The only threats made at the Base goal came in the last quarter when the Florida boys threw caution to the winds and launched an air attack that swept them from under the shadow of their goal posts to within striking distance of the Base stronghold. The passing attack was a desperate final measure of a team that was abandoning straight football and was gambling with the ultimate outcome.

The Base received to start but lost the ball on a fumble and then held for downs. Taking the ball on their own 20 yard line the base started a march up the field using straight football, the attack being directed at the tackles and the center of the Florida line. From their own 10 yard line the Florida team held for three downs and the Base tried a placement that failed. The team then on until the end of the game the ball see-sawed up and down the field with neither goal being in real danger.

To open the second half the Base kicked to Wood, a smashing drive that netted several first downs and then a forward pass brought them to the Florida 5 yard line. On a beautiful criss-cross play that went off left tackle the Base cut through the Florida line and across the goal line. The Base failed to kick the goal on the try for point after the touchdown.

From just inside the Base advance the field only to lose the ball on downs on the Florida 25 yard line. With three minutes to play the Florida opened up their attack and hurled pass after pass trusting to luck they would be good. Several times they were nearly but were unable to complete one on account of a down. Then from almost midfield Wood hurled a long pass that Hall made and captured on Navy 15 yard line. On the next play the Florida team tried another pass but it was grounded behind the goal line and a touchback gave the Base the ball for downs on the thirty yard line. Thus the Florida passing attack which had kept the Florida possession of the ball most of the time failed to click and a scoreless tie played during the entire game between the rivals.

SHARKEY RECEIVES OFFER TO MEET DEMPSEY

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—(AP)—An offer to match Jack Sharkey, conqueror of Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, for a bout in Chicago next June has been received by Sharkey's manager it was announced today.

Lou Tendler, manager of Sharkey, said that William Clements of the Long Coliseum company had offered the Boston boxer $150,000 to meet Dempsey. Buckley said that he would not be able to announce a definite decision in regard to the offer for two weeks because Sharkey was in New York city where his child was to undergo an operation.

He said that Clements had promised to try to match Sharkey, the former sailor with the world's champion, Gene Tunney, if the Boston boxer defeated Dempsey.

GAFFSMAN, A LONG SHOT WINS GREENOCK HANDICAP

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Gaffsman, at odds of 10 to 1, took the measure of Prince of Wales today in the $2,000 Greenock Handicap feature at Laurel. The defeat marked Prince's first loss in six starts at the Maryland meet. Princess Doreen was third. Time for the mile and 70 yards was 1:43 2-5.

Genuine easily took the six furlong Ramapo Claiming Handicap at Empire with Martha Martin second and Prosser third. Lachen, the favorite, ran last. Genuine covered the sprint in 1:09 4-5.

AGGIES PERFECT AERIAL ATTACK FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 27.—Making a liberal use of the aerial attack, the Connecticut Aggies went through another long session of practice here this afternoon in preparation for the game to be played with New Hampshire eleven at Manchester, N. H. Saturday.

Schofield, Eddy, Williams and Callahan showed to advantage, both on the long and short passes, and on the throwing and receiving ends. New Hampshire will have their usual strong and husky forward wall this year, which means Connecticut will have to vary its running attack with a skillful use of the overhead game in order to score.

Eddy will probably bear the brunt of the kicking game for the Aggies Saturday, with Williams in reserve. Eddy is both a punter and dropkicker of ability, which means that department of the game will be well taken care of. Williams, also, has punted well, and he may do some of the kicking Saturday.

Another long dummy scrimmage was also held this afternoon, Coach Dole working the men on their individual assignments. This was followed by a drilling on the kickoff play, covering punts, and a long session of signal drill. Every man on the squad is in good condition.

Final preparation for the New Hampshire contest will be made here tomorrow afternoon in a long practice session. The squad will leave by bus Friday noon for Manchester, N. H., and there will be no further practice after the workout of tomorrow afternoon.

Scholastic grades for freshmen have just been turned in to the registrar's office, and although no official announcement has as yet been made, it is expected that several members of the freshman eleven will be placed on probation tomorrow. This will hit the frosh team hard, as Wesleyan freshman are met here Saturday in what shapes up as the hardest game on the yearling schedule.

TWO AMERICAN TENNIS PROS TO COMPETE IN FRANCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The first definite step to officially establish American Lawn Tennis professionals in the competitive field will take George Agutter, instructor of the West Side club at Forest Hills, N. Y., on an invasion to Europe tomorrow.

Agutter and his assistant, Paul L. Heston, will compete in the French Professional championship next December on the Riviera. Their invasion, the first of its kind in tennis history, also has for its purpose the gathering of data with a view to organizing American instructors and the staging of this country's first professional title event upon his return.

Agutter's move gives another twirl to the professional tennis wheel set in motion by Charles C. Pyle, who invaded the amateur tennis to sign Suzanne Lenglen, Mary K. Browne, Vincent Richards, Howard Kinsey and others for a tour of America and Canada.

While Pyle's activities apparently opened a breach between the professional and amateur ranks, however, Agutter has been given to understand that the United States Lawn Tennis association would not look unfavorably upon his steps in launching a professional association. Moreover, Agutter says that officials have informed him that provision could be made for a professional title competition here next year.

While Pyle has announced tentative plans for an open championship tournament on the Pacific coast, Agutter expressed the opinion that only through an organization of American instructors, properly conducted, will the paid player ever be able to permanently establish himself on a sound footing in this country. Open competition eventually would be an outgrowth of such an organization and the recognition its players would command, he believes.

PRINCTON TO PLAY HARVARD IN BASKETBALL

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 27.—(AP)—For the first time in history Princeton will meet Harvard this winter in basketball, thus establishing "Big Three" rivalry in another sport. The game will be played here on February 19, 1927.

Basketball, swimming and wrestling schedules announced today were:

Basketball:

December 8, Temple at Princeton; 11, Lehigh at Princeton; 15, Lafayette at Princeton; 27, Firestone at Akron; 29, Ohio State at Columbus; 31, Kentuckey at Lexington; Jan. 1, Cincinnati at Cincinnati; 8, Columbia at Princeton; 12, Pennsylvania at Princeton; 15, Yale at New Haven; 22, Dartmouth at Hanover; 29, Rutgers at Princeton; Feb. 16, Cornell at Princeton; 19, Harvard at Princeton; 23, Yale at Princeton; 26, Cornell at Ithaca; March 2, Dartmouth at Princeton; 5, Swarthmore at Princeton; 9, Columbia at New York; 12, Penn at Philadelphia.

KLINE WILL BE OUT OF GAME WITH ARMY

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The Yale eleven, now working hard in preparation for the Army game Saturday, today lost the services of Bill Kline, fullback, who was called to York, Pa., by the serious illness of his mother. Coach Jones called in Johnny Hoben, of Torrington, Conn., freshman star of last year, to fill the vacancy. Both the halfbacks were shifted during the scrimmage today, Rip Ordway going in at left halfback and Al Foote at right halfback. It is thought that these changes were largely of an experimental nature.

Jerry Wadsworth returned to the squad after a month's absence with injuries. Flaherty and Ryan, substitute linemen also were in uniform for the first time since injuries took them out of the game.

MAY INVESTIGATE THE ARMY-SYRACUSE GAME

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The "New York Evening Post" today said that Chancellor Charles W. Flint of Syracuse university and Brigadier General Merch Bradt Stewart, superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point, will open an investigation next Monday of the Army-Syracuse football game on Oct. 16 in which three Syracuse and two Army players were badly hurt. Baysinger, Syracuse quarterback, later resigned from the squad because of an altercation with the referee.

"Whippet" Carr, star of the Orange backfield and leading point scorer of the eastern colleges, suffered a severe knee injury that probably will keep him out the rest of the season. Injuries to Goldman and Friedman, members of the Syracuse squad, were not as severe.

Trapnell, big Army back and foremost kicker of the team, was badly hurt about the head and face but probably will play in the Yale game Saturday. Elias, a substitute tackle on the Cadet eleven is believed out for the season with a twisted knee.

Play during the game, the first played between the two institutions in several years was extremely hard and following the contest reports that Army and Syracuse would severe relations could not be verified. Baysinger was banished from play for assaulting Referee Schwartz. After a conference between Coach "Pete" Reynolds and Chancellor Flint, Baysinger announced his withdrawal from the team. At that time the coach issued a statement in which he declared the young man showed his courage and manliness by admitting his fault.

DEMPSEY NOT TO MAKE IMMEDIATE COMEBACK

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey today told Tex Rickard he would make no immediate comeback in the ring.

The dethroned champion said he would return to his home in California next week, where he will go into training for two months. "If I find I haven't gone back too far to give a suitable account of myself, I will attempt to regain the title," Rickard quoted Dempsey as saying.

The former title-holder, Mrs. Dempsey and Rickard discussed the possible of Dempsey's comeback this afternoon. They also discussed possibility opponents. "But nothing definite was decided upon," said Rickard. "Dempsey wants to be sure he is right before we go ahead with a match, and if he does fight again, he probably will not be seen in the ring before February at the earliest.

"Dempsey is still a young man," he said. "But he may decide that he has made enough out of the game to quit."

Rickard said that Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney of Boston, and Harry Persson, the Swedish heavyweight were among prospective opponents discussed with Dempsey. The name of Paul Berlenbach, former light-heavyweight title-holder who has been anxious to fight Dempsey, was not brought up. Rickard indicated that he considered Berlenbach was not big enough to make a good match against the former champion.

OUIMET AND HARRIS BEAT PARK AND VICKERY IN EXHIBITION GOLF MATCH

Playing brilliant golf for eighteen holes, Francis Ouimet with a 77 won the best-ball foursome 4 up for his partner E. A. Harris against N. P. Vickery, professional at the Norwich Golf club, and William G. Park, Wednesday afternoon at the Norwich Golf club course. A gallery of well over 100 followed the match intent upon every shot played by the former amateur champion. The real interest of the match centered upon Ouimet and Vickery.

Vickery turned in a card of 81 after taking 43 on the outward journey. Ouimet had 39 for the first nine holes but coming in he had a 38. For the first five holes the former champion played par golf and then was one over par for the last three. Rounding the turn with a 39 Ouimet played in getting a 38 which included a birdie three on the 12th. Ouimet played a beautiful short game holing out a number of approach shots as well as a number of long putts on the greens.

William G. Park with an 85 played one of the best games of the local players getting a birdie 3 on the eighteenth hole and sinking his approach shot on the fifteenth for a par three.

The cards of the players follow:

RED SOX AND BROWNS ARE AFTER MANAGERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)— With two new managers selected to guide the baseball craft of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia in the National league, only the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Browns, both of the American league, are drifting about in the baseball stream with helms unmanned. But the dopesters are busy filling these positions.

The latest rumors have called upon Bill Carrigan, leader of the Red Sox when pennants were coming regularly to Boston, to come down from Maine to build once more the team he led to the top. Carrigan has withstood the pleadings of other Boston owners, notably Harry Frazee, but President Robert Quinn of the Sox is said to need the veteran to give Boston fans confidence that his team will fight its way to at least an equal footing with the Boston Braves of Dave Bancroft and Emil Fuchs. Lefty Leifield, now a Red Sox coach, is looked upon as an alternate.

From the outside, two candidates are favored above all others to win the managership of the Browns. One is Bill Killefer, right-hand man of Rogers Hornsby in leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a world's championship. The other is George Moriarty, major league umpire.

Two of the four vacancies caused by the retirement of Art Fletcher of Philadelphia, George Stallings of St. Louis, Bill McKechnie of Pittsburgh and the resignation of Lee Fohl of Boston, have already been filled. The appointments of Stuffy McInnis as manager of the Phillies and Owen Bush to lead the Pirates for the season of 1927.

GREB HAD PREMONITION OF HIS DEATH

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Harry Greb, former middleweight champion of the world, had a premonition of his death, it was revealed today by his brother-in-law, J. Elmer Edwards, a few hours before Greb, who died in Atlantic City Friday, was laid to rest in a grave adjacent to that of his wife.

"For the last month or so, Harry has been rather despondent," Edwards said. "He spoke often of death and seemed spiritless in many ways. When he discussed matters pertaining to the future, he would preface his remarks with 'if I live, I may do it.' Judging from his conduct for several weeks immediately preceding his death, now that I look back on them, I am firmly convinced that he had a premonition of his fate."

Though confirming the fact that Greb had a glass eye, Mrs. Edwards, the late pugilist's sister, regretted the secret was broken by his friends in Atlantic City.

"Harry was sensitive about the affliction," she said, "that made it necessary for him to have his right eye removed and a glass eye substituted and even in death I am sure he would not have wanted the world to know about it."

TUNNEY IS BEARER AT GREB'S FUNERAL

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—(AP)— The body of Harry Greb, former middleweight boxing champion of the world who died suddenly in Atlantic City late last week, found a resting place today in Calvary cemetery.

Thousands paid a final tribute to the memory of "the Pittsburgh windmill" including Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, who was among the pallbearers.

The funeral cortege, led by a special escort of police and an American Legion guard of honor, passed through streets banked with people. After solemn high mass in St. Philomena's Catholic church, the body was taken to Calvary and lowered into a grave adjoining that in which rests the body of Greb's wife.

In addition to Tunney, the active pallbearers included James Mason, manager of Greb, and Leo Caghill, a sparring partner.

LEGALITY OF ELBOW PADS OF PENN IS DROPPED

CHAMPAIGN, Illinois, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A message saying that "Pennsylvania appreciates your reaction regarding elbow pads and feels sure you will find them as represented," today put an end to Illinois-Pennsylvania "hidden ball trick" controversy. The telegram came from E. E. Cozzins, graduate members of athletics at Pennsylvania.

Coach Robert Zuppke was credited with a statement earlier in the week that the "elbow pads were worn merely to resemble footballs" and that if Pennsylvania persisted in using the pads in the game with Illinois here Saturday he would paint the football white.

Illinois officials wired Pennsylvania that the statements were false and that Illinois would leave it to the Pennsylvania authorities as to the legality of the pads.

BOBBY JONES WILL NOT DEFEND BRITISH TITLE

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Bobby Jones, American and British open golf champion, will not return to Great Britain next summer to defend the title he won last June at St. Annes-by the Sea. He said today his law studies at Emory university and business interests will prevent his playing in the British open next year, but he will defend his American open title and probably will play in the amateur tournament next year.

RITOLA WILL DEFEND TITLE AT YONKERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Willie Ritola, back again under the colors of the Finnish-American A. C. after quitting the organization for a few days because of a disagreement, will defend his national A. A. C. ten mile crown against nine of his foremost rivals in the championship at Yonkers Sunday. In the complete list of entries, made public today, are, in addition to Ritola, Jimmy Mennigan, Dorchester, Mass.; William Meyer, Shanahan A. C., Philadelphia; Frank Titterton, Millrose A. A., New York, national 15-mile and metropolitan title-holder; Albert Michelsen and Bill Kennedy, both Cygnet A. C., Port Chester, N. Y., Ole Anderson of Finland; Karl Koski and Leo Tikkanen, both Finnish-American A. C., and John Costello, Millrose A. A.

Among the entries for the seven mile champion walk to be held in conjunction with the 10-mile run are Harry Hinkel, New York A. C. national indoor and outdoor champion at these miles; Philip Granville, Canadian champion, Michael Pecora, Hazelton, and James McGuire, Elizabeth, N. J.

ST. PAUL FANS GIVE ALEXANDER ROUSING WELCOME

ST. PAUL, Neb., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Some 15,000 persons, many of whom confess they don't know or care what the difference is between a football and a baseball game, crammed the streets of this little town today to celebrate the home-coming of St. Paul's illustrious son—Grover Cleveland Alexander.

It was a great day for St. Paul fans who have rooted for Alex from the day he left to try his luck in big time baseball to the crucial moments of the world series when he repulsed the New York Yankees and gave St. Louis its first world's baseball championship.

It was a great day for Alex, too, to show his appreciation for a Masonic watch charm, presented to him by St. Paul admirers, by pitching three innings. He allowed one run, his second, out three batters.

BIG RUSH FOR TICKETS FOR NOTRE DAME-ARMY GAME

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Police reserves were needed to preserve order before the ticket offices on 42nd street when pasteboards for the Notre Dame-Army clash in the Yankee stadium Nov. 13 were placed on sale today. The crowd before the windows reached such proportions at noon that traffic was virtually halted between Seventh and Eighth avenues. Nearly 10,000 tickets were sold in seven hours, the sellers announced. The stadium seats approximately 61,000.

Kummer and Fator Reinstated

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Clarence Kummer and L. M. Fator, two of the best known jockeys in the country, were reinstated and granted license by the stewards of the New York Jockey club today. The jockeys were suspended in New York racing a year ago for reasons never announced.

Not unusually unofficial is looked to call time out when a player is hurt, but Referee Lu[illegible] in a game between Tabor and Penn of Tabor, Iowa, was himself the beneficiary of a rest period. A Tabor player came at a Penn back and knocked Lutes unconscious. Time was called until the official revived.

CARRIGAN SAYS HE WILL NOT BE MANAGER

LEWISTON, Me., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Bill Carrigan of this city, former manager of the championship Boston Red Sox, said today in reference to a report that owner Quinn of Boston might call upon him to assume management of the team, said he had not been offered the job.

"No, I haven't the fever," said Bill, "and it's all absolutely news to me. I am not considering any offer to return to baseball."

CLEO O'DONNELL TO BE ATHLETIC DIRECTOR AT H. C.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 27.—(AP)—The faculty board of athletics at Holy Cross college announced today the creation of the office of director of athletics and named graduate manager of athletics, Cleo A. O'Donnell to that position. O'Donnell also is football coach. Paul J. McEvoy, who has been assistant to Mr. O'Donnell since 1924, was appointed Mr. O'Donnell's successor.

Smythe Resigns

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Conny Smythe today resigned as manager of the New York Rangers, National Hockey league team. Lester Patrick of Renfrew, who has been prominent in western Canada hockey, will replace Smythe.

Interference of hockey with his business as a contractor was responsible for the resignation, Colonel John Hammond, president of the Rangers, said.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Princeton swimming coaches have hit upon a new method of developing the swimming and water polo teams in preliminary practice. The men will work out for an hour a day with the wrestling coach for a month before reporting to Frank Sullivan, swimming coach. Running and "touch" football have not proved strenuous enough.

Here's the gridiron of the future as several architects see it. A huge bowl seating 100,000 fans and perfectly round with two gridirons crossing each other at right angles. And strangest of all, one quarter will be played on each gridiron in alternate periods to allow every spectator an equal view, they predict.

Trouble looms again between Tex Rickard and the New York state boxing commission. The solons say that Champion Gene Tunney must defend his title every six months like any other titleholder to retain recognition by that body. Tex says Gene will fight again next September, just a year from the time the marine toppled Jack Dempsey from the heavyweight throne.

The international games and foreign relations committee of the United States Football association has barred Anton Perner captain and right full-back of the Sparta soccer team of Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, from participating in games during the remainder of the team's tour of the United States. Perner is charged with pugilistic propensities that led to trouble in matches at Tiverton, R. I., Brooklyn and Detroit.

THREE DIVORCE SUITS FOR DIFFERENT REASONS

Three divorce suits, which are returnable before the superior court in November, were filed at the office of Clerk George E. Parsons here Wednesday, each alleging a different ground of action.

On the ground of desertion since Aug. 1, 1923, Harold H. Norton of Groton has brought suit for divorce from Hertha Lancaster Norton whom he married June 17, 1919. He asks the custody of a three year old daughter. There is also a six year old son.

Alleging that his wife has been habitually intemperate for more than three years past, Adolfo Fransini of New London sues for divorce from Blanch Dumiask Fransini of New London. They were married Aug. 28, 1922. He asks the custody of a three year old son.

Edith Barton Andelot of Groton seeks divorce from Louis Andelot of the same place, alleging intolerable cruelty since June 1, 1925. They were married March 24, 1919. He asks the custody of a six year old son.

Davies of the western Massachusetts diocese of the Episcopal church, a former rector of Christ church, this city, has just been elected president of the Episcopal Synod of the prince of New England at the organization's convention held at Concord, N. H. Bishop Davies succeeded the Right Rev. Arthur C. A. Hall, bishop of Vermont.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Theater Audiences Demand Radio Stars

Theater audiences evidently are developing a keen desire to hear in person, the stars to which they listen over the air.

As evidence of this fact, the A&P Gypsies have just concluded the first half of a 'way tour, playing before theater audiences in various cities, in Boston, Mass., the Gypsies played to packed houses day after day, and likewise in Newport, R. I. They also were engaged to entertain in theaters at Salem, Mass., and Lynn, Mass.

So insistent has been the call to hear these talented radio stars in person that during the remainder of the month they will appear in Bridgeport, Conn.; Hartford, Conn., Brooklyn, L. I., Jersey City, N. J., and in Hempstead, L. I.

Radio listeners have the opportunity of hearing Harry Horlick and his A&P Gypsies every Monday evening between the hours of nine and ten o'clock. Their concert is broadcast through station WEAF and a group of ten other stations.

J. Howard Alger of Pittsburgh, Pa., accompanied by his brother, L. Ward Alger of Westerly, leave town today (Thursday) for a week end visit in Boston.

The way of the stranger "voluntarily seeking" the Westerly police station will not be as long and difficult as heretofore for a metal signboard with raised letters similar to the new ones recently placed on Westerly public streets, was clamped to the iron bracket post for the elecaric light on Union street Wednesday morning at the alleyway leading to police headquarters in the basement of the Westerly town hall. Previously the only sign direction, without police guidance, was the small letters on the globe to the electric light. Taking away this globe will be the only change in police signs since the "Welcome" sign was taken down from over the door leading to the call room, but the police department has handled hundreds of traffic signs about town between these sign moves.

Walter H. Snyder left Westerly on Wednesday morning in the continuance of his vacation from duties at the Nash newsstand, to join his wife in a visit with relatives in South Manchester.

National Navy day was observed in Westerly on Wednesday by the general showing of the stars and stripes.

On Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock from his late home, 13 Smith street, Pawcatuck, funeral services were held for James Keegan, a resident of the town for 65 years, who died last Sunday. Requiem high mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock in St. Michael's church by Rev. Michael J. Keating. Following the mass, Martin H. Spellman sang "Passing Out of the Shadows."

Burial was made in St. Michael's old cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Fr. Keating. The bearers were Joseph Purtill, Jeremiah Shea, John A. Shea, Walter Fitzgerald, John McMahon and Patrick Shea.

Several loaded freight cars were derailed about 4 o'clock on Wednesday morning on the New Haven railroad near the Pawcatuck river railroad bridge at Bradford, R. I. Some of the cars toppled down the embankment. Soon after 8 o'clock the big wrecker, Midway, was sent to the scene from the Midway yard. While the main line track was occupied by the wrecker, trains were sent by on a railroad siding without much loss of time in train schedule.

Pawcatuck World war memorial work will be begun in earnest in a few day's following the Tuesday conference between the Harley P. Chase post V. F. W. memorial committee and John A MacDonald, representative of the Connecticut highway commission. Mr. MacDonald assured the committee any widening of West and South Broad streets at the memorial site will not be effected to the detriment of the memorial.

Ernest Saunders, superintendent of the South County Public Service company also gave assurance service poles would be reset according to the wishes of the memorial committee.

Elvin E. Byers, chairman of the Chase post memorial committee, announced that efforts have been started to "put the campaign over."

Westerly highway department is now engaged in the completion of roadwork projects before the coming of cold weather puts a stop to its activities. It was stated on Wednesday that work on Main street, which has been undergoing a process of reconstruction for months, was completed. The open spot at the corner of Main and School streets has been finished and the hot mix has been laid along the old curb line at Union and Main streets. Work o nJohn street also has been completed.

Good progress is being made on the Wells street project and by the second week in November the new highway from East avenue to the Westerly hospital probably will be ready for use. The roa dfoundation already has been penetrated with tar.

There are several jobs yet to be done in outlying districts before freezing weather arrives Highway Superintendent A. L Leon plans to do considerable grading on Pond street and also make improvements to the Weekapaug causeway.

The wedding of Miss Alba Eleanor Molin daughter of the late John and Jennie Panciera Molin, and Donald Dominick Raffo, son of Daniel Raffo, occurred at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning at the Immaculate Conception church. Rev. Fr. Henry Bruno, S. M., officiated at the wedding ceremony and the nuptial mass which followed.

At the offertory, Martin H. Spellman sang Gounod's Ave Maria. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. Frank Ahern.

Miss Mary Irma Stella was maid of honor and Domenico Joseph Raffo, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride wore a gown of white silk georgette crepe. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and baby breath. The bridesmaid was gowned in green georgette crepe, with hat to match, and she carried pink roses.

Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's mother, Mrs. Jennie Molin, of 31 East avenue.

Miss Mary Blanche Collin, who was born in Canada, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Collin of White Rock, was united in marriage on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock with John Joseph Burns, son of John Burns, also of White Rock. The ceremony took place at the Immaculate Conception church, being performed by Rev. J. P. Cassagne, S. M., who also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed.

Miss Victoria Targie was maid of honor and Francis Burns, brother of the groom, was best man.

Mrs. Charles S. Larkin, accompanied by Mrs. Jessie Davison, returned to their homes in Westerly Wednesday, after a motor trip over the Storm King highway.

E. H. Leffets of New York city was the week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Barbour in Westerly.

Sturges G Redfield, having returned from his honeymoon trip to Canada, was a Providence visitor in Westerly the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Neathry of England, having been the guests of Westerly friends, have left for a visit in Providence and Boston.

J. Howard Alger of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived in Westerly on Wednesday from New York city to be the guest of his brother L. Ward Alger.

Mrs. Adolph Hirschfield, having visiting with Westerly friends for a few days, returned on Wednesday to her home in Flahers Island, N. Y.

N. Henry Lanphear of Pawcatuck was a visitor Wednesday with relatives and friends in Hope Valley and Rockville, R. I.

Walter H. Snyder returned home Tuesday night by auto from a vacation visit in Newark, N. J.

Stephen Potter of Hope Valley, R. I., was a Westerly visitor Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fitzgerald and daughter have returned to their home in Pawcatuck after being the guest of Hartford relatives.

A survey of the little known regions between the upper Yangtse and Brahmaputra rivers on the borderlands of China, Tibet and Assam has recently been completed by D'Arcy Wetherbee, Asiatic explorer. After suffering great hardships in the desolate mountain regions where the eastern end of the Himalayas extends into China, Mr. Wetherbee reached the nearest outpost of civilization at Sadiya on the Brahmaputra. The source of this river he found was derived from the snows around the dangerous Kronjon pass, which he is the first white man to have crossed, it is believed.

In the wind and high tide at Groton Long Point after Sunday's storm the waves were breaking across the roads and seaweed was washed on the boardwalk at the west end. The waves were dashing nearly over Mrs. Weston's cottage. Windows were blown in by the gale. Many cottage owners have been down there this week and it gives them an idea what storms do during the winter at the Point.

Cutting brush is being done at the Hadley farm by two workmen. Foreman Nat Latham and Ell School. Fourteen acres are to be cut over and Mr. Latham says he can do it in two weeks. Mgr. At present plenty of coal may be obtained in the village. There is no scarcity of it as in preceding years. Farmers are engaged in carting loads of wood to many families living here. Some of the wood is ready for use, while some is in 4-foot lengths. Some families depend on wood, while others think black diamonds from the coalman gives better service.

Word has been received from Quartermaster Linton Wilcox, on steamer Mexico, who is on a three months' trip along the Pacific coast, that he has arrived at California. The trip was good. A little rough weather was encountered for a few days. He writes that the rainy season is on now—rain every day while he was there. Mr. Wilcox is the son of Sidney Wilcox of the village and has followed the water since he was 12 years old. He has been to England, Germany, France Scotland and South America. California was the place he wanted to see and he got his wish, working up from seaman to first class quartermaster while on the steamer.

WINDHAM

There was a large attendance at the annual harvest supper of the Ladies' Aid society for the Congregational church served in charge of the officers, Mrs. John Webster, Mrs. F. E. Guild, Mrs. H. C. Lathrop and Miss Gertrude Arnold. The menu consisted of sliced corned beef, escalloped potatoes, rolls, cabbage salad, pickles, pie, doughnuts and coffee. An interesting talk on Unfamiliar Spain was given by Miss Laura Abbe, of South Windham.

Earle Harvey and Howard Lanstrom attended the older boy's conference in Waterbury from Friday to Sunday.

Although the afternoon was stormy on the 20th, there were 15 present at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary society held with Mrs. F. E. Guild. Reports of the semi-annual meeting of the County W. H. M. U. were given by Mrs. S. C. Higbee and Miss Dorothy Brown. Plans for the winter's work were discussed. It was voted to purchase materials for two comfortables for the Willimantic Welfare bureau and they will be tied in the chapel Thursday.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Danny Meets Peter Rabbit

Jealousy is lacking wit;
There is no place that it will fit.
—Old Mother Nature.

Danny Meadow Mouse was quite beside himself. If Meadow Mice ever really become crazy, then Danny Meadow Mouse was crazy. He was so jealous that he actually did not have sense enough left to even take ordinary care. He was out to find Nanny Meadow Mouse, who, he was sure, had gone off to make another home with another Meadow Mouse, and he didn't care what happened to him if he could only find her. The trouble was he didn't have any idea just where to look. The Green Meadows are big, and Nanny might be almost anywhere.

But he hurried along a little path cut through the grass, and he was grinding his teeth and not even looking to either right or left; neither was he looking ahead. That is, if he was looking, he wasn't seeing things so it was that he ran right smack into Peter Rabbit. It was a question which was startled most—Peter or Danny?

"Why don't you look where you're going?" demanded Peter crossly, as he turned to see who had run into him. Then his two ears flew right straight up and his two eyes bulged out until it was a wonder they didn't fall out altogether. "Say," he whispered, "are you alive?"

"Of course, I'm alive!" squealed Danny

"Of course. I'm alive," squeaked Danny. What a silly question, Peter Rabbit. Of course I'm alive. I couldn't have run into you if I hadn't been alive."

"And are-are you really Danny Meadow Mouse?" Peter asked, still in a whisper, for he couldn't find his voice.

Danny saw red. This was adding insult to injury. Here he had come home after being away all summer and found his home deserted. Now one of his oldest friends was asking foolish questions. Danny was so angry that his tongue tripped over his teeth every time he opened his mouth to speak. Finally, he found his voice, but he was so excited that his voice was more squeaky than usual. "Of course I'm Danny Meadow Mouse. Who else would I be?" he sputtered. "This is a nice way to treat an old friend. Where's Nanny Meadow Mouse? You tell me that, Peter Rabbit, or where's Nanny Meadow Mouse?"

"At home," replied Peter who by this time had somewhat often over his astonishment. "At home, where she should be."

"She isn't; she isn't home at all," squealed Danny. "She should be, but she isn't, and I want to know where she is."

"How do you know she isn't?" demanded Peter. "She was half an hour ago, for I saw her and talked with her."

"No such thing!" contradicted Danny. "She isn't at home at all; she's deserted home. I've just come from there for a long time."

Peter began to understand. He grinned. It was a most provoking grin. "Oh," said he, "I mean the old house where you live when you went away. No, she isn't there; she has a new home now—a much better home than that one. In fact, I had forgotten about that old home. She seems to like her present home very much indeed. I wouldn't blame her now if she refused to let you live with her. Where is that home?" chattered Danny. "Wh-wh-who built that home for her?"

Peter stared long and hard at Danny Meadow Mouse. "What was that you asked?" said he at last.

40 in List of Suspended Operators.

The weekly list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year for driving while under the influence of liquor given out Wednesday at the state motor vehicle department as a part of the effort to reduce this highway menace. There are 40 names on the list. Two cases were appealed. The eastern part of the state had a clear bill of health this week as there were none from this section in the list.

The Lightest Pancakes

THERE was a time when the best pancakes—the light, tender kind, were very difficult to make. And only a few skilled cooks who knew how to mix and blend flours could bake them.

But now Grandma's Pancake Flour, especially milled and blended to bake light, fine-grained cakes, make it easy for anyone.

How to Cut Coal Bills

A few simple rules that big coal consumers use will help you.

What does your home, office, or business building actually cost per week to heat? If you knew you would discover what big coal consumers have learned long ago. You would learn that a few simple rules on buning coal will cut your usual bill to a big extent.

These big coal consumers will tell you that selecting the right kind and sizes of coal is a big item. But better than that The Edward Chappell Company can tell you the correct sizes and kinds of coal to buy — and then you can easily cut your coal bills.

How to use the right sizes of coal is also important. You don't have to be an expert fireman to save coal.

If you want the answer to your heating problem ask The Edward Chappell Co. No obligation, of course.

QUIDNICK-WINDHAM MFG. PLANT AT WILLIMANTIC MAY CLOSE PERMANENTLY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 27.—Unless some unexpected turn of events takes place within the next few days the big Quidnick-Windham Manufacturing plant, manufacturers of cotton goods, which has been one of the principal industries of Willimantic, will not open its doors next Monday morning. The company went into the hands of receivers May 19th of this year and since that time the employes have been gradually dropped as the only activity has been to dispose of goods on hand. Wednesday, the three overseers, Charles Clark of the spinning department, Daniel J. Cremin of the carding and James Catlow of the weaving department, were notified that under a certain proviso their services would not be needed after next Saturday. Mr. Cremin has been connected with the concern for 22 years, Mr. Clark for about 19 years, and Mr. Catlow for a few years.

Before southern competition in labor wages brought disaster to northern cotton manufacturing, the Quidnick-Windham plant employed an average of 350 hands. The plant has about 40,000 spindles and over 1,000 looms.

"It is mighty unfortunate that we have to close our business by going into the hands of receivers," said Walter B. Knight, superintendent of the plant, in an interview Wednesday afternoon. He continued: "Next week there will be only watchmen at the mills. The curtains of the big mills will be drawn and the busy hum of machinery will cease because southern labor in cotton mills can be secured for $13 a week, a much lower scale than is possible in the north. The local mill is one of about 50 in New England which have been compelled to go out of business or remove to the south to meet the wage scale competition there. While northern mills have been averaging about 125 hours a month the cotton mills of the south have been crowding 300 hours in a month."

The closing down of the plant comes as a severe blow to Willimantic and Agent Knight has the sympathetic of a host of personal and business friends during this unfortunate period in his career. The concern is the oldest to be located in this city and controls considerable real estate and tenements which have been occupied by its employes.

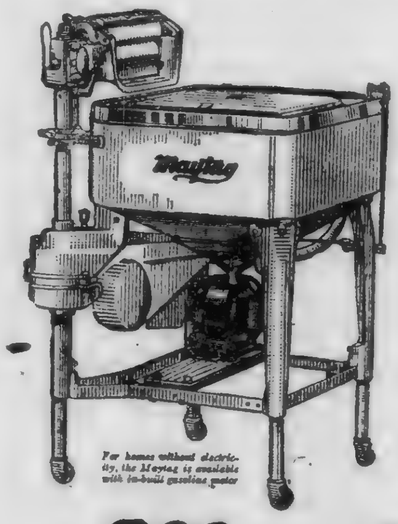
The FIRST and ONLY Cast-Aluminum Tub

THE MAYTAG is the only washer with a cast-aluminum tub—the tub that is life-lasting because it will not rust, rot, corrode, split, warp or break. The tub that keeps water hot for an entire washing. The tub that drains and cleans itself in 30 seconds after the washing is done.

The Maytag Company was quick to recognize the value of cast-aluminum for building a tub of outstanding advantages. In the unique design of the Maytag tub, that is so scientifically-shaped that it adds greatly to the turbulent water-action produced by the Maytag gyratator, lies the secret of the Maytag's cleaner washing.

A continuously-agitated water-action in every inch of the tub all of the time. No idle water! Every particle of soap continuously at work! No waste motion—economical and efficient—no wear and tear on the finest fabrics!



For homes without electricity, the Maytag is available with in-built gasoline motor

POETRY

Serenade

Oh, come with me, in my light canoe,
Where the sea is calm and the sky is blue;
Oh, come with me, for I long to go
To those isles where the mango apples grow.

Oh, come with me and be my love;
For thee the jungle depth I'll rove;
I'll gather the honeycomb bright as gold,
And chase the elk to its secret hold.

I'll chase the antelope over the plain,
The tiger's cub I'll bind with a chain,
And the wild gazelle, with its silvery feet,
I'll give thee for a playmate sweet.

I'll climb the palm for the bia's nest,
Red peas I'll gather to deck thy breast;
I'll pierce the cocoa's cup for its wine,
And haste to thee, if thou'lt be mine.

Then come with me, in my light canoe,
While the sea is calm and the sky is blue,
For should we linger another day,
Storms may rise and love decay.

Light

Light of the dawn on the hills,
Robins like flames in the dew,
My soul all a whisper that thrills
The world with glad wonder anew.

Light on the hills of the dawn,
Lilacs that fragrantly gleam,
All fears and all doubtings now gone,
As I walk in the way of my dream.

Light of the dawn and my heart
Lifting away through the blue,
Our where the magic worlds start
And whisper my coming to you.
—Edgar Daniel Kramer in Nautilus.

The French Academy has decided to admit the word motor-car into the French language. The word, though in general use in both forms, was not officially received into the French rank, and the six "immortals" present of the election (Marshal Joffre was absent) spent some time discussing whether the English form "motor-car" (which is also in use in France) should be adopted, but eventually agreed on "auto" as the correct and classical form. The word "automobile" is to come up for discussion soon.

A color scheme has been worked out for the different rooms at the hospital of the University of Denver. The X-ray room has walls of a violet shade, which has great light absorption power. In the operating room a sea green is used. The wards for disturbed patients have yellowish green walls because this color has been found to have a tranquilizing and cheerful influence. Rooms with a northern exposure have yellow walls, and those with a southern outlook have sunshine gray walls and furnishings.

NAVY DAY NOTED AT NEW LONDON
MANY VISITING SUBMARINE BASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 27—Today was Navy day and this feature, which was inaugurated five years ago was celebrated at the submarine base, where open house was the order from 9 o'clock this morning until 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Hundreds of men, women and children visited the base the greater part of this afternoon, for the schools suspended sessions at noon that the boys and girls might visit the big reservation and inspect the navy that is the quarters for the government's big fleet of submarines. There was a conspicuous absence of craft there the only boat being the U. S. S. Chewink, the other boats having been dispatched to other ports to participate in the celebration. At the base the visitors were informed by officers of the workings of the various departments and rules of courtesy and discipline prevailed. The visitors were taken to and from the base by a fleet of motor boats, several of the officers from the United States Coast Guard station also took part, being brought over from their base for the purpose of entertaining the visitors. Flags were displayed from the boats that conveyed the visitors to and from the base.

COST OF CONSTRUCTION SAID TO HALT BUILDING

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 27—It is represented that nearly all the real estate sales in New London in recent months have been of unimproved property, the cost of land on which buildings would be done lower now. The cost of construction seems to have had much to do with checking the movement. Records show that in normal times modern business men favored locations and the rate would not worry them but that the cost of construction was a few years after the World war expected for a while that all values would be affected. Now, however, it is claimed that the cost of building is not the only factor that is responsible for the present dull condition.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Roscoe B Sharp has ordered the driving license of Isaac Mercier, Taftville street operator whose car was responsible for the death of Miss Rosa Lee Lamoureux on the Norwich-New London road last Saturday night.

Miss Doris Chapman, 318 William street, was on Williams street last night when she was attacked by a man who followed her from her home. The fellow's attack however, was of short duration for the young woman battling against her assailant, the fellow became scared and made his escape. Miss Chapman had been at the home of a friend and started to go to her own home about 10:30 o'clock. When she reached a point near the corner of Grove street, the fellow had evidently been loitering there. As Miss Chapman was about to pass him, the man seized her and was handling her roughly. Miss Chapman fought off the brute as best she could and when she began to scream, the fellow released his hold and disappeared in the darkness. Joseph Tracy, 418 Williams street, who was attracted to the street because of the young woman's screams, telephoned to police headquarters and Sergeant Samuel Hicks and Patrolman Denton Hill and George Lahoue responded. The officers made a search of the neighborhood, but failed to locate the man.

Paul Schmidreck, a Coast Guard seaman was fined $5 in police court today for striking Francis Perry, a Waterford boy as they came from the Temple theatre last night in front of the station.

John Toupasz was fined $5 for blocking traffic on Golden street. Three drunks and a breach of peace case were before the court.

Silas Maxson, Jr., has sold a building lot on Squire street to William F. Gaudberry.

Gilda Minucci has sold a house and lot on Senour street to Louis Kaplan.

Thomas and Celia Gildea have sold a building lot on Ocean avenue to Samuel Zakarsky.

New London seems to be going through a season of slow times at present. The absence of people from the streets is noticeable.

The two submarines which the New London Ship and Engine company constructed for the Peruvian government are now on the way to Peru, having cleared from Newport Tuesday.

The number of automobiles parked along the curbings in this city has increased until the machines are noticeable because of their number. There are few streets in the center of the city where a line of automobiles are not visible the entire length.

It is predicted that within a decade the use of ice for the cooling of refrigerators will have passed away to be supplied by artificial refrigeration and local power will be obtained from rays of light. This is the vision of people who claim they see what is coming in the advancement of science.

Dr. and Mrs. Tracy Farnum, of Pasadena, Cal., are spending a few days in New York.

Friends of Fritz Vogt, Truman street merchant, who is spending several weeks in Germany, have received postal cards recently from Mr. Vogt. The cards were sent from Munich. Mr. Vogt expected to return to New London last month.

Donald MacLachlin, of 82 Tenth street, Mrs. [illegible] Bitters, Quaker Hill and Miss Alice Leonard Mystic, parents at Lawrence Memorial Association hospital, were discharged today.

Funeral services of Miss Mary E. Carmody, daughter of Dennis Carmody of 35 Hempstead street and Thomas J. Carew of New York, formerly of New London was solemnized at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Rev. Charles Hart of Washington, D. C. performed the ceremony. Miss Matilda McGuire, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. The best man was James Crowe of New Britain, a brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were James Callahan of Washington, D. C., a brother of the bride, and Cyril Sullivan of New Britain, a cousin of the bridegroom. The bride's gown was of blue velvet and silver lace. She wore a hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and [illegible] valley. The maid of [illegible] Miss Chapman fought off the brute as best she could and when she began to scream, the fellow released his hold and disappeared in the darkness. Joseph Tracy, 418 Williams street, who was attracted to the street because of the young woman's screams, telephoned to police headquarters and Sergeant Samuel Hicks and Patrolman Denton Hill and George Lahoue responded. The officers made a search of the neighborhood, but failed to locate the man.

DORSEYS, FATHER AND SON, SCRAP AT PROBATE HEARING

[illegible] Oct. 27—Visiting [illegible] of a most serious nature that has been carried in the [illegible] ordered [illegible] Thomas F. Dorsey, Sr. and [illegible] F. Dorsey, Jr. [illegible] the [illegible] when the son attacked his father during a session of the probate court. The police were summoned [illegible] was made.

The hearing began at 2 o'clock and was for the purpose of [illegible] the probate court on the petition for the [illegible] of Peter Dorsey. Mrs. Charlotte F. Dorsey, wife of Thomas F. Dorsey, Jr. and mother of Thomas F. Dorsey, Jr. is to sell real estate belonging to the estate included in which was the Hotel Winthrop, State street. The hearing had been in progress but a short time when the father and son engaged in a heated verbal [illegible], during which harsh words were exchanged. The younger Dorsey finally attacked his father with force, the battle waging through the court room and to the corridor of the building, where attorneys and witnesses separated the combatants. Police Officer Dorsey notified police headquarters and Sergeant Nelson Smith and Patrolmen George Labour and Arthur Feeley were dispatched to the court. By the time that the officers arrived, order had been restored. The hearing was [illegible] concluded, being adjourned a week.

J. F. PERRY'S BODY MOVED TO CEMETERY IN JORDAN

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 27—The body of John F. Perry, late of 82 Crystal avenue, where he resided several years with his daughter, Mrs. Joseph K. Oliver was disinterred at St. Mary's cemetery this morning and at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon it was buried in Jordan cemetery. Services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, rector of St. James' Episcopal church. The disinterment and subsequent burial was at the instance of Mr. Perry's son, John W. Perry, executor of the estate. The body was buried in St. Mary's cemetery originally on orders of relatives of Mr. Perry, but as executor of the estate John W. Perry the change in burial places to be made in compliance to a clause in John F. Perry's will, which provided that a burial lot be purchased for the repose of his body in Jordan cemetery and that an Episcopal minister officiate at his funeral. The funeral was held in St. Mary's Star of the Sea church two days after Mr. Perry died. Later events brought about a suit of Samuel M. Prentis, undertaker, to collect his bill for funeral expenses, but the court of common pleas Judge Waller decided against Mr. Prentis on the grounds that the provisions of the will of Mr. Perry had not been carried out and that John W Perry, executor of the estate, had not ordered that the body be buried in St. Mary's cemetery.

GRAHAM HOUSE OPEN TO ANY CHANCE PROWLER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 27—H. M. Beebe, 32 Converse place, reported to the pouce this evening that the furnished house corner of Pequot avenue and Converse place was open to prowlers, that he had observed school children entering and leaving the house and that the front door was wide open. Patrolman Clarence Martin was sent to the house and finding the door open, secured it from the inside and left by a window, which he was compelled to leave unfastened. The house was vacated about six months ago. The owner of the house is not known to the police. The house was formerly an exclusive boarding place and was conducted at that time by Mrs. Charlotte Graham and was known as the "Graham house".

When Stony Hill is treated with macadam it will present an appearance that no person ever beheld on that highway. The street has been ever since the days when the Indians had their trail along it a dirt road, a passage covered with cobble stones. The street is to be covered with a mixture of tar and gravel that will insure a smooth surface down which water will flow to Main street in volume, for the street drains the gutters of Huntington street from the north and the south. There are few of the residents on the street now that had the possession of real estate there in the early days. The residents on the street have changed with the times.

The changes contemplated at Fort Nock, as the section contiguous to the [illegible] channel is on will cost the city a considerable sum if they are ever made. But that expenditure will change a section where there has been many arrests for violation of the quiet law.

It is proposed to grade the streets and to place lights there and to clean up that part of the city generally. The [illegible] in contemplation that the Coast Guard academy may be kept in New London. Whether that will accomplish the [illegible] is to be seen. It remains to be told as to whether the off lots of the Coast Guard will [illegible] an agreement to complete the [illegible] or whether they have any authority to make such an agreement. Of course they will not have and do not possess any right to bind the government to maintain the academy in this city. It has been reported that New Bedford seeks the academy on the ground that it is near to Boston and to Providence and that the cadets can go to these cities for entertainment and for pleasures that are not to be obtained in New London. That may be a reason for the change of location but the cadets are not to choose the person who views the real advantages to be had here in comparison with those which New Bedford offers. The cadets are close to the submarine base and to the open waters of the sound where they can have real practice in navigation. New York and Boston and other cities are [illegible] to New London.

Curtiss Mallory, a mulatto, employed [illegible] was arraigned in the Palmer [illegible] court this morning on a charge of [illegible] Mallory was [illegible] Monday afternoon by Officer [illegible] Mallory declared he [illegible] and then left [illegible] Mallory went [illegible] Avery's [illegible] Mallory and the arrest of the [illegible] He was found [illegible] and was [illegible]

An automobile driven by Walter [illegible] 54 Shetucket street, collided with another car driven by Dr. [illegible] Enfield street, Hartford, on the Norwich-Hartford turnpike this afternoon. The [illegible] was damaged, but [illegible]

An automobile driven by Patsy Vi[illegible] Thames street, Groton ran down a pedestrian, Miss Annie Beebe, 42 Prentis street, this afternoon as the latter woman was caught on a crosswalk and her a few feet from a [illegible] and rushed to the patient. She sustained bruises and contusions and was taken to her home in another automobile. Miss Beebe was crossing State street, corner of Main street and where Traffic Officer Lewis Wheeler was on duty. Miss Beebe had nearly crossed the street when Vitro's car came along and before the young woman could get out of the way of the automobile she was struck with considerable force. She was taken to a store where she remained until after she had recovered from the shock and then was assisted to her home.

Frank Harding of North Cove road, Saybrook, made complaint to the New London police this afternoon because of damage having been done to his automobile. Harding parked his car on the parking space, State street, and absented himself a long time. When he discovered that the left rear mudguard was badly damaged.

Harry C. Hansen, 45, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 15 Center St., after an illness of about a year. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hansen; his wife, four sons, Ralph Hansen, Flint, Mich., Karl Hansen, Jr., Providence, and Harry and James Hansen, this city and by two daughters, Misses Ethel and Florence Hansen of this city. Two brothers, Reginald Hansen of Canton, Ohio, and Kurt Hansen of Detroit and a sister, who resides in Norway, also survive. He was a member of Union lodge, No. 31, A. F. and A. M., Union chapter, No. 7, R. A. M., Cushing council, No. 4, R. and S. and Palestine commandery, this city; King Solomon lodge of Perfection, Van Rensselaer council, Princes of Jerusalem, Norwich chapter of Rose Croix, Nemrod Grotto, Norwich and the Connecticut consistory. He was employed several years as foreman of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad yard at Midway.

Mrs. Jennie Barbour of 148 Montauk avenue; Nicholas Samatara, 121 Shaw street; Mrs. Andrew Atha and infant son, Groton; Jack Graves, Broad street extension and Arthur Wiener, 30 Home street, patients at Home Memorial Hospital, were discharged today.

Lee Siyeum, a Chinaman, was arrested this morning by Federal Narcotic Agent Thomas Kenefick, New Haven and Sergeant Patrick Murphy, charged with violation of the Harrison narcotic act. He was later presented before United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran and held for hearing on Nov. 3. He furnished a bond for his subsequent presentation. Siyeum has been sought by federal and local police since Aug. 25 when a warrant for his arrest was issued. When Siyeum was sought he could not be located. He was seen about the streets in Groton and Agent Kenefick was constantly watched. The officer came to New London and accompanied by Sergeant Murphy located Siyeum and the man was arrested. It is understood that Siyeum has been engaged in peddling narcotics a long time.

William Fitch, 12, son of Mrs. Homer K. Underwood, 40 Granite street, who was injured in Philadelphia a month ago, returned to his home here last night. He fell from stories through an elevator shaft, receiving a broken leg, having both wrists broken and getting numerous other injuries.

Lyceum Theater, New London

At the Lyceum, New London on Wednesday evening Nov. 3 Russia's most renowned male dancer Mikhail Mordkin, assisted by a company of over 50 artists, including a Symphony orchestra of 15, will present Aglade which has been referred to as one of the greatest creations in the entire repertoire of ballet productions. The theme of Aglade was suggested to Mordkin by one of the Arabian Nights tales. Special music was written for it by Joseph Gaudi, a prominent Russian composer. Of equal importance in the program are the classical Grand Pas de Camp and Chrysanthema, for which special appropriate arrangements of music have been made.

Palace Theater

Today the Palace presents another of its notable double feature programs and one that is of unusual excellence headed by Benet Lindsey's latest success So This Is Paris with a select cast of popular players including Monte Blue, Patsy Ruth Miller, Lilyan Tashman. So This Is Paris is a dignant, feather, furious, glamorous French, a delight to the eye and a great escape that holds the interest from the first flash. Lubitsch has produced some great pictures, but nothing has equalled So This Is Paris.

RALLY IN STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(AP)—responding to the publication of unusually favorable quarterly earnings reports by the United States Steel and General Motors corporations, and the raising of the annual dividend on the common stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad from 6 to 7 per cent. stock prices staged an impressive rally in today's market. Closing quotations, which were around the day's high levels, disclosed a long list of net gains ranging from 1 to 4 points, with a few even larger.

U. S. Steel common closed more than 3 points higher at 140 7-8 despite reports of a further falling off in production, particularly in the automotive and building industries. In the weekly steel trade reviews. Third quarter earnings, if above $32,000,000 were well above all conservative estimates, which averaged less than $30,000,000.

General Motors common scored a net gain of 3 3-4 points at 150 1-4 on buying influenced by earnings of $17.77 a share on the common stock in the first nine months of the year. Weakness cropped out, however, in some of the low priced motors on selling inspired by the belief that further price cuts are inevitable because of the increased competition. Hudson sank to a new low at 42 3-4 and Chandler-Cleveland common and preferred attained new minimum prices at 11 1-4 and 24 1-4, respectively, although the last named later rallied to 27.

Among the many industrials to show net gains of 2 points or more were American Brake Shoe & Foundry, American Can, Coca Cola, Dupont, Ingersoll Rand, Loew, Weber Sugar, Sheffield Steel and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe. Several weak spots were scattered throughout the list also Worthington Pump preferred A breaking 8 points to 85 and being followed into new low ground by Southern Dairies A. Republic Steel and International Agricultural Chemical prior preferred.

Pennsylvania crossed 67 to the highest price since 1919? on the announcement of the higher dividend although such action had been freely rumored for the past few days. Stimulated by another series of favorable September earnings statements, a brisk demand also developed for a number of other carriers with Atlantic Coast Line, "Nickel Plate" New Haven and Illinois Central recording the largest gains.

The action of the market took many traders by surprise contrary to expectations, the opening was only moderately strong. This encouraged some short selling which carried prices down a point or more for their highs. Strong banking support then made its appearance, setting in motion a sharp rally which continued through the close.

Call money was in plentiful supply but the rate held steady at 4 1-2 per cent time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were slightly easier. Demand sterling ruled around $4.84 1-4 and French francs around 3.05 cents. Italian lire broke 13 points to around 4.30 cents, but most of the other changes were nominal.

Trading in the commodity markets with price changes generally narrow. The cotton market closed 1 to 4 points net lower, and wheat prices advanced fractionally, raw sugar was unchanged and coffee closed 2 to 7 points net higher.

SAMUEL HUNTINGTON SCHOOL WILL BE MODERN TWO STORY BUILDING

A two story building, with 14 regular class rooms, besides four other rooms in which pupils will be housed, an auditorium, a shop for manual training and other special features is the building planned for the "Samuel Huntington" school at Norwich Town on which bids are to be received until Nov. 4 by the town school committee. The plans are by Chandler & Palmer, local architects, with whom there has been associated William T. Partner of New York, who acted in the same way on the plans for the Elizabeth street and the Bishop schools.

The building planned for the "Samuel Huntington" school covers an area on the ground of approximately 19,000 feet, being 160 feet on West Town street by 120 feet deep.

First Floor

On the first floor there are six regular class rooms, each equipped with wardrobes, bookcases and closets. These class rooms are about 22 x 30. In addition to these rooms on this floor there is a shop for manual training, approximately 35 x 35 with a small room 15 x 18 for staining and finishing. This room is well lighted on all sides, has a wide entrance at the back so that large machinery can be put in or taken out. This room is by itself so that any noise therein is confined to that location alone and is not heard through the rest of the building.

On the southeast corner, in addition to the rooms mentioned on this floor, is a kindergarten room approximately 22 x 40 with a bay-window projection of about 5 x 20. This room has folding doors opening into the corridor, thereby making a room 30 x 40 on occasions. A small community is thus afforded a room for general small meetings of teachers or parents as well as for the kindergarten use. This room is well equipped with cases for each pupil, wardrobes and separate toilet rooms, and is connected up also with the teachers' room.

At the left of the main entrance, as one enters the building, is the principal's office, with toilet accommodations; opposite this is the nurse's and clinic room finished in a manner fitting a room of this character. Stairs are located at the ends of the corridors and corridors are well lighted. A supply room of about 8 x 22 is also located on this floor.

The Auditorium

The auditorium, which is reached from the main corridor, as well as from the side corridors, is 46 x 66, has a stage about 12 x 30 with anteroom off each side; it is 22 feet in height. From the floor of this auditorium, which also may be used as a gymnasium, the boys go into their locker and shower room, while on the opposite side the girls go into theirs. There is also a small office for the male and female physical director and large storage rooms on each side of the auditorium so that chairs may be stored away in them when the floor of the auditorium is needed for gymnasium purposes. There is a seating capacity for 250 spectators when the auditorium is needed for basketball, leaving a free area of 41 x 66 for such purposes, this being a regulation minimum court.

Second Floor

On the second floor there are eight regular class rooms. In addition to these, there is the domestic science room 22 x 40 with pantry, storage facilities and a small model dining room off it. A library, 24 x 35, one of the eight rooms mentioned above, is fitted up for nature work and geography or intermediate library, having off it a vivarium and dark closet, thus making a total of 18 rooms in which pupils will be housed. There are toilet rooms on each floor.

The boiler and fuel room is located at the northeast corner of the building so that fuel may be easily unloaded from the Brook lane side.

Class A Construction

The construction of the building is what is known as Class A, reinforced concrete for all floors including the roof, hollow tile walls throughout the interior, tapestry brick exterior with cast stone trimmings and an Austral type of window, which permits of a maximum glass surface with the smallest amount of mullion in frames, also permitting the introduction of fresh air to the room directing from the outside without passing through dirty fresh air rooms or galvanized iron ducts in the basement and this air being introduced into the room without striking the heads of the pupils.

Ventilation and Plumbing

Ventilation is obtained by the exhaust method, vent flues being placed at the floor level and conducted to an overhead duct in the corridor and from thence to a gathering chamber on the roof in which is placed an exhaust fan; all toilet rooms also having exhaust fans.

The plumbing will be of the most sanitary kind obtainable, side stream, bubbling cup, drinking fountains, all toilet fixtures being ventilated from the fixture itself into a duct at the back and thence into the flue in which the exhaust fans will be placed.

The building will be equipped thoroughly with telephone, clock and programme system fire bells, stand pipes in the corridors and all necessary precautions taken for the safety of the pupils so far as exits from the building and from the auditorium are concerned. The cubical contents of the building are 480,000 feet.

BOUNDARY DISPUTE OVER WHITE SAND BEACH LOTS

Hilma C. and Oscar S. Johnson, both of Springfield, Mass., owner of lots No. 126 and No. 127 at White Sands beach, Old Lyme, have brought suit in the superior court against John J. Brady and John J. Johnson, both of Hartford and Frank B. O'Neil of Hartford to have the court determine the boundaries of their lots.

The plaintiffs allege that when they bought the lots from Brady and Johnson, the latter pointed out the boundaries by certain monuments and pointed out the location for the site of a cottage and garage which they began to build. The deed for the lot was secured from James J. Smith, dated Aug. 11, 1923.

O'Neil, owner of lot No. 128, adjoining the plaintiffs' lots, made claim to them on May 14, 1926 and their cottage was over upon his property.

RESTAURANT OWNER IS WITHOUT WATER FOR COOKING

Damages of $5,000 and an injunction to compel the defendants to have water pipes and meter re-connected so that Christo Zengas of New London may obtain gas for cooking purposes are sought in a suit brought in the superior court by Zengas against Frank and Ozario Dimaggio of New London.

Zengas alleges that he has been obliged to close up his restaurant business in a store on the corner of State street and Railroad avenue because the defendants, in an adjoining building, disconnected the water pipes and meter on Oct. 15, 1926. The plaintiff alleges that he has had the restaurant since March 1, 1926, on a lease from Albert Gattas who had sub-let it to him after having leased the place from the defendants for one year from Feb. 15, 1926.

CONTRACTOR BRINGS SUIT AGAINST WESTERLY OWNER

Suit against Max Novogroski of Westerly has been brought in the superior court by L. E. McLaughlin, Inc., a New London firm of contractors, which has been engaged since May 17, 1926 in putting in the foundations for a theatre building for the defendant on the state line at Pawcatuck, Conn., and Westerly, R. I., at the junction of Broad and West Broad streets. The work was stopped on July 28, 1926, by the United States marshal on the ground that it was creating an unauthorized obstruction in the Pawcatuck river.

The L. E. McLaughlin Co. alleges that it has furnished materials and done work to the value of $11,049.61 on which Novogroski had paid $4,500 and it now sues for the balance of $6,549.61.

Two Foreclosure Suits

In a suit brought in the superior court and returnable in November, the Mariners Savings bank of New London asks foreclosure of a $3200 mortgage on real estate on Pleasant street. The defendant named is Celia F. Burdick, administratrix of the estate of Isabella Decker and administratrix of the estate of Charles T. Decker.

Suit for foreclosure of a $7,250 mortgage, dated June 18, 1924, on real estate on Ann street, New London, has also been brought by the Mariners Savings bank of New London against Kenneth H. Holmes, et al. The suit is returnable in November.

Workmen's Compensation

Workmen's compensation agreements as follows have been approved by Commissioner J. J. Donohue:

American Woolen Co., Winchester mills, Norwich, employer, and Frank Depinto, 285 Franklin street, employe, injured elbow, Sept. 18, at rate of $8.26.

New London Ship and Engine Co., Groton, employer, and John Toolin, New London, employe, bruised elbow, July 27, at rate of $12.39.

Pierce Butler & Pierce Mfg. Corp., New London, employer, and George E. Sullivan, employe, sprained or fractured ankle, Aug. 5, at rate of $10.

FAMOUS AMATEUR GOLFER WAS ROTARY CLUB GUEST

With Francis Ouimet, nationally known amateur golfer, as the guest of honor the weekly meeting of the Norwich Rotary club was held on Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel. The meeting was largely attended and proved of unusual interest, there being a very interesting talk on group insurance by Lewis M. Carpenter which was supplemented by a talk by Mr. Ouimet along the same lines. The latter part of the golf champion's talk was devoted to the game of golf and he told a number of humorous incidents relative to his experiences in tournament and exhibition play.

President Edwin A. Harris presided at the meeting and Grosvenor Ely was the only guest. Among the musical features of the meeting were the piccolo solos by Frank H. Murdy to Henry J. LaFontaine. Mr. Murdy also rendered a solo. James J. Mahan, the club's host regent, introduced Atty. Hugh B. Campbell, the club's regent during sang a very humorous song.

L. ... H. Whittaker of the substitute ... was present at the meeting and extended a very cordial invitation to the members of the club to inspect the base and to witness the football game.

It was announced that Lewis Carpenter was the chairman of the program committee for the month of November and he announced his program as follows:

Nov. 5.—Speaker, Judge Asher of Worcester; song leader, William Oat.

Nov. 12.—Speaker, Congressman Richard P. Freeman of New London; song leader, Joseph Whelan.

Nov. 17.—Speaker, District Governor Albert T. Colvin; song leader, William Park.

Nov. 24.—Special program to be announced later; song leader, Frank Murdy.

After the meeting the members of the club adjourned to the Norwich Golf club where Francis Ouimet and E. A. Harris were paired in a best ball foursome against William G. Park and N. P. Vickery, local pro, in which Ouimet with a 77 won the match 4 up.

Found Money Others Passed Over

Just walking around is a healthful exercise; and might be worth while in a city like Norwich says L. M. Crandall who, while walking on Franklin square this week picked up a sum of money lieing on the sidewalk. Several people just ahead of Mr. Crandall passed the sum unnoticed but he says he couldn't resist the temptation to pick it up so the money is now resting comfortably at the commercial school waiting for its friendly owner to claim it.

Costive Bowels, Headache, Colds Take "Cascarets"

No Headache, Sour Stomach, Bad Cold or Constipation by morning

Get a 10-cent box now.

Furred Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery — indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

THREE DAY CONVENTION FOR STATE SUNDAY SCHOOLS

One of the outstanding events in the religious activities of Connecticut this fall will be the state Sunday school convention to be held at the Central Baptist church, Hartford, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 17, 18 and 19. Rev. Augustin P. Corliss, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, Hartford, is general chairman of the committee of arrangements, and prominent men and women in religious circles are working with enthusiasm to make this one of the notable gatherings of the year.

Among the more prominent speakers engaged are the Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, pastor-at-large. Dr. Boynton was pastor of the Second Avenue Congregational church in Brooklyn for many years, and last year supplied the pulpit of the famous Broadway Tabernacle, New York city, during the 13 months round-the-world trip of its pastor, Rev. Dr. Jefferson. Dr. Boynton preached last summer at the Center Congregational church in Hartford while Dr. Potter was traveling abroad. In 1925 Dr. Boynton attended the International Church conference at Stockholm, and was also general chairman of the Washington church drive.

The morning devotional services each day will be in charge of the Very Rev. Samuel R. Colladay, Dean, Christ Church Cathedral, Hartford.

At the Friday morning session there will be an address by Hugh Magill, LL. D., of Chicago. Dr. Magill is general secretary of the International Council of Religious Education. For a number of years he was field secretary for the National Educational society at Washington, and is well known through the country in educational circles. He has been state senator in Illinois, and is at present a candidate for United States senator from that state.

In the long list of speakers are noted the names of Herman H. Horne, Ph. D., LL. D., professor of the Philosophy of Education, New York university, New York city; Rev. William H. Main, D. D., executive secretary, American Baptist Publication society, Philadelphia; James L. McConaughy, Ph. D., LL. D., president, Wesleyan university, Middletown; and Rev. O. W. Warmington, D. D., dean of the department of English Bible, Boston university, Boston; and Miss Ethel M. Sander, specialist in religious education, Newark, N. J.

ASK $10,000 DAMAGES FOR BEATING IN RESTAURANT

John T. Hanrahan of this city has brought suit for $10,000 damages in the superior court against Stephen J. McMahon of New London for injuries alleged to have been received by Hanrahan at 11 p. m. Sept. 22, 1926 at the hands of McMahon in the latter's restaurant and bus waiting room in New London. Hanrahan alleges that he was violently assaulted and knocked to the floor of the restaurant by McMahon, blows which caused injury to his eye, cheek, nose and permanent injuries.

MADE ORAL AGREEMENT WITH $800 PAYMENT

Alleging that William J. and Ella J. Beebe, ... wife, owned Waterford, ... rented it and refused to provide him with bed and board for the remainder of his natural life, George Valentine of Waterford has brought suit against them in the superior court for $5,000 damages. He alleges that he made an oral agreement with them on June 1, 1926, and paid them $800 but they have not carried out the agreement.

MASON'S ISLAND INJUNCTION TRIAL IS CONTINUING

Evidence in the injunction and damage suit of Mrs. Helen E. Dodge against the Mason's Island Co., and Dr. Gurdon S. Allyn came during Wednesday in the superior court at New London before Judge Newell Jennings. The trial had not been concluded when Attorney Philip Z. Hankey, representing the defendant, placed evidence 21 exhibits, comprising deeds and leases going back to the days of 1857. Many of these were put in with exceptions noted for Attorney Arthur T. Keefe.

Dr. Allyn was on the stand in the morning, following a grilling by attorneys Tuesday afternoon.

Attorney Keefe in cross-examining the doctor asked him why he laid the pipe for an alleged distance of 200 feet on the Dodge property, to which he answered, "To supply water to owners south of the pond, who had a right to go across the Dodge property to get water."

Attorney Keefe asked the witness if he would say whether or not there was anything in any of the deeds which gave their holders the right to take water from the lake or pond. Dr. Allyn said that he knew they had a right to water from the well, but not from the lake.

Attorney Hankey called to the stand First Selectman John Fribance of Stonington, who said that the first time he was ever on Mason's Island was in 1904 when he went there "with refreshments" on a picnic. He testified that later he went on others, saying that they always paid either Andrew or John Mason $2 to use the land.

Selectman Fribance told of a conversation with Mr. Dodge, when he and two other selectmen went there to try to have a peaceful solution on the complaint of Dr. Allyn that Mr. Dodge had closed the road. He said that Mr Dodge had made the remark that the road had been there for 20 years but also admitted on cross-examination that Mr. Dodge would not open the road and that he claimed people had no right to use it. Selectman Arthur F. Babcock also testified to hearing Mr. Dodge say that he remembered the road there 20 years ago, but the latter could not recall any more of the half hour's conversation.

Attorney Warren B. Burgess is representing the interest of Curtis Lougell, a Mason's Island land owner, as the case unfolds and is not associated with Attorney Hankey as was previously stated.

Mrs. Dodge seeks an injunction restraining the Mason's Island Co. and Dr. Allyn from using the right of way and also a court order making defendants remove water pipe from her land. She also asks for damages in the amount of $2,000.

SUIT BROUGHT ON NOTE, ALLEGING INSTALMENTS UNPAID

Suit on a note for $994.50, on which it is alleged a balance of $769.90 is due and unpaid, has been brought in the superior court by State Finance company of New London against William L. Richmond of Stonington. It is alleged that the note is now due because three monthly instalments of $82.88 each have not been paid, being due in August, September and October of this year.

Monroe Wallwork of New London and others are made defendants in a mortgage foreclosure suit brought in the superior court by the Mariners Savings bank of New London and returnable in November. The mortgage is for $4,000, dated April 1, 1921 on real estate on Williams street. The National Bank of Commerce claims a $3,700 mortgage lien and Ambrogio Cassara claims a $1,900 mortgage lien.

TAFTVILLE

A meeting of the committee that ... to have charge of the annual fair ... the Taftville Congregational church ... held a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Edwin G. Crowdis. FIRST ALLEGED "VICTIM" WITNESS IN MORSE TRIAL

William T. Black Told the Jury How Pamphlets Caused Him to Invest $16,000 in Shares in the U. S. Ship Corporation —George W. Loft Testified That He Had Been Given Stock in Subsidiary Companies For His Endorsement Services.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—William T. Black, first alleged "victim" witness of the stock selling operations for which Benjamin W., Harry F., and Erwin A. Morse and 14 others are on trial in federal court, today told the jury how pamphlets the government charges misrepresent the status of the stocks, caused him to invest $16,000 in shares of the United States Ship corporation. The pamphlets, Black said were sent him by mail.

Black was preceded as a witness by Arthur G. Watts, who said he interviewed Benjamin W. Morse and published statements Morse made to him. One of these statements, Watts said, contained an appraisal of the United States Steamship company, giving its value as $12,500,000.

Special Assistant Attorney General Sylvester R. Rush, after declaring the statement Morse made was false, told the court: "This is the first overt act in the indictment, your honor."

Black, who was cashier of customs for the port of New York, and for more than 30 years connected with the customs service, said he had made purchases of steamship stock from 1916 to 1920. After receipts of a circular alleged to have been sent out to holders of the stock by George W. Wells, one of the defendants, he exchanged his United States Steamship company stock for stock of the United States Ship corporation. The exchange was made on the basis of five shares for four.

Black's testimony was attacked under cross-examination by counsel for the defense, who sought to show that loss of tonnage due to the relentless submarine warfare on shipping, and information other than that contained in the company's printed matter, persuaded Black in his stock purchases.

George W. Loft, president of George W. Loft, Inc., who followed Black as a witness, said he had been for more than a year a director in the United States Steamship company. At no time, he said, did he investigate the affairs of the company. He denied receiving 300 shares of the company's stock for services in keeping the Groton Iron Works at New London, Conn., out of bankruptcy or the Virginia Shipbuilding company at Alexandria, Va., from receivership.

Under cross-examination he related that his services for the Morse enterprises consisted in his endorsement of notes which he said might have totalled more than a million dollars. He said that he had held stock in subsidiary companies of the steamship concern and these he said had been given for his endorsement services.

OFFERING SHARES OF STOCK TO THEIR EMPLOYES

BRIDGEPORT, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Employes of the Bassick company here, and also in the two other Bassick plants, which are located in Meriden and in Newark, N. J., are being offered shares of stock in the Stewart-Warner Speedometer company, of which the Bassick plant is a subsidiary, it was announced today by Otis D. Covell, assistant treasurer of the Bassick company, whose executive offices are in this city.

"The plan," said Mr. Covell, "is to enable employes to save some of their earnings and invest them. The dividend of $6 per year is paid quarterly, and is credited to the employe, and goes to help pay for his stock.

"The stock is bought at the rate of $1 a share, down, the rest to be taken out of his pay each week. Stewart-Warner will pay each purchaser $1 each year for the next four years, for each share bought. This is part of the company's help to the employe.

"If a person wishes, he or she may buy 1 or 10 shares at a time. There is no set amount, and it can be paid for in cash or by the instalment plan.

"The company has no shares at present and has to get out on the market and purchase them in open market. They will finance the employe on the terms, and will carry the stock while he is paying for it."

BODY OF MRS. MILLS WAS EXHUMED FOR EXAMINATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Dr. Otto H. Schultze, autopsy expert, who today examined the exhumed body of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, killed four years ago with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, is quoted by the New York American as saying he has established the course of the bullets fired at Mrs. Mills and her position at the time.

"All of the bullets were fired into Mrs. Mills' body from the front," he announced. "One entered the forehead, one the right cheek, and the third the right temple. Two long scratches, made with a very sharp instrument, were found in her throat. The cuts were low and extended on to the breast. A cut was found on her lip. If her tongue was cut out, it was done deliberately and not accidentally in cutting her throat. The cuts on the throat were too low to have severed the tongue at the root."

Dr. Schultze, who brought the head and torso of the body to New York for laboratory examination tomorrow, said he would make a complete report to Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, Saturday.

WINDSOR WOMAN WAS INSTANTLY KILLED BY AUTO

WINDSOR, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Annie Masten, 62, of Windsor, was instantly killed here tonight when she was struck by an automobile truck owned and operated by Louis Bedell, a vegetable peddler of 335 Prospect avenue, Hartford. Mrs. Masten, who was employed in Hartford, was returning to her home, when hit by the machine. She had just alighted from a trolley car and was walking on the left hand side of the road when the automobile, traveling close to the right hand side of the highway hit her. She suffered a fractured skull and both legs were broken.

Bedrick was arrested and held under bonds of $5,000 for a hearing in Windsor court, November 13th.

DAY OF CHEAP LABOR IN THE UNITED STATES IS PAST

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The day of cheap labor in the United States is past, Harry E. Hull, United States commissioner general of immigration, told members of the National Society of New England Women today. He cited figures to show that the restriction of immigration had caused this condition.

"The immigration laws as they now exist," Hull said, "seem to me to express the thought of the country at large is in favor of a high wage scale and as being an accompaniment to better citizenship. It is this limiting of the entry of aliens that spells individual prosperity and protects American interests."

COOLIDGES VISIT HISTORIC POINTS IN VIRGINIA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)— The home of James Monroe, fifth president of the United States and other points of historic interest in nearby Virginia were visited by President and Mrs. Coolidge this afternoon, under the guidance of two democratic members of congress, Representatives Moore of Virginia and Briggs of Texas.

The trip took Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge through Fairfax courthouse, where they stopped to inspect the wills of Georges and Martha Washington, and Ohio old records, and into Loudoun county, near Leesburg, more than 40 miles from Washington, where the 3,000-acre Monroe estate is situated.

On the trip out, the automobiles were stopped at Langley Hill, a few miles from Washington, for the President and Mrs. Coolidge to look for a few moments at the house in which President Madison took refuge when the British occupied Washington in 1814.

In returning, the party passed close to Alexandria after swooping out on the Virginia roads and did not arrive at the white house until early evening.

FIGHT OVER $1,000,000 ESTATE OF WILLIAM N. McCLINTOCK

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 28.—(AP)—William Dreiling Shepherd's long fight for the $1,000,000 estate of his 21 year-old ward, William Nelson McClintock, entered a new phase today when the Illinois supreme court handed down a decision ordering that the will be admitted to probate.

Attorneys for Miss Isabelle Pope, the finance of young McClintock, announced that a chancery court suit to break the will would be filed as a result of today's decision.

Shepherd, who was tried and acquitted of a charge of murder in connection with McClintock's death, was the principal beneficiary under the will, which also directed that he pass to Miss Pope an annuity of $5,000.

McClintock died of typhoid fever and the state contended in the murder trial that Shepherd had administered typhoid germs soon after McClintock had agreed to the will, and shortly before the youth had announced his engagement to marry Miss Pope.

The court's decision today did not deal with the validity of the will, but held merely that it would be admitted to probate.

GOSSIP OVERHEARD THE FOUNDATION OF CHARGES

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Gossip overheard in the smoking compartment of a Pullman car was the foundation of charges that $35,000 was paid to the Portland Morning Oregonian for opposing the candidacy of Senator Robert N. Stanfield o fOregon, it was developed today by Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon as he closed his investigation here into senatorial campaign expenditures in this state.

The information regarding the smoking room gossip came in a telegram from Walter Hayes of Washington, D. C., former secretary to President Roosevelt.

George Putnam, publisher of the Salem Capital-Journal who brought about the Oregon inquiry, testified yesterday that he had learned of the alleged $35,000 transaction in a conversation with Hayes when the latter visited the Capital-Journal office at Salem.

MILLS CONTINUES TO PRESS MILK ISSUE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Ogden L. Mills, republican nominee for governor, continued to attack Governor Smith, democratic candidate for re-election, on his refusal to order a state investigation of New York city's milk supply tonight, heedless of Governor Smith's declaration that milk is a "false issue which fell to the ground by its own weight."

On the basis of the type of campaign Mills has conducted, the governor said he questioned if Mills was "fit to be governor." His republican opponent, he said, had "laid his whole political future in the lap of a false issue."

Mr. Mills said Governor Smith, and New York's mayor and health commissioner, consented to a state investigation of the alleged adulterated milk supply when the citizens' union brought the matter up three and a half months ago but suddenly decided such an investigation was unnecessary and have "obstinately refused," to go ahead since. "Now," Mr. Mills added, "they are black guarding and smearing to discredit me for asking the very thing which they agreed to less than four months ago." He reiterated the charge that Tammany hall was blocking a state investigation.

WATERLOGGED SCHOONER SAVED BY BUOY SETTER

ROCKLAND, Me., Oct. 28.— (AP) —Waterlogged and with her sails in shreads the five masted schooner Gardiner G. Deering was safe at anchor in Rockland harbor tonight, thanks to quick work by the government buoy setter Iris.

The Deering, coal laden from Norfolk to Bangor, ran into trouble in a heavy gale Monday night 100 miles southwest of Matinicus Rock light. Laboring through the heavy seas her seams opened and water poured into the hull. One of her pumps choked and with her crew of ten manning the other in relays she crawled in toward the Rock light, barely keeping steerage way because of her tattered canvas.

Daylight today revealed the schooner to the few inhabitants of Maine's outermost light station. A landing on the rock was impossible because of heavy seas still running and Captain F. O. Hill, in charge of the light sent word of the schooner's plight to Superintendent Sherman of the lighthouse service.

The Iris, westward bound, was ordered to go to the Deering's assistance. The buoy setter picked up the helpless schooner this afternoon, two miles off southwest breaker buoy and almost awash. The 25 mile tow to this port was accomplished at an average speed of seven knots. The Deering probably will be towed to destination after temporary repairs here.

DOCTOR DEAD FROM SELF INJECTION OF POISON

WATERBURY, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Near-unconscious after a self administered injection of poison early this morning, Dr. Mason L. Cooley, 67, of 534 North Main street made three desperate efforts to reform his friends, Medical Examiner Dr. A. A. Crane, of what he had done. In spite of what physicians term an unprecedented dose of the drug, the elderly doctor lived until 8:30 o'clock this evening.

Dr. Cooley attended his patients Monday, but saw only a few patients Tuesday. Wednesday he remained in bed until about 10 o'clock in the evening. He then rose and went to his study remaining there until 1 o'clock this morning. He was found in a serious condition at 8 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Crane found that all packages containing the drug had been opened in the doctor's study. He found the following note, written in a shaky hand: "Crane: Have taken - - - taken about 50 grains of morphine sulph- - - Cooley."

Prohibition "Spy" Found Shot to Death

Joe Hayes of Memphis Had Been Missing For Several Days.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 28—(AP)—Joe Hays of Memphis who it said to have supplied federal agents with prohibition law violation information was found today shot and with his body wrapped with barbed wire on President's Island in the Mississippi river near Memphis. He had been missing several days

Hays disappeared after he had attended a party on the island and police tonight advanced the theory that during the height of the party he had been slugged and then shot. The body was placed in a boat and hauled several miles down the river, according to this theory.

"Hays has been a marked man for some time," Jack Davis, prohibition agent said tonight. "I have thought since his disappearance that Hays had been murdered by bootleggers."

Hays' body, found embedded in the river bank, had been exposed for some time, examining physicians said.

SAID TO HAVE MARRIED FIVE WOMEN IN 14 MONTHS

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Charles Klimas, indicted by a federal grand jury in Brooklyn today for using the mails to defraud in advertising for wives, is alleged to have married five women in a period of 14 months and to have obtained from them dowries totaling $11,600. He already had a wife and two children living in Lithuania, according to federal officials.

Two women who were victims of Klimas' alleged wholesale marrying appeared against him when he was arraigned before a United States commissioner. They were Vera Mareakonis and Mrs. Anna Pupuadokus, a widow with two children, who said Klimas had received from them $3,000 and $2,000 respectively, as dowries. The former was living with Klimas in Boston when he was arrested.

It was alleged that Klimas, while living in Jacksonville, Fla., inserted in the matrimonial advertising columns of Lithuanian newspapers an appeal for a "friend for life," who would like to live in Florida, "where roses bloom the year round." Mrs. Popuadokus said she answered this advertisement and they subsequently were married. Federal authorities said similar offensive advertisements resulted in his acquiring other wives and dowries as follows: Veronica Rader, Boston, $1,400; Petronia Bulseuite, Baltimore, $1,700; Mme. Vero, hairdresser, Bridgeport, $3,000.

Klimas contended that this wholesale marrying took place while he was drunk.

"I'd blow into a town," he said, "and right away the women would get me drunk and, when I got sober I'd be married."

THRILLING RESCUE OF CREW FROM STEAMER

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—(AP)— Stories of the thrilling rescue of the crew of the steamer Louisiana, sulphuric acid laden freighter, which sunk after being rammed amidships at the mouth of the Mississippi river today, were related here tonight by officers and members of the crew.

The Madison, sister ship of the Louisiana, whose bow crashed into the other as she entered the river, arrived late today, bearing the crew of the Louisiana.

The crew of the Louisiana, many of whom were asleep at the time of the collision, recovered be the force of the blow, blinded by sleep and suffocated by sulphuric acid fumes, had difficulty in making their way to the pilot boat Underwriter, which sped to the scene of the accident.

Compass Inspector F. A. Smith, of the Louisiana, said he was in his bunk when awakened by the shock.

"Rushing on deck," he said, "I found the crew stunned by the impact of the Madison, which had given a great hole in the port side.

"The ship was sinking fast. It looked as if everybody was going down with the ship. Luckily the pilot boat ran alongside at the moment and the lines were lowered from the previously sloping side of the Louisiana from which the 25 members of the crew and three passengers were lowered."

TO BROADCAST THE HALL-MILLS MURDER TRIAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)—Radio fans will be able to get a "blow by blow" description of the Hall-Mills trial by an arrangement for broadcasting the proceedings announced by Station WRNY, Hotel Roosevelt, today.

"I plan to broadcast the trial just as a prize fight is broadcast from the ringside," Charles D. Isaacson, director of the station, told the Associated Press. "The michophone will be in a building directly across the street from the courthouse and I will be constantly moving from the courtroom to the mike. Assistants will be in the courtroom while I am out of it so that no action will be missed."

Description of the proceeds will be broadcast at regular times during the day, the hours to be decided on later. Between these periods only events of outstanding importance will be put on the air by the hotel station Isaacson said that the officials in Somerville had raised no objections to the broadcasting although he believed it to be the first time a trial had been so reported.

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 23—The body of Willard W. Hayden, 64, one of Willimantic's wealthiest residents, was found on the floor of the kitchen of his home, 76 Mountain street, where it had laid for about eight days, this morning about 10 o'clock. Suspecting that something was amiss as Mr. Hayden, who lived in seclusion in the big residence, had not been seen for several days, Dr. Thomas J. Keegan, a neighbor, made inquiries of the caretaker of the premises, Frank Cote, this morning. Mr Cote had last seen Mr. Hayden Wednesday morning, October 20, one week ago. On that day Mr. Hayden told Cote to come back the following morning as weather conditions would not permit for the raking of leaves from the yard. Mr. Hayden complained of being sick with a cold and said that he intended to stay in the house and take medicine.

Since that day Mr. Cote had made two regular trips to the place but found all doors locked and he supposed that Mr Hayden had gone on a trip. Most of the shutters were drawn and but scanty glimpses of the interior of the house could be gotten from the outside. Dr. Keegan noted that the window of Mr. Hayden's bedroom was partly open and knowing the man's exactness to such details he concluded that Mr. Hayden would not have gone away for any length of time without first carefully locking every window. He notified Chief of Police Thomas F Grady who with First Selectman Ernest P. Chesbro and others went to the house. A ladder was placed against the partly open window and Chief Grady entered the house. There was evidence that the bed had been occupied although everything else was in perfect order. Descending to the lower floor Chief Grady came upon the body which was lying in a semi-sitting position on the threshold of the kitchen and the pantry. Mr. Hayden was dressed in a jacket and slippers, not having removed his trousers or shirt.

Dr. Louis I. Mason, medical examiner, viewed the remains and said that the causes of death were undoubtedly due to natural causes of a shock or heart trouble. A few large clocks in the house were still running, indicating that they had been wound about eight days ago about the time of death.

Willard W. Hayden was widely known here through his real estate operations. He owned large tracts of desirable land bordering on Mountain, Pleasant and Hayden streets and in late years he gradually disposed of sections of the property on which fine residences have since been erected. The Hayden family had resided in Willimantic during three generations. The town clock on the town building was left by the grandfather. The father James F. Hayden, was the builder of the Hayden block, or Marble Front building on Main street, which was used as the county superior court chambers and was also occupied for the town and city offices up to the time of the erection of the present town building.

Willard W. Hayden had served two terms as alderman from the fourth ward. Since the death of his wife a few years ago he had been the sole occupant of one of two large residences owned by him at the corner of Mountain and Pleasant streets. He was born in this city, February 21, 1862, the son of James F. and Sarah Martin Hayden His only survivors are his sister, Mrs. Mary Hayden Preston of Providence, R. I., and a niece, Mrs. C. C. Darling of New York.

Dr. Herbert Purinton of Durham, N. C., brother-in-law of School Superintendent Egbert A. Case, delivered an address on conditions in the tropical islands, at the meeting of the Willimantic Exchange club held Wednesday evening in the Nathan Hale hotel. The meeting was a rousing one, having the largest attendance since sessions started to be held in the hotel. President Stevenson B. Hollister presided. Another guest was Professor Roy E. Jones of the Connecticut Agricultural college, who was accompanying Clinton T. Weed. The club voted to meet with a newly organized club in Stafford Springs next week for its regular meeting. A brief but fine musical program was carried out.

Large attendances continue as the final week of the union religious services in this city draws to a close. Dr. Milton S. Rees, evangelist, addressed two big assemblages Thursday evening. A mass meeting for women was held in the auditorium of the Methodist church and the men convened in the vestry. "The Black Cross" was the subject of his talk before the women. This Friday evening the Young People's Sunday school night will be observed with Rev Arthur S. Wheelock presiding. Dr. Rees will go to Danielson next week to hold services there.

Francis S. Long post held a benefit whist in the town hall Wednesday evening at which awards were made as follows: Ladies', Mrs. Louise Elsasser, first; Mrs. Joseph Steiner, second; Miss Alice Peterson, consolation; men's, Charles Hibbard, first; second, Winfield Andrews; D. K. Clark, consolation. Mrs. William A. Costello won the special prize. A quilt presented by Mrs. William Bell of South Windham was awarded to Mrs. J. L. Andrews of Hartford. 27 tables were in play.

A Chandler sedan coming from Oil City, Pennsylvania and a Buick coupe from Massachusetts arrived in front of the Nathan Hale hotel here simultaneously shortly before six o'clock Thursday evening and locked horns. The front bumper of the Chandler hooked with the left rear bumper of the Buick and the machines were separated with some difficulty although no considerate damage was done.

Mrs. Roland B. Jordan entertained the Hill Auction club of twelve members and eight guests Wednesday afternoon with five tables in play. The decorations and favors were in keeping with Halloween. Miss Muriel Harris of East Hampton won the first prize, Mrs Harry W. Standish, second and Mrs Margery B. Church, third. Miss Harris Mrs. Asline Ward, of Bristol, Mrs. Harold T. Robinson of Norwich, Miss Elsie Lincoln of Hartford and MHrs. William P. Little of Bridgeport were the out-of-town guests.

RESERVES DECISION ON TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 23—Two hearings before the public utilities commission were held in the chamber of commerce auditorium here today, the first being on the petition of the Connecticut company to remove its South Coventry-Willimantic branch trolley line and the second was the protest of Willimantic residents and others against the removal by the New Haven railroad of Train, No. 111 which left here for Hartford at 7.07 a. m. previous to September 28th.

Chairman Richard T. Higgins of West Hartford announced that he would reserve his decision in both hearings. On the first petition relative to the removal of the trolley branch, residents of South Coventry came in strong numbers to protest the removal and Commissioner Higgins said that his decision in this case would be reserved until after November 15 to give the parties interested an opportunity to make a more thorough study of the matter and devise some solution to please the majority. Charles C. Elwell of New Haven was also present on the commission.

Besides several speeches, the Coventry business men came armed with a set of resolutions drawn by the Coventry Men's club of 120 members, protesting the removal of the trolley on various grounds, mainly because no definite plan to replace the bus has been forthcoming and because there is no other method of transportation so ideal as the trolley for some 25 pupils of Windham high or the State normal school who board the car along the line each day. Their resolutions stated that property valuations along the line would be affected and that trading in Willimantic would also be hindered.

The speakers in protest were Dr. William L. Higgins, Judge Curtis Dean, George H. Robertson, Fred Foster and Ernest H. Woodworth of Coventry.

W. J. Flickenger, vice president of the Connecticut company was the sole spokesman for the petitioning body. He asked permission for the removal of the trolley without being required to substitute automobile passenger bus service. His company faced an unwarranted expenditure of $23,500 to conform with plans of the state highway department which call for paving on the line. Primarily he stressed the decreasing revenue of the line due to the increased use of automobiles. He said that the average decline in the receipts per car mile since 1921 was twelve cents. Even though the cost of operating the trolley has been reduced to a after careful study the line continues to be operated at a loss. The route covers 6.8 miles and caters to a population of about 4,600 in Coventry and Mansfield. From this figure it was estimated hiat each person made but 40 annual trips on the trolley. The present fare one-way is 20 cents.

W. L. Barnett, counsel for the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad company was the next speaker. He was followed by H. Price of the traffic department of the New England Transportation company who said that his company anticipate application to the commission of an amendment to its present charter, including a schedule for the convenience of residents along the Coventry route now covered by trolley and calls for a fare of 25 cents between the two terminals. Working people and school children are to be particularly provided for in the application.

Dr. W. L. Higgins proposed a conference of the business men of Coventry and Willimantic with Connecticut company officials to go over the situation and consider a proposal that the trolley fare be increased to 50 or 65 cents round trip so as to make the line pay.

In the afternoon the hearing on petition of Mayor John C. Tracy and thirteen others for the restoration of passenger train No. 111 to leave Willimantic at 7.07 a. m. and of Train No. 126 to leave Hartford for this city at 5.10 p. m., was taken up. Judge William A. Arnold appeared for the petitioners and presented the facts contended by them. He claimed that the removal of Train 111 was unnecessary and worked a hardship on commuters especially in the winter time. He did not believe that a motor coach was the equal to a train for winter traveling, especially early in the morning Mayor John C. Tracy, President C. L. Beach of C. A. C., Storrs, Representative A. Linn Weatherhead, Sheriff Charles A. Gates, President James P. Bath of the Rotary club, William E. Lutton, a commuter, Rev. W. C. Norris, Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, Manager Daniel F. Daley of the Nathan Hale hotel, Postmaster Frank M. Smith, Charles F. Risedorf and Valentine L. Murphy were among those to speak in favor of the train restoration.

First Selectman Joseph N. Clarke of Columbia and Charles Lindholm of Andover said that those communities preferred the operation of a bus as it was more accessible to most of the residents of those towns than the train, however, as long as the morning bus schedule was maintained.

For the New England Transportation company and the New Haven railroad, Attorney W. L. Barnett, General Passenger Agent H. Price of the New England Transportation company and W. C. Read of the New Haven railroad and C. A. Mitchell, superintendent of the Hartford division of the railroad, explained the status of their respective companies. The morning train was said to have been wholly a losing proposition, especially since the advent of the bus line which was a competitor for many years. The railroad has recently secured ownership of the bus line and is endeavoring to avoid duplication of service by eliminating the more costly form of transportation, which in this case happened to be the train.

Including certain overhead it cost about $1.20 per mile to operate the train, while the receipts were only on an average of 70 cents. The bus can be operated for about 30 cents per mile. Commissioner Higgins asked as to the advisibility of a compromise by placing a gas-electric car on the railroad line but drew faint response. Such a car can be operated at about 50 cents per mile.

DEMOCRATS TAKE FLING AT REPUBLICAN PARTY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 23—Democrats thronged the town hall tonight for an enthusiastic rally at which two noted political speakers were heard, the principal spokesman being ex-Congressman Patrick B. O'Sullivan of Orange. The other speaker was Hon. James W. Wellington, of Sprague, candidate for the senate from the shoestring district The speakers generally denied the allegations of economic accomplishment made by the Republican party. Congressman O'Sullivan went on to refute statements of the great financial achievements in Connecticut during the past administration by giving figures to prove that the per capita cost of government in this state was one of the highest in the union. The last general assembly was also attacked for usurping the rights of the people in passing special legislative measures without first consulting and securing the endorsement of the communities which these acts affected. The administration of Governor Baldwin was pointed to with pride. The speakers made note of the excellent choice of executive material appearing on the democratic state ticket for the coming elections and strongly urged a straight democratic vote. A salvo of applause greeted the local candidates as they were recommended for election. Among them were, James J. Lee, candidate for judge of probate, Frank P. Fenton and Aime J. Martineau, candidates for representatives, Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, chairman of the democratic town committee, presided at the rally.

REPUBLICAN RALLY HELD LAST NIGHT AT WESTERLY

(Special to the Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 23—About 150 persons attended the republican rally this evening, held at the town hall. Principals of the republican party were stressed by the several speakers of the evening, several of whom came from out of town.

The speakers were Richard S. Aldrich, candidate for re-election to congress from the second Rhode Island congressional district; George B. Utter of Westerly, Benjamin F. McLyman, Mrs. Roy Rawlings of Richmond, R. I., Samuel H. Davis of Westerly and Charles Sisson of Providence.

GRANT PERMIT TO ERECT ICE CREAM MFG. PLANT

(Special to the Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 23—At the meeting of the Westerly zoning board held tonight in the council chamber in the town building the application of Edwin Barber, Jr., was received for permission to erect and maintain an ice cream manufacturing plant in a residential area on the north side of Pasadena avenue, Watch. He was granted a five year permit following a hearing of some length.

The application of Ralph G. Bliven for permission to erect and maintain two commercial advertising signs on the northerly side of the Watch Hill road, about 1,500 feet south of Thompson's corner, was laid on the table.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON SMOKED FISH MONOPOLY

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(AP)—The proceedings brought by State Attorney General Ottinger to dissolve the so-called "smoked fish monopoly" ended today in an agreement between representatives of the attorney general and attorneys for the Universal Trading association. The latter consented to entry of a judgment of dissolution and annulment and the issuance of an injunction to restrain further law violations.

Action against the corporation was begun by Attorney General Ottinger early last summer when he learned that many dealers in smoked fish had entered into a combination to control the market.

Firms and individuals named as stockholders and owners of the Universal Trading corporation were the Atlantic and Pacific Packing Co., Ltd., The Central Smoked Fish Co., Inc., Abraham I. Kanes, William Oxenberg and Sam Oxenberg, trading as Oxenberg Brothers, and the Greenport Smoked Fish Co., Inc.

Twenty four extra trains, 12 each way, will be run by the New Haven railroad to care for players and spectators at the Yale-Army game Saturday.

The trunk of a large apple tree which he was cutting down struck and killed Edward F. Welch, 70, of New Haven.

some of the best bread makers in New England began buying Dietz Bread

FOR they recognized in this loaf the same choice of ingredients, the same scrupulous care they had given to their own baking.

They found that this troublesome, time-taking task could be delegated to Dietz without in any way lowering their standards. Dietz Bread was at home with the other well-cooked foods on their tables.

During forty years the high reputation of Dietz Bread has not changed. For no loaf of bread bearing the Dietz name has ever been made of inferior ingredients or with relaxed care.

Every baking has been an attempt to realize the Dietz ideal—perfection in appearance, in nutriment, in texture and in flavor.

Now the new Dietz Bread—Better than ever!

THIS ideal Mr. Walter Dietz had before him in purchasing the Dolly Madison bakery and bringing it under his personal control and management.

For Mr. Dietz believes that the independent, locally owned and personally supervised bakery is best equipped to produce the kind of fine bread which will satisfy New England housewives.

In reorganizing the bakery, Mr. Dietz has had an opportunity to introduce improvements which make Dietz Bread better than ever.

A marvelous new type of oven, for one thing, which marks an epoch in bread baking. It insures more even, perfect baking of the delicious loaves and it makes possible two bakings a day so that Dietz Bread now goes to your grocer fresh from the oven twice each day.

RICHER, crustier, more evenly browned, with a texture fine and firm, yet so soft and fresh it seems to melt in your mouth—that's the new Dietz Bread in its new red and green wrapper with the homey farmhouse and New England maples. Get it from your grocer today and watch the pleased look on your husband's face when he eats it. Dolly Madison Baking Corporation, Springfield, Mass.

DANIELSON

DOUBT IF ALABAMA DEAL WILL AFFECT DANIELSON

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 28—No information was available here Thursday as to what effect the establishing of a plant by the Connecticut Mills, Inc., at Albany-Decartur, Ala., will have on the Danielson activities of this corporation, in which numbers of local people are stockholders and which has several hundred employes here.

It was stated at the mills Thursday afternoon that President Obediah Butler is not expected to return from the south before Saturday and nothing more than has appeared in press despatches is definitely known here about the Alabama deal, although the understanding at the mill is that the deal is closed.

A special despatch from Albany-Decartur said that Mr. Butler signed contracts on Tuesday, as president of the Connecticut Mill acompany, with the Textile Realty company of that place which assures the construction of a $1,000,000 fabric plant, fully equipped. The building itself is to cost $600,000, is to be of concrete, brick and steel and three stories in height. Its dimensions are given as 240 by 140. Under the contract the Realty company is to construct the building, while the mill company is to equip it with machinery, of a value of $400,000. The Connecticut Mills will lease the mill for fifteen years and has an option of purchase at the end of that period. The despatch quotes President Butler as saying that his company had decided to locate in Alabama because of its nearness to the raw material market. Construction of the new mill is to begin at once.

Some time since stockholders of the Connecticut Mills company were notified that the directors had voted to establish a plant at some point in the south, that the manufacturing position of the corporation might be improved. Meanwhile Mr. Butler has visited many points in the south looking for suitable locations and listening to proposals that chambers of commerce and other such bodies have had to offer as inducements for the Connecticut Mills to locate a plant in their communities. The unidentified Alabama towns get the plum, Albany and Decartur are also together, the former having a population of about 7,600, while the latter has about 5,000 people. Their location is in the northern part of the state on the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

Pending the confirmation of President Butler or any other local official of the mill company, there was a story here Thursday to the effect that the greater part of the machinery that is to go into the Albany-Decatur plant will come out of the Globe mills at Fall River, a unit of the Connecticut Mills organization, and that very little machinery will be removed from the big mill here. At the present time the Danielson mill is busy with a good line of looms and should this condition continue the hope exists that the company will continue to operate here indefinitely. It will be observed that the proposed new mill is not a tremendous structure as mills go, being only 240 by 140. This is regarded as another reason why the plant here may run on for years as the Connecticut Mills has a reputation of making a very high grade of fine fabric and a worth while product that is apt to demand the production of both the local and the Alabama mill.

PROVED THERE WAS NO CHANGING OF CASKETS

(Special to the Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 28—A strange story charged with a strange mission centered about a new grave in Holy Cross cemetery this morning. An attorney, a state police officer, two undertakers, a widower, a bereaved sister and other closely interested parties assembled in the sombre gathering place to exhume a casket containing the body of Mrs. Eva Boiselle Martin who died in New Bedford early in the month.

As much as strange as the gathering and its personnel lay back of the entire proceedings—to still forever a new circulated story that Undertaker Maurice T. Burns had taken the body of Mrs. Martin, whose home as a young woman was in Danielson, from the casket which Mr. Martin had purchased in New Bedford and placed it in a substituted casket of much cheaper quality.

Miss Mary V. Boiselle, a sister of the dead woman had been insistent that such a substitution had been made, so Mr. Burns, fearful of the effect of the story on his business, arranged Thursday morning's gathering at the cemetery and established beyond all doubt that the body was buried in the casket that Mr. Martin had purchased in New Bedford. Henry J. Proulx, a New Bedford undertaker, who prepared Mrs. Martin's body for burial and provided the casket for it, was in the party when the grave was opened Thursday morning, and identified beyond question that it was the one in which he had placed the dead woman's body in the home city. At the graveside also were Mr. Burns, Mr. Martin and Miss Boiselle, Attorney Harry E. Reed, and State Officer George Gardner.

Later Undertaker Proulx signed an affidavit that the casket was the identical one in which he had placed the body of Mrs. Martin and Miss Boiselle also signed an affidavit that her assertions about a substitution of caskets was wrong and expressing her regrets over what proved to be a very unfortunate affair, for everyone concerned.

Mrs. Martin died on October 6. Upon receiving the news of her death Miss Boiselle arranged with Mr. Burns to go to New Bedford for the body and looked at caskets at his rooms here, but concluded no agreement for one. Arriving at New Bedford, Mr. Burns found that Mr. Martin had purchased a splendid oak casket. This was explained to the Boiselle family on his return here, but somehow, even before the funeral, the story of the substituted casket began to be heard and meanwhile had become more or less common rumor. There was no course left for Mr. Burns but to clear up the matter, which was done to his complete satisfaction on Thursday.

At the home in Foster Center Thursday afternoon at one o'clock funeral services for Mrs. Mary E. Nichols, who died Sunday, were conducted by Rev. D. B. Strout of Summit, R. I., assisted by Rev. Gilbert B. Cutler of North Scituate. Burial was in the Clayville cemetery. The bearers were J. W. Bowen, Jr., Clifton Steere, Preston Brown and Lester P. Simmons. A. F. Wood was in charge of the arrangements.

Charles Heon, 78, died on the West Side Thursday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louis Auclair. Born in Canada, he had been a resident of this country for many years. Mr. Heon leaves his wife, a son, Peter, and two daughters, Mrs. Auclair and Mrs. Omer LaBarre.

Political forecasters, having their innings just now, are prone to believe that there will be a light vote in Killingly next Tuesday unless the party organizations do some real hustling to get the people to the polls. The average voter appears to have very little interest in the state election this year—an off year. He doesn't talk about and apparently doesn't care much about it. There is no outstanding issue to hold attention.

President Coolidge's radio broadcast from Washington Thursday night came through splendidly from Washington. It is of interest that many radio fans have come to know the president's voice so well over the air that they immediately recognize it if they happen to pick up a station through which he may be heard, even though they hear no announcements in advance relative to his talking.

That necessary repairs may be made, the electric light company will on Sunday, October 30, from 12:30 to 4:30 p. m. shut off the power on the Danielson power line in Central Village, Plainfield, Mohaup, Oneco. From 1:30 to 4:30 the commercial power will be shut off in Danielson, Dayville, Goodyear, Attawaugan and Ballouville.—Adv.

Arthur A. Dean, collector of personal taxes in Killingly, has given notice that these taxes are due this year on November 15, and that the public will have until December 15 to pay them.

Ransom Liner of North Main street recently was made a deacon of Mt. Calvary church at Norwich.

Once more—as was done last year— it becomes necessary to warn the public against buying Christmas "seals" with the idea that one is helping the local workers laboring for funds for the eradication of tuberculosis. There are seals and seals. Last year children were about in droves selling pretty little stickers that many erred in believing were the real Christmas seals. These stickers will again be on sale this year. The children that sell them get 40 per cent of the proceeds. The selling is entirely legal, but they should not be confused with the real Christmas seal, sold for the benefit of humanity and not merely for decorative purposes.

Killingly high school students will go to Putnam this afternoon to watch the football team in its first game of the season with the Putnam high team opposing.

A recent death was that of Charles Kempton of Pomfret, formerly a resident of Dayville. Mr. Kempton was 51 years of age.

Rev. Richard D. Hatch, Brooklyn, new pastor of St. Philip's church at Putnam, will conduct the service there on Sunday.

Consideration is being given to a plan for the construction of a small addition to the plant of the Brookbell Manufacturing company on Mechanic street.

It will be news to a great many that Vermont is one of the apple markets for Windham county, yet 350 barrels of the fruit was recently shipped from Hampton to that state.

Stanley Allen and Robert Fulton of this place were numbered among the boys who recently attended the Y. M. C. A. groups conference at Waterbury, with attendance from all parts of the state. Arthur Coper and Herbert Parker were in attendance from Brooklyn.

The work of setting poles on the line to Hampton for the Danielson and Plainfield Gas and Electric company was completed Thursday. The prospect is for Hampton to get electric service in about one month.

If the stories one hears are to be believed, Danielson is getting its share of re-distilled denatured alcohol, a death dealing liquid that finds its way into various concoctions passing in these arid days as liquor.

An illustrated lecture is planned as one feature of the Americanization institute to be held in the town hall for three days during November.

Arthur C. Forsythe of Springfield is spending several days with friends in Danielson.

Mrs. W. A. Tanner has returned recently from a visit with friends in Pittsfield.

Some business men here have expressed their willingness to close their stores at noon on Armistice day, but it appears that there is no general agreement on this matter as yet.

PUTNAM

PLANNING TO HOLD ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SALE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 28.—The women of the Second Congregational church are planning for an elaborate Christmas sale at the church. There will be several tables of candy and Christmas gifts may be obtained. For the children there will be a white elephant table. The ladies will serve a delicious supper; in the evening Miss Mildred Bess Anderton of Boston will read a play, "Cousin Kate". This will be one of the social events of the early winter.

The many Putnam friends of Michel Daigle were pleased to learn that he was elected secretary of the Franco-American society of America.

The monthly meeting of A. Wilder Merriam camp, U. S. W. V., was held in the chamber of commerce rooms Wednesday. State Inspector Connore of Rockville and Comrade Bacon of Danielson were present and made addresses.

The October meeting of the Ladies' guild of St. Philip's church is to be held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Mellor, 117 Grove street.

Putnam Aerie of Eagles is to give a whist and dance in their hall on Providence street next month. This is the first social gathering of this order this season. The committee have plans for many more during the season.

Stuart B. Collins, son of Rev. P. S. Collins, is a patient in Bryn Mawr hospital, Pa., with a broken leg. The injury was received while working for the Vollmer Tree Surgery Co., in Philadelphia. Rev. P. S. Collins, for many years, was pastor of the Eastford Baptist church.

The committee in charge is making preparations for the annual meeting of the Windham County Farmers' association which is to be held in Odd Fellows' hall in Putnam on Wednesday, Nov. 10. Dr. Charles North of New York city has been secured as the speaker of the occasion, a fact over which the committee feels rather jubilant as Dr. North is very much in demand. He has a country-wide reputation as an exceptionally entertaining and brilliant speaker, and also as one who has a thorough knowledge of the topics that appeal to the farmer.

To become an Odd Fellow in this community it is becoming customary for the three degrees to be conferred by three different lodges. The first degree is given by Israel Putnam lodge of Putnam, the second degree by Quinebaug lodge of Danielson, and the third by Protection lodge of Central Village. This permits the working teams of the three lodges to develop exceptional proficiency in the degree assigned to them. There is no lodge at Plainfield but as candidates who make up the class of 25 that are to be given the first degree this week come from different parts of the county it has been determined that it will be for the greatest convenience of everyone to hold the meeting there.

REV. DAVID P. HATCH RESIGNS AT WOODSTOCK

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 28.—Rev. David P. Hatch has tendered his resignation as minister of the Congregational church at Woodstock, the resignation to take effect Feb. 1, 1927. The announcement will be received with general regret in that town. Mr. Hatch came there about a year ago and has filled the post so satisfactorily that his leaving will be greatly deplored.

Captain Clinton Williams of Woodstock has returned from an extended visit to friends at Block Island.

In the show window of a local retail store is a potato that weighs three pounds. The grower is J. H. Johnson of Thompson. Farmers in this community report that the average size and weight of potatoes this year is much above the normal.

Rev. Henry E. Hodge, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, and Rev. James F. English, pastor of the Second Congregational church, will exchange pulpits next Sunday. This is an annual custom, and it sometimes takes place twice a year.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mabel Franklin, who was found dead by her daughters upon their returning home from a trip down-town last Saturday afternoon, were held Wednesday at the M. E. church, the pastor, Rev. N. B. Burton, officiating. Burial was in Grove street cemetery.

The October meeting of the auxiliary of Oscar W. Swenson post, American Legion, at North Groevenordale, was in charge of the president, Mrs. Eugenia Prince. It was announced that plans are all completed for the Halloween dance.

Miss Yvonne Dion, chairman of the activities committee, announced the appointment of the following aides: Checking, Mrs. Rose Crotau, Mrs. Lucy Duhamel and Mrs. Juliette Blanchette; refreshments, Miss Blanche Touchette, Miss Mollie McKeon and Mrs. Bertha Croteau; tickets, Mrs. Svea Gariepy, Miss Yvonne Dion, Miss Martha McKeon and Miss Mildred Prince.

In the whist tournament that followed the regular business meeting prizes were won by Mrs. Florentine Laflamme and Miss Mildred Prince.

Rev. M. J. Creeger of Hazardville will be here Friday evening and make an address at the M. E. church. There will be talks on Bible study and life work preceding the address by Mr. Creeger.

HEIRESS IS WORKING FOR 31 CENTS AN HOUR

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28 (AP)—Miss Elinor Dorrance, socially prominent and heiress to a large fortune, is working for 31 cents an hour in the plant of the Campbell Soup company, Camden, N. J., of which her father, John T. Dorrance, is president.

Miss Dorrance, who made her debut last November is 18 and returned recently from Paris where she took a course of training at the Sorbonne. She is employed in the cashier's department at the soup plant and punches the time clock at 8.30 each morning the same as other clerks.

The young woman explained today that she was tired of having no definite occupation and was anxious to earn something of the business world. When she learns the details in the cashier's office she plans to ask for a transfer to another department.

"If I want to work, isn't that my business?" asked she. "My father and I have ideas of our own as to a girl's ultimate mission in life."

Mr. Dorrance, who is also a director of the Pennsylvania railroad, appeared pleased with the step his daughter had taken.

STONINGTON

The Girl Scouts of the borough held their meeting in the community house on Monday evening and several were awarded the merit badges won during the summer at Camp Hoffman and at home. Captain Charlotte Carrington has charge of the scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bindloss are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. James Gaffrey of California.

The Fellowship of Calvary church met in the chapel Wednesday evening for a business session and social time. Miss Elizabeth Carrington was in charge.

The choir of the Second Congregational church held its rehearsal Wednesday evening in place of the regular Friday night practice as a social is to be held in the parlors this (Friday) evening.

The members of Calvary Church Social chain were entertained Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. T. W. Cutler and Mrs. Catherine Palen as hostess.

This being Girl Scout Week, each day brings some duty for each girl to do. Today (Friday) each scout prepares and serves the dinner for her mother.

The members of Ruth chapter, No. 44, O. E. S., held a Halloween social in their rooms in the Fort hall, Wednesday evening. A portion of the evening was spent playing whist. Refreshments were served and dancing followed.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. Henderson will close their summer residence in Main street today (Friday) and will leave for New York. Saturday they will sail for Paris, where they will spend the winter.

The Thursday night lecture was held as usual in the chapel of the Second Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hyde, Theodore Hyde and Dr. and Mrs. James Weeks attended the fall meeting of the Congregational church and ministers, held at North Stonington, Wednesday.

Mrs. Anthony Bousa has been confined to the house for several days, ill with a grip cold.

Henry Muller has returned to his home on High street after spending a few days with Bridgeport relatives.

Mrs. Philip Sheffield was in Westerly Thursday afternoon.

Martin T. Divine of Westerly was in the borough Thursday.

Mrs. Gene Bryon has returned to Westerly after a short visit in the borough.

James G. Ketcham of Boston was a business caller in town Thursday.

The sophomore class of Stonington High school held a Halloween social in High School hall last evening. Each student had the privilege of inviting a guest. It was largely attended. The committe in charge served refreshments.

ARBITRATING WAGES ON EASTERN RAILROADS

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)—Figures were introduced today before the board of arbitration in the wage dispute involving eastern railroads, to show that the basic wage rates of laborers, bricklayers and plasterers have increased since 1921, while the wage rates for railroad conductors have fallen from 80.5 cents to 77 cents an hour.

The board is attempting to settle the wage dispute growing out of the demand made by approximately 91,000 trainmen and conductors for wage increases of about 20 per cent.

J. H. Evans, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, attorney for the Order of Railway Conductors, introduced the comparative wage figures, which he said were supplied by the bureau of labor statistics of the United States department of labor for the years 1921 to 1926. In that period according to the figures he introduced, the basi hourly rates of conductors fell from 80.5 to 70 cents while the hourly rate shown for bricklayers increased from $1.194 to $1.565 in 1926. The basic wage rate for plasterers this year, according to his figures, was $1.505 an hour, an increase of 37.7 cents over 1921, while the rate for laborers in 1926 was 55.1 cents, an increase of 9.1 cents over 1921.

KEPT INFORMED OF WHAT IS GOING ON IN MARS

LONDON, Oct. 28—(AP)—Communicating with Mars may be nothing new after all, for Dr. Mansfield Robinson, a London attorney, who became a telepathist years ago, declares that he has a friend in Mars. Oomaruru, a woman, from whom he has received messages and who has kept him informed of what is going on on the mystery planet.

Last night Dr. Robinson handed into the Central Radio office a message for Mars. It was composed of two words, "Opestinipitia secomba," and was prefixed with three "M's." It was explained to the sender that delivery could not be guaranteed. But this was agreeable, the doctor being satisfied to take the risk.

Today Dr. Robinson announced that he had received a message from Oomaruru, presumably in reply.

"Oomaruru," he explained, "is a particular friend of the director of Mars' largest wireless station. She has just explained to me why only the sign "MM" came through last evening. She said that as their message was in English and with English signs, it would not convince scientists, so the Martians decided to cease at the introductory signal."

Thus far the telepathist has not considered it necessary to explain the meaning of the words of his message of last night—"Opestinipitia secomba"—for mere mortals here, for, he said: "Oomaruru surely understands.

Industry without knowledge is better than knowledge without industry.

A shaving cream that's changing the shaving habits of the world

Palmolive Shaving Cream is a scientific creation. We worked 18 months to perfect it; made up and discarded 130 formulas before we hit the right one.

We started by asking 1000 men what they most desired in a shaving soap. Then met their exactments one by one. It is different in formula, action and effect from any other shaving preparation known.

5 unique advantages over old-type soaps, creams, powders

In 5 distinct ways, this unique preparation excels over all others. You'll note them all first time you use it. It has won millions of men from old-time preparations. Its success is a national sensation. Men are literally flocking to its use.

1—It multiplies itself in lather 250 times.
2—It softens the beard in one minute.
3—The lather maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes on the face.
4—The extra strong bubbles support the hairs for cutting, where weak bubbles let them fall down.
5—The blend of palm and olive oils brings fine after-effects. It makes the cream also a lotion.

Accept TODAY

Now to win you over to a trial, we make an offer which we believe is the most remarkable any manufacturer ever made to gain a fair trial for his product.

Where Thomas Dreier Lives and Works

THIS is Snug Gables, at Winchester, Mass., where Thomas Dreier lives the philosophy expressed in his writings. The philosophy of beauty, of good-will, of peace, happiness and content. The philosophy of The Golden Rule in business. The philosophy that this is a mighty good world, and that most men are better than they willingly admit. From here go out the countless inspirations which are helping to bring business to the new-day basis.

Snug Gables was built for his work-shop as well as his home. Here both Mr. and Mrs. Dreier carry out the principles they preach.

One of Mrs. Dreier's philosophies is genial hospitality. Hundreds of well-known people come to bask in this atmosphere. The late Lord Leverhume was one of the frequent guests. All go away with new ideas on well-directed living. Also on scientific housekeeping, where every item has its studied purpose.

One of the factors in this ideal regime is the serving of La Touraine (Extra) Coffee. At every breakfast, every dinner, it is served in the perfect way. And Mrs. Dreier says that nothing people find here receives more commendations. It fits in with all that Snug Gables is designed to typify. It is as much beyond the ordinary as everything else in this home. Let it add a delight to your home.

Interesting facts about La Touraine (Extra) Coffee

It is the largest-selling coffee in New England, the birthplace of fine coffees in America. In this home of exacting coffee critics, it is considered the supreme result of 237 years of coffee development.

It is the coffee served in many dining places famous for their coffees. In all Statler Hotels, for instance. In the magnificent Shoreland of Chicago. In countless country homes which study fine hospitality.

The blend combines the four finest coffees that grow. Each comes from a different country, each is the pride of a nation. Each derives its excellent flavor from one of the rarest soils of the earth.

Three of the coffees combined in this blend cost 50% more than ordinary coffee, and 25% more than Sao Paulo, the prize coffee of Brazil. One is so rare that only 30,000 bags are grown yearly.

The formula for this blend is a secret, carefully preserved. Coffee experts spent twenty years in perfecting it. No other blend has been made to resemble it. Those who find here their ideal flavor can find it nowhere else.

Mr. E. J. Butler, the noted coffee expert, personally tests, tastes and selects all coffees used in this blend. His duty is to maintain, without regard to cost, this premier coffee flavor. He pays any price necessary to combine in La Touraine (Extra) the maximum delights.

La Touraine (Extra) is sold direct to retail grocers. This to save middlemen's profits. It is sold in double sealed cartons, not in cans. These and other economies—about 11 cents per pound—pay for the extra quality. Thus users get this matchless coffee without a fancy price.

NO REASON AND NO TIME FOR APATHY

Except in some [illegible] there are better conditions in [illegible] than the present. [illegible] have been made to the extent that interest has been awakened.

This is open to the interpretation that the people are satisfied with the kind of government and the character of representation it has been getting and are willing and content to let well enough alone. It would be a libel on the voters of this city to say that. The reason should not be sought to extend to condemning away from the polls on the belief that there was no real issue presented in the election.

The fact is that in [illegible] such state campaigns as have [illegible] branches of [illegible] Democratic Republican and Congressional [illegible] that the state has [illegible] business and professional [illegible] section of Governor [illegible] and the other state officers, from Norwich [illegible] Representative [illegible] Senator [illegible] and Judge of the [illegible] Court.

[illegible] was a gentleman and an [illegible] the old school, whose influence [illegible] Connecticut journalism has [illegible] through the American duration [illegible] when prominence has also [illegible] to the editorships of [illegible] Clark, of the Hartford [illegible] whose death recently occurred [illegible] Norris G. Osborne, now editor [illegible] New Haven Journal Courier.

[illegible] was an ardent Yale [illegible] the other two, and a [illegible] sports. It was in fact [illegible] that he suffered the [illegible] in his death. He [illegible] American in straight channels [illegible] not only an excellent [illegible] and much quoted [illegible] well printed one. [illegible] Connecticut journalism [illegible] a distinct loss, while the [illegible] be edited and the city [illegible] and so long cannot fail [illegible] a long time the removal of [illegible].

THE VALUE OF ADVERTISING

In every [illegible] recognition of [illegible] advertising [illegible] ways. Advertising [illegible] found in [illegible] it has grown steadily and tremendous amounts are expended to get it every year. If it did not produce results it would not have undergone such development. If it were [illegible] would be no demand for [illegible].

Thus there [illegible] for the statement by Professor [illegible] American Association of Advertising Agencies that advertising is the [illegible] of trade." That is no secret and there is no mystery about it. It is the logical outcome of [illegible] part which it has played in [illegible] useful development [illegible] system and [illegible] come largest [illegible] Mass production [illegible] where there is a [illegible] [illegible] has been [illegible] through the [illegible] ing."

While advertising is relied upon for giving information to those for whom it is intended there is a growing disposition upon those for whom it is intended, the whole reading public, to rely heavily upon advertising. It is a vital factor in spreading business news over a wide territory. Contrast the advertiser and non advertiser and see if advertising isn't the life of trade.

AN UNWELCOME PRACTICE

Many things may be listed under the head of nuisances but none will probably be more general than the practice of certain people in sending out on approval packages of neckties, handkerchiefs or Christmas cards. This has reference of course to the unsolicited packages, some of which may contain return postage and some may not, only to be followed up by a letter asking for an early remittance, even though in many instances the package has been returned.

This is the season when such concerns get the list of persons from various sources and pepper the town. It would seem that those who engage in it must be convinced that they can thrust their goods upon a large number who submit to the solicitation as the easiest way out. Many more it is believed are disposed to deal anything but gentle with the goods thus offered. They are in a quandary if no return postage is enclosed. Such insistence are nothing more than an impertinence carrying with it no responsibility on the part of the person receiving the package to pay the return postage and yet many of them respond because it is the sooner over.

The indignation should be felt by upon receiving such packages which they did not order and do not want is only natural. There's enough to do without bothering with the receiving and more ways for Christmas funds without buying something which isn't wanted. It furnishes business for the postoffice department but think what it would mean if all engaged in the sending of similar goods should use the same method. Those who have used such methods soon find themselves unmolested.

THE NEWINGTON HOME

The home for crippled children at Newington is not a new institution. It has been [illegible] for many years and has done [illegible] service in a most important [illegible] It is an institution which [illegible] to aid, but it also depends [illegible] extent upon contributions [illegible] on its work of aiding [illegible] youngsters.

[illegible] with such institutions [illegible] unable to take care of all that want to get the benefit of its help, and it is obliged to turn away many children who are incurable. [illegible] nevertheless greatly [illegible] need of proper care.

[illegible] behalf of such an institution cannot fail to reach out to those [illegible] are always interested in the unfortunate, and particularly the children who need such care and such treatment as will make them as useful [illegible] possible. It is vital that the [illegible] treatment should be [illegible] before it is too late and in [illegible] such a service it can be appreciated what it is doing for the future [illegible] the state. Contrast the situation [illegible] there were no such efforts put [illegible] and if the children susceptible [illegible] cure or betterment were neglected just because of [illegible] conditions and [illegible] surrounding them.

[illegible] of the home point out in [illegible] a need of added facilities [illegible] is going to meet [illegible] appeal cannot fail [illegible] home to the great number [illegible] and the financial [illegible] to the betterment of [illegible] a much greater number. [illegible] and administered institution [illegible] and such a record of accomplishment [illegible] its strengthens each and [illegible] Worthy opportunities [illegible] relief are still to be found [illegible].

CHARLES F. CHAPIN

[illegible] the celebrating and rejoicing that accompanied the opening of the [illegible] the Waterbury American-Republican [illegible] was [illegible] sudden in the death of [illegible] Chapin, 45 years editor [illegible] Mr. Chapin practically his entire [illegible] devoted to this newspaper [illegible] of which he had [illegible] ownership. [illegible] there are who [illegible] entitled to remain at [illegible] so long a period but it [illegible] to job suiting the man [illegible] man being the right one [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] was a gentleman and an [illegible] the old school, whose influence [illegible] Connecticut journalism has [illegible] through the American duration [illegible] when prominence has also [illegible] to the editorships of [illegible] Clark, of the Hartford [illegible] whose death recently occurred [illegible] Norris G. MASCULINE EFFICIENCY

"Say, did you ever in all your life know anything like the slowness of the last hour at this job we got?" yawned Gwendolyne, the golden-haired cashier.

The crowds in the streets were thinning. Out in front of the green marble onyx and plate glass pagoda two men were switching off the lights telling the world that here was to be seen Mrs. Winifred Hudnut Valentine in Why I Divorced Him, along with the world's best jazz orchestra, the world's best comedians, the world's best acrobatic dancer and an assortment of other world's bests.

Inside the pagoda the two tired cashiers watched their watches and noted that the observed moment tarrieth even as the water boileth not in the pot.

"I'll say I did," wearily agreed the dark-haired Susy, as she languidly arranged coins in piles of dollars, and currency in fives, tens and ones. "It's a good deal like men and women, more different than you think—in a way you don't expect if you know what I mean."

Followed a pause, then—

"You got any men where you live?" queried Gwendolyn.

"Brother-in-law—"

"Like 'im?"

"Well enough; kinda nice an' then again kinda not."

"Bet he makes trouble enough for your sister and all."

"Oh, well he's a man—lays his things down any old where—clean shirt for a hour, gets hot; takes it off, throws it down—'nother clean shirt—never thinks how many she has to iron—"

"Yes, they aren't what you might call so gosh awful considerate—"

"She got wore out with him not so long ago—said she never would iron a shirt for 'im again—let 'im do 'em his own self and try it a while—"

"Gee, I'd a liked to see the shirts that man done."

YOUR HEALTH

SIGNIFICANCE OF ABDOMINAL PAIN IN CHILDREN

With mothers the problem of knowing whether the symptoms of abdominal pain occurring in children are serious is often a perplexing one.

Pain anywhere in the abdomen may be a serious symptom or it may be only functional. It may be due to faulty diet, or to food which has become spoiled in preserving, or to food which was not thoroughly ripened. Usually the history of the child's diet gives an inkling, at least, as to what may be causing the abdominal pain.

When a child is taken sick after eating bad food, for instance, ice cream, melons, green apples, etc., or after he has been overeating, vomiting usually occurs within a few hours. Often, after the child has expelled the food which has made him ill, he will feel all right; and if in the night, will immediately go off in normal sleep.

It is strange, but a fact, that most of children's sickness of this character seems to come at night. This may possibly be due to the fact that the child wishes to play as much as possible before he goes to bed, and he actually goes to bed with a stomach full of food which is only partially digested.

Norwich Produce Market

Furnished by the Connecticut Commissioner of Agriculture.

Apples continue to be offered freely and dealers are cooperating to make Apple week a success. Western box apples are offered to a limited extent only and find a poor demand. California table grapes remain steady. New York Concords are offered freely and are slightly easier in the 2 qt. baskets while natives are practically off of the market.

Beets, carrots and other roots are offered freely with only a moderate demand. Cabbage and cauliflower remain steady while onions and potatoes are firm and sweet potatoes easy. But few lima beans are being offered and those none too good.

Fresh eggs continue scarce and all grades show some advance in price. Poultry remains steady and butter firm.

Meats remain practically steady and while the grain market appears slightly firmer there are no changes in the prices.

ADVISES REALTORS TO HAVE ARBITRATION BOARDS

Thomas N. Cooke, president of the Rotary club and director of the chamber of commerce in Greenwich, was elected president of the Connecticut Association of Real Estate boards at the final session of the second annual convention of the association held in Hartford the last two days. Mr. Cooke is a former president of the real estate board of his town and was general chairman of the first annual convention of the Connecticut organization held a year ago in Stamford. He succeeds Thomas D. Faulkner, of Hartford as president. Charles B. Curtis, of Norwalk, was re-elected treasurer, and Louis St. C Burr, of Hartford, was re-elected executive secretary. Theodore F. Nuhn of Waterbury was chosen by the association for vice-president to succeed Mr. Cooke.

The speakers of Thursday morning went into discussions on city planning and zoning, arbitration and the prevention of waste in time and money by settling cases through arbitration boards out of court, developing and holding salesmen, and the personel ownership of homes. Thomas Adams, general director plans and surveys, New York city showed the necessity of planning a large region for many years in advance to avoid evils which once established cannot be remedied and urged a metropolitan county park system for Connecticut. He stressed the importance of linking city, town and country plans together as one.

Judge Moses H. Grossman, of New York, described in detail the work of the arbitration boards throughout the country, heartily supported by the American Bar association. He showed how the delays, the high cost and the many technicalities of court procedure, could be eleminated and asked the realtors to endorse such methods, help put a bill through the next Connecticut legislature providing for an arbitration clause in contracts, and then adopt such methods among themselves.

Edward J. Crawford, representative of C. F. Noyes & Company, New York city, and a native of Norwich, told of the methods used by one of the leading real estate brokers to retain his good men. Dr. George W. Hinsdale concluded the program with his subject, "Own Your Own Home."

Eight five-minute speakers from various parts of the state entered into an oratorical competition after luncheon for the T. D. Faulkner prize-speaking cup. Each man tried to give a better impression of his own city. The contenders were George W. Hull, of Enfield, Joseph Cunniff, of Waterbury, A. L. Maddock, of Hartford, F. E. Howes of Meriden, Harry G. Hancock, of New Britain, Thomas H. Cox of New Haven, Archa W. Coit, of Norwich and Herbert S. Weed of Stamford. The judges were George S. Stevens, G. S. Tucker and Clark Belden, secretary Connecticut chamber of commerce.

The Albert H. Howe attendance cup was awarded to the Norwich board, which had a percentage of 76.63 on basis of number present times mileage.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Catherine Joubert.

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Joubert were held Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock at her home on Norwich avenue, Taftville, followed by a requiem high mass in Sacred Heart church at 10 o'clock. Rev. Henri Chagnon officiated at the services in the church and the musical part of the service was in charge of Miss Alice Duchette, organist. There were many beautiful floral tributes and many relatives and friends were in attendance.

Burial took place in St. Mary's cemetery, where the committal service was read by Fr Chagnon. The bearers were Clement and John Joubert and William and Raphael Lebar. The funeral arrangements were in charge of George G. Grant, of Taftville.

Andrew C. Lathrop

There was a large attendance at the funeral of Andrew C. Lathrop held at his late home in Lebanon Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The impressive services were conducted by Rev. Theodore Bachelor of Providence, R. I., a close friend of Mr. Lathrop and of the family. A solo, "Face to Face," was rendered by Mrs F. N. Taylor, accompanied by Mrs. F. A. Burgess of Lebanon. There were beautiful floral forms from members of the family, comprising roses, carnations and chrysanthemums, a pillow from Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Lathrop, carnations from Mrs. Bertha Lyman, and chrysanthemums from Arthur W. Lathrop. There were also many beautiful floral pieces from relatives and friends, his college fraternity, Lebanon grange and Goshen Community club.

The bearers were Elmer and Clarence Geer, Alden T. Bunyan, Charles Kramer, Edward H. McCall, Jr., and William Gerhardt. Mr. Lathrop was a member of Beta-Chi-Sigma fraternity of Boston university, C. L. A. and an ex-officer in the Lebanon grange and member of Goshen Community club.

Classmates and fraternity brothers from Boston, also relatives and friends from Hartford, Jewett City, Norwich, New London, Columbia and Colchester were present at the funeral.

A very beautiful tribute was received by the parents from Dean Warren of Boston university, C. L. A.: My dear friends, on behalf of the College of Liberal Arts I send you my deepest sympathy in the loss of your son. Whatever your disappointment at the sad interruption of his plans and however you miss his personal presence you have the enduring memory of his worthy character and his unselfish purpose.

"SHEEP-PATH" IS QUESTION FOR JUDGE IN MASON'S ISLAND INJUNCTION SUIT

Whether a piece of earth on Mason's Island, called by some witnesses a "sheep-path" and by others a highway, was always a traveled road or not, is a question to be decided by Judge Newell Jennings in the injunction and $2,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Helen E. Dodge of Mason's Island and Brooklyn, N. Y., against the Mason's Island company and Dr. Gurdon S. Allyn, in which the evidence and arguments were concluded before Judge Jennings in the superior court at New London Thursday afternoon.

In order to secure light upon the actual situation of the property Judge Jennings went from the court house in New London to Mason's Island Thursday afternoon and when he returned to the court room heard the arguments by Attorney Arthur T. Keefe for the plaintiff, and Attorney Philip Z. Hankey for the defendant. The two attorneys had accompanied the judge on his inspection trip and the entire layout of situation at the island was gone over.

After hearing the arguments, Judge Jennings reserved decision.

Mrs. Dodge seeks an injunction restraining the defendants from using a so-called right of way on her property to which she claims they have no right, and a court order specifying that the defendants take up the 200 feet of water pipe which she alleges they have laid upon her property. She also seeks $2,000 damages.

More than 40 witnesses, ranging from men of over 80 years, to one woman who came to Mason's island as a bride many years ago, have testified about these two roads. Many of them say that there never was a road to the east of the pond and others say that there was always a road there until late years when apparently attempts had been made to obliterate even traces of it. Many of the witnesses also say that there never was a road along the so-called "sheep path" which goes over the Dodge property, others say that was the only way to travel down to the south end of the island in the old days.

JUDGE LIBBY SPEAKS ON LAW ENFORCEMENT

The weekly luncheon meeting of the Norwich Lions club was held Thursday noon at the Wauregan hotel with President William A. Anderson in the chair. The meeting opened with the singing of America and grace was said by Rev. Robert B. Day. Dr. Kopeland K. Markoff acted as song leader and Pete Ethier presided at the piano. A pleasing vocal solo was rendered by Tyler Stanton.

The Armistice day committee made a report through Joseph French and the report was accepted as one of progress. The programme committee for November will comprise John T. Barry, Dr. Kopeland K. Markoff, and Louis Fontaine.

Louis M. Crandall of the entertainment committee presented as the five minute speaker George Madden. Mr. Madden spoke on What Other Clubs are Doing. In closing he spoke of what could be done in Norwich and urged that the local club endeavor to organize a boys' band for Norwich.

Judge Arthur F. Libby gave a very instructing talk on law enforcement taking as his subject the prohibition law. He pointed out that it took a century to pass the 18th amendment. Judge Libby expressed his emphatic belief and conviction that it is the duty of every citizen to see that respect for law must be maintained and that every law once written on the book should be enforced whether the law is to our liking or not. In this government where the expression of the people can change any law they find obnoxious through the legal form of the ballot, the legal form must predominate.

Judge Libby expressed the sentiment that no citizen has a right to say this law is of my choice and the other is not to my liking, but he must obey all the laws of our republic. The judge very ably set forth that prohibition is becoming an important national issue whether we like it or not also that even as late as this spring after a congressional committee had investigated prohibition, the forces for and against prohibition stood on the proportion as in the last five years without materially gaining either way.

However in the coming election in the Senate Wadsworth, republican of New York, representing a state unstructed on votes in the selection of a president is coming out straight against prohibition and Senator Ware democrat of Pennsylvania avowedly against prohibition, the result of the coming election may make a great change in the issue for or against the Volstead act, it may also greatly influence the presidential choice in 1928.

As to the merits of the issue the judge did not imply any partisan inclination but he did say that those who claim that there is more drunkenness now than before the Volstead act went into effect simply don't know what they are talking about. He proved by statistical figures that in the years since prohibition became the law of the country the arrests for drunkenness in the cities throughout the United States nowhere reached near the number of arrests for the same offense before the 18th amendment was passed. He also cited authorities to the effect that the large increase of savings bank deposits throughout the United States since prohibition must be conceded to be due to prohibition.

Judge Libby brought his talk to a close with a simile about three visitors in a town who were looking at a nebula, the first one said that it was red, the second said it was white and the third said that it was blue. The host who was an old resident of the place told them that it was composed of all the three colors and that the color they saw was dependent upon the angle from which they look at it.

The judge received an ovation for his interesting talk. President Anderson in behalf of the club expressed the club's appreciation to the speakers for their splendid entertainment and the meeting closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

STATE OF MAINE CLUB ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

At the October meeting of the State of Maine club of eastern Connecticut which was held with a business meeting and dinner at the Wauregan hotel, the officers elected for the year are: Dr. F. L. Varney, Norwich, president; William Dean, Windham, vice president; Mrs. H. W. Hawes, Canterbury, secretary and treasurer; H. P. White, Groton, Mrs. Arthur Blaisdell, Uncasville and Mrs. F. L. Varney, Norwich, directors.

The reports of the president, secretary and treasurer were read and accepted, showing that the club is increasing in membership and attendance.

Any son or daughter of Maine, who wishes to affiliate with the club may do so through the secretary, Mrs. H. W. Hawes, Canterbury.

New Firm For Colchester.

A new concern has rented the Elgart factory in Norwich avenue, Colchester, for the manufacture of women's coats. One hundred hands will be employed at the start. Several families are expected to move to Colchester from New York city soon, who are experienced in this line of work, and it is possible that many Colchester residents will be employed that will bring the required amount for the opening, which will be next week.

Scoutmasters Roundup

Two hundred and fifty scoutmasters are expected to attend the New England roundup in Middletown, Nov. 13, which will be the first time it has been held in that city.

The convention was held last year in Dwight hall, Yale university, under the auspices of the New Haven Boy Scout council. Governor John H. Trumbull has announced his intention of speaking to the scoutmasters. Other statesmen have agreed to attend the session.

SILVER CUP AWARDED IN ESSAY PRIZE CONTEST

Between the halves of the football game Wednesday at the submarine base in the observance of Navy day, Comdr. E. F. Cutts, executive officer and acting commandant of the base, announced the winners of the school children's essay contest, and awarded the prizes. The contest was for children of New London and vicinity between the ages of 10 and 16 years of age, and the subject was The United States Navy and the Merchant Marine. Pupils of the Harbor school, New London, succeeded in capturing all three prizes, which were donated by the New London lodge of Elks. First prize, a silver loving cup, was won by little Miss Mary Higgins, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Higgins of 41 Sherman street. Second and third prizes, fountain pens, in the order named, were won by Miss Thelma Halverson, 10-year-old daughter of Lieut. and Mrs. Christopher Halverson of 25 Fowler court; and Miss Edyth S. Sharaf, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Sharaf, 72 Fair Harbour place. The winners of the contest, who, wearing the stands with their parents, were called into the field by Commander Cutts, and there amid the applause of the large crowd that attended the games, received their awards.

The judges of the contest were Comdr. M. N. Leonard, base chaplain; Judge C. C. Costello of Groton, and Secretary James G. Hammond of the chamber of commerce.

"The plans should include the holding of at least one general meeting to which parents will be invited, and such other steps as will acquaint the parents and the public generally with the work of the schools.

STORRS DEBATERS ARE TO MEET RHODE ISLAND

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 27—Announcement of the debating team of the Connecticut Agricultural college that will debate with Rhode Island State college on the prohibition issue was made here today by Milton N. Simons '27, of Hartford, president of the C. A. C. Debating club.

Edward Colacurcio '29 of Stratford, Leonard Feingold '30 of Hartford, Benjamin Rabinowitz '30 of Hartford, and Isadore Alperin '29 of Hartford, alternate, will represent the State College society on the question: "Resolved, that the Constitution of the United States should be modified so as to permit the sale and manufacture of light wines and beers." This team was selected last night when tryouts for the debate were held. Dr. Henry K. Denlinger of the history dept., and Prof. William F. Kirkpatrick of the poultry dept. acted as judges.

The debate will be held in the Storrs Community House on Nov. 18, at 8 p. m., and it will be the first debate of the year for the C. A. C. Debating club. Plans are now under way for a debate with Trinity in Hartford, the exact date of which will be announced later.

In addition to Mr. Simons, other officers of the club include Edward R. Collins '28 of Branford, vice-president; Ralph B Lyman '28 of Vernon, secretary-treasurer and William M. Krug '29, of Willimantic, manager of debate.

ARREST FOLLOWS CRASH BETWEEN THREE MACHINES

On the charge of violation of rules of the road Morris Bowers of Waterford was arrested Wednesday night by state policemen after a three cornered collision on the main highway between Colchester and New London where the Flat Rock road intercepts it.

Investigation by the state police showed, it is reported, that Bowers was driving out from the Flat Rock road onto the main highway when two other cars reached that point and all three collided. Two of the machines turned over and the other was practically demolished.

The two other cars in the crash were the machine driven by Joseph Riccata of New London which was proceeding towards that city and the machine of Miss Ruth Tinken of Salem in which Miss Edna Hicks of Oakdale was a passenger, this proceeding towards Hartford. None of the occupants of the cars suffered more than slight scratches.

C. J. Abel was one of the directors-at-large elected at the annual meeting of the New England Milk Producers association which closed it session in Boston Wednesday. George R. Little of Schaghticoke, N. Y., is president of the association.

The iron will of a selfish man is undoubtedly made from pig iron.

WATERFORD HAS CANDIDATE FOR 20TH DISTRICT SENATOR

When the republican delegates to the 20th (shoestring) district senatorial convention met in Norwich a month ago to name one of their party to represent their district in the state senate, their unanimous choice for the nomination was J. James Floyd, representative from the town of Waterford, and one of the most energetic and capable leaders in the republican party of the 20th district. If that district, which has been rock-ribbed republican for years, again brings victory to the republican party in the coming state election, it will be the first time in 40 years that the senatorial honor will have been conferred upon a nominee from the town of Waterford.

J. JAMES FLOYD

Known throughout the district for his excellent work as representative from Waterford, Mr. Floyd has, in addition to the unanimous support of the republican party, a measure of popularity among members of the democratic party who concede his fitness to represent the district. Conscientious in every movement in which he has participated, a diligent, energetic worker and modest to a fault, Representative Floyd looms up as one of the most popular candidates ever offered by the republicans of the 20th district.

During the past session of the legislature, Representative Floyd devoted the greater part of his time and energy toward legislation for the advancement of the farmer, fisherman and hunter. Prior to election to the house of representatives who was very interested in the affairs of the New London county farm bureau, for which he handled publicity matters, a task which his wide experience as a newspaper man especially fitted him for. He also handled publicity for various agricultural fairs in New London county over a period of years.

Notable in the efforts in public life is his work in behalf of educational development in rural districts. He personally organized and successfully led the campaign five years ago for erection of the new $70,000 Cohanzie school in Waterford, one of the finest structures of its type in eastern Connecticut. He has also shown a deep interest in the state's educational program.

Some of his outstanding accomplishments as a Waterford representative was the bill which he introduced for the establishment of a town court in Waterford, in accordance with the wishes of his constituents. He is now prosecuting attorney of the Waterford town court, not by his own choice, but because of pressure brought to bear upon him to accept the office and guide the court along. As prosecuting attorney he has discharged his duties with conscientious integrity that has elicited unending commendation from his townspeople.

During the last session of the legislature, Representative Floyd was a member of the powerful judiciary committee and was appointed by that body to serve on a sub-committee to investigate gasoline prices throughout the state and designated to re-draft the bill which abolished the tri-headed boxing commission and created the office of boxing commissioner. He participated in the framing of other important legislation.

Representative Floyd was educated in the public schools of New London, Bulkeley school, Middlebury college and the law school of New York university, of which he is a graduate. He is a member of the bar and a practicing attorney, and is regarded by republican leaders as entirely qualified to represent the district. His club and fraternal affiliations are numerous, including membership in New London lodge of Elks, of which he is an officer.

Reports from various sections of the district indicate that he will be elected by an overwhelming majority.

OBITUARY

Rev. George W. Christie

To acquire an education by one's own effort to give 50 years to active, effective work in the Christian ministry, to equip sons and daughters for honored positions, how many reach so high a record of achievement? Yet the Rev. George Walker Christie accomplished even more than this during his long life of service to his fellow men. Many a community will learn with sorrow today that he is with us no more. He was called to his heavenly home October 28, 1926, from his residence in South Coventry, Connecticut.

Born in 1840 at Strathmiglo, Fifeshire, Scotland, Mr. Christie came to this country at the age of fifteen. During two winters he attended a country school in Wisconsin. After a course at Berlin high school, he taught for two years and studied in the State university at Madison. He graduated in 1870 from Beloit college. He then became a member of the Yale Divinity school and preached during the summer at Orange, Vermont. After his graduation from Andover Theological seminary in 1873 he visited his native land and the continent.

On his return from Europe, Mr. Christie was ordained and installed at the Congregational church in Kittery Point, Maine. He had supplied the pulpit of this very church during his year at Andover and the Lord had greatly blessed his labors. Here in 1875 he married Sarah Pauline Aldrich, daughter of Rev. J. K. Aldrich of Rye, N. H. Later he held pastorates at Wiscasset, Pressque Isle and Old Town, Maine; Salmon Falls, Wolfeboro and Ossipee, N. H., and at Three Rivers, Amesbury and Berkley, Mass.

At the close of his work in Presque Isle, Mr. Christie took up missionary work throughout Aroostook county. He loved the task of building up small churches into steady, flourishing organizations, and of establishing in churchless communities, the preaching of the gospel. When he was offered a prosperous city parish he refused because it seemed to him that with these obscure folk lay an opportunity for higher service. The people of this scattered territory received from him something beyond sermons. His was the tender power of sympathy, which brought him to their very hearts. He devoted himself so earnestly to them that he came to be called the "Apostle of the Aroostook."

Mr. Christie's longest pastorate of eleven years was at Amesbury, where he is remembered not alone for his success at the Point Congregational church but also for his interest in the Y. M. C. A. and temperance work, his chaplainship in "Clan Fraser" and his delightful readings from the "Bonnie Briar Bush."

Berkley was his last parish. Here in 1911 he left a flourishing organization and many good friends when on account of ill health he retired to live quietly in South Coventry. As long as he was able, however, he continued to preach, supplying pulpits in the neighboring towns. It was a great sorrow to him when at length he could no longer do this on account of his failing sight. Gradually he became entirely blind.

The long period he spent in darkness was comforted by his close companionship with God, which made his life and by the devoted love of his family, a blessing to all who were with him. He leaves his wife and five sons and daughters, G. Norman Christie of Battle Lake, Minn.; Hugh G. Christie of South Coventry, Conn., Euphemia D. Christie and Sarah H. Christie of Boston and Rev. Ralph A. Christie, pastor of the First Congregational church, Middletown, Conn.

Funeral services will be held in South Coventry and the interment will take place at the family lot in Amesbury.

Rev. George W. Christie was a man whose ability might have brought him fame, whose native thrift and shrewdness might have brought him wealth; but he chose rather to spend his life in earnest, reverent, whole hearted ministry to the souls of men. The influence of that ministry—who can say how far it has reached—how far it may yet extend!

John J. Coughlin

About 5:30 o'clock Thursday morning John J. Coughlin died at his home, No. 27 Roath street, following a short illness. Mr. Coughlin was born in this city, 36 years ago, received his education here and resided in Norwich practically all his life. He was the son of the late John and Ellen Holland Coughlin.

Mr. Coughlin was a member of Norwich lodge, No. 950, L. O. O. M., and Constructional Iron Workers' union and of St. Mary's parish. He was a constructional iron worker by trade and was employed by the Norwich gas and electric department. He had also been employed by the Eastern Connecticut Power company and by the Southern New England Telephone company.

Surviving are six sisters, Mrs. Johanna Kelly and Mrs. John Barry of Norwich, Mrs. Nellie Shewchet of Bridgeport, Mrs. Edward Simmons of Gales Ferry and the Misses Mary and Elizabeth Coughlin of this city and a brother, Daniel Coughlin of this city. There are also several nieces and nephews.

C. E. HOLMES DIED SUDDENLY; WAS ACADEMY GRADUATE

Charles E. Holmes of East Hartford, district manager of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, died suddenly at his office in the Hartford-Connecticut Trust company building in Hartford, Wednesday afternoon, following a shock. He was found lying dead on the floor by Edwin H. Tucker, field representative of the company.

Mr. Holmes was born in North Stonington, February 21, 1863, a son of Esther A. (Smith) Holmes and the late Wheeler H. Holmes. He attended the Norwich Free Academy and was graduated from Yale university in 1884. He was a catcher in his senior year on the Yale baseball team.

After graduation from Yale Mr. Holmes practiced law in Nebraska for a while and later assisted in the geological survey at Badlands, South Dakota. He was in the survey work several years, and then became principal of the Howard high school in Howard, South Dakota. Later he was principal of the Sioux Falls high school, South Dakota.

He had been with the Insurance company since 1903, being first in Providence for five years; several years in Columbus, Ohio, then in New London, and later going to Hartford.

He leaves his wife, Josephine (Etter) Holmes; his mother, Mrs. Wheeler Holmes of Unionville, and two sisters, Mrs. F. D. Lawton of Unionville and Mrs. William Butler in Florida.

WM. SCRIBNER'S BROTHER IS FATALLY INJURED

Ammon Flower Scribner, a resident of Providence, brother of William Scribner, who is janitor at Slater Memorial, died in the Rhode Island city Wednesday night at 6.30 from injuries received in an automobile accident. He was struck by a machine as he was crossing the street from his home, 322 Friendship street, and died in the hospital without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Scribner will leave here this (Friday) morning to be present at the funeral which will be held at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Scribner, who was 75 years old, was struck Wednesday evening by a car, owned and operated by Herbert E. Libby, 25, salesman, of 49 Waterman avenue, Eden Park. The motorist is now under bail to appear for trial Nov. 12, on a charge of reckless driving. The medical examiner's investigation is awaited before the police substitute a charge of manslaughter they said.

Mr. Scribner was found on arrival at the hospital to have injuries about the head which indicated a fracture of the skull. He was thought to be in no immediate danger when he succumbed.

He was a native of Malden, Mass., where interment will follow the funeral services.

VOTERS SHOULD LEARN THEIR VOTING PLACES

Registrars of Voters Tyler D. Guy and Cornelius J. Downes stated Thursday night that voters who have removed from one place of residence to another during the past two years should ascertain where they must vote in the election next Tuesday. Lists of the voters by districts have been placed in the hallway at the court house for the convenience of the voters. Voters should find out in what district they are to vote before going to the polls. This will save them time and trouble on election day.

ACADEMY SQUAD DRILLED ON PLAYS EXPECTED TO BE USED BY CHAPMAN

After putting in a stiff week of practice in anticipation of a hard battle against Chapman Tech at New London on Saturday, the Academy squad will wind up the practice today with a light work-out. Coach Brigham is not under-estimating the Chapman team in the least and is to throw his entire strength against the New London team. For a week the Academy has been drilled on Tech plays and have built up a strong defense against the type of play that Chapman is expected to use.

Every man on the Academy squad is in condition and several who were out because of minor injuries are back in form and the Academy will invade the Chapman domain on Saturday with confidence. There has been little shift in the Academy team since the game with Bridgeport on Saturday. Jack Marks has been worked in the backfield during some of the practice and also at one of the wing positions. Lafleur is another of the junior varsity that has been working with the regulars in an end position. Minus the services of Capt Eddie Brewer in last week's game the Academy showed the need of his stimulating presence. Brewer is back and will play in the backfield in Saturday's game.

In the line Fox and Shea have been alternating at the guard positions and both are rugged material for these positions on the left of the line. The latter is developing well with a fast and hard charge that is opening holes in the junior varsity line and paving the way for the fast running backs.

The entire squad is covered all the plays to be used against Chapman and the working out of tricks and defense for the aerial attack that Chapman is expected to use as the main weapon against the Academy.

Just who coach Brigham will choose to start the game on Saturday is unknown but it is expected that the backfield will include Labeau, Brewer, Migliore and Williams while those to start on the line will be Greene, re; Kahn, rt; Gulomb, rg; Schwartz, c; Shea, lg; Fideli, lt; Lacroix, le.

TEN TEAMS LOOKING TO EASTERN TITLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Ten of the eleven eastern football teams will in the best possible way settle championship of the east face hard battles this Saturday with the prospect that the list of contenders will be whittled down considerably.

Holy Cross, entertaining an intersectional foe in Dayton university, has the only comparative "soft spot" on the list, observers believe. Two of the unbeaten outfits, Washington and Jefferson and Lafayette, come to grips on Franklin field. Three others, Pennsylvania, Navy and West Virginia, have middle western opponents for the day and will remain in the eastern title hunt even if defeated.

On fluctuating form, Cornell, Boston college, Brown and New York university appear the strongest favorites in the undefeated clan but none of these has an easy afternoon in sight.

With two weeks of preparation, Cornell's big red machine, boasting one of the most powerful lines in the east, will depend chiefly on its famous off-tackle sweep against Columbia at the Polo grounds. The Ithacans also have Polo grounds. The Ithacans also have to offset the more open attack of the New Yorkers, who haven't beaten Cornell since 1905.

Boston college, the only eleven unscored on in the east, is expected to conquer West Virginia Wesleyan but the latter demonstrated its strength last week in holding West Virginia to a single touchdown.

New York university's spectacular advance to the high places is likely to continue at the expense of Fordham, ragged though the latter may be. The Brown eleven conqueror of Yale, appears slated to hand Dartmouth its third straight defeat, especially since the green has been hit heavily by injuries in losing games with Yale and Harvard.

West Point's veteran and unbeaten forces have been installed favorites over Yale in spite of the return of several Eli bulwarks to the team. The Cadets gave high hopes of muzzling the Bulldog but it promises to be a spectacular and keenly contested game.

Of the trio of major intersectional battles involving unbeaten eastern teams, West Virginia, meeting Missouri, and Pennsylvania, going west to battle Illinois, are favored to keep their slates clean, although anticipating stiff contests. Michigan's dreadnaught attacks the Navy at Baltimore with expectations of victory, but the middies promise to give a good account of themselves.

WESTERN TEAMS PRIMED FOR ACTION SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The impetus of three successive tie scores will goad the football teams of Minnesota and Wisconsin at Madison on Saturday, in the thirty-fifth game between the schools.

Both teams tapered off tonight with dummy scrimmages, the Badgers pleased with their newly manifested offensive power and the Gophers striving to retain the cohesion which last Saturday froned Wabash flat.

This year Minnesota, with Joesting and Almquist in its backfield and a line schooled by two gruelling defeats, is a favorite, but against Wisconsin all signs have failed in many a year gone by.

On the eve of northwestern's departure from the Indiana game, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite announced he would not trade his line for any in the country. With Baker, Lewis, Gustafson and other western backs he expects to duplicate the Hoosier conquest of two weeks ago.

Michigan was on its way tonight to Annapolis to meet the Navy, prepared to launch a variegated running attack if the aerial defense on which the sailors have been working should stop the passing game the Wolverines have built up.

Illinois, awaiting Pennsylvania, prepared for a crowd of 60,000 at Urbana-Champaign, led by the Penn band, three thousand rooters from the east. Zuppke would rather beat Penn than any team remaining on the schedule, for the easterners schedule arrangements probably will not permit another engagement next season.

Chicago is being brought to an emotional peak by Stagg for the Ohio state game. A new backfield, with Marks at halfback and a sophomore at full will start against the Buckeyes because two Maroon backs are out with injuries.

Purdue and Iowa went through stiff scrimmages tonight, regarding the Indiana normal and Carroll college games Saturday only as preparation for Northwestern and Minnesota contests ten days hence.

COURT RULES AGAINST SUNDAY BASEBALL IN PENN.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Octs 28—(AP)—Sunday professional baseball is unlawful in Pennsylvania under a decision of the Dauphin county court today which defined it as "a worldly employment" in violation of the old Pennsylvania "blue laws" of 1794.

The court denied the Philadelphia American League Baseball club the "right, privilege or authority to maintain or conduct any games of baseball in the city of Philadelphia on Sunday." The club's counsel indicated it would take an appeal to the state supreme court.

The decision held that the act of 1794 includes baseball within its terms although such a game was unknown at the time of its passage. The case reached the court through a proceeding by Attorney General Woodruff against the club as the result of a game played between the Athletics and the Chicago White Sox, August 22.

"Laws are prospective," the court declared in answer to the claim that the act cannot be properly construed to include baseball within its limitations. "A general law," it added, "applies to all who come within its terms, to new subjects that are created and to new conditions as they arise."

To the argument that the respondent is engaged in a sport and that such a sport must be "otherwise unlawful" to violate the act the court said:

"If we adopted the construction contended for and there were no other statute against hunting on Sunday, it would permit hunting on Sunday in the open season because it is unlawful and prohibit the hunting on Sunday in the closed Sunday season. Such Sunday observance would be a farce."

MERSEREAU APPROVES PLAY FOR PRO TENNIS TOURNEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Approval of steps to organize American tennis instructors with a view to staging a professional championship tournament here next year was given today by J. W. Mersereau, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Taking cognizance of plans for such an organization outlined by George Agutter, coach of the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills, N. Y., Mersereau said he felt the U. S. L. T. A. "would be inclined to give the professionals every encouragement."

"Speaking purely for myself," said the tennis executive, "I should say that a tournament would be beneficial to the game. We are glad to encourage the professional of George Agutter's type. There is no hippodroming connected with his work. His efforts have been along constructive lines.

"I can't see where the U. S. L. T. A. would have the slightest objection to an organization such as Agutter suggests. When they get ready, we shall be glad to talk things over with them and to cooperate with them."

Agutter and his assistant, Paul Heston, sailed today for Europe to compete in the French professional championship next December on the Rivera. He hopes to gather data which will enable him to organize American professionals and to pave the way for international competition here among the leading instructors of the world.

EXTRA TRAIN SERVICE FOR YALE-ARMY GAME

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Twenty-four extra trains, twelve each way, will be run by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad to care for players and spectators at the Yale-Army game Saturday, it was announced today at the general offices of the company here.

In addition to the two eleven car specials to bring the cadets from West Point, there will be nine special trains and an extra section of a regular train from New York, and an extra section each from Boston and Springfield. Last year approximately 55,000 came by train to the game.

TUNNEY HAS TO FOREGO HIS HUNTING EXPEDITION

KINGSTON, N. B., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Being "Slave to a Myth" is the way Gene Tunney speaks of the heavyweight title, the winning of which netted him nearly a quarter of a million dollars not so long ago. Because of it he will have to forego a big game expedition to the Canadian woods upon which he had been invited by relatives to this city.

KUDKINS-MCGRAW BOUT FEATURE SHOW TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Boxing is being concentrated in Madison Square Garden over this week-end with the ring slated for a siege for nearly three weeks afterward while a rodeo holds sway in the Garden.

Joe Hudkins the Nebraska "Willow" and Phil McGraw, rugged Detroit lightweight, top the card tomorrow night in a 12 round return scrap that promises to be filled with excitement. On Monday night, another all-heavyweight show is featured by a 10-round match between Harry Person, the Swedish tattoed man, and Bud Gorman of Kenosha, Wis.

Hudkins gained the decision over McGraw in their last bout, 15-round affair at Coney Island last August. With the distance reduced to 12-rounds, McGraw's chances are considered improved but Hudkins has been made a slight favorite.

Billy Petrolle, the Fargo "Express", will meet Hilario Martinez of Spain in the 10-round semi final while Sid Barbarian of Detroit is bracketed with Tommy Farley of Philadelphia in another ten-rounder. All are lightweights.

Monday's heavyweight card also includes ten-round bouts between Carl Blue of St. Paul and Yale Okun of New York; George Godfrey, Philadelphia Negro, and Hill Goshe of Galveston, Texas; Murray Gilitz of New Haven and Art Weigand of Buffalo.

MENEAGE MADE DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS AT DARTMOUTH

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Harry R. Heneage of New York was today appointed supervisor of athletics at Dartmouth college. The appointment was made by the board of trustees in annual meeting. Heneage was graduated from Dartmouth in 1907 and played halfback on the varsity football team while he was at college.

He will have complete charge of both intercollegiate and intramural sports at Dartmouth and will be assisted by a business manager yet to be appointed. Heneage succeeds Max R. Noonan, '15, who was graduate manager of athletics until his recent appointment as bursar of the college.

The trustees elected Dean William Dresselaer Gray, '04, to the board to fill the vacancy created by the death of Prof. John King Lord. Dean Gray has been head of the Tuck School of Business Administration and Finance since 1919.

WILLIAMS TO PLAY ONLY SMALLER COLLEGES

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Oct. 28—(AP)—Responding to the demand that Williams play only football teams representing colleges of approximately her size and class, the college athletic authorities today announced a schedule for 1927 with only one larger institution figuring, Columbia, which has appeared on the Williams schedule for many years with the exception of this year, has been restored for next season.

At the same time the athletic council approved resolutions adopted by a joint committee representing "the little three"—Wesleyan, Amherst and Williams—which included a no-scouting agreement for little three contests and limited practice to two weeks before the start of the football season.

The 1927 football dates will be:

September 24, Rensselaer at Troy, N. Y.; October 1, Middlebury, S. Vermont; 15 Massachusetts Aggies; 22, Columbia at New York; 29 Union; November 5 Wesleyan at Middletown, Conn.; 12, Amherst.

PHIL O'NEIL SETS A NEW WORLD'S RECORD

HARTFORD, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Phil O'Neil, brown gelding, owned by James P. Berry, of Hartford, set up a world's pacing record for a mile and one sixteenth on a half mile track this afternoon when he went the distance in 2:14 3-4. The Berry horse made the new record in the third and final heat of the 2:08 class pace, feature of the closing day of light harness racing in New England. Phil O'Neil won three straight heats and was out in front every step of the way in the heat in which he made the new world's record.

BIDS

Bids will be received by the Town School Committee until 2:00 P. M., November 4, 1926, for the erection of the new Samuel Huntington School at Norwich Town. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Chandler & Palmer. Bids must be left at the office of the Superintendent of Schools at the City Hall Building.

WALTER CAMP FOOTBALL GAMES NUMBER 114

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 28.—(AP)—One hundred and fourteen Walter Camp day football games are to be played during the present season throughout the country as a tribute to the memory of Walter Camp and as part of the campaign for a memorial to the man who did so much to popularize the game of football. Details of these games were announced here today by the Walter Camp memorial committee.

The games are so scheduled as to include every section of the country. Walter Camp day is to be observed on 29 college gridirons next Saturday with an imposing array of important games, headed by the Columbia-Cornell game at New York. The schedule will be continued throughout the football season, closing with the Yale-Harvard game in the Yale bowl on November 20.

Chairman E. K. Hall, of the Camp committee, in commenting on these games today, said: "We are particularly anxious that every university, college and preparatory school association have some part, no matter how small, in raising funds for the Camp memorial. Yale alumni have pledged half of the $300,000 needed, and the balance is to be raised in behalf of all other institutions. We want this to be a truly national memorial."

AGGIES HOLD FINAL PRACTICE FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 28.—A long drill in which the forward pass came in for considerable attention marked the final practice session of the Connecticut Aggies in their preparation for the New Hampshire game to be played at Manchester, N. H. Saturday.

Coach Dole had quarterback Schofield go through his entire repertoire of plays in signal, and then in dummy scrimmage, during which every man was drilled on his individual assignments. Eddy and Williams spent a half hour in punting, and then Eddy tried his toe drop-kicking. In this he showed excellent form, and in case the game Saturday proves as close as expected, then the dropkicking ability of the Simsbury boy may play the deciding part in the contest.

A squad of twenty-two players, Coach Dole and Manager Doolittle will leave by bus for Manchester tomorrow noon. No practice will be held Friday afternoon, today's workout being the last before the team takes the field for the game.

CLARKE SEVERS ALL CONNECTIONS WITH PIRATES

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Fred Clarke's official connection with the Pittsburgh National league baseball club came to an end today when the board of directors accepted his resignation as vice president. Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the club, said the board had purchased all Pirate stock held by Clarke, thus severing the last tie between the club and the Kansan.

Clarke, seated on the bench last season as assistant to the manager, was the center of internal dissension on the team, some players objecting to "two managers." The flareup resulted in the dismissal of Max Carey, Babe Adams and Carson Bigbee. Recently Bill McKechnie, manager, was notified he would not be needed for the 1927 pennant chase, and shortly thereafter Donie Bush, Indianapolis, was signed as pilot.

Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the club has made it clear that Bush will have a free hand in running the team.

REID DENIES COLGATE HAS BEEN ASKED TO BAN NEGRO

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 28.—(AP)—William A. Reid, graduate manager of Athletics at Colgate university, today vigorously denied stories emanating from the south to the effect that the University of Pittsburgh and the United States Naval academy had requested the barring or a Negro player on the Colgate football team.

Mr. Reid stated that the player in question, Ray Vaugn, was not used in either the Pittsburgh or Navy games because Coach Mauser did not need him.

Vaugn is expected to play against Michigan state on Saturday.

AGGIE FRESHMAN TEAM HARD HIT BY SCHOLASTIC PROBATION RULE

STORRS, Oct. 28.—The Connecticut Aggie freshman squad, and first eleven in particular, suffered heavy losses today following an all day "scrimmage" with the registrar, who after the engagement announced that several stars on Coach Alexander's yearling team were placed on scholastic probation. This action automatically bars them from football, and coming as it does on the eve of the contest with Wesleyan Freshmen, scheduled for Saturday here, cast a shadow of gloom over the yearlings' camp at Storrs.

The freshman's regular backfield has been especially hard hit, with two men placed under the scholastic ban. The first is Turco, fullback from Revere, Mass., and one of the best backfield prospects seen here in some time. His line plunging and defensive work played a large part in the two victories already won by Alexander's men, and his absence will be keenly felt against the Wesleyan yearling. The other backfield man lost is Sheo, a halfback from Worcester, Mass. He was the triple threat man of the Aggie attack, being a good punter, accurate passer and fast ball carrier. As yet Alexander has been unable to find anyone to adequately replace these men.

In the line, McKoan and Hagberg guards, and Buckner, sub end, are on probation. To make matters worse Nichols, who had just made for himself a regular position at right tackle, received a broken ankle in scrimmage and is now through for the season. Goebel, left end, is suffering with a bad knee injury, and Captain Hawkins is bothered with a "Charley Horse." All in all the situation looks exceedingly gloomy in the frosh camp at the present time.

The hardest battle of the year is expected from the Wesleyan team, which and little difficulty in overwhelming the highly rated Amherst frosh eleven in practice today. Coach Alexander used Goebel and Slossberg on the ends, Captain Hawkins and Rufkis, tackles, Walker and Abrams, guards; Stankel, center; Lamoreaux, quarterback; Ryan and Grout, halfbacks; and Flydal, fullback. Barring further injuries, this is the eleven that will take the field against the Wesleyan Cubs on Saturday.

NOBLE UNABLE TO PLAY AGAINST ARMY SATURDAY

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Larry Noble, Yale's star halfback is back again on the injured list and will be unable to play against Army Saturday. It is the second backfield loss suffered by the Elis in two days. Yesterday Bill Kline, fullback, left for his home in Pennsylvania when he learned that his mother was seriously ill and he is not expected back in time for the battle with the West Point men.

Noble was standing on the edge of the tackle pit when two scrub linesmen hit him accidentally and injured his ankle. The loss of the two backfield men caused the Yale coaches to make a complete shift in the players behind the line and to abandon their plans for a light practice today. The new combination was given a hard scrimmage.

Rap Ordway went in for Noble and Al Foote was sent to Kline's place. Johnny Holen took Foote's regular place at right halfback. Captain Benoit rested today and Eddie Decker played at quarterback.

HIGH SCHOOLS PROTEST NEGRO ON SCHOOL TEAM

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 28.—(AP)—All four football games of the Chambersburg, Pa., high school in the Cumberland valley athletic league have been cancelled because of the Pennsylvania school's insistence on using a negro player, it became known today with announcement that the game with Winchester, Va., had been called off.

Martinsburg, Hagerstown, Md., and Waynesboro, Pa., had previously cancelled games with Chambersburg. That school in calling off the Winchester game gave as a reason the fear of a demonstration because of publicity given the other cancellations.

The three schools contended a "gentlemen's agreement" provided that no negro player would be used in league games. Chambersburg authorities insisted no such agreement existed.

MICHIGAN ROOTERS TO ATTEND THE SESQUI

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Michigan university alumni are to have a big day here tomorrow, with another to follow Saturday at Baltimore where the Navy-Michigan football game is to be played.

Following the arrival of special trains, the Michigan delegation will go to the exposition grounds escorted by the 100-piece band from Michigan university. Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick will welcome the visitors and Chase S. Osborne will reply.

President Clarence C. Little, of the University of Michigan, President James R. Angel, of Yale, Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, and Edwin Denby, former secretary of the Navy, will speak at the National dinner.

GIBSON SIGNS AS MANAGER OF KAPLAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney heavyweight champion, signed a contract today to manage the ring affairs of Louis Kid Kaplan, of Meriden, Conn., retired featherweight titleholder. The duration of the agreement was not made public.

Kaplan withdrew from the featherweight ranks during the past summer when he became convinced he had outgrown the division. Under Gibson's management, Kaplan intends to seek the crown of Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion, and will post a $2,500 forfeit and challenge for the title match with the New York boxing commission next Monday, Gibson announced.

FLOWERS-WALKER BOUT PLANNED BY RICHARD

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)—An attempt to bring the proposed middleweight championship fight between Tiger Flowers and Mickey Walker to New York has been undertaken by Tex Rickard through his Madison Square Garden matchmaker, Jess McMahon.

McMahon will confer tomorrow with Walt Miller, manager of the defending titleholder, Flowers and Jack Kearns, Walker's pilot. Miller already has agreed to the match, which originally was slated for Chicago under the promotion of Jim Mullins.

Walker says he has relinquished hopes of regaining the welterweight title he lost last year to Pete Latzo, of Scranton, Pa. The New Jersey fighter believes that the rigorous training he requires to make the 147-pound limit was partly responsible for his defeat by the former breaker-boy.

More than a ton of admission tickets will be required for the Army-Navy football game this year.

NAVY TO PLAY MICHIGAN IN 1927 AND IN 1928

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Continuing athletic relations with the University of Michigan, the Naval Academy authorities today announced that an agreement had been reached for football games with the Wolverines for 1927 and 1928. Navy will play Michigan at Ann Arbor, Mich. Nov. 19 next year and Michigan will meet Navy at the Baltimore stadium the following year.

Announcement also was made at the academy that Navy's gridiron game with Notre Dame next year, originally scheduled to be played at South Bend, will be played at the Baltimore stadium on Oct. 15. The change was made in view of the fact that Navy had agreed to meet Notre Dame at Chicago in 1928.

GENE MCCANN RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 28.—(AP)—The resignation of Gene McCann as manager of the Springfield baseball club of the Eastern league was announced tonight. McCann, a veteran figure in Eastern league circles, has managed the Ponies for the last three seasons. In his letter of resignation to A. J. Shean, president of the Springfield club, he said that he had several offers under consideration but that he would not sign any contract until December. McCann is a former Yankee and Cincinnati Red Scout. He pitched for Brooklyn more than 20 years ago.

DELANEY VISITS HIS PARENTS AT HOLYOKE

HOLYOKE, Mass., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Jack Delaney, world's light heavyweight champion, was greeted here today by large crowds on his visit to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Chapdelaine. Delaney said that his bout scheduled for tomorrow night with Jack Townsend in Montreal had been called off. The light heavyweight king leaves tomorrow for Bridgeport Conn., where he will go into active training in an effort to lift the world's heavyweight crown from Gene Tunney.

Walter D. Mansfield, whose death is reported in San Francisco, had a world-wide reputation as a flycaster. In 1915 he made a cast of 150 feet, casting single-handed with a heavy rod. This record has never been equalled.

SPORTING NOTES

(By The Associated Press)

Victoria, B. C., has the oldest golf course on the Pacific coast.

At the recent Kuma golf show in London 2,423 dogs were benched, representing 73 different breeds.

Outdoor housekeeping is an all-the-year-round sport with the gardeners of San Francisco and vicinity.

The victory of Furman university over the University of Georgia far eclipsed one of the big surprises of the early football season in the south.

Lee R. Todd of the Williams and Mary college eleven is classed by critics as one of the best defensive centers to be found in football this season.

The $250 diamond-studded belt which was presented by admiring followers to George Lyon the king of the featherweights of a generation ago is now in possession of Rex Chapman, the Boston boxer.

The revival of horse racing in California rests on the fate of the referendum measure to be voted on in November. This measure would legalize race-tracks, betting upon which the future of the sport admittedly depends.

The Mexican tennis championships which began in Mexico City on Oct. 4 and was continued for two weeks at Monterrey, saw numerous American players in the tournament. It has been won by such players as Bill Johnston and Vincent Richards.

Two hundred and ten Ford Coupelets, the American answer to the call for a moderate priced car, the output of which was made by one concern, the Briggs-Detroiter company, left the factory in one day recently. Production could be stepped up to 300 coupelets a day, it is said, if necessary.

Commenting on the early Ethelred Stewart, commissioner of fisheries, declared Thursday: "These statistics are based on a total number of operations, and not on the number of employes carried on the pay-rolls. Which shows statistics are based on the total number of workmen on the payroll, they mean house and sometimes not even apprentices.

Output Increases

"I have no reason to believe that the output, stated by Miss Jamba is exceptional, although, of course, I don't know. But from what I do know, of the increased number of machines in operation now, as compared with ten years ago, my impression is that a study would show approximately the same condition in any mill that has attempted to keep up with the times."

Miss Jamba found that the output of the mill studied increased 18.9 per cent. between 1919 and 1925 while, at the same time, the total average number of workers decreased 3.5 per cent.

The total average number of workers in this mill was 800 in 1919, 715 in 1919, and 463 in 1925. The output of the mill in pounds, based on picks, was 7,338,906 in 1910, 6,814,561 in 1919, and 8,173,957 in 1925.

The achievement of this mill, in more than doubling its man-hour productivity between 1919 and 1925, was discussed as follows: "First, there is the physical layout of the mill. When the new mill was built (in 1921) plans were made for the most efficient routing of the product through the plant. The exact number of workers this arrangement was eliminated can only be estimated because the new mill has been working under the present arrangement from the start, but changes in a single department suffice to illustrate this point.

"In the old mill the carding machines and drawing frames were placed at opposite ends of the mills and the sliver as it came from the cards had to be carried to the drawing frames. There were on an average, of about ten coiler boys for this work. In the new mill the carding machines are placed next to the drawing frames and now the card men, when the cans are full, simply shift them across the aisle at small expense of time and effort, and coiler boys are no longer needed. Another occupation which has disappeared completely in the carding room with the building of the new mill is that of the stripper. A stripper's work consisted of cleaning the cards; now this is done by a vacuum system.

Improved Machinery

"A second factor accounting for this increase in production is the conveyor system already mentioned. A third factor is the installation of new and improved machinery, which has done away with the employment of many workers. The Barber Coleman machine for doffing ends, for example, has done away with the employment of many workers. The Barber Coleman machine for doffing ends, for example, has cut down the number of drawing hands from an average of about nineteen to two.

"The new Draper looms have made it impossible for one operative to tend more looms than formerly and thus materially to decrease the number of workers in the weave shed.

"Still the fourth factor which has made the greatest contribution has been the introduction of the multiple loom and frame system. There is a tendency in the industry at present to rationalize the work of the skilled operatives among semi-skilled or unskilled workers, extending it in such a way that it is possible for a single operative to tend a constantly increasing number of machines. Formerly, one operative tended on an average of about sixteen looms. At present a single weaver tends 32 looms in this mill, but she devotes almost entirely to piecing broken ends and watching the cloth. The same principle is in operation in the spinning room. Formerly a spinner could take care of four frames or eight sides. Now an operative in this mill tends as many as nine frames, or eighteen sides."

Three More Days for Lists

Three days remain in which property owners may put in their lists before the assessors in order to avoid the ten per cent addition for delinquency. About 75 per cent of the lists have so far been received by the Norwich assessors, but several of the big lists are yet to come before the closing limit which is next Monday night.

WESTERLY

WESTERLY CIVIC BODIES HELD JOINT MEETING

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 28—Westerly chamber of commerce, Lewis Stanton, president, and the Pawcatuck board of trade, Frank L. Furness, president, met on Thursday at the Elm Tree Inn, in Pawcatuck, for joint meeting and banquet. At 7 p. m. the following menu was enjoyed by about 75 members.

Cotuit Oyster on the Half Shell
Sweet Pickles Olives Celery
Fried Chicken, Maryland Style
Apple Sause Haxton Peas
Mashed Potatoes Corn Fritters
Pineapple Cream Cheese Salad
Parker House Rolls
Neopolitan Ice Cream
Marble Pound Cake Chocolate Cake
Ladies Fingers Macaroons
After Dinner Mint
Coffee

The principal after-dinner speaker was William Rogers, president of the Hartford Advertising club. Entertainment was furnished by the vaudeville team of Dunn & Nally, also from Hartford.

Arthur M. Cottrell was chairman of the banquet committee.

Edward Gradic, a workman employed by the Sullivan Granite Company, suffered a fractured right leg at about 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon when he was struck by a large piece of granite swinging from a chain attacked to a derrick. The accident occurred at the Sullivan quarry at Bradford.

The ambulance of the Westerly Sanitary corps brought the injured man to the office of Dr. J. Gordon Anderson in Westerly, where the fracture was reduced.

A republican rally was held on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Westerly town hall under the auspices of the Westerly republican town committee. Everett A. Kingsley, chairman. Previous to the rally the Westerly band, Charles O. Gavitt, director, paraded to the town hall, where they furnished music.

The funeral of Herbert Coy, who died at his home last Monday, was held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at 60 Granite street. Rev. Byron U. Hatch, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman.

Burial was in River Bend cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Hatch. The bearers were Judge Herbert W. Rathbun, Clyde Burdick, Stephen E. Crouch and George R. Dowding.

Mr. Coy was one of the oldest residents of Westerly, having reached the age of 81 years and 7 months. He was born here on March 15, 1844, being the son of George S. Coy and Hannah Wilcox Coy.

After attending the Westerly schools he went to New London to learn the machinist's trade and he was employed in that city. Later he returned to Westerly and was employed at the C. B. Cottrell & Sons Co. for a span of years. He also worked for a time in Taunton, Mass.

He was a member of the First Baptist church. Surviving him are three brothers and two sisters, the oldest of whom is 92 years and the youngest 74 years of age. They are John Coy, Thomas Coy, 84; Mrs. Mary Coy Hathaway, 80; Miss Susan Coy, 79 and George Coy, 76.

The need for strict enforcement of law to give national prohibition a fair test was stressed by Sir Clifford Gordon, of Australia, in an address delivered Wednesday evening in Grace Methodist Episcopal church at a public meeting sponsored by the Westerly W. C. T. U. "Is Prohibition Worth Performing?" was the subject of his discourse.

Sir Gifford is filling several lecture dates for the W. C. T. U. in Rhode Island. He was the principal speaker at the recent state convention held in East Greenwich.

Dr. Thomas E. Robinson and Hiram Ellmland were local visitors in Windsor, Conn., on Wednesday when they attended the horse races.

Capt. Allan L. Thompson of the Mallory Transport line of New York has visited for the past few days with his family and father, Alexander C. Thompson, in Westerly.

Miss Emma Read was among the Westerly visitors in Providence on Thursday.

Harry E. Langworth was a visitor in Boston on Thursday.

Miss Sylvia W. Lanphear of Pawcatuck has visited for the past few days with friends in New York.

Mrs. Paul F. Estey was a Providence visitor in Westerly Thursday afternoon.

Rev. Eric E. Sutton of Milton, Wis., secretary of the Seventh-day Baptist Sabbath school board, will speak to the Sabbath school teachers this (Friday) evening at the close of the weekly prayer meeting.

Many teachers in the Westerly public schools left town on the New England express for Providence Thursday morning to attend the annual meeting of the Rhode Island Teachers institute.

Bricklayers were engaged on Thursday in laying brick on the High street front of the new office building of the South County Public Service company at 45 High street.

Many of the iron girders for the second floor of the Nardone block, corner of High and Canal streets, and the brick piers at each side of the circular corner front have been completed to the second story.

With but two days remaining in which to pay Westerly town taxes before a 12 per cent interest is added, the business transacted at the office of the Westerly town treasurer and collector's office in the town hall was light on Thursday.

MYSTIC

The annual meeting of Mystic branch of the New London chapter of the American Red Cross was held at the home of the chairman, Miss Joanna Burnet. Hereafter the Red Cross will co-operate with the Mystic Visiting Nurse association in caring for and assisting the sick and will appropriate some of its funds to aid in the work. The local chapter gave $500 for the Florida sufferers from the hurricane. The annual roll call of members for Mystic will commence on Armistice day Nov. 11 and every one is being asked to renew his or her membership. The election resulted in the selection of the same officers to serve for another year: Chairman, Miss Joanna Burnet; vice chairman, Mrs. A. W. George; secretary, Mrs. Harry Hiel; treasurer, A. W. George; chairman civilian relief committee, L. P. Allyn; chairman membership committee, Miss Minnie Flynn; board of managers, Mrs. John Rossie, Mrs. L. J. Hermes, Isaac Crandall.

Carpenters have completed raising the roof of Lucian O. Allyn's house on the west side of the river remodeling it from a one story to a two-story house. The upper floor is to be finished off into a four room apartment and will be occupied by Mr Allyn's son-in-law, daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wilcox.

Mrs. Augusta E. Cutler and Miss Esther Newbury returned Thursday night from Bridgeport where they had been attending the state convention of the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Annie Lathron and Miss Jessie Davis spent Wednesday with their cousin, Mrs. Gurdon C. Allyn in West Mystic.

Odell D. Tompkins is still confined to his summer home on Pequot avenue by illness.

The assessors were at the town hall here Wednesday for the last time, giving taxpayers a chance to file their lists.

Elizabeth MacDonald daughter of Douglas MacDonald of Orchard street was spo-ted down on River Lordon road late Wednesday afternoon and had her leg broken in her noise injured and was otherwise bruised. She was carried to her home and a doctor called.

Mrs. Louis J. Sheeler has returned from a visit in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Jane Chesmore, of School street, fell on the stairs Tuesday afternoon and has broken her leg since.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morgan of Stonington were Wednesday evening guests here.

Helen Stanley, daughter of St. Mark's Episcopal church met Thursday afternoon with G. H. Deneke.

Miss Arlene Leonard was dismissed from Lawrence hospital, New London, Tuesday.

WARRENVILLE

Mr. Fields and James Judkins of Hartford have been guests of C. D. Baker during the hunting season.

Mr. Goss has returned to Waterbury after spending several days at his summer home here.

Miss Anna Brecka has returned from New York after a two weeks' stay.

There have been several cases of bronchitis in town but most of the patients are better.

JEWETT CITY

CHILDREN CAUSED FIRE ALARM TO BE SOUNDED

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 28.—Shortly after 5 o'clock Thursday evening the town was thrown into a fever of excitement by the repeated blowing of station 24 on the big fire whistle. Half the town hurried with the fire company to the upper end of Slater avenue where a fire was said to be started in the new house nearing completion, owned by Arthur Park. Chief Walsh says it may be classed in the false alarm column, although the Russenas, turning the alarm, acted all in good faith. The facts seem to be that new plaster was being dried with a temporary stove arrangement. Somebody inside threw a piece of stove pipe out of the upper window. Children playing in the vicinity, ran down the avenue crying "Fire"; thus giving good reason to turn in an alarm.

At some fall elections which have gone before, by this time, with the important event only three days away, the political pot would have been boiling over. There seems to be no indication of much excitement this year, and little evidence of the old time strenuous electioneering.

Wednesday night along toward morning the mercury dropped to 24 and 26. It was the coldest night of the fall and a skimming of ice was to be seen skirting the shore of any still pond. By 8 o'clock the tube showed 48, following which came one of the finest days of the season.

Mrs. E. B. Cheney, Mrs. A. H. Anthony and Mrs. William Bromley are at home from a delightful trip to the sesqui-centennial.

The many friends of James E. Crary will be pleased to learn that he is coming home today (Friday) from the Westerly, R. I., hospital where he went almost a month ago for a major operation. Mr. Crary's wife said Thursday that he was not well yet, but that he was better, and they looked for time to make recovery complete.

George Tormey, the assistant to the electric light superintendent, nearly had his right thumb cut off Wednesday by a broken insulator. The accident happened while he was working on top of an electric light pole. Dr. J. H. McLaughlin had to take four stitches to close the wound.

PROPOSED PLAN OF YEAR'S WORK BY STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A proposed programme of work for the year by the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce has been presented by the secretary at a joint meeting of the executive and ways and means committees.

The programme was presented in the following form:

Regulation of Intra-State Trucks

Your directors have already authorized the appointment of Mr. Ballard as chairman of the committee.

Revision of Compensation Law

Your directors authorized this activity at the annual meeting. Mr. Ira Smith, vice president of The Travelers and one of our directors, is chairman of this committee.

Revision of Railroad Taxation

Since 1915 the New Haven road has faced a system of state taxation which seems to them inequitable. A grossnet plant of taxation, evolved by a committee of the National Tax association seems to the railroad more equitable. At the 1925 session, the state chamber had a committee on this matter, but because of a lack of time and complications involved, no recommendation was made to our directors. The appointment of a tax committee to study, among other things, this matter and report to the directors is recommended.

Motor Vehicle Legislation

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Stoeckel has assured your secretary that he would welcome the appointment of a motor vehicle committee by the state chamber and that he would be glad to place his various contemplated motor vehicle measures before the committee for study. He will work with the committee personally.

The commissioner feels that such a committee could be very helpful as a testing ground for important forthcoming motor vehicle legislation.

State Publicity

Today many states, regions and cities conduct campaigns of advertising and publicity in magazines, newspapers, by booklets and otherwise. The "Progress Report" of the New England council, dated Aug. 10, contains a survey of community advertising in New England. Three New England states now advertise, as do certain local communities. This survey shows that Connecticut is distinctly backward on community advertising. It is recommended that the state chamber appoint a committee to study the wisdom of: (a) an advertising program for Connecticut; (b) recommending that the 1927 legislature make an advertising appropriation; (c) creating a new department named for instance, the "Department of State Development"; (d) permitting towns themselves to appropriate certain sums for local advertising. This committee should also ascertain if our business interests would themselves match a legislative appropriation — which procedure has been followed in several states. Your secretary feels that the time is fast approaching when states must step forward and tell the story of what they offer to the world. Many progressive states already do so. The proposal of a committee on "State Publicity" ties up with the basic reasons which led to the creation of the New England conference.

In Connecticut, as in many state municipal finances are unstandardized and in some ways inefficient. Several state chambers have induced their legislatures to appoint commissions to study municipal finances and recommend as to legislation to accomplish uniformity and efficiency. It is recommended that the state chamber make a preliminary study of this subject and present recommendations to the 1927 general assembly. Tax Commissioner Blodgett has assured your secretary of co-operation.

Mercantile Legislation

Conference with several large merchants indicates that important work can be done by the trade and commerce committee of the state chamber in presenting two bills to the legislature: (a) a bill adequately taxing the "temporary" merchant who skims the cream of the business and (b) a bill requiring honest advertising statements by all merchants—both in the newspapers and elsewhere.

State Marketing Program

The commissioner of agriculture has informed your secretary that he feels that Connecticut agriculture would be benefited by the creation of a marketing division in the department of agriculture. Its purpose would be to induce Connecticut farmers to adopt marketing methods comparable to the western and southern growers who have captured a substantial part of the Connecticut market. It is recommended that a committee be appointed to investigate, with the co-operation of the commissioner of agriculture, the desirability of such a division and make recommendations to our directors and to the general assembly.

Land Utilization

Your secretary recently conferred with President Beach and Professor Davis, the economist of Storrs college, as to how the state chamber might co-operate to help agriculture. It developed that Professor Davis and several of his associates have been conducting a survey on the subject of "Land Utilization" which is the formulation of a program of the uses of Connecticut's land resources—agricultural, forestry, water power, urban and recreational. The college officials believe that this is one of Connecticut's big problems in the near future. Professor Davis has agreed to work closely with the state chamber's committee.

Planning Unbuilt Areas

Secretary Nado of the Greenwich chamber of commerce has suggested that the state chamber sponsor an enabling act so that cities, towns and boroughs can plan the lay-out and development of their unbuilt areas on a far-sighted basis. This would be similar to the state-wide zoning act in that it gives communities a special non-compulsory privilege.

Teaching of Civics

Tax Commissioner Blodgett recently told your secretary that the state chamber could be helpful if it were to consider the passage of a law which would require the teaching of civics—the science of government—in our normal schools and high schools. He offered to serve on such a committee. Your secretary later discussed this activity with Governor Trumbull and he agreed that it possessed much merit. Chairman Higgins of the public utilities commission recently suggested that the foregoing state chamber committee also consider the wisdom of recommending that a study of public utility problems and regulation be made a part of school training. He is willing to serve on the committee.

Co-operation with Conference

Our directors have authorised co-operation with the New England conference in connection with the Hartford meeting. Last year the state chamber did much to assist in organizing the conference. Mr. Henry Trumbull, our second vice president, is secretary of the conference.

Assistance to Commercial Aviation

The state chamber has in many ways assisted the Colonial Air Transport of which Governor Trumbull is chairman. A special committee was appointed of which E. G. Buckland is chairman.

Reforestation

Connecticut faces a problem faced by other states—timber is being consumed faster than it is being grown. Reforestation is profitable both to communities and individuals. Our forestry officials can be aided by a committee to study a reforestation program—especially in inducing communities and individuals to undertake reforestation on a wider scale.

Commercial Arbitration

This is a new field of work. Four states have recently passed commercial arbitration acts with the help of their state chambers of commerce. A federal arbitration act became effective the first of this year. It does not, however, cover the intra-state field. The directors of the Stamford chamber of commerce recently listened to addresses on this subject, endorsed commercial arbitration and have informed the state chamber that they would be glad to co-operate in the presentation of a state-wide law to the legislature.

Conditional Sales Act

In the last several years many states have passed conditional sales acts. These concern contracts regarding installment selling, which form of merchandising is increasing fast. The conditional sales act provides a necessary protection for the merchant and also for the buyer until he, the buyer, has fully paid for the article. Our trade and commerce committee might well consider this activity.

Credit Unions

Twenty-four states now have a credit union law. Several state chambers have recently undertaken this activity. A credit union is a co-operative savings and loan association organized within a specific group, such as the employes of a factory, a store, or an insurance company. Credit unions encourage thrift among people with small incomes and avoid the usury which many small borrowers face. Several years ago 12,000 wage earners in a certain locality had loans with licensed or unlicensed leaders for which they were paying interest of 1% per cent. Today this same group has a credit union with assets of $100,000 which encourages small savings and provides reasonable credit. The employes of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company now have a credit union with 13,000 members and assets of $1,500,000. Credit unions do their business through banks. About 50 per cent of all credit union loans are for $50 or less.

Extending the Chattel Mortgage Law

At the 1925 session, the state chamber introduced a bill to extend the chattel mortgage loan to include loans on cattle, horses and sheep. Our committee on agriculture endorsed this. Our new committee might well take up this activity again.

WEST KINGSTON

Several of the Girl Scouts attended the guild services at Peace Dale church Sunday afternoon, also attended church at West Kingston Sunday morning.

Mrs. C. D. Arnold is visiting friends at Wickford.

School is to be closed this week Thursday and Friday for the Teachers' Institute at Providence.

Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson spent Sunday with friends in Auburn.

Mrs. Annie Brown entertained the Girl Scouts Monday evening with a silver tea. Cake, ice cream and tea were served. Each one put a little contribution in the shape of a silver piece of money. The scouts are planning to build a house as soon as they can procure the necessary funds.

There is to be a Hallowe'en social at the school house Saturday evening.

Mrs. E. C. Kenyon visited friends near Noose Neck Hill, Sunday afternoon.

Although Sunday was stormy there was a good attendance at Bible school, all the teachers were present. Mrs. J. J. Cottrell teaches the class of boys. The other teachers are: Miss Dorothy M. Kenyon, Miss Ida M. Randall and Miss Harriet Sherman.

Mrs. A. K. Webster and Mrs. Ida M. Kenyon spent Monday in Westerly.

Dr. Kenyon was in Providence, Tuesday.

Miss Grant of Hope visited the school here Tuesday.

Colds

Ended overnight

There's a way to end colds so quick and efficient that we paid $1,000,000 for it. That way is HILL'S. It stops colds in 24 hours, checks fever, opens the bowels, then tones the entire system. Millions employ it because it brings such prompt, complete results. Go try it now.

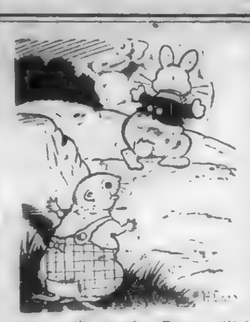
BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Danny Finds the New Home



"Hold on!" squealed Danny. "Hold on, Peter!"

Danny Rabbit was shocked. At first he didn't understand what Danny Meadow Mouse had meant. Then it suddenly came over Peter that Danny was simply terribly jealous. Yes, sir, that was what was the matter with Danny. He was terribly jealous and he believed that Nanny had gone off to a new home with some one else.

"Danny Meadow Mouse," said Peter, "you ought to be ashamed of yourself. Yes, sir, you ought to be ashamed of yourself. You're jealous, that's what's the matter with you. Is that is the way you feel I guess it will be the best thing for you if you go right off again and lose yourself the way you did before. I guess it is a good thing that Nanny isn't living in the old house. Now you don't know where she is, and it's a good thing for her that you don't."

With great difficulty Danny Meadow Mouse swallowed his bad temper. "I'm sorry, Peter," said he. "Truly, I'm sorry. If you know where Nanny is living, won't you please tell me?"

Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind foot. Peter does these things when he is thinking. He isn't quite sure whether he is scratching thoughts in or scratching thoughts out, but he says that anyway it helps him to think. As Peter is such a happy-go-lucky chap that he doesn't think very often, perhaps it does help him.

"I think," said he, "that I had better go to see Nanny first, and tell her that you are home."

"No, no, Peter, no, no!" cried Danny. "don't do that. I want to give her a surprise."

"Huh!" snapped Peter. "You mean you want to find out whether or not she has company. I think I'll let you hunt for her a while. It will do you good."

"But, Peter, I haven't the least idea where to look," replied Danny. "Please show me where Nanny is living. You might do that much for an old friend who has been away for a long time."

This reminded Peter that he didn't know where Danny had been. At once Peter made himself comfortable and demanded that Danny tell him all about his adventures. Danny discovered that only by doing this would he ever find out from Peter where Nanny was, so he hurriedly told Peter where he had been, how he got there, and how he got back again. "Now, Peter," he concluded, "it is your turn. Lead me to Nanny's new home."

Peter had to admit that Danny had fairly earned this information. So off he started, lipperty-lipperty-lip.

"Hold on!" squealed Danny. "Hold on, Peter!"

Peter stopped. "I thought you were in a hurry to see Nanny," said he.

"I am, Peter; you know I am. But you forget that your legs are long, while mine are short. Be a good fellow and go slowly."

So Peter was a good fellow and went slowly. At last they reached a thicket of bushes along the edge of the Green Meadows. Peter pointed up in these bushes. "There," said he, "is Nanny's new home."

Danny looked up. At first all he saw was what looked like an old nest of Brownie the Thrasher. Then he discovered it had a roof to it. Danny's heart almost skipped a beat for joy. He had found Nanny's new home.

NOANK

The Daughters of America held a Halloween social in their hall on Front street, Wednesday evening. The hall was decorated in black and yellow paper, lanterns and pumpkin moonshines. A short programme was given. There were novelty Halloween costumes. There was popular music and during the evening Halloween games were played and refreshments were served.

A new telephone has been installed on the front of the town hall for the village night cop, Elmer Baker. When the cop is wanted he can be called on the telephone. The number is 864. It was tried out by John Ashby Wednesday evening and worked well. It has been needed in the village for a long time.

Lester Smith and Charles Ellis attended Navy day at the Sub Base, Wednesday, making an inspection of the subs and building, also saw the football game between the U. S. S. Florida players and the Sub Base team.

O. Wright has closed his summer cottage at Groton Long Point, and has returned to his home in Springfield, Mass.

William Brown has entered the employ of William Wheeler at Groton Long Point, where they are getting ready to put in new sidewalks from the trolley station to the casino.

When the U. S. S. Florida football team came from their battleship in Boston to play the Sub Base team on Navy day there was a Noank boy on the team, Lloyd Frazer, who has been on the ship for four years. He is a sub and plays on the line, right guard. Many of his friends from Noank went over to see him get in the line-up and to cheer the team.

A partridge came from the west, lost its way and was flying low over the village Wednesday morning and was killed without a gun. Mr. Wood was in the yard cutting wood and saw a bird lying on the ground and picked it up. It proved a handsome bird. It had struck the wires on a telephone pole, when flying over the house. The bird was dressed and cooked and he had a partridge dinner.

Augustus Reichal is confined to his home by illness.

The death of Captain Thomas Peterson, 45, of Prospect Hill, occurred Tuesday at the Norwich Sanatorium after several months' illness. Captain Peterson was born in Norway. He was an artist of ability. Several of his large paintings are hung in the Mariners bank at New London and are greatly admired. He is survived by his wife, Sophie Hansen Peterson, two daughters, Ingrid and Thelma, and five sons, Harold, William, Donald, Thomas and Theodore, all of Noank. His mother, Mrs. Hilda Peterson and a sister and brother are in Norway. The funeral was held Thursday with private services at his home.

Samuel Mann has returned from New Haven.

Coast Guard patrol boat No. 125 is hauled out on the North ways at the ship yard for minor repairs.

The coast guard craft No. 254, is ready to be hauled out at the shipyard. She will receive repairs which will include new propeller, shafts and repainting.

Thos. Carey has returned from a visit with Providence relatives.

Alfred Bjertina has gone to spend several days on the farm of his cousin, Max Long, where he will help him cut wood for the many orders.

Merritt Tryon spent a day in Essex this week.

William Ellis, who fell while at work on one of the sea sleds a week ago and injured his right shoulder was laid up for several days, but has returned to his duties at the plant, where he is a carpenter.

EAST HADDAM

Stanley Harmarck has resumed his duties on the R. F. D. route after a vacation spent in New York and Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Williams of this place and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Tyler, of Hartford, recently took a motor trip over Bear Mountain bridge and Storm King highway in the Hudson.

George H. Gelston and family moved last week from N. Peck's house, where they have lived nearly a year to their new house on the Gelston farm.

B. A. Ray and family who have lived in Gloucester, Mass., for some time, have moved back to East Haddam.

A handsome granite monument has been erected on the burial plot of the late Thaddeus R. Spencer.

Dr. B. A. Gaspin, who has moved from the Garner house building to B. Stockman's is having a time getting fully in the new location.

WILSONVILLE

Miss Minnie Kelly has returned to her work in Webster, after a vacation of two or three weeks at home.

Albert Belanger, of Springfield, is at his home here for a few days.

Mrs. Richard Handy was in Putnam Saturday.

LEDYARD

Miss Virginia Goodenough, who is employed in the motor vehicle department's office at Hartford, was a week end visitor with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Goodenough at the parsonage. Saturday evening a party in her honor was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Holdridge. Games of various kinds were played and refreshments were served.

Arthur Goodenough was leader of the Christian Endeavor meeting which was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Garrapye Sunday evening. The topic was, "What lessons can we learn from great athletes?"

Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Holdridge of Laurel Hill were guests Sunday of Mr. Holdridge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Holdridge.

Miss Jane Leach of Norwich has been the guest for several days of Miss Nellie W. Geer.

Mrs. Isaac G. Geer has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Florence Smith, of Franklin, during the past week.

Miss Alice Lord of Norwich was a week end and Sunday guest of Miss Louise Clark.

Miss Marion Geer of Connecticut college, spent the week end at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ora Lee Geer.

ANDOVER

A republican rally was held in the town hall on Monday evening. The speakers were from Hartford. Quite a number attended the rally.

There was a dance in the hall on Saturday evening.

The Girls' league held a whist party Wednesday night in the town hall.

The C. S. society plans a Halloween social this (Friday) evening at the parsonage.

Mr. C. A. Faulkner was a Hartford visitor Tuesday.

The Girls' league is to meet with Miss Clara Thompson at her home Sunday afternoon.

F. A. Sackett and family will leave town soon and expect to start for Florida next Sunday, weather permitting. The townspeople are sorry to have them go as they are long time residents of the town.

Closing the Doors

I have closed the door on Doubt,
I will go by what light I can find,
And hold up my hands and reach them out
To the glimmer of God in the dark, and call—
I am thine, though I grope and stumble and fall,
I serve, and thy service is kind.

I have closed the door on Fear.
He has lived with me far too long.
If he were to break forth and reappear,
I should lift up my eyes and look at the sky,
And sing aloud, and run lightly by:
He will never follow a song.

I have closed the door on Gloom.
His house has too narrow a view;
I must seek for my soul a wider room
With windows to open and let in the sun,
And radiant lamps when the day is done,
And the breeze of the world blowing through.

LIBERTY HILL

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinnaird attended church in Chaplin last Sunday and were dinner guests of Rev. and Mrs. John H. Knott.

P. J. Griffin and family of Southington were week end guests of Mrs. Griffin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Choquette.

The electric light fixtures have been placed along the street and were lighted for the first time Monday night. They burn all night.

We had a very hard rain and wind storm Sunday night. With what showers we have had it may reach some of the low wells.

There was no church service Sunday evening on account of the wild storm.

Rev. Sherrod Soule, D. D., of Hartford, superintendent of the Connecticut Missionary society, occupied the pulpit with the pastor, Rev. L. L. Harris, Sunday. He preached the sermon and the text was Ephesians 4th chapter and 3rd verse, Endeavoring to keep the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace. He said in regard to ministers salaries that they should have $1,500 at least as that only equaled about $700, before the war.

The funeral of Mrs. Lucindia Loomis was held at her home last Thursday afternoon. Rev. L. L. Harris, assisted by Rev. John H. Knott of Chaplin, conducted the service. Interment was in Liberty Hill cemetery. Mrs. Loomis was a much loved and highly respected citizen. She was 96 years of age. She leaves one son, Fred A. Loomis of Chestnut Hill and one sister, Miss Mary Babcock, 93 years of age of Chestnut Hill, and one brother, John Babcock of Montville, 76 years old.

George Oehlers of New York is spending a few days with his brother, Henry V. Oehlers and family.

Mrs. Estella Lyman of Hartford is visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Lewis and son, Gardner, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clapp of Hampton were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. George Clark.

Henry Dunham and Mr. and Mrs. Hendry Hubbard and daughter Grace of Middletown were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Davoll, who are the formers cousins.

The local school teacher, Miss Adelaide Dupruis attended teachers convention in Hartford Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke, Mrs. Estella Lyman and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Foote attended the Congregational conference of churches and ministers in North Stonington, Tuesday.

SPRING HILL

Ernest Bland and son, Francis, have returned to Seymour, after spending a week with the former's brother, Theodire Bland.

There was no preachisg service at the Spring Hill Baptist church on Sunday morning on account of the special service at Mansfield Center. The Sunday school held a session in the morning, instead.

Mrs. Jane Smith of Stafford Springs spent a part of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Bellows. Mrs. Smith is in good health and retains her faculties remarkably well. She is 90 years old.

Mrs. Horace Smith of Niantic visited her son and family last week.

Mrs. Nelson White of Winsted spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Flaherty.

Mr. Willard G. Kenerson of Kansas City, Mo., terminated a ten days visit with his niece, Mrs. Weld, last Thursday.

Wallace Babcock's family has returned home to Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mildred Cummings to her home at Staten Island. Mrs. E. P. Bellows expects to go in a few days.

R. M. Kenston and family from Stafford Springs have moved into the upper rooms in the house on the C. A. C. sheep farm.

A bequest estimated at $750,000 for an institution in which free lodging and board will be provided for down-and-outers is provided in the will of Harry Muser, whosdied at New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 7.

NEVER SATISFIED.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin)

The chief ambition of a good many folks seems to be comprised in three desires viz: To get somewhere else. To do something else! To have something different! Or as the Hoosier poet puts it:

"Man's a fake
When it comes to what he wants to have;
Always wanting what he don't get;
Never pleased when he does get;
I maintain it's a true
Man's a fake."

Widely known is another way of saying what Pope said, long ago:

"Man never is but always to be blessed." Meaning that he is never wholly satisfied, but keeps on expecting that he's going to be, sometime and somewhere.

Did you ever know anybody to be completely pleased with the weather? Of course some in mobile when all of us, in our desire to be scrupulously fair to the Almighty, condescend to admit that some particular June or October day which He has sent is pretty nearly all right. But even that preassumes that most of the days have not been up to our ideas of what they ought to have been. And a good deal depends, even then, on the ease of our own digestions, the state of our own livers, and the movements of the butter and eggs market.

Just as soon as a man gets money enough to pay railroad fares he begins the hunt for a better climate. Does he live inland? He goes to the seashore. Does he live on a prairie? He hankers after the mountains. Does he live in Maine? He wants to make a break for Florida. Has he a farm in New York? He's sure that he would do better on an orange grove in California. During a New England winter he wants to go to Italy or Egypt. And during a New England summer he thinks of cool sea-breezy Bermuda with longing.

Anyway and anyhow, you may set it down as a fact that 19 out of 20 New Englanders have more bad words than good for the New England climate. They call it uncertain, changeable, going to extremes, usually either too hot or too cold, too wet or too dry. They envy those whose fortune is to dwell in kindlier zones. They're all the time planning or hoping for a chance to get away from New England either to the west or the south.

Well, what if they should be able to do that very thing? The probabilities are more than even that, within two years, they'd be kicking just as viciously about their new surroundings as they now are about the present.

When, for instance, the big earthquate was shaking San Francisco as a dog shakes a rat, I think we may fairly assume that a good many of the New England immigrants in that town wished they were back on the solid granite foundations of Connecticut or New Hampshire.

When, a fortnight or so ago, that furious West Indian hurricane was sweeping a 100-mile wide path of destruction across Florida, it is more than likely that a good many people who had expected to find their earthly paradise among the palms wished very devoutly that they were back in the sheltered valleys of their native Vermont or Massachusetts.

When, only last week, another tornado from the Caribbean ravaged that isle of Pines off the southern coast of Cuba which numerous Americans have of late years declared to be a second garden of Eden, don't you suppose that some of them wished they could get back under the lee of Lantern hill or Avon mountain?

Then there's the great west, with its level prairies and its deep, fertile soil. When the Connecticut farmer is toilsomely plowing an acre a day of his up-tilted, boulder-strewn fields, he too often wishes that he had a farm out in Illinois or Kansas, where hills are unknown and a pebble is a curiosity. Probably, while he is thus wishing, he quite forgets that story he read, last season, about the cyclone "twisters" which tore strips across a dozen western states on a dozen different dates, leaving nothing but ruin and death behind them.

I've just been reading in The Kansas City Star about what torrential rains did to Kansas and Oklahoma, week before last. Dozens of towns were flooded; river after river rose over its banks and inundated the bordering farm-lands; villages and even cities were isolated, cut off from either railroad or highway access. Telegraph and telephone poles were undermined and thrown down so that The Star representative, seeking to learn the truth of the situation had to use an air-plane and fly over the gonked states he couldn't travel through on land.

He catalogued more than a dozen rivers, all in flood and all spreading over farms miles each side of their normal courses. He flew over numerous farm-houses whose occupants could get to and from them only in boats; whose first floors and, of course, cellars were under water. He saw dead pigs floating and, in at least one case, the farmer trying to extricate a cow from the eddy-dug swirl into which she had fallen. In some corn-fields the water stood up to the binding level of the stooks; in others the stooks had been completely swept away. In his one trip the observer saw hundreds of farms, involving thousands of acres, whose crops were either carreid away or ruined.

A personal correspondent in western Illinois writes me that she tried to take a little ride, Sunday before last, but didn't have much luck. Some roads were impassible by reason of mud and water. Even along those which were still negotiable the country is a sorry sight, not only from frost but from floods. In every direction you could see cows and horses standing up to their knees in the water which covered what ought to have been their pastures."

I can imagine some of those Kansas-Oklahoma-Illinois farmers wishing they had a few of the hills New England finds fault with, so they and their cattle could find dry refuges in time of freshet. I can imagine them wishing their prairies weren't so very level and their streams so very sluggish that an extra hard shower filled the rivers bank full and flooded the fields far and wide. I can even imagine some of them wishing they were back in New England, as hearty as some of us wish we were out of it.

Since Adam and Eve by their curiosity and appetite forfeited their residence in Eden, there hasn't been found any completely and unexceptionably satisfactory earthly paradise. There's likely to be a fly in the ointment or a tarantula in the bunch of bananas. I suspect that even Jehovah Jesus, seating regally on high Olympus occasionally found the nectar [illegible] and the ambrosia [illegible] certainly we common mortals always under-rate [illegible] we call the every-day [illegible] the place where we live and the nutriment which whether [illegible]

The next question is whether we'll be much better off, if we did find the [illegible] The erudite Bill Snyder [illegible] a few flaws would [illegible] that "dont him [illegible] something to [illegible] even them prevented him from [illegible]

It is curious how [illegible] who attempt [illegible] world does not [illegible] of one's [illegible] "Difficulties" [illegible] are "Self-Help." "Simple things overcome."

It is extremely difficult for a man to make 60 miles an hour on his own legs. So he contrives an automobile to do it. Likewise, it is difficult for him to fly across a continent of space. So he makes a telephone to do it. His wife may, perhaps, swim the English channel, but he shrinks from attempting the Atlantic as too difficult. So he builds a Leviathan to do it for him. And so on and so on.

Our civilization, such as it is, is really nothing but the aggregated results of men's triumphs over difficulties.

And I have recently read with much satisfaction the dictum of a prominent health authority to the effect that the very climate of New England which we denounce so vigorously is, after all, almost ideal for developing the stamina of bodily and mental character upon which the future of civilization depends.

We all know who spend most of their time hunting for the unattainable. They hop from Riverside drive to Newport and from Newport to Bar Harbor and from Bar Harbor to Miami and from Miami to the Riviera, and then back again in a vain search for something which doesn't exist. They keep the trails dusty from Dan to Beersheba, never realizing that the only real Jerusalem on earth lies just midway of their travels, and is certainly quite as good a place as either Dan or Beersheba,—even if no better.

Some poet somewhere speaks approvingly of the "divine discontent" which impels its possessors towards their ideals. Another and greater poet, however, frankly questions whether it isn't better to "bear the ills we have than fly to others that we know not of."

Frankly, I own up that I do not like to hoe corn in a shadeless New England field, with a blazing sun overhead and the mercury mounting above the nineties. Nor do I like to wade to the barn through neck-deep New England snow-drifts to feed and water the stock. On the other hand, I just as frankly admit that I'd rather do both than be shook out of my crumbling house by a San Francisco earthquake, or be blown out or it by a Florida tornado, or be drowned out of it by a prairie flood.

New England climate isn't exactly my ideal. Nor is that of any other nook or corner of this globe.

New England farming isn't an "easy snap." Nor is real farming anywhere else.

The longer I live and the more I come to know about other localities, the stronger grows my conviction that we might go farther and fare worse.

THE FARMER.

FITCHVILLE

Members of the class of 1923 N. F. A. are greatly pleased to learn that one of their members, Charles N. Brush of Bozrah has been selected by the democratic party of that town as its candidate for the office of representative in the coming election.

Charles N. Brush was born in Bozrah on what is known as Brush Hill, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brush, who for years has conducted a large dairy farm and several years ago conducted what was at that time considered one of the largest creameries in the eastern part of the state under the name of Brush Bros. Creamery. Upon the advent of the Bozrah Creamery association, Brush Brothers discontinued their creamery, George H. Brush giving his attention to their large farm. The other brother Charles Brush, now of Brookline, Mass., entered the cotton brokerage business and has been very successful. Before his residence in Brookline, Mass., Charles Brush was a resident of Norwich. After completing his early education in the public schools in Franklin and Norwich, entered Norwich Free academy, graduating with the class of 1923. During the graduating exercises he was highly commended on his oratorical ability. After graduating he entered the employ of J. A. Ferguson, Norwich, having charge of the radio department. After a time he left the employ of this company to enter business for himself in Fitchville. His many friends are greatly pleased at his nomination and are working hard to insure his election.

Air Replaces Ice

Storage rooms for fruit that are air-cooled have made another inroad on the iceman's fortunes. In Michigan apples are stored in rooms with ingenious construction so that mechanical refrigeration is dispensed with.

The method adopted is to take air in through several openings or air intakes built in the walls just above the ground level or near the floor of the structure, and provide outlets through ventilators which extend from the ceiling of the fruit room out through the roof of the building. Both inlet and outlet flues are equipped with tight doors which serve as dampers to permit either the entrance of or to exclude the outdoor air.

When the outdoor air temperature is lower than that in the storage room or of the fruit the inlet doors and those of the outlet flues may be opened, permitting the warmer air of the storage room to pass out through the flues. All openings are tightly closed whenever outdoor temperature is higher than that inside the room. It is stated that the most satisfactory humidity conditions are obtained with earth or clay floors to the stores. A relative humidity of 85 per cent is recommended. To increase the humidity the floors are watted, and to decrease the humidity the room is ventilated with outside air.

CHINESE COOLIE POSES AS "MORPHINE INJECTOR

There are many ways of making a living in China but a coolie brought a new one to light at the International Mixed court when he told the foreign assessor that he was by profession a morphine injector. He brought one of his patients, an elderly Chinese, to court with him to prove his assertion.

The patient testified that he had received nine injections and when he bared his body the court discovered that it was covered with punctures. The professional injector was sentenced to a month in jail and his professional instruments were confiscated.

Gas in the Stomach is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Doctor: "Have you any organic trouble?"

Patient: "No, Doc; I can't even carry a tune."—Brooklyn Standard Union.

He: "After all, where would woman be without her finery?"

She: "Presumably in her bath."—Brown Jug.

Enthusiastic Angler (resuming interrupted story): "Let me see, now—where was I?"

Guest (resourcefully): "You'd just finished telling me about a fish you once caught."—London Opinion.

"Autumn is the saddest time of the year. I wonder why?"

"Possibly it's because you get coal and ice bills at the same time."—Boston Transcript.

"Hush, dear. Uncle Ajax is rich enough to eat with a fire shovel if he prefers to."—Berkshire Eagle.

Teacher: "Use the right verb in this sentence: 'The toast was drank in silence.'"

Pupil: "The toast was ate in silence."—Pathfinder.

"And are you really content to spend your life walking the country begging?" asked the old lady, severely.

"No, lady," answered the tramp. "Many's the time I've wished I had a car!"—Happy Mag.

While driving through the hill country engine trouble forced a Swede to stop near a cabin around which a dozen youngsters were playing. Soon all of them were peering through the fence, watching Ole work, the father finally appearing also.

"You got a monkey wrench bar?" asked the Swede, unable to reach the trouble with his own tools.

"No, this ain't no monkey ranch," the old-timer shot back. "They's all mine. What of it?"—Capper's Weekly.

Gossiping wives are put in jail in Custrin, a little Belgian town. On the complaint of husbands housewives who leave their morning work to hang over the back fence with the neighbors can be committed by the authorities to the town bastille. Numerous complaints are made by husbands who invoke this revival of an old medieval law to keep their wives in hand.

Germany's latest feminine sensation is Hertha Hauk, the "carpentress of Templin," as the metropolitan press calls her. Hertha, aged fifteen has decided to follow the calling of her father and grandfather and become a regular, approved master carpenter. She has registered with the carpenters' guild as apprentice, and hopes within three years to qualify as journeyman and later to pass the master's examination.

The English immigration law is rigid and formidable and the men who enforce it make no exceptions. When a cross-channel airplane crashed into a haystack near Dymchurch not long ago, killing three of its passengers and injuring twelve, immigration officials from Folkstone were quickly on the spot and the passports and baggage of all the unfortunate passengers were carefully examined. None of the uninjured was allowed to leave until these formalities had been completed.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS FRANCES DAVIS

(Special to The Bulletin)

SPRING HILL, Oct. 28—A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Frances E. Davis at her home at Spring Hill, in Mansfield on Monday evening. About fifty friends gave her a surprise, bringing varied and beautiful gifts to express their esteem.

The program consisted of piano solos, vocal duets, readings and the singing of old time songs with accompaniment by the piano and banjo.

Rev. Florence Jones gave a short talk suitable to the occasion, before the presentation of the gifts.

Following the opening of the packages, refreshments were served consisting of ice dream and punch.

The date of this gathering happened to fall on the 28th wedding anniversary of Miss Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey C. Davis which added to the pleasure of the occasion.

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days

If You Don't Do It, Gte Your Money Back

Ask any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

It's the new pleasant way to take nasty Cod Liver Oil and will not upset the most delicate stomach.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist is authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks.

NEW LONDON COAST GUARDSMAN'S JAW KICKED IN FOOTBALL SCRIMMAGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 28—Richard T. Burke, United States Coast Guard Academy cadet, is a patient at Lawrence hospital as the result of sustaining injuries yesterday afternoon while participating in football practice with other cadets at the Academy. Burke's most serious injury is to his jaw. Burke and a score of other cadets were putting in hard practice and during one of the scrimmages he was caught in a tackle and thrown violently to the ground. In the melee he was accidentally kicked in the jaw. He was attended at the Academy by a physician, after which he was admitted to the hospital. At the hospital it was stated, Burke would probably be under treatment there but a short time.

A STOREKEEPER SUES UNDER ODD CONDITIONS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 28—The building at the corner of State street and Railroad avenue the first unit comes to view to persons leaving the railroad station, has been in darkness several weeks, presenting an appearance of neglect and inactivity in business. The place has been attached and business has ceased there, the allegation being that the occupant did not pay rent, nor did he settle for gas that was charged against the place. The lessee of the building would not consent to have the place occupied unless rent was paid. Then the party hiring the place is said to have put a certain sum of money to secure the gas companys bill for gas in the future, but that did not satisfy the lessees of the building. Now the keeper of the store that is in darkness has brought suit to recover damages.

Persons who go through the woods in this section say there has never been a season when there was such a scarcity of chestnuts and hickory nuts as now. The first frost has been supposed to be the time for the opening of chestnut burs and for the ripening of hickory nuts so that they drop from the trees, or are easily gathered by shaking the branches or by throwing sticks into the trees. Now there are few of either nuts to be had. Since the blight struck the chestnut trees a few years ago the chestnut yield has been at an end.

Rarely has there been a year when larger crops were yielded by farms hereabouts. The potato crop is a very large one, and other vegetables were prolific in yield. Farmers are said not to be anxious to dispose of their potatoes at current prices, believing that if they can hold back their crop till cold weather sets in they will get much more money for them than they are offered just now.

Autoists find consolation in expending money for tires for their machines at present because the price has dropped. Dealers who stocked up on tires are not so satisfied with the prospect that cheaper prices presents.

Freights continue heavy on the trains and steamers of the New Haven road, and passenger traffic is gratifyingly large. About the railway station the facilities for handling freight that comes in small boxes and packages have been greatly improved in recent years, for the company has provided a power-driven apparatus that hauls heavy trucks laden down with goods which formerly were transported by trucks propelled by man-power.

There has been a rush the past week to hand into the office of the assessor in his city lists of taxable real estate. Delinquents are compelled to pay 10 per cent in addition to their regular assessed amounts for failure to hand in lists. So the rush is accountable for.

It is possible that at some future time the city may feel rich enough to cover the Belgian block pavement on Bank street with concrete and thus secure a fine drive from State street to the beach. The brick paving on lower Bank street is now receiving attention from the highway department, the work improving the surface of the street, in that it is made smooth for vehicles. The attention of the same department must be given to Montauk avenue alongside the rails of the trolley company for there is need of repairs being made there.

Elizabeth McDonald, 12, residing with her parents at Mystic, was struck by an automobile yesterday afternoon and is now receiving treatment at Lawrence hospital. Her injuries consist of a fractured right leg, injuries to her right eye and nose and bumps and bruises on the body. At the hospital it was stated that while the girl received severe injuries, her condition was not considered serious. The girl was walking along a highway used chiefly by automobiles and near her home when she was run down by an automobile. She was taken to her home and attended by a physician, after which she was transferred to the hospital.

Salvatore Mugovero, of Jewett City, has purchased the business on Railroad avenue, formerly conducted by Charles H. Baldwin. Mr. Mugovero, who formerly resided in New London, has conducted a lodging house and restaurant for several years at Jewett City.

Mrs. Ella Atwood, a patient at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, was able to return to her apartment at the Hotel Mohican today.

The funeral of Ignatius Meisaaca, formerly of Noank, whose death occurred at West Palm Beach, Fla., last Monday and for whom funeral services were held at that place earlier in the week, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 62 Washington street. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Manuel J. and Mary J. Sousa have sold a house and lot on the westerly side of Denison avenue to Eva Socol.

To the advisory board of the Catholic Diocesan Bureau of Social Service, Jay St. New London, the following report has been submitted by the New London council:

Chairman Mrs. C. A. Carr.

The New London council has had an active year. A course of lectures was given which was well attended. Michael Williams, Rev. Father George J. [illegible], Rev. Father O'Callaghan and Rev. Father Keane were among the interested speakers.

A contest was given to raise money [illegible] for a Ford car to be used by the secretary of the Diocesan Bureau of Social Service, whose work takes her all over the county, in fact, over the state in follow-up work.

The members of the council took an active part in the community chest drive.

A committee organized a large vacation class for children. Catechism was taught and many picnics enjoyed.

Committees carried on the usual [illegible] visiting at Thanksgiving and Christmas, at which times baskets were provided for the poor and entertainments given to the children.

All funds raised by the council from rummage sales, etc. have been turned over to the Diocesan Bureau of Social Service.

The council has already arranged an excellent program for the coming year the outstanding feature being movies to be conducted by a licensed operator at the Diocesan Bureau of Social Service for the children. The pictures will be in three parts, namely religious, humorous and educational.

NORTH STONINGTON CAR STRIKES THOMAS JORDAN, 7

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 28—Thomas Jordan, 7, whose parents reside at 23 Woodbridge street, was struck and injured by an automobile driven by J. Arnold Todd, of North Stonington, this evening at 7 o'clock on Bank street. The boy sustained lacerations and severe bruises and was taken to the hospital, but his parents refused to heed the advice of physicians attending the boy and removed him to his home.

Todd was driving his automobile through Bank street and approaching Howard street, where Traffic Officer Dennis Cavanaugh was on duty, he received a signal to proceed, which he did. Just as the automobile was passing the traffic officer the boy, darted from the east sidewalk to go to the opposite side of the street and ran in front of the auto. Todd applied the brakes, but the auto could not be brought to a stop in time to avoid hitting the youngster, who was caught by the right hand mudguard and wheel and hurled with force to the pavements. Todd alighted from his car and with Officer Cavanaugh's aid the boy was placed in the machine and taken to the hospital where physicians started to administer to him. A short time afterwards the father of the boy appeared at the hospital and was advised to permit the child to remain there over night as there was a possibility that he may have received internal injuries and that condition, if it existed, would be apparent tomorrow. The father, however, was firm and refused to permit his son to receive further treatment at the hospital and had him conveyed to his home.

Mrs. Joseph L. Benoit, 288 Ocean avenue, reported to the police this afternoon that she had lost her toy English fox terrier and that she suspected one of two men of stealing the animal. Mrs. Benoit stated that the dog was about the house during the morning and that between 11 o'clock and noon two men were working around the house. After the workmen had left she missed the dog.

The Westerly police this afternoon requested the New London police to maintain a lookout for an automobile stolen from the former place. The Westerly police were unable to give a description of the automobile other than it was a Ford coupe. They did not know the registration of the auto, nor the model. It was said that the auto contained but very little fuel, hardly more than one gallon of gasoline being in the car when it was stolen.

William G. Glynn, 3 Rosemary street, made complaint to the police this afternoon that his automobile had been damaged through the mischievous conduct of boys, presumably students at the Winthrop school. Glynn stated that he left the automobile in the rear of the school and was away from it some time, while he attended to business matters. During his absence the boys released the brake and pushed it to a grade, which the auto descended until it hit a tree. The windshield was smashed, one tire punctured and wires of the engine disconnected. Glynn estimated the damage at $20. Patrolman William Graham was assigned to investigate the complaint and decided that several of the boys attending school at the school were responsible for the damage. The officer ascertained the names of some of the boys and will obtain other names tomorrow, to be turned over to Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield.

Capt. William Deegan, of the detective bureau of the New Haven police department this evening communicated with the New London police stating that the New Haven department had a warrant for the arrest of Ingold Trotman, charged with [illegible] and that Trotman was employed on the New London line steamer Richard Peck. Patrolmen Clarence Mantin and John Sullivan went to the wharf where the steamer was tied up and inquiring, it interviewed the steward as to any knowledge he might have of the man wanted. It was stated that Trotman was not employed on the boat and an employe answering his description was employed there. Trotman is described as being about six feet, one inch in height and very light.

A Connecticut Transportation bus figured in a triple collision on State street shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon when it collided with a truck driven by William J. Brady, contractor and the latter machine was forced against a motionless auto owned by Daniel Fisher, of Church street. The bus and the Fisher auto were damaged, but the truck escaped injury. The collision caused a blockade of traffic for about ten minutes. The bus in passing the Brady truck side-swiped the latter auto and resulted in the metal side of the bus being ripped open several feet. The bump caused the truck to be forced against the Fisher sedan which was parked in front of the First Church of Christ.

Officers at the submarine base estimated that over 5,000 men, women and children availed themselves of the opportunity to inspect the base Navy day, the crowd being by far the largest that has visited the base on any single day when a celebration was held there.

Morris Bowers, of Waterford, was arrested by state police from Groton barracks last night, charged with violation of rules of the road, the automobile he was driving being held responsible for a triple crash in Waterford. That none of the occupants of the automobile two men and two women, were seriously injured was miraculous, for two of the automobiles overturned and the third was badly damaged. One of the automobiles, which was being driven by Joseph Ricatta, 195 Huntington street was headed towards New London and at a point familiarly known as Flat Rock on the Hartford turnpike. At an intersecting highway another auto driven by Miss Ruth Tinken, Salem, and in which was Miss Edna Ricks, Oakdale, and headed towards Salem, came along. As both autos were about to pass the auto driven by Bowers emerged from the side road and crashed into the other two autos. The only injuries sustained by the occupants were scratches and bruises.

P. LeRoy Harwood, treasurer of the Mariners Savings bank, was in New Britain this afternoon and delivered an address before the Rotary club of that city.

Thomas F. Connors, son of Mrs. Eilen Connors, of Berkley avenue, and Miss Pauline Sauerzopf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sauerzopf, of Ledyard street were married at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the marriage being solemnized by Rev. Michael Reagan. Peter Sauerzopf, brother of the bride, was best man and Miss Margaret Connors, attended the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Connors will make their home on Crystal avenue.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater

Thousands of sailors and marines, considered by experts the most efficient fighting men in the world, are seen in action in The Blue Eagle, Fox Films version of Gerald Beaumont's last story, which comes to the Breed theater today for a two day run.

John Ford directed the production, with George O'Brien and Janet Gaynor in the leading romantic roles.

The story, centering about a gang feud between Big Tim Ryan and George D'Arcy, sweeps into action with dramatic intensity and includes many gripping scenes in the American navy.

William Russell, cast as Big Tim, gives Smiling George one of the hardest fights of his screen career when Father Joe, as exemplified by Robert Edeson, decides upon the only honorable way to end the feud. Both men love pretty Rose Cooper and the shrewd old priest knows but one way to settle the matter. The way in which he accomplishes this furnishes Director Ford with one of the most unusual twists ever injected into studio procedure.

Utilizing the Pacific coast fleet, Mr. Ford shot thousands of feet of film showing the fighting men at their best. For these sequences he used the finest ships in the world, including the Dreadnaught California, with a roster of more than 1400 men.

O'Brien, a former member of Uncle Sam's naval forces, was perfectly at home in these surroundings and gave the sailors and marines the thrill of their lives when he fought a [illegible] with William Russell on [illegible].

[illegible] in the cast are Margaret [illegible], Richie Suppelly, David [illegible], Henry Walbrook, Lew Short [illegible] Jerry the Giant.

Palace Theater

[illegible] semi-professional vaudeville and [illegible] another big program of [illegible] will be presented at the [illegible] to the fine picture program. All [illegible] who have attended these try-out vaudeville nights know how good the show is and that accounts for their great popularity and due to the [illegible] acts that have secured good contracts after their appearance on the Palace stage. These shows are attracting talent of unusual excellence and tonight's bill it is promised will be the best yet and a capacity house should be on hand to give the young folks a hearty welcome. On the screen will be shown a notable double feature program and one that is of unusual excellence headed by Ernest Lubitsch's latest success So This is Paris with a cast of popular players including Monte Blue, Patsy Ruth Miller and Lilyan Tashman. So This is Paris is flippant, feathery, furious, flaming, French, a delight to the eye and a great story that holds the interest from the first flash. Lubitsch has produced some great pictures, but nothing has equalled So This is Paris that is proving one of the sensational successes of the new season. The second feature of the big double bill is none the less interesting as it is. Compromise latest triumph of the adorable Irene Rich supported by Clive Brook, Louise Fazenda and Pauline Garon. Compromise is a stirring drama the story of a woman who surrendered to love but refused to give her soul. It has big scenes and as a climax a terrific tornado wiping out a whole town. Then there is Gene Tunney in episode eight of the Fighting Marine that is more exciting with each new chapter and the Palace Topical Events bringing all the latest news of the world to the screen and completing one of the finest programs to be seen anywhere.

Barney Rapp and His Orchestra

Barney Rapp and his Original Victor Recording orchestra of 13 pieces, who have entertained thousands of dance lovers in New England's famous ballrooms this past summer as well as other thousands of the phonograph audiences will make his initial appearance or the season in the state armory on Monday evening Nov. 1st, under the auspices of the local Battery company.

Barney Rapp and his team of Victor Recorders are New England's most popular favorites in the dance field today. It boasts one of the finest aggregations of musicians that has ever toured New England and it differs widely from the common run of dance orchestras in that it not only can be depended upon to furnish the latest dance numbers of the day but carries with it that distinctive rhythmetic swing to its tempo that is thoroughly enjoyed by the wide and varied audiences that nightly throng to hear it. Although Barney Rapp's style of music is widely imitated by traveling orchestras, some of whom go the extent of using his name, none can quite reach the heights that Barney Rapp has in this field of entertainment.

As this is the first appearance of this sterling dance band in this city the members of the local Battery company have every reason to feel that a capacity house will turn out to greet this sensationally successful dance band.

Normal Weight for Every Child

Mothers who have been attending the Well Child conferences in the state are learning that their children can gain in weight if a health plan is being followed. Regular monthly attendance at these health centers teaches mothers that there are probably three causes for children to be under weight, some physical defects, not enough food of the right sort, and not enough rest. Physical defects are being corrected as a result of these conferences and little by little other factors are being controlled. Mothers now learn that pie and cake, coffee and pickles keep children from being healthy and they are now substituting milk and the grained cereals and bread, also lots of vegetables and fruit.

Furthermore mothers watch the amount of food eaten as they realize that gain in weight depends on each child eating plenty of the food each day. Often failure to eat enough food is the only factor which keeps children underweight.

Some children are kept thin because they are too active, always on the move they forget to eat or sleep, unless parents stand guard and insist upon a rest period each day, and an early bed hour each night. Such health lessons are learned at the Wauregan monthly Well Child conference. The November conference will be held at Company hall at 2 to 4 p. m. on Tuesday, November 2.

Broadway Theater

Frazier's Music Masters is the feature act of the five act Keith Albee vaudeville bill which opened at the Broadway theater yesterday. These five singing and dancing instrumentalists are eccentric only inasmuch as their famed eccentricity is an enormous boom to their offering—a comedy called Music Lessons. A quartet of male voices, comedy, song, dance and a general good time was had by all.

Rapid, clean cut and new ideas in athletic skill and jollity makes the opening by Stewart and Mercer an outstanding attraction.

Kennedy and Christie was real entertainment with song, dance and comedy chatter.

A comedy offering with song trimmings by the well known comediennes Ada Lum and Gussie White was a big hit in number four spot.

The closing offering introduced Milt Dill and Sister with their pet ropes Kink and Tangle which is novel and out of the ordinary.

Country Store at Taftville

The greatest show that will be shown at Taftville in years will be staged at the Parish hall Sunday, Oct. 31, Halloween night at 8 o'clock sharp under the auspices of Army-Navy club directed by J. H. Troland for the benefit of Sacred Heart parish. The show is composed of a real old country store. James Hanlon as store man, Frank Carbary, the county sheriff, Jemery, the county selectman, A. Burelle, doctor of the town, Emile Raymond, the poor farmer, Harry McGlone, the black sheep of the village, John Benoit, the rich farmer and Kelly, the Irish judge of the town make an attractive cast. This act will bring tears from laughing. There will also be 20 acts of stage talent, professional and amateur. Warren Kane is featured to take part and will entertain with two popular numbers. He is one of the best in these parts and his appearance will be greatly appreciated.

Others who will take part in the acts include: Trumbly, Tellier, Fregeau, Frank Carbary, Flynn, Miss Theo Allard, George Boucher, Connie McDowell, Holland, Caddie, the Benoit trio, Miss Loretta Lucier, Miss Ann Haslem and Miss Mae O'Brien, William Delaney, Miss Elizabeth Corcoran, John Kelly's quartette from Norwich and John Riordan, Ed. Connelly's trio will put over a few numbers. This is Taftville's first chance to hear them in their first appearance but every one knows what Ed can do with his voice and with his own trio should go over strong.

The man who has made good doesn't have to blow his own horn.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York

Stocks irregular; tobacco issues at year's high.

Bonds higher; foreign obligations strong.

Foreign exchanges steady; francs and lira advance.

Cotton higher; trade buying.

Sugar easier; increased spot offerings.

Coffee weak; unsettled Brazilian market.

Chicago

Wheat: Barely steady; poor exports.

Corn easy; good weather.

Cattle easy.

Hogs lower and active.

REACTION IN STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)—Stock prices turned reactionary today after an early period of strength. Early buying, which carried scores of issues up 1 to 4 points, was inspired by the recent series of favorable dividend and earnings statements, but the apparent failure to attract an outside interest led to a resumption of short selling, which wiped out many of the earlier gains, and sent a number of issues down 1 to 3 points below yesterday's final quotations. Closing quotations generally were around the lowest of the day.

Railroad shares yielded with the industrials despite the fact that freight traffic broke all records in the week ended October 16 when 1,210,163 cars were loaded, or 28,152 above the previous high established in the week ended September 18 this year. Pittsburgh and West Virginia was bid up over 5 points to 113 and closed near the top, but Chesapeake and Ohio closed fractionally lower at 180 1-4 after having touched 171 7-8. Atchison fell from 155 2-8 to 153 7-8. Atlantic Coast Line from 199 1-4 to 194. Nickel Plate from 196 1-2 to 195 1-4 and New York Central from 135 1-4 to 134.

Call money held steady at 4 1-2 percent all day with only about $5,000,000 in loans called, an unusually small amount on the eve of month-end settlement. The New York Federal Reserve bank announced no change in the rediscount rate of 4 per cent, although rumors of a possible reduction were heard in some quarters.

After the market closed, the Bethlehem Steel corporation announced net income of $4,...,079 in the third quarter, equivalent to $7.77 a share on the common as against $2.04 a share in the preceding quarter and 1.56 cents in the third quarter of 1925.

U. S. Steel common touched 142, a new high on the current recovery, and then settled back to 139 7-8 for a net loss of 1 points. General Motors sold above 153 around the end of the fourth hour and then dropped back to 150 1-4, unchanged on the day. American Can duplicated yesterday's high price of 53 1-4 and then reacted 2 points. Rumors of new financing, which were later denied, caused a fresh outburst of selling in Hudson Motors, which touched a new low for the year at 47, as against the high's high of 133 1-4. Continental Baking A was run up 4 points and then lost nearly all its gain. Pathe broke from 47 to 41 on rumors of a weak long account in that stock and then rebounded to 43 3-4. Fox Film and Warner Pictures reacted in sympathy.

A temporary outburst of bullish enthusiasm developed in the oil shares under the leadership of Pan-American B and Texas Co on buying presumably influenced by the large current earnings of the stronger companies.

Time money and commercial paper were unchanged.

Commodity markets were mixed. Cotton rallied briskly at the opening, but the higher prices encountered southern hedge selling and the closing was only 7 to 11 points higher. Wheat prices yielded fractionally on increased offerings. Raw sugar was unchanged, but coffee prices broke 23 to 28 points.

Heavy buying of the French and Italian currencies, based on the prediction of Dwight Morrow that the currencies would be placed on gold basis ... exchange turned. French francs ruled around 3.17 cents and Italian lire around 4.02 cents. Other rates held steady.

While the hostess Mrs. W. R. Hazlett was serving dainty refreshments the members of the We Moderns decided to issue a challenge to the champion Eazes for a tournament. Would be challenge answered through the Bulletin.

JUDGE HEARD ARGUMENTS IN CRAIG CO. SUIT

Arguments in the case of H. G. Craig & Co., Ltd., and others against The Uncas Paper Board Co., were made in the superior court at New London, Thursday before Judge Newell Jennings. The judge opened court a half hour early to hear the arguments on the case, which was tried recently there. Attorney Frank L. McVeigh appeared for James E. Smith, who seeks compensation for services rendered to the receiver of the paper board company and who also seeks reimbursement in the amount of $3,000 which he paid for oil, claiming it was used to the advantage of the receiver of the Uncas Paper Board Co. Attorney Arthur T. Keefe argued as counsel for the receiver, Frank W. Browning.

Did Sewing For Sale

The woman's auxiliary of Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, was entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Herbert Willey on Asylum St. There was a good attendance of members and considerable sewing was done for the sale to be conducted by the auxiliary, the proceeds of which are to be used in its welfare work.

PRESTON HUSBAND AND WIFE SUE FOR INJURIES IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Two suits for a total of $5,000 damages, against Albert N. Abbe of New Britain have been brought in the superior court by Isadore Needleman of Preston and his wife, Becky, because of an automobile accident about 11:00 on the morning of Sept. 11 on the Mathewson Hill road in Preston, where this road intersects the state highway leading from Norwich. The place is opposite the farmhouse of Oscar H. Main.

Abbe was driving his own machine in a southerly direction on the state highway and as the New Britain man approached the intersection Needleman, who was driving his own car, approaching the other on the right, claims that Abbe failed to give the right of way, but ran into the Needleman car at an excessive rate of speed.

Two front wheels of Needleman's machine were broken, two front tires blown out, the frame, steering gear, front axle and wishbone of the machine bent and twisted and the motor so damaged that it is claimed the machine is of practically no value, although it was worth $350 before the accident.

Needleman was injured also in the body and legs so that he was incapacitated for a time and spent $25 for medical services.

He was also obliged to pay $350 for medical and hospital attention for his wife who was injured. He asks $1,500 damages.

Mrs. Needleman says for $3,500 damages she was thrown out of her husband's car in the collision sustaining a serious scalp wound which severed several nerves and, it is claimed, caused a partial paralysis of the scalp. She also sustained bruises about the face, a permanent scar on the nose, a severely strained leg and a contusion of the abdomen.

The cases are returnable to the superior court in December.

GEN. ANDREWS ENUMERATES OBSTACLES TO PROHIBITION

Chief Enforcement Officer Mentions: Resentment to Federal Police Power in Communities by the Citizens; Absence of Cooperation Between Federal and Local Authorities; Multitudes Tempted by Lucrative Profession of Bootlegging; Farmers Measuring Their Corn Crop in Gallons, Rather Than Bushels; Contempt For Federal Authority Since Advent of the Prohibition Law—Withal, the Dry Chief Takes a Hopeful View of the Future.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The prohibition law "must be shared by local with federal authorities, Assistant Secretary Andrews in charge of its enforcement, warned tonight before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Solution of this problem, the general said, demands in addition to state enforcement that "the agencies of social control be induced to take up again the task of education."

Painting a gloomy and "very curious picture" of the past, the dry chief saw a hopeful view of the future, prediction of an early elimination of rum-running and the plugging of the sources of supply of alcohol and beer.

"A very curious reaction is the attitude of the people after they got national prohibition," he said, "the stage was auspiciously set for splendid action, but an unexpected psychology caused the withdrawal of the old-fashioned forces of this great drama and left the stage to amateurs and a few propagandists.

"The great forces of social reform that had worked so successfully for temperance along educational lines, instead of grasping the great opportunity for a steady forceful advance and overwhelming success, apparently felt that the battle was already won, and ceased their efforts.

"Everybody looked to Washington and placed the responsibility for law enforcement upon the federal government, and, unfortunately for the law's success, the federal government was accepting this responsibility.

"But while the citizens generally accepted the idea that the federal government should be responsible for the enforcement of the law, they nevertheless inheritently resented this exercise of police power on the part of the federal agents within their own communities as affecting their own individual privileges.

"In the large cities the criminal classes turned from their own precarious livelihood of safe cracking, hot robberies, etc., to this much more lucrative and far less dangerous profession of bootlegging. Innumerable citizens, under the present prevailing urge for easy money, turned from lawful pursuits to engage in this lucrative business. It is even reported that farmers in certain localities are now measuring their corn crops in gallons, rather than in bushels.

"Meantime the criminal traditional fear of offending the federal authorities was rapidly turned by experience in the slowness and uncertainty of punishment to a contempt for this same federal authority."

General Andrews asserted, however, that the administration was making progress against this situation. He emphasized that the 18th amendment specifically provided for responsibility and power by both the states and federal government and gave notice that while the federal authorities were willing to cooperate in policing they would have to leave most of this work to local officials.

Andrews said he would ask the next congress to enact legislation permitting better control of medicinal liquor.

MONTHLY REVIEW BOSTON FEDERAL RESERVE BANK

BOSTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The drastic slump in cotton prices, accompanying reports of an unusually large crop, has complicated the New England business situation, according to the monthly review of industrial and financial conditions of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston. The report said that increasing activity in wool and woolens in silk had introduced an element of uncertainty. New England mills used six per cent more raw silk in September was being than in August, it was stated.

"In August and early September there was a big buying movement in cotton goods, resulting in a material improvement in New England mill activity, but the lower price for raw cotton soon brought this period of good business to an end. About the same time the wool market became less active after a period of considerable strength and good buying. The silk market turned weak during the first half of October. This combination of circumstances has introduced an element of uncertainty into the textile industry of this district.

"Reports which have recently become available show that, taking New England as a whole, business activity was considerably better in September than in August, continuing an improvement which began in July. The rate of activity in September this year was not as high as a year ago, but was better than either two or three years ago. Activity in metropolitan Boston increased in September even more rapidly than in New England as a unit."

REPORT SURVEY OF COTTON INDUSTPY IN NEW ENGLAND

BOSTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—"The return of New England manufacturing resources to a parity with those of the south requires a means of compensating for the existing differences in wage levels and the elimination of legislative inequalities," it was reported today by the committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce which has just completed a survey of the cotton industry in New England.

"Only under these conditions," the report continues, "can a sound basis for constructive competition between New England and the south, in which success is rightfully measured in terms of administrative ability, be attained. The accomplishment of the first requirement has been effected by an increase in efficiency of mills whose higher wage costs have been justified by the superior efficiency of operators, resulting in a superior quality of output, which commands a superior price. The latter refers to elements of style, artistry and service as well as to grades of weave.

"There are several ways by which a reduction in the various legislative restrictions upon labor hours might be consummated. The invoking of national enactment offers one method. The introduction of greater restrictions in other sections offers another, and present restrictions in New England might be modified. Obviously the application of this last method lies entirely in the hands of the New England people."

FURTHER REPORTS OF CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The republican speakers bureau for eastern territory today reported to the clerk of the house that it had received contributions $26,750 from the republican senatorial and congressional committees and had spent $19,035.61 up to October 25.

The republican senatorial committee reported contributions of $7,625.78 and expenditures of $63,731.82 leaving a balance of $9,992.16 on October 2.

TWO MEN COMMITTED SUICIDE IN HARTFORD

HARTFORD, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Two suicides were discovered in rooming houses today. Floyd Wagner, 33, was found in a gas filled room at No. 19 Spring street. Walter McNally, 30, a restaurant employe, was found dead with his throat cut in two places in his room at No 101 Main street.

FORMER CONVICT MADE $5,000,000 BOOTLEGGING

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—(AP)—How a convict released from prison virtually penniless amassed a fortune of $5,000,000 by using airplanes in his bootlegging business and operated 45 breweries, was disclosed here tonight following the indictment today of eight men charged with prohibition law violations.

Frank C. Parker is said by federal agents to have amassed more than $5,000,000 by airplane bootlegging since he was released from the Joliet penitentiary five years ago. His eight employes were also named in the indictments which resulted from a raid as 5,000 gallons of beer and $100,000 worth of distillery equipment were seized in a brewery alleged to be owned by Parker.

Parker was imprisoned for participating in an automobile theft ring. He became known to the public in March 1923, as the aviator who carried food and clothing to the group of fishermen trapped by a blizzard on South Fox Island in Lake Michigan. Later he figured as the guarantor of the Carpentier-Gibbons fight at Michigan City, Indiana.

Parker, federal agents claim, is believed to be one of the biggest and wealthiest bootleggers in the country.

His sentence to prison followed his arrest in February 1917 at Minneapolis as the "crown prince" of a group of Chicago automobile thieves which was headed by Ira Bond, a Minneapolis broker.

Parker, according to Special Agent Patrick Roche, also was connected with a Canadian group of bootleggers and that the suicide of a member of the Canadian parliament resulted from an investigation of its activities.

BODY OF REV. EDWARD W. HALL IS TO BE EXHUMED

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Permission for New Jersey state authorities to exhume the body of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, slain New Brunswick, N. J., pastor, was granted today by Justice Dunne, of the Brooklyn supreme court.

State Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor in the Hall-Mills case, made application to Justice Dunne after it was learned that permission given by Manhattan authorities did not apply. Dr. Hall is buried in 3 Brooklyn cemeteries.

The body of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, chorister found slain with the pastor, was re-buried today after an autopsy had been performed. Report on the autopsy was withheld.

THREE CHILDREN FELL FROM PORCH IN HARTFORD

HARTFORD, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Three children fell from the porch on the top floor of a five-story building at No. 503 Front street, to the roof of a one-story annex today, and escaped with minor injuries. The accident occurred when a temporary railing from which the children were hanging gave way. The children were Santina Aceria, 2, on whose porch the other two were playing; Corratto Capuano, 4, her cousin, and Carmelo Tani, 3, both of 123 Charles street. The two boys, Capuano and Tani, were taken to the Hartford hospital where it was reported that the former had a lacerated hand, the latter a broken arm. The girl was bruised.

100,000 ACRES RESERVED FOR NAVY'S AMMUNITION DEPOT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Finding a site for the navy's projected ammunition depot within a 1,000 mile radius of Pacific coast points moved a step nearer accomplishment today when a 100,000 acre tract near Hawthorne, Mineral county, Nevada, was reserved by the interior department for such use if desired.

The tract, withheld from settlement by executive order, is 200 miles south of Reno in the Walker lake district. The Navy department pointed out, however, that the action of the interior authorities did not necessarily mean that the station would be constructed on the reservation.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

MOSCOW, Russia, Oct. 29.—(AP)—For the first time in history, the shepherds and cowherds of Russia have been placed on a trade union basis.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The wages of Belgian coal miners will be increased five per cent beginning Nov. 1 under an agreement reached at a conference between representatives of workers and mine owners.

TOKYO, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Owning to a slump in the silk market a general meeting of silk exporters was held today in Yokohama and it was decided to circularize producers advising them to resist production temporarily.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The West Indian regiment, the oldest negro unit in the British empire, has been disbanded. The regiment held its final parade in the presence of thousands of citizens who turned out to bid the men farewell.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Yildiz palace, once the home of the sultans but now the new Monte Carlo of the east, has had its first suicide due to losses at the gambling tables in an endeavor to regain the love of a beautiful Russian dancer.

EXPOSES "GRAFT" CHARGES IN HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

BRIDGEPORT, Oct. 29—(AP)—State Highway Commissioner John A. MacDonald today took action concerning the charges of "graft" in the highway department, made in a speech in Meriden last night by Charles G. Morris, democratic candidate for governor. Mr. MacDonald said tonight he had traced the information upon which Mr. Morris based his charges, to an affidavit prepared by H. D. Tyler, of Deep River, a former employe of the state highway department, and said he is a cousin of Rollin U. Tyler, democratic candidate for U. S senator.

In a statement to the Bridgeport Telegram tonight, Commissioner MacDonald said the same sort of charges had been made by Tyler about two years ago, and at that time the department had endeavored to obtain more information from Tyler, so to substantiate the charges in other ways, but was unable to do either. Mr. MacDonald related in his statement how he went to Deep River today, and accompanied Tyer to the state's attorney's office at Middletown, to whom Tyler had said he would give the information concerning "graft." In the presence of State's Attorney Ernest A. Inglis of Middlesex county, Tyler then refused to talk, Mr. MacDonald said, and declared he would tell his story only to the governor. MacDonald invited Tyler to accompany him to Hartford at once to lay the facts before Governor John M. Trumbull, but Tyler refused, MacDonald said.

SENTENCED FOR CRIMINALLY ASSAULTING YOUNG WOMAN

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Frank De Young, Richard Darling and Walter Liddard were sentenced to 15 years each and John R. Gough to ten years in Kingston prison by Justice Rose today after a jury last night returned verdicts of guilty on charges of criminal assault on a young woman of this city. All the men are middle-aged.

The girl identified De Young, Liddard and Darling as three men who dragged her from an automobile in which she was riding with her lover on the night of May 15 and attacked her. Gough was identified as a member of the party but was not accused of attacking the girl. The girl's lover also identified the men. He testified that he had not fought to protect his sweetheart as he "knew it was no use against the four men."

ROCKEFELLER BUYS FIVE CITY BLOCKS IN HARLEM

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Purchase of five city blocks in Harlem by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., became known today. The property is close to a block bought by Rockefeller last spring for a model tenement for negroes.

Nor what purpose the additional five blocks were bought has not been announced, nor has the purchase price been revealed, although the assessed value is $595,000.

If the new purchase should turn out to be for low-rent tenement flats it will be the fifth such project undertaken by Rockefeller.

MILLIONAIRE MARRIES BEAUTY CONTEST WINNER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Eugene W. Brewster, millionaire publisher of motion picture magazines, today announced his marriage last Wednesday to Corliss Palmer, winner of a beauty contest conducted by one of his magazines several years ago. The ceremony took place in Ensenada, Mexico, within twenty-four hours after Brewster had been granted a divorce from his wife by a Mexican court.

Brewster and his bride returned to Hollywood last night and will spend their honeymoon there.

SIMPLE FUNERAL SERVICES FOR EDITOR C. F. CHAPIN

WATERBURY Oct. 29—Funeral services were held here today for Charles Frederic Chapin, editor of the Waterbury American for more than 50 years. They were conducted by Rev. Charles A. Dinsmore, of New Haven, formerly pastor of the First Congregational church in this city and Rev. Herbert D. Gallaudet, the present pastor. The ceremonies were simple and carried out in accordance with the wishes of the deceased. They will be followed by cremation at Springfield, Mass., and burial in the Riverside cemetery here.

FOUNTAIN PENS VALUED AT $3,000 WERE STOLEN

HARTFORD, Oct. 29—(AP)—Fountain pens valued at $3,000 were stolen tonight from Gustave Fischer's stationery store at 256 Asylum street between 9:30 and 10:05 o'clock. Less than four months ago the same store was entered and about $2,000 worth of fountain pens were stolen. Entry was gained tonight by forcing a rear door and steel lattice screen on the inside. A jimmy and two fragments of rope used to fasten the door from the inside while the burglars were at work were the only clues left.

Constable Channing Miller, of Nichols, investigating for Coroner John J. Phelan the grade crossing crash in Trumbull which cost the life of Mrs. Ethel Feeney, 28, of Nichols, learned that Mildred Brelsford, 15, and not the father, George Brelsford, 50, was driver of the automobile

Hopeful Of Settling Pending Coal Strike

Parleys Are Proceeding Along the Lines of a Temporary Resumption of Work.

LONDON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Negotiations with a view to settling the coal strike were in progress today at the headquarters of the cabinet in Downing street, it being understood that mediators of the Trades Union council succeeded in obtaining concessions from both the government and the miners. It is declared that the mediators have been able to bring the parties much nearer together, so that the situation may be considered hopeful for a settlement when the negotiations are resumed next week.

While nothing official is known, it is believed the parleys are proceeding along the lines of a temporary resumption of work on district settlements pending the drawing up of a permanent agreement.

DETROIT PATROLMAN KILLED BANDIT, WOUNDED ANOTHER

DETROIT, Oct. 29—(AP)—Patrolman Frank F. Dombecky today shot dead one man and wounded another who attempted to rob a bank of Detroit branch on the West Side. A year ago he shot and killed a member of a mob who had slain his partner.

Two robbers escaped during the gun fight.

The attempted robbery itself was thwarted before Dombecky who was on other duty in the neighborhood, entered the bank. Albert Coffer, a bank guard stationed in a steel-screened turret above the cages, opened fire with a shotgun, the robbers fleeing at the first shot.

Dombecky arrived outside the bank just as the trio came running out. He and the robbers opened fire almost simultaneously. Dombecky's first shot instantly killed one of the men, Carl R. Porter, 31. His second shot struck Arnold Porter, 18, a brother, but the latter continued running for the car. A third shot shattered the youth's knee and he fell.

The third robber had reached the car and the driver paused long enough to discharge a sawed-off shot gun. The charge struck Dombecky who fell unconscious.

Many shots were fired during the skirmish. A stray shot wounded John Skowanski, a jeweler.

The three wounded men will recover, it was reported.

OREGON BREAKS EVEN IN HIGHWAY CASE DECISION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The unusual happened in the supreme court today by both parties to a highway case from Oregon winning and losing in part.

The court announced it would dismiss a case appealed by Morris and Lowther and other Oregon motor vehicle companies contesting the validity of the state law under which the state highway commission regulates trucks loaded on federal aid highways.

During argument of the case, it was developed that the commission's order had been rescinded and, as a result, the court found itself confronted by a moot question.

When it was ascertained the cause of the complaint had been removed, the court announced its decision, based on the fact that the case was moot, would reverse all actions of the lower courts, including the decision upholding the law.

Under this ruling the whole question of validity would be open to further challenge.

The truck companies sought to invalidate the state law which gave the state highway commission authority to fix maximum loads for motor vehicles on highways. The case also involved a commission order restricting maximum loads on 22 miles of the Columbia River highway, which the commission held was difficult to maintain in winter if subjected to heavy loads.

The lower courts had upheld both the law and the order, the controversy involving the question of the right of the states to regulate loads upon government aided highways.

BOSTON BANKERS FAVOR McFADDEN BRANCH BILL

BOSTON Oct. 29—(AP)—Representatives of member banks of the Boston Federal Reserve bank at their annual meeting today passed a resolution endorsing the McFadden branch bill which is to come up again at the next session of congress. More than 300 bankers attended the meeting. The text of the resolution was similar to that of one adopted by the convention of the American Bankers' association held at Los Angeles early this month.

The crisis is expected within the next 12 to 36 hours.

Memphis Bank Teller Is Short $463,976

Disappeared Wednesday After He Found Examiners Working on His Books.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Shortages of $463,976 in the accounts of Courtney Glissen, 30-year old teller in the Bank of Commerce and Trust company, Memphis, were announced today by officers of the institution after an auditing of the books in the savings department where Glissen worked.

Executives of the bank today received a letter from Glissen who disappeared Wednesday after he found examiners working on his books, announcing his shortages in figures which agreed approximately with those of the accountants.

"I'll be back in a couple of years and pay off everything. I'm now on the honorable road," the letter said.

The letter gave a detailed report of his alleged embezzlements from savings accounts and specified each account tampered with, giving serial numbers.

The teller took the money to promote the manufacture of an automobile body finish preparation called "Permo," which he had been financing here, his letter indicated.

Police of Memphis have broadcast descriptions of the fleeing employe, requesting authorities everywhere to assist in apprehending him.

Entering the bank Wednesday morning to go to work, Glissen saw state bank examiners with his books. Making excuses he left hastily and was not seen again here. Bank officials announced that he had taken about $2,000 incidentally as he left.

Glissen's abandoned automobile was found that night on a highway near here. The clerk's peculations have been going on over a period of three years, bank examiners believed tonight. They have offered a reward for his capture.

The bank announced tonight that the shortages were fully covered by a surety bond on Glissen and the institution's contingent fund and undivided earnings. The institution has a capitalization of $2,000,000 and assets valued at $6,000,000 above the amount of shortage, the official statement said.

Glissen is described by his acquaintances as having been a quiet and industrious lad, a model of business efficiency and commendable character. He was an active church member.

Working steadily at the bank by day, the associates say, Glissen went home at night to his family, and to the office in his residence where he spent hours over his "Permo" business accounts. The letter today contained bodies of his employers that he had lost the money in attempting to make a great national business of his manufacturing company.

The bonds described Glissen as "age 30 years, height 5 feet 7 inches, weight 140 pounds, dark hair, wears tortoise shell glasses, has appearance of squinting eyes giving appearance of being near sighted. Inveterate cigar smoker and fond of gambling."

FEDERAL AGENTS DYNAMITED $300,000 DISTILLERY IN N. JERSEY

EGG HARBOR, N. J., Oct. 29.—(AP)—A huge distillery, located in the deep woods near here and valued at $300,000 was dynamited by federal agents today.

Col. Ira E. Reeves, in charge of New Jersey prohibition enforcement, headed the dynamiting party.

The distillery had just been completed and had not yet started operations when an anonymous postal card sent to Col. Reeves at his Newark office led to the detection and destruction of the plant.

Prohibition agents estimated the plant would have been capable of producing 5,000 gallons of redistilled alcohol a day.

Instead of "mining" the distillery and sending it skyward at once, Col. Reeves ordered it blown apart piecemeal, believing that method safer.

Federal agents said tonight they had the names of the owners and backers of the plant. They declined, however, to make them public, stating that warrants would be issued for their arrest in a few days.

OPENING OF TRIAL OF $50,000 BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Trial of a $50,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Gene Billington, Night club hostess and daughter of a Sunbury Pa., miner, against Dr. Walter W. Davis, Boston dentist, began today.

Miss Billington testified that when Dr. Davis was introduced to her in 1924 he told her he was lonely and asked her to dine. They became friends, she said, and were constant companions for several weeks, most of which time they spent in Broadway resorts. Finally the dentist proposed and was accepted, Miss Billington testified. Later, she asserted, Dr. Davis told her in an apartment he had furnished for her that he could not marry her as he already had a wife.

A Matter of Time

Many a man who is now your friend was only a face and a name at first. Gradually as you came to know him better you claimed him as a friend. It was only a matter of time.

It is only a matter of time before you will also claim as friend many a product which advertising is introducing to you. It may be a truer watch, a quieter door closer, a longer wearing silk stocking, a better oil for your car. If you notice more in the advertisement than just the appearance and the name, you may want to be friends at once.

Advertisements tell you frankly all that makes a product friendly. Qualities, mannerisms—what the watch, door closer, oil is in the habit of doing. Advertisements make you acquainted before you give the product your faith. Since you choose your friends often, why not keep your choice wise?

Bulletin advertisements give you trustworthy friends that may prove indispensable to you.

COOLIDGE REMAINS ALOOF IN SENATORIAL ELECTIONS

President's Position Announced in Formal Statement at the White House—Action Was Due to a Dispatch Representing the President as Having Made Comments on the Candidacy of Frank L. Smith, Republican Nominee in Illinois For the Senate—Advocated the Reelection of Senator Butler and Gov. Fuller, Because They Are Candidates in His Home State.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The position of President Coolidge as one of non-investment in the senatorial election in Illinois, was announced at the white house today in a formal statement. It emphasized that he had expressed no attitude on the choice of a senator in that state.

The statement was made public without comment. Prior to its preparation the attention of the white house had been called to a dispatch in today's issue of the Chicago Tribune, which represented the president, as having made certain comment on the candidacy of Frank L. Smith, republican nominee for the senate.

The text of the statement read:

"For obvious reasons it has to be a policy of President Coolidge to assume no responsibility for press reports as to his position on public questions, made without official sanction. He has given no interviews, made no statement, taken no position and expressed no attitude, for the purpose of influencing the choice of United States senator in Illinois."

A summary of the Tribune article submitted at the white house by newspaper correspondents, represented Mr. Coolidge as having made certain comments on the political situation in Illinois particularly with respect to revelations before the senate campaign funds investigating committee.

The president in issuing the statement broke for the second time only a silence he has maintained throughout the present campaign.

By formal statement last Sunday he made his first departure from this policy by coming out in behalf of the candidacy of Senator Butler who is opposed for re-election on Massachusetts by David I. Walsh, a former democratic senator from that state.

Coupled with his endorsement of Senator Butler, the president also made favor of Governor Fuller who is seeking re-election on the republican ticket.

At the time of this first statement, however, the white house made clear the president was speaking to the voters of his own state and could not be expected to take similar action in other state campaigns.

Mr. Coolidge also maintained a position of neutrality in primary campaigns last spring excepting one occurrence that was construed by some, to constitute an endorsement of Senator Lenroot in Wisconsin, who subsequently was defeated for re-nomination.

This took place last May at the dedicatory here of a statue in memory of John Ericsson, designer of the USS war ship old Monitor, at the time the president spoke in favor of Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin.

Although the opinion of Mr. Coolidge on the Illinois campaign has been sought, he has refrained from expressing any public view. Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck and Company, was a guest of the president at White Pine camp in the Adirondacks last summer but at that time no word came from the president of the Illinois situation and Rosenwald said in response to questions that he could not discuss politics at the summer white house.

Later, in testimony before the senate campaign committee in Chicago, the name of Rosenwald was linked with the candidacy of Hugh S. Magill, independent republican of Zion, Ills.

This testimony was in line with Rosenwald's pronouncement prior to his visit to the summer white house that he favored an independent candidate.

STATEMENT BY SENATORIAL CANDIDATE FRANK L. SMITH

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Following emphatic denial by the white house that President Coolidge had expressed any attitude of the Illinois senatorial contest, Frank L. Smith, republican nominee, tonight repeated his reply to attacks by opponents and comment upon primary campaign contributions to Smith by Samuel Insull, Chicago utilities operator, when Smith still exercised authority as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission.

In an extended definition of his position regarding campaign funds Smith applied in general terms to financial methods of presidential campaigns.

"In a presidential year," he said, "the great protected interests contribute to the campaign of the candidates who will give them or continue a protective tariff. Who finds anything sinister in that?"

Smith's attitude was expressed in a campaign speech tonight.

"And what if Samuel Insull did contribute to the campaign fund used in my behalf," he asked. "Other interests contribute to the campaign funds for president—the railroads, the banking interests, the steel industry, the sugar industry. Will anyone dare say that these contributions disqualify the candidate for president to hold the office if he shall be elected?

"Forgetting the president as a person, or whether he is republican or democrat, he has, under our present law, power personally, to raise or lower tariff ten per cent. Will this country charge that because the protected industries contribute to the fund to elect him—the wool, sugar, steel or any other protected industry will be put under obligations to grant special favors to these contributors? Everyone knows better."

RIVAL GANGS IN ILLINOIS ARE DRIFTING APART

MARION, Ills., Oct. 29—(AP)—With whereabouts of the Shelton gangsters in doubt and the Shelton leaders disavowing any intention to fight, apparent peacefulness tonight washed away the threat of another clash such as that which left five dead.

The only war-like move by the rival factions today occurred this afternoon, when Charley Barger, cashier of one of the gangs, announced he had been warned that he was to be "framed" by St. Louis gangsters and left Herrin driving with six automobiles loaded with armed men and drove eastward to his residence mid-way between Marion and Harrisburg.

Earl Shelton left in East St. Louis, meanwhile declared that he and his two brothers had permanently withdrawn from Williamson county a month ago and no longer had any connection with the mine operating district section and commonly known as the Shelton gang. He declared Barger was "only talking" when he threatened to "get" the Sheltonites in retaliation for the slaying of two Barger men last Sunday night.

The Sheltonites driven out of Franklin county yesterday by the sheriff and state's attorney of that county, left for parts unknown.

National guard officers at Herrin, as observers of the situation planned to remain in Williamson county until after the election next Tuesday when a successor is to be elected to Sheriff George Galligan, who has been accused by his enemies of making but little effort to enforce the law against bootleggers and gunmen.

CALL FOR CONFERENCE OF AMERICAN JEWRY

BOSTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—A formal call for a national conference of American Jewry to discuss Palestine problems was issued today by the United Palestine Appeal of America. The conference will be held in Boston Nov. 20 and 21 and the principal speaker will be Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, who arrived in New York today from abroad.

The call was signed by Nathan Straus of New York, national chairman of the invitation committee; Judge William M. Lewis of Philadelphia, chairman of the United Palestine appeal; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York; Judge Julian W. Mack of the federal circuit court; Rabbi B. L. Levinthal; Emanuel Neumann, Judge David A. Lourie and Louis Lipsky, president of the Zionist organization.

HELD ON CHARGE OF PROMOTING A LOTTERY

BOSTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Frank J. McManus of Roxbury was arrested in his Boston office tonight on a warrant charging him with setting up and promoting a lottery. Police alleged he was the local agent for a large pool known as the "U. S. Pool" which is based on figures of federal treasury balances. The officers seized about 9,000 tickets in the pool and a list of last week's winners.

WRIGHT FACES CHARGE OF VIOLATING THE MANN ACT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 29—(AP)—Despite the quashing today of adultery and fugitive from justice charges against Frank Lloyd Wright, and his companion, Mamah Bohn Cheney, they tonight prepared for a preliminary hearing in federal court tomorrow morning on charges of violating the Mann act. Defense counsel tonight told of a plan to ask dismissal of the charges before a federal commissioner. Wright, however, regardless of what happens tomorrow will remain tangled in a web of legal affairs through a series of court actions by his wife, Mrs. Miriam Noel Wright.

The fugitive from justice and adultery charges filed in Fairfax, Wis., were dropped after Vladimir Hinzenberg and his former wife, Minnie, Milanoff had agreed to divide the custody of their daughter Svetana, who heretofore has lived with her mother and Wright.

Mme. Milanoff is confined in a local sanitarium following a collapse two days ago.

MANUFACTURERS HELD BANQUET IN WATERBURY

WATERBURY, Oct. 29—(AP)—A banquet at which prominent manufacturers from all parts of the state attended brought to a close tonight the annual meeting of the Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut.

Governor Trumbull was toastmaster and men prominent in national, state, military and civic circles were among the speakers, including Assistant Secretary of War Hanford MacNider, Major General John F. O'Ryan, president of the Colonial Air Transport, Inc., and former commander of the 27th division. Senator Hiram Bingham and Congressman John Q Tilson.

EPIDEMICS ADDING TO DESOLUTION IN ARMENIA

LENINAKAN, Armenia, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Indescribable desolution, made more acute by the spread of Malaria, influenza and other diseases, prevails in the earthquake zone of Armenia, where recurring earthshocks and loud subterranean rumblings have kept the population in a state of panic and despair for the past seven days and nights.

Government and Near East relief reports, which have been trickling in for the past few days, reveal that the casualties of last week's great earthshock will be higher than at first thought.

TWO OFFICIALS KILLED IN ATTEMPT TO ARREST NEGRO

CROW AGENCY, Montana, Oct. 29—(AP)—Two officers and a negro were killed and another officer wounded here tonight in an exchange of shots following the officers' attempt to arrest Jim Bolden, a negro, who barricaded himself in a barn and was routed only after Crow Indian braves resorted to their traditional tactics of firing the structure with flaming arrows.

SEVERAL CASES MAY BE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 29.—Cases on the civil docket of the Windham county superior court for this term were reassigned at a meeting of about a dozen attorneys held in the court chamber in this city this morning. County Defender Charles L. Torrey of Putnam presided. In the absence of Judge Alfred C. Baldwin the cases were re-assigned for next week by Miss Marjorie Bradford, assistant clerk of the court. Six cases assigned for next Tuesday, Nov. 2, were: First, Estelle H. Remington vs. the Willimantic & Hartford Jitney association; second, R. G. Remington vs. the Willimantic & Hartford Jitney association; third, Mary Vertefeuille vs. Moise Vertefeuille; fourth, Napoleon Brindamour vs. Francis Calderado; fifth, Robert Edward Dziomba vs. Alfred E. Sault; sixth, Stanley Bara vs. H. L. Switzer. Re-assigned for Wednesday, Nov. 3: First, Della Zaresteski vs. Joseph Zaresteski; second, John I. Hammond vs. George E. Lewis. It is expected that three of the six cases assigned for Tuesday will be settled out of court. At Tuesday's session of court Judge Baldwin will hold a short calendar and assignment of cases. Indications that jury cases will be assigned for the week of Tuesday, Nov. 9.

SPEAKS ON SUBJECTS CONCERNING MARRIAGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 29.—"There is a class of women who dress to the greatest extremes to attract because their lives are sin," said Rev. Milton S. Rees in his final message to the women at a big mass meeting at the Methodist church this week. His subject was The Black Cross, the theme being developed by the evangelist upon Thess 5 22, "Abstain from all appearance of evil." In part he said, "The most expensive attire a woman has ever worn is that which costs her purity, and yet there are women who earn $25 a week and dress at the rate of $50. If mothers would exercise more common sense in dressing the girls in their teens and some women in their twenties there would be at least less temptation and a greater degree of purity.

"We need to remember the social nature. It should be properly cultivated. We need recreation, exercise for physical development. But there are persons who have no other ambitions except to just be amused. Night after night to places of amusements, and down to the small hours of the morning. She who lives only for pleasure seeking and the betterment of her character will never wield much influence in home or church or state.

"Just out for a promenade, and those who have occasion to be out late at night are amazed at the number of girls in their teens promenading until after the midnight hour, and in shaded places about the city could speak we would listen to the stories of tragedies.

"And sometimes the summer boarders from large cities, who assume the role of friend and offer to furnish employment to any young woman who desires to come to the city. Here is where many have slipped and fallen. Sometimes the employer, floorwalker, foreman, superintendent of departments, who insists on presenting you with flowers, confectionery, lunches and an occasional automobile ride, is another Black Cross, the sign of danger."

On the marriage question he said, "Of course some of you have been in no haste to marry, assuming there was plenty of time in your twenties, thirties, forties or fifties; but many others, altogether too young and inefficient and inexperienced have launched upon the matrimonial sea only to be wrecked when they were out at sea. The home is the temple of heart affection, the sanctuary blessed by noblest human ties, the shrine consecrated to the highest human love, and divorce is destroying this noblest institution of civilization. It has indeed become a national menace. In the twenty years from 1901 to 1921, 1,833,591 decrees of divorce were granted in the United States. Over 1,248,514 children, minors, mostly under ten years of age, were mentioned in these decrees. These divorce-orphans were cast out of home, an appalling sacrifice to the demon of divorce. The sanctity of marriage and the sacredness of its obligations are fast disappearing from the moral consciousness of our people. And this will continue until mothers and daughters exercise more real, genuine commonsense, and both young men and young women have reached some degree of real development and ability. Whatever else you may understand, never try to reform a man by marrying him. Matrimonial reformation does not reform in this country."

An unqualified social and financial success was realized at a whist staged in St. Mary's hall by the Youths' Welfare association for the benefit of the young girls of St. Mary's parish, Thursday evening. Forty eight tables were in play and short addresses were made by Rev. J. J. Papillon and Rev. H. C. Belec. A brief entertainment program included a piano solo by Isabel Chasse, song by Miss Cora Rivard, violin solo and piano accompaniment by the Misses Claire and Teresa Bacon, dance by Virginia LeClaire, recitation by Doris Pepin and a song and dance by Evelyn Prue.

Claire Bacon was awarded the basket of food given for the ten of diamonds. For the ladies Mrs. Edward Marrotte won the first prize of a silver mesh bag; Mrs. Regina Girard, the second, a boudoir lamp; and Mrs. Louis Belanger, the third, a milk pitcher. The men's first prize, an ash tray, went to A. Arbour; second, a cravat, to Omer LaFontaine; and consolation to Eugene LaMarche. For the girls, Helen Bouffard secured a purse; Evelyn Desrosiers, a pearl necklace and Violet Rivers the consolation. The boys' first prize, a scarf, was given to Ted Moran; second, golf stockings to Girard Marrotte and consolation to Leonard Rivard.

Miss Marion E. McKernan, 20, one of this city's most popular young women, died at St. Joseph's hospital Friday morning after a few days' illness. She was a student nurse at the hospital and had apparently recovered from previous afflictions. She was born in Hartford, Oct. 18, 1906, and attended Windham high school. She also attended the Hartford public high school and prior to her entering training at St. Joseph's hospital was employed by the Aetna Life Insurance company of Hartford. Surviving her are her father, John H. McKernan of Woodridge, N. Y.; one sister, Mrs. Emil Heubner of Coventry; two brothers, William McKernan of Woodbridge and John McKernan of Hartford; a step-sister, Mrs. A. R. Micha of Eagleville and a step-brother, Edward W. Slater, also of Eagleville.

Miss Alice T. Murphy who was one of two women held up by bandits in the Kentucky avenue branch of the Union Trust company at Indianapolis, Ind., Friday, Oct. 15, is well known in this city, having resided here most of her life up to a few years ago when she went to Indianapolis. The bandits escaped with $21,583 in currency. They were mighty considerate to the women, placing chairs for their convenience while they looted the place. Miss Murphy and the other woman held up, Mrs. G. P. Rutherford, are both employes of the Marmon Motor Car company.

Funeral services for Willard W. Hayden were held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the First Congregational church house. Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, the pastor, officiated. Burial was in the family plot of the Willimantic cemetery. The bearers were Robert M. Bath; Samuel Chesbro, Alphonse L. Gelinas and Dr. Thomas J. Keegan. JEWETT CITY

ELECTRIC LIGHT SERVICE IMPROVED IN BOROUGH

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 29—On account of extended service throughout all the several electric zones of the borough, the transformer system here has become overloaded. On the North Main street circuit this week a slight dimming of the lamps indicated a transformer operating beyond its capacity.

The electric light commision, when notified, gave evidence of their intention to remedy every irregularity without delay Thursday an additional transformer was installed, which fact was courteously recognized by the benefitted patrons.

The Misses May and Bessie Blake, Alice Jodoin Josephine Ambot, Vivian McLaughlin and Celia Liberty, Mrs. Thomas Upton and Mrs. William Dwyer invited Miss Ella Oakes to a chicken salad supper at the home of the Misses Blake on Thursday evening. URGE PEOPLE TO USE TELEPHONE FOR ALARMS

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 29—Chief Walsh and his men are still insistent that a demand on the telephone exchange, asking that the big fire whistle be blown, should not be made when a still alarm will do as well. The record of chimney fires during the last five years will give absolute proof that over half of the calls might have been made by telephone instead of causing the station number to be sounded on the whistle. It is however, pointed out that no fire fighting organization exists under the sun, that may not be subject to the "false alarm" as that of Thursday afternoon. Logical view points were presented Friday on the other side when a borough resident declared that many hours during the night and day there is no one at the fire house, hence, at such times, the whistle is the only available recourse. The firemen are anxious that nothing shall offer a handicap to efficient service. When it is necessary, blow the whistle without delay.

A conservative estimate given Friday of the apple crop of Griswold this fall places the crop at [illegible] bushels. Russets, R. I. Greenings, Baldwins, McIntosh and Gravensteins are the leaders in this section for the reason that they find the readiest market and may be stored with the least possible shrinkage by rotting.

Mrs. Celia Campbell Geist was brought from the Rutland, Mass., sanitorium to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Campbell, on Thursday evening.

Brimful of Health
Wide-awake Children Brought up on
Father John's Medicine

BECAUSE her mother used it when she was a little girl, Mrs. J. J. Whitney, Melrose, Mass., knows the value of Father John's Medicine and has always used it for her own children now that she is responsible for the health and happiness of a growing family. Mrs. Whitney, like thousands of mothers, has learned to depend on Father John's Medicine when any of the family has a cold or a cough, or has become weak or run down. Its pure food elements build new strength to throw off disease. Its healing properties soothe the throat irritation and it helps to drive out impurities. And do not forget it is guaranteed free from alcohol and dangerous drugs.

To Tax Feet

After a fixed date, all Chinese women under 30 whose feet are still bound will be taxed a sum equal to $3 a month. This is an effort on the part of two Chinese militarists, not only to add to the country's revenue but to abolish a vicious custom which has persisted from time immemorial in China, in spite of many comparatively modern attempts to create feeling against it and so in time do away with it.

Legend has it that the custom started in early times to prevent women from running away to seek adventures. It has recently been estimated that there are still 70 million pairs of deformed feet in China, and that in the coming generation there will probably be more.

DANIELSON

DANIELSON STOCK OWNERS RECEIVE CHEERING NEWS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 29—President P. W. Litchfield of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, owners of the Goodyear Mills, Inc., of this town, writes to stockholders, numerous in this territory, that holders of preferred stock are to receive a deferred dividend of $4.75 per share of that issue on November 15. The information is contained in a form letter. No dividend on this class of the corporation's stock has been paid since 1920, and the accumulated overdue dividends now amount to $28.75 per share.

President Litchfield's letter says that a majority of the directors of the big corporation were not willing, in fairness to the preferred stockholders, to further delay relief in the matter of dividend accumulation. At a meeting of the directors on October 14 a majority of the directors were of the opinion that a partial cash payment might be made at this time and, accordingly, by a vote of 8 to 5 directed the payment of $4.75 a share. This payment will reduce the accumulated dividends due to $23.75 on each share.

Following this vote the directors declared the way still to be open to the reception and consideration of suggestions for the adjustment of the remaining dividend accumulation and the retirement of senior securities to make such an adjustment practicable.

It will be recalled that the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company was doing an unprecedentedly flourishing business in the spring of 1920. In the early fall of that year business of the nation suffered a severe collapse and with it came great difficulties for the great rubber company. An elaborate re-financing operation was necessary to establish its credit, and this operation included the issuing of prior preference stock to the amount of over $33,000,000. Since that time the company has gone along splendidly, working its way steadily to a stronger financial position and by the end of June of this year had built up out of earnings a surplus of over $31,000,000, after providing more than $15,000,000 of excess losses applicable to the period prior to reorganization, more than $17,000,000 depreciation, $1,182,000 on properties liquidated and upwards of $27,000,000 for interest, premiums, discounts, etc.

Local stockholders are now encouraged that they will eventually receive all dividends overdue on the preferred stock, which has been quoted in the market this week at 101 3-4.

Many of the employes of the Goodyear mill of this town bought stock in 1917 and in the years following up to 1920. So also did various members of the several communities of the towns of Killingly. All of these are delighted that they are about to receive their first dividend in six years.

Friday morning the funeral of Mrs. James J. Dunn was held from the home on North Main street with funeral services at St. James' church at 9 o'clock Rev. James McCarthy, M. S., was celebrant of the mass with Rev. F. X. Richards, M. S. as deacon and Rev. Fr. Fluet, M. S., as sub-deacon. Many relatives and friends attended the service. Burial was in Holy Cross cemetery, Rev. Fr. Richards conducting the committal service. The bearers were Rodney Lloyd, Ray Pellett, Harold Greene, George Quinn, William Reynolds and Charles Reynolds. Louis B. Kennedy was in charge of the arrangements.

COUPLE BOUND OVER ON CHARGE OF ADULTERY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 29—An adultery case claimed the attention of the town court at Friday mornings session. Walter Meguder and Pauline Depki, a married woman, were the accused parties. They were arrested at Goodyear by state officers during Thursday night. Pleas of guilty were entered by the pair. Disposition of a case of this nature being beyond the jurisdiction of the town court, the two were bound over, each under bonds of $500, to await trial at the next term of the superior court having criminal jurisdiction. As neither could furnish bail they were taken to the county jail at Brooklyn to await trial.

Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock the funeral of Mrs. Charles M. Capron was held from the home on Academy street with funeral services conducted by Rev. Leonard R. Richards at St. Alan's church. Eight Women in Ten have discarded old hygienic methods for this new way—true protection—discards like tissue

WHEN the world started expecting more of women, the old-time "sanitary pad" had to go.

Doctors urge a new way. Millions employ it. You wear sheerest frocks without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day unhandicapped.

It is called "KOTEX" . . . five times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad!

Thoroughly deodorizes . . . thus ending ALL fear of offending.

You ask for it without hesitancy simply by saying "KOTEX," at any drug or department store. Costs only a few cents. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk.

PUTNAM

WILLIAM GIBBONS FOUND DEAD AT HOME FRIDAY

(Special to the Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Oct. 29.—William Gibbons, a well known mill operative, was found dead today in his room in a tenement house on School street. He was unmarried and for many years by being owned by him. His only nearly being owned by him. His only near relative is a sister, Mrs. Patrick Maloney.

Mr. Gibbons who was 45 years of age was employed by the Waterman Worster company. For all of his adult life he had been a textile weaver, was widely known in Putnam and vicinity and his death will cause general regret.

Putnam High Schools was victorious in its game with Killingly High played Friday afternoon on the local grounds, the score being 20 to 0 in favor of Putnam.

Mrs. Augusta Bartlet has returned to her home at Hartford after a visit to her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bartlett of School street, this city.

Frank Vadnais of this city while driving a delivery truck was in a collision on School street this morning with a car owned and driven by Ward G. Marvin of Mapleville, R. I. The latter was clearly at fault but what might have been a disastrous accident resulted only in slight damages to both cars. Neither of the occupants was hurt.

What it is hoped will prove one of the most substantial and advantageous movements ever undertaken by the town of Putnam—the re-valuation and equalization of property for taxation purposes — is now fairly startly started. The work may take a year to complete but if the results are what its sponsors hope for, it will be worth the time and money it cost many times over.

The work of revaluation is being done by an appraisal company of New Britain, and the contract price is $10,750. Arthur Lamb is the head of the company and he and two of his staff are now in the city making plans for the systematic carrying out of the task. Their first step is an examination of the maps that have been prepared by City Engineer George W. Perry. They are to list every piece of property in the town. After the tabulation and checking up of the maps is completed they will begin the actual work of revaluing.

At a special town meeting held four months ago the assessors were voted an appropriation not to exceed $14,000 for the purpose of having the property of the town revalued, the assessors being empowered to use their discretion as to whether out-of-town help should be utilized. This appropriation and authorization followed a campaign extending over many years on the part of the chamber of commerce to obtain a proper and equitable valuation on property, both real and personal. A general citizens committee was named comprising the president of the chamber of commerce, Thomas H. deCoudres, and three of the directors of that body, three members of the Rotary club, the three assessors of the town, the members of the board of relief, Mayor Victor Chapdelaine and three city councilmen, and the three selectmen of the town. They held many meetings, studied the question from every angle, and the present movement is the outcome of their efforts.

FORCED TO AMPUTATE DUQUETTE BOY'S LEFT LEG

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, Oct. 29.—Robert Duquette, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Duquette of North Grosvenordale had his leg amputated at the Day Kimball hospital today. He fell and was caught in the wheel of a milk wagon on which he had tried to climb. The leg was so mangled in the revolving wheel that amputation was absolutely necessary. This was the left leg; the right leg was broken and the boy's body was badly bruised. He is on the dangerous list as the hospital.

Eugene Brodeur, of this city, was married at St. Mary's rectory Monday evening, October 18, to Miss Blanche G. Ferree, for the past wo years a nurse at the Day Kimball hospital. Their wedding was kept a secret from even their closest friends until a day ago when they left for Philadelphia on a wedding trip. The bride has relatives in that city and they plan to spend several days there.

Mr. Brodeur is a lifelong resident of Putnam and has scores of friends who will join in good wishes for the happiness of his bride and himself. On their return they will reside in a newly furnished home on Woodstock avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayo D. Hersey have moved from Pittsburgh to Washington, D. C., where Mr. Hersey has a position as a physicist in the U. S. Bureau of Standards. Mrs. Hersey was Frances Lester Warner, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Edgar M. Warner of this city. She has won an enviable reputation as the author of several books, "Endicott and I" probably being the best known.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. C. Warner and little son, who have been the guests of relatives here for the past three weeks will leave Monday for South Bend, Indiana, where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Warner has a very desirable position in the offices of the Studebaker Co.

Purple Sickness

A disease that turns the teeth purple and makes sunlight off the skin unbearable was discussed recently by Prof. J. Barcroft, the well-known English physiologist, in a lecture before the Royal Institution. The affliction is so rare that there are only three known cases in England at the present time, but it is of especial interest to medical science because the purple substance, porphyrin, is closely allied to the red material, hemoglobin, that gives blood its color.

No one knows yet why the bodies of these unfortunate patients should be manufacturing the wrong pigment, Prof. Barcroft said, but the fact remains that it is constantly being formed and deposited in their bones, teeth and skin. Porphyrin reacts strongly to the "invisible light," or ultra-violet part of the solar spectrum, so that the victims of this mysterious ailment have to wear gloves constantly, and if they go out of doors in the daytime must put on heavy veils.

The only creature that normally wears porphyrin as part of its body-covering is a tropical bird, the touraco, parts of whose feathers are stained a brilliant red with a porphyrin-containing compound known as turacin. Turacin is soluble in weak alkalies, so that when it rains and the bird comes into contact with such alkaline solutions as occur frequently in nature the pure crimson hues are lost.

Although porphyrin is rare as a normal coloring in adult animals, it is the commonest pigment found in eggshells of birds. Almost all the colors of birds' eggs, from the blue of the robin's to the homely brown of the hen's, contain this strange coloring matter.

Prefer Leather Boots

Leather boots, refinement of the California gold rush days, still are worn in a region of Switzerland, according to Capt. A. Charbaro, pioneer shoemaker of Sacramento. He says that there are at least 40 persons in that city who prefer leather boots to modern shoes.

Radium Times Blood

The latest use to which radium has been put is to show the rate of flow of blood in the veins. The method adopted is to put the animal used in the experiment into a lead box with one foot sticking out of a hole in the side. A solution of salt in water to which is added a small portion of a radioactive compound of radium is then injected into a vein in the animal's ear.

The time is noted and a careful watch kept on an electrical device attached to the foot. When this device reveals that radioactive rays are being given off from the foot, the time is again noted and the difference between the two times gives the rate of flow of the blood from ear to foot.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Men have completed wiring the parsonage at Andover. It was thought some time ago that the house would be removed and the Skinner Memorial Library erected on the site, but plans have been changed. The library will be built on the original site west of the parsonage.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE HAD HALLOWEEN SOCIAL

An interesting programme for a Halloween social under the auspices of the young people's union at the Central Baptist church made a very enjoyable event for a party of 35 Friday evening. The decorations and games were in keeping with the Halloween idea and appropriate refreshments were served.

The social was in charge of Miss Ann Murphy, Leonard Howard Ladow, Miss Helen Ladow, Miss Dorothy Spencer and Miss Velma Hill.

Automobile Rang Fire Alarm

A single stroke upon the fire alarm bell Thursday about midnight was a mystery to the department until investigation disclosed that an automobile had run into a pole on Laurel Hill avenue. The shock swung two wires together, which explained the

OBITUARY

Roger W. DeWolf

Roger W. DeWolf, 89, who represented the town of Old Lyme three times in the general assembly, died Friday morning about 5:45 o'clock at his home in Black Hall.

Mr. DeWolf was born in Black Hall, Feb. 11, 1837 and was a son of the late Winthrop and Hepzibah Anderson DeWolf. As a young man he established a mercantile business in Black Hall and successfully conducted for 30 years. Later he purchased and cultivated a large farm on which he had been actively engaged until poor health overtook him several years ago.

He is survived by two sons, Winthrop R. DeWolf and Claude B. DeWolf; a daughter, Mrs. Agnes J. Rathbun of Black Hall, and a brother George W. DeWolf of Lyme, and 11 grandchildren.

Mrs. Patrick Fenton

Following a short illness, Mrs. Mary Moran Fenton, widow of Patrick Fenton, died Thursday night at her home, No. 52 Oak street, where she resided with her son, Thomas. She was born in Ireland and was the daughter of Daniel and Mary O'Connell. The greater part of her life had been spent in Norwich. She was a member of St. Patrick's parish. Surviving are four daughters, Miss Bridget Fenton, Miss Mary Fenton, Mrs. John F. Carroll and Mrs. Henry Craney of Norwich, and three sons, Patrick Fenton of Woonsocket, R. I., James J. Fenton of New Haven, and Thomas Fenton of this city. There is also a sister, Mrs. Ellen Quithlan in Ireland, nine grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Mrs. Fenton was a loving and devoted mother and was highly respected by her many friends who extend their heartfelt sympathy to the family.

STILL TRYING TO WORK OUT PLAN FOR FINANCING OF COUNTY FAIR

At a meeting of the life members of the New London County Agricultural society in the town hall Friday evening to consider the proposed sale of the local fair grounds, action on the sale of the grounds was shelved temporarily at least, and a committee was appointed to consider ways and means of raising money enough to pay off the society's obligations. If the committee is successful in its aims, the society will be on its feet again and able to continue holding the annual county fair as in the past 70 or more years.

The committee was given one week to form some definite plan to provide funds and will report at an adjourned meeting of the society next Friday evening at the town hall.

One committee has already considered the matter of raising the necessary funds to pay off the indebtedness of the society and in reporting back recommended that the fair grounds be sold as they were unable to arouse sufficient interest in the clearing up of the society's financial problem. It was on their recommendation that Friday night's meeting was held, to take action on the proposed sale. Between 75 and 100 were present at the meeting which was called to order about 8 o'clock by President Charles P. Bushnell. Following some discussion of the society's finances, Allen Latham moved that the society sell the property.

Mr. Latham, in introducing the motion, said he did so in order to open the way for a discussion on the sale of the property.

He said, that personally, he doesn't want to see the property sold. If there is any way to raise money, Mr. Latham said he would like to see the fair continued. During the discussion which followed the introduction of the motion a suggestion was made that a public "drive" be held to raise the money. It was felt that inasmuch as other drives are held in Norwich and successfully carried out, there ought to be enough public spirited men and women in and around Norwich to come to the rescue of the society.

It was brought out during the discussion that the total indebtedness of the society, including this year's deficit, last year's deficit, and the bond issue is $32,224.26.

Just before a vote was called on the motion to sell, Edwin W. Higgins offered the following amendment: Resolved, that the financial condition of the society be referred to a committee consisting of Dr. Iver Manning, Joseph P. Holloway, George W. Dolbeare, H. H. Raymond, Silas Leffingwell, James Lathrop, Daniel Polsky, Charles E. Ellis, Arthur C. Williams, Dr. N. D. Gray, Ray Harding, Frank T. Maples, and Charles D. Foster, who shall report some definite plan to provide funds to an adjourned meeting to be held November 5th at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The amendment was seconded and was about to be put to a vote when Mr. Latham announced that he would withdraw the original motion. The original motion was withdrawn and the amendment, which then became the only motion before the meeting, was unanimously adopted. The meeting adjourned until Friday evening of next week at 8 o'clock in the town hall.

JUDGMENT TO COLLECT WATERBURY COURT JUDGMENT

Mrs. Ellie H. Preston of this city was given judgment in the amount of $3,133.47 against her husband Charles H. Preston, now of Clearfield, Pa., formerly city engineer and surveyor of the city of Waterbury by Judge Allyn L. Brown at the short calendar session of the superior court here Friday morning. The plaintiff is a resident at the county home.

In Nov. 1925 a judgment in the Waterbury city court gave her $3,744.29 on a loan which she had made her husband and Probate motion was to collect that judgment.

Another motion in the same matter, allowance to defend was granted, the terms to be $5 down and $25 on the day of trial in the divorce case which the plaintiff brings against her husband. A third motion for alimony pendente lite gives the plaintiff $15 a week. It was brought out in testimony that Mrs. Preston has supported two children and herself for the past eight years.

$883 Judgment For Dairy

Judgment in the amount of $883.7 was given the Mohegan Dairy Co. of New London against S. Patterson Inc. of this city. The amount was secured on due to dairy products furnished the defendant.

Acceptance and approval of the committee's report was granted in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilkinson against Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scalabba. Giacoma Scalabba and Joseph Squadron and approval of the committee's deed in the sale of the property was also made. The land known as the Wilkinson farm near Westerly, was sold recently by order of Court in a judgment against the defendants.

The Judge took the papers in the motion of demurrer of Isaac against the state of Connecticut, an application for reassessment.

In the case of Robert Burgward of Moosup against the state of Connecticut in which the plaintiff asks for a re-assessment of land taken by the state for which he was awarded $1,000 was referred to Judge John K. Beach state referee.

The following cases were continued: Rose B. Schawartz against Nathan Schwartz, alimony pendente lite.

Quinn, administrator, against Dodd. In Chancery and re-administration, et al, foreclosure of defense or judgment of foreclosure and limitation of time for redemption.

Pendleton, Jr. et al. against Alexander Shipping Co. Inc. et al. decree of foreclosure by public sale.

Alfred F. Greene against Virginia Beardsley Greene; allowance to defend.

The following cases were off:

Savings Bank of New London against Sweeney, administrator, and others; disclosure of defense or judgment.

Lubchansky against Howard street Coal and Grain Co.; judgment of default for failure to plead.

Drozd against Marcinski; judgment on demurrer sustained.

Elizabeth R. Ebber against Lionel R. Ebber; disclosure of defense or case be placed on uncontested list.

Motions for default in Mc and vs Perry Angie Coffee vs. Stanislaw et al Annie M. coffee vs. Stanislaw et al were withdrawn in each case, counter answers having been filed.

FORMER NORWICH WOMAN GETS DIVORCE IN HARTFORD

In the superior court at Hartford Friday Albina Juneau Fitzgerald of West Hartford obtained a divorce on grounds of cruelty from John W. Fitzgerald, formerly a mechanic for the Mid-States Bus Lines but now seated in New York. They were married February 10, 1926 and have three children. They lived in Bridgeport, Newark and Hartford. Mrs. Fitzgerald said she treated was so was too strict and ugly with the children and she feared her would soon be cruel to the children. She said he often abused her and they had separated several times, the last being in June in February, 1925. She said Fitzgerald is earning between $50 and $70 a week and up to last month had been paying $15 a week for support of the children after he had been arrested for non-support and brought to Hartford. Judge Booth passed an order that Fitzgerald pay $15 a week for support of the children and $10 a week alimony to Mrs. Fitzgerald.

LEDYARD SCHOOL CHILDREN PLAY HALLOWEEN PARTS

The Ledyard school, No. 9, Ledyard, Miss Dora Main, teacher, held a Halloween party in the school house Friday evening from 7 to 10. The program opened with a Halloween play written and presented by the pupils of the school. Martha Babcock, played as the black cat; Franklin Maynard was the ghost; Edith Maynard an owl and Ruth Collins, a pumpkin, while the witch, little Eleanor Babcock caused much merriment. Emily and Elizabeth Fullerton aged 6 and 7, were quaint, old-fashioned ladies. The rest of the children were dressed as pumpkins and cats. All played their parts very well. After the witch had dressed the actors out with her broom, she led them back for the Ghost walk. Later all took part in the usual and some unusual Halloween stunts. The room was lighted by jack o'lanterns. Sandwiches, cakes, candies, pumpkin pies and cocoa were served by the children.

The whole neighborhood was present and entered into the spirit of the evening.

HALLOWEEN NOVELTY DANCE WAS DECIDED SUCCESS

The Halloween novelty dance under the auspices of the Girls' Friendly society of Christ church given Friday evening in the parish hall of the church was a great success.

About 50 couples enjoyed a programme of 15 numbers which included a broom dance, bag dance, lollipop dance, elimination and grand march. The many striking costumes added to the brilliance of the decorations, which were very attractive. A quartette, under the leadership of Fred C. Geer, furnished the music.

The committee in charge was Miss Mae Hollingsworth and Miss Gertrude Hathaway.

ACADEMY INVADES CHAPMAN DOMAIN TODAY IN SEARCH OF FOOTBALL HONOR

The Academy eleven is scheduled to travel to New London this Saturday afternoon and there engage in battle with the Chapman Tech gridiron squad of that city at Morgan park.

The squad is in the pink of condition for the fray and should put up the best game of the year to date against the Whalers. The locals, while entering the contest as the favorites nevertheless, are not over confident and will be in the game every minute playing their hardest.

Coach Earle E. Brigham will send his strongest lineup into the tussle and as they have been drilled hard during the past week for this afternoon's game the locals can be depended upon to give a good account of themselves. Special emphasis has been laid by the local mentor on a defense for the forward passing game which Tech is expected to use.

Coach C. Evert Woodman has been drilling the Chapman Tech squad hard in preparation for the game, which shapes up as one of the most important for the down river boys. The tech coach has been drilling the backfield on the overhead game with Sachatello on the starting end of most of the passes and with Trude, Kahl or Aquillo on the receiving end. Their backfield is reported as working smoothly and the line is opening up holes or holding in the form Phillips will carry the heaving burden for the New Londoners.

Academy—Greene, re; Kahn, rt; Galonski, rg; Schwartz, c; Sweeney, lg; Fidell, lt; LaCroix, le; Williams, qb; Lahenski, lhb; McGhee or Vitano, rhb; Capt. Brewer, fb. Jack Marks will see service in the backfield.

A large crowd of supporters of the Academy is expected to accompany the team to New London this afternoon and cheer them on to victory. A large majority of the student body will no doubt go down by either buying, borrowing or stealing a ride in order to be on the sidelines and help encourage the players to a win over one of their bitterest rivals.

The kickoff is set for 2:30 and the game will be handled by the different officials from Conn. Aggies.

ARMY SQUAD PRACTICES IN THE YALE BOWL

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The vanguard of 2,000 West Point cadets, who will invade this city tomorrow, arrived here this noon to the visitors being the members of the Army football squad which will clash with Yale on the bowl tomorrow afternoon. The main body of cadets will arrive tomorrow noon to witness the game. Seventy five thousand persons will see the battle, the local ticket office has been sold out several days ago.

The Army team had the bowl for the early part of the afternoon today after which Yale had its several drill.

Both teams will enter the contest with star players on the sick list. Trapnell the Army's best kicker, will be unable to play and Yale will start with its two most experienced backs, Kline and Noble missing. Kline has been called away by illness and Noble was injured Wednesday.

In the second drill today Foote again was shifted to Kline's position at fullback, and Hoban played at right half in place of Foote. Ordway took Noble's place and will lead the offensive against the Army. In the line Richards, who has been out of the game for some time with a bad knee, will not be able to start tomorrow and Quarter will take his place at tackle.

NUTMEGS AND GREENEVILLE TIGERS CLASH ON SUNDAY

On Sunday afternoon at the J. B. Martin grounds at 2:30 the Greeneville Tigers and the Nutmegs will meet in the game of the season for the City championship in the 160 pound class. This will be the opening game for the Tigers while the Nutmegs have been playing for the past few weeks. The Tigers have a greatly strengthened team this year which includes Courbois, Tambari Allard and a number of stars from last year's eleven.

The Nutmegs in Sunday's game will use C. McGrath, Shiek Leonard James & Pedace, F. McGrath, Sullivan, Jimmy Lupinacci, Skeeter Murray Cardin Murphy, Grover Braun, Baldracini, Christy, Mileski Hammock, Lutlow, Fidell, Kramer, Steinman and Burdick.

PENN-ILLINI GAME IS FEATURE OF INTERSECTIONALS

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Pennsylvania, coming west to atone for the defeat which Red Grange and his mates plastered on the Quakers at Franklin field a year ago, will meet Illinois at Champaign tomorrow in one of the important inter-sectional games of the season.

In other western conference games, Northwestern will resume drive for its share of conference glory in a return engagement with Indiana at Bloomington, Wisconsin and Minnesota will battle at Madison with four years supremacy to settle. For the past three seasons their games have resulted in a tie. Iowa will take on Carroll at Iowa city in a game figured to give "Cowboy" Nick Kutsch a chance to gallop up and down the field and also put the Hawkeyes on edge for Minnesota a week later. Purdue will take the field against Indiana normal at Lafayette, taking it easy after successful battles against Wisconsin and Chicago.

The game at Illinois is rated as a toss up although some of the side line experts favor Pennsylvania, as the quarters have displayed a greater offensive and defensive game with a varied attack built around the old hidden ball game.

Both Pennsylvania and Illinois boast strong running backfields, but the Quakers have a little the edge in line smashing while the Illini present a more dangerous threat in scoring from the field due to the ability of Frosty Peters.

SIXTEEN GAMES ON AGGIE BASKETBALL SLATE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Conn., Oct. 29.—An attractive 16-game schedule for the Connecticut Aggie basketball team was announced here today by Manager James F. Gallant '27, of Worcester, Mass. Six games will be played on the State college court at Hawley armory, and ten contests will be played on foreign courts.

Newcomers to the Connecticut slate are Pratt Institute, the Crescent Athletic club, Cooper union, Northeastern and Holy Cross. Pratt Institute and Crescent A. C. will be played in Brooklyn, N. Y., on a two-day trip during the Christmas recess.

Manchester basketball fans will have an opportunity to see the Aggies in action, as the Holy Cross game for Feb. 22 will be played on the Manchester State armory floor. Last year the Storrs quintet played Massachusetts Aggies at Manchester, and the support assured the game by the townspeople was great enough to induce the Aggie athletic authorities to stage another game in the same town.

Hartford people will also have an opportunity to see the Aggies in action, as Trinity will be met in the Hopkins street gym on Feb. 16. Only one game has been scheduled between these two rivals for the coming season, instead of two as heretofore.

Massachusetts Aggies and Union are the only teams on last year's schedule that will not be met again this season. Connecticut followers regret very much that the Bay State Aggies will not be met, as the rivalry existing between the two institutions, in basketball especially, has always insured fast and well played contests.

Connecticut will make its annual invasion of Cambridge to play Harvard, and the date this year falls on Jan. 22. Harvard and Connecticut have met four times in basketball, the Aggies winning three of the four games. Tufts will also be met on this trip to Massachusetts, the Medford game coming the day before Harvard's. A two day invasion of Vermont will also be made, with the Aggies meeting Norwich and Vermont.

Coach Hoyt's five will be captained by William K Schofield '27, of Watertown, who also has the unique distinction of captaining the Aggie baseball team. Schofield is an all-New England selection, and plays either guard or forward with equal ability. Connecticut's offense will revolve around him as it has in the past two seasons.

Sumner A. Dole, head coach in football, basketball and baseball since 1923, will continue to coach the Aggie five when the season gets under way. The first call for practice will not be sounded until after football season is over.

The schedule:

Dec. 11, Pratt Institute at New York; Dec. 18, Crescent Athletic club at New York; Jan. 8, Cooper Union at Storrs; Jan. 15, Northeastern at Storrs; Jan. 21, Tufts at Medford; Jan. 22, Harvard at Cambridge; Jan. 29, Springfield at Springfield; Jan. 29, New Hampshire at Storrs; Feb. 11, Norwich at Northfield; Feb. 12, Vermont at Burlington; Feb. 19, Trinity at Hartford; Feb. 22, Holy Cross at Manchester; Feb. 26, Wesleyan at Storrs; March 3, Maine at Storrs, March 5, Rhode Island at Kingston, March 12, Rhode Island at Storrs.

SHARKEY MAY FIGHT BERLENBACH THIS WINTER

NEW YORK Oct. 29.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey of Boston, conqueror of Harry Wills, may box Paul Berlenbach, former light-heavyweight champion, in December or January at Madison Square Garden, Sharkey, accompanied by his manager, Johnny Buckley, arrived in New York today and negotiations already are under way for an indoor match.

Harry Persson, the Swedish champion and Jim Maloney, another Boston heavyweight, also may be considered as opponents for Sharkey.

YALE-ARMY CLASSIC WILL BE MOST COLORFUL OF TODAY'S GRID BATTLES

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—As dramatic a series of gridiron battles as any day has promised, marks the turning point of a season which already has had its measure of fluctuating fortunes.

The hopes of aspirants for eastern championship recognition will be at stake in no less than ten games, most of which will be flavored by a dash of intersectional interest or of traditional rivalry. Five of the major battles probably will attract crowds ranging from 50 to 75,000 each.

In probability the most colorful of the day's conflicts, likely to be played before 75,000, the West Point Cadets will invade the Yale Bowl, seeking revenge and a victory that will keep their unbeaten record intact. Experts favor the mule to trim the bulldog for the first time since 1911 but the Elis have upset Army hopes on more than one occasion and may do so again. The Cadets will be without the services of their best kicker, Trapnell, but Yale is even harder hit by the loss of the offensive ace of her backfield. Larry Noble, as well as the defensive star, Bill Kline.

Major contenders for both eastern and Western honors come to rips in three important intersectional tilts with Pennsylvania invading the stronghold of Illinois, Michigan facing the Navy at Baltimore and the Missouri Tigers entering the jungle of the West Virginia Mountaineers. Only one of these teams, Illinois, has met defeat so far.

Pennsylvania's deceptive attack will have its biggest test but the Quakers appear to have more formidable all-around equipment than Illinois despite the prospective absence of Charley Rogers, fleet halfback, from the lineup.

Michigan's powerful drive, led by Molenda, Friedman and Oosterbaan appears too strong for the fighting midshipmen but the game is not likely to be anything like the 54-0 route of 1925. West Virginia seems to have an edge on Missouri, based upon performances so far.

Title hopes also are involved in three colorful battles bringing together long-standing rivals on neutral gridirons. Two unbeaten elevens, Washington and Jefferson and Lafayette, stage their annual clash on Franklin field, New York will watch Cornell and Columbia renew their feud at the Polo grounds while New York university clashes with Fordham at the Yankee stadium. All three promise plenty of action with Cornell and New York university strongly favored to win and keep their unbeaten records intact. W. and J. is a slight favorite over Lafayette.

Brown, with Yale's scalp already lifted, invades Hanover determined to even old scores with Dartmouth. The same eleven men who whipped the Elis last week without assistance do not expect to call for help in winning another victory, especially as Dartmouth is handicapped by the loss of Dooley, Horton and other stars.

Colgate, although likely to play without its captain, Nick Mehler, is favored to repulse Michigan state Boston college, the only eastern team as yet unscored on, may encounter a tartar in West Virginia Wesleyan but Holy Cross, Harvard, Princeton, Syracuse, Penn State and Pittsburgh, among other major outfits, expect little trouble winning.

Principal games tomorrow and last year's scores:

Army at Yale 7-28.
Brown at Dartmouth 0-14
Michigan-Navy at Baltimore 54-0.
Pennsylvania at Illinois 2-24.
Cornell-Columbia at Polo grounds 17-14.
Fordham-N. Y. . at Yankee stadium 26-6.
Lafayette-W. and J. at Philadelphia 6-7.
Tufts at Harvard no game.
Swarthmore at Princeton 7-19.
Johns Hopkins at Syracuse no game.
Michigan State at Colgate 0-14.
George Washington at Penn State no game.
West Va. Wesleyan at Boston Col. 7-6.
Westminster at Pittsburgh no game
Missouri at West Virginia no game.
Dayton at Holy Cross no game.
Muhlenberg at Lehigh 9-7.
Bucknell at Haskell institute 6-0.
Amherst at Mass. Aggies 27-0.
Bowdoin at Bates 6-7.
Colby at Maine 6-27.
Wesleyan at Trinity 0-0.
Williams at Union 6-6.

ACADEMY CROSS COUNTRY TEAM TO MEET SUFFIELD

The first cross country run of the Academy cross country team will take place next Wednesday at Suffield when the local harriers will compete with the Suffield school. Coach Sheridan has been putting his men through their paces for several weeks and the boys are covering varying distances in remarkable time. The outlook is very promising for a winning team and candidates are reporting every day and much interest is shown in this branch of sport. Just who will comprise the team is still undecided but the team will be picked from the following: Robinson, Greene, Carpenter, Krohn, J. Sadinsky, H. Sadinsky, Sullivan, Dynon, Meo and Zeller.

ARMY SERVICE HAMPERS FRANCE'S OLYMPIC CHANCES

PARIS, Oct. 29.—(AP)—France's chances of making a good showing at the Olympic games at Amsterdam in 1928 were dealt a heavy blow today by a series of military decrees virtually eliminating athletics from the French army.

The decrees were issued as a result of the decision to reduce compulsory service in the French army by one year, the army heads apparently taking the stand that the time for training was now so short that young Frenchmen needed every available hour to become good soldiers.

TUNNEY TO LEAVVE FOR BERMUDA TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Breaking away from the banquet board at which he has herd his praises sung for more than a month, Gene Tunney will sail for Bermuda tomorrow.

An apparent effort on the part of the newly crowned champion to slip quietly from New York revived rumors of marriage and a honeymoon until friends discovered that Gene had made only a single one-way reservation on the liner Furness-Bermuda.

Harvard Harriers Beat M. I. T.

HUDKINS SLUGS HIS WAY TO A SPECTACULAR VICTORY OVER M'GRAW

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP) — Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wildcat, carried off the judges' decision over Paul McGraw tonight in a spectacular 12 round slug fest featuring the boxing show at Madison Square Garden before a crowd of [illegible]. It was a return match with Hudkins repeating his victory.

McGraw put up a sturdy battle, rallying after taking a count of seven in the fourth round to carry the fight to Hudkins but the lightest lightweight found himself tremendously handicapped in weight, conceding seven pounds to the Nebraskan.

Hudkins declared he broke his right hand in the fifth round as the attack that had McGraw groggy, but he was not apparently handicapped by this as he flailed away at his rival through the closing rounds. Examination by a physician after the fight disclosed a small bone fracture.

The Nebraskan kept up a steady hammering that had McGraw weakening at the close although the heaviest blows fought against, seeking with uppercut at close quarters.

Sid Barbarian, rugged Detroit lightweight and Tommy Peters of Philadelphia battled to a sensational ten round draw tonight in the first of three star lightweight bouts at Madison Square Garden.

Barbarian was the aggressor and to ringside observers appeared to have an edge at the finish after pummelling Farley in the closing rounds, offsetting the latter's advantage in the early half of the fight. It was a battle of southpaw sluggers, Barbarian weighed 134 1-4 and Farley 137 1-4.

Eddy Petrolle, the Fargo "Express" knocked out Hilaria Martinez, Spanish lightweight, in the second round of the ten round semi-final match. Martinez was counted out as he lay stretched over the lower rope, half in and half out of the ring, after being knocked down by a straight left to the chin.

The ending was sudden. Petrolle weighed 134 and Martinez 134 1-2.

Sid Sockelyn, Nebraska, 149 1-2, scored a technical knockout in three rounds over Frank Caggano of New York, 150. In the first preliminary. Caggano failed to answer the bell for the fourth and final round because of a badly cut mouth.

Walter Hogan, of Ossining, N. Y., 153 1-2, gained the judge's decision over Tommy Betari of Birdgeport, Conn., 155, in four rounds.

OIL BOOM TOWNS THAT BONDED BEFORE GROWTH

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 29 (AP)—Cities that "might have been" and on whose high tax rates were levied enormous total sums had been voted the bugaboo of Oklahoma history.

Deval, and Persing, both small oil towns in Oklahoma were given as examples by Randolph Hall, assistant attorney general in charge of the state bond department.

Six years ago, Hall brought to the office as the result of the Little Wonder oil field. Visions of a city of 50,000 people and a payroll of $2,000,000 a month because of gasoline and water were seen.

Oil production declined and the city's population decreased. The town is now doubtful for much but its location. Most of the bonds, which were sold are being held by municipal sinking funds.

The story of Persing was repeated at Deval. When it was found, a "boom" occurred and citizens voted large amounts for municipal improvements. Then the population decreased and taxes bounded to excessive rates. A number of Deval citizens moved their homes outside the city limits to avoid paying the levy.

FIND TRACES OF RACE WHICH ANTEDATES INDIAN

MANVILLE, Wyo., Oct. 29 (AP)—An ancient civilization which antedates and was further advanced than that of the American Indian, is claiming the scrutiny of archaeologists in the "Spanish Diggings" eight miles south of here.

Excavations have revealed traces of inhabitants, who, scientists believe were white and of existence by some estimates as far back as 10,000 years.

Specimens of weapons and tools made of jasper and agate have been discovered, strewn in profusion about tepee circles, in which the "lost race" housed itself. Unlike the usual Indian relics' finds, the agricultural tool and cooking utensil predominate over the weapons of battle and chase.

JAPANESE THINK U. S. FILMS ARE REAL LIFE

TOKYO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Popularity of the American moving picture also is a problem for the Japanese producers and theater owners.

Their efforts to win the public away from the foreign-made films thus far has met with but little success, although the native producers are continuing their campaign for the home-made variety.

Picture makers here released 36,735,000 feet of Japan-made film last year. During the same time 3,236,000 feet of pictures was imported—mostly from America.

Love dramas, comedies and "westerns" are the American films most popular in Japan. But at the same time the Japanese public likes its own films depicting important historical events of Nippon. These productions are devoid of any humor whatever and usually consist of scene after scene of gory drama.

The American films shown in Japan are generally understood by the Oriental "fans" to truly represent life as it is lived in the United States. That there are no real picturesque "wild west" cowboys and "bad men" of the frontier type, as shown by the imported films, would not be believed by the natives who nightly flock to the theaters. Society dramas as well as western cause the Japanese to smile and wonder at the "absurd" doings of the "funny Americans."

But the picture theater business apparently is good in Japan right now. Official figures disclose that some 4,400,000 feet of film are shown to the audiences daily. Every theater has its interlocutor who, perched in front on a specially constructed dais, reads the subtitles loudly and also describes at times, the action of the play for the benefit of those who may not understand.

There are at present 311 moving picture theaters in Japan and a number of others are being built.

THINKS COMEDY PARTS AN ITEM IN SCREEN SUCCESS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (AP)—Cecil B. DeMille, motion picture producer, is a believer in actors and actresses beginning at the bottom and working up. He thinks "three years in comedies" necessary to fit aspirants for parts in screen dramas.

"If I could have my way every actor or actress entering motion pictures would be forced to spend three years in comedy before attempting a straight dramatic photoplay," said De Mille.

"Little things they learn in comedies go a long way toward success."

Peat Supplants Coal

A peat fire is a familiar sight in Scottish and Irish households, but though it is suitable as a domestic fuel there are several drawbacks that have, until now, made it impossible for industrial uses, such as heating boilers or furnaces. The greatest of these is the large amount of moisture that is absorbed in it so thoroughly that pressing will not drive it out.

A Canadian firm now announces that it has devised a practical method for eliminating this water, and it is now commencing to develop the enormous peat bog at Alfred, Ontario. It is estimated that there are between two and three million tons of peat in the bog, and that this will now be available to manufacturers in the area between Montreal and Winnipeg, an area that is devoid of coal. It will thus take the place of fuel that today has to be transported many hundreds of miles.

STATES HAVE VARIOUS RATES IN TAX THEY PLACE ON GASOLINE SALES

Only four of the states in the Union—Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Illinois—get along without a tax on gasoline. Connecticut is included among the 22 states which collect a two cent tax and New Hampshire and Vermont are in the same class, but Rhode Island makes the tax only one cent and Maine makes it three cents.

Automobile tourists on the routes of automobiles for the gasoline through the southern states along the that is needed to operate with.

Atlantic seaboard find that they begin paying liberally as soon as they enter Virginia where the tax is four cents, the same in North Carolina, five cents in South Carolina, three and one half cents in Georgia, four cents in Florida.

Kentucky has a tax of five cents and Tennessee cents. In the assessment they put on the

So Little

It takes so little to make us sad;
Just a slighting word or a doubting sneer,
Just a scornful smile on some lips held dear;
And our footsteps lag, though the goal seemed near,
And we lose the courage and hope we had—
So little it takes to make us sad.
It takes so little to make us glad;
Just a cheering clasp of a friendly hand,
Just a word from one who can understand,
And to finish the task we long had planned,
And to quell the doubt and the fear we had;
So little it takes to make us glad.

Poverty and Wealth

The sun set low over a town one day,
And hand of gold, o'er all infant lay.
One to a rich man's home he brought,
And one he left at a laborer's cot.
The rich man said, "My son shall be
A ruler over land and sea."
The laborer asked, "This the good
This will
That [illegible] mouth to fill."
The rich man's son grew strong and
And [illegible] the problem of a million lives.
His [illegible] the war. There while you
And [illegible] reaped in a single day,
He [illegible] position and name and fame.
And [illegible] wife with a handsome face.
He journeyed over the whole wide world,
But discontent in his heart lay curled
Like a serpent hidden in leaves and moss
And life seemed hollow and gold was dross.
He scoffed at woman and doubted God,
And died like a beast and went back to the sod.

The son of the laborer tilled the soil,
And thanked God daily for health and toil.
He wedded for love in his youthful prime,
And two lives chorded in tune and time.
His wants were simple and simple his creed,
To trust God fully; it served his need;
And lightened his labor, and helped him to die
With a smile on his lips and a hope in his eye.
We call it over and all is done
Now which of these men was the richer one?

A Memory Box

Each of us has a treasure box,
That is packed with lovely things—
Often it stands in the warmest spot
Of a happy heart that sings.
But often it lies in a lonely nook,
Of a soul that has known pain;
And tears it is, till a loving smile
Shall open its lock again.

Each of us has a treasure chest,
That is filled with shining gold.
Are there jewels rare, of a wondrous worth—
Oh, more than both hands may hold!
But the chest stays locked from the waiting world,
Till somebody finds the key.
That will fling it wide as a friendly door,
That all passersby may see!

Each of us has a box of dreams,
That is packed with lovely things—
And one keeps it locked in a secret place,
In spite of the joy it brings!
But sometimes a word will break its lock,
And sometimes a tear will creep
Through a crack in it, and will find swift peace.
Where our dreams of beauty sleep!

MEMORIES RECALLED.

Dear Social Corner: First of all I want to thank the editor for my yellow slip which was as always an unexpected pleasure. Also I wish to thank Cretia for sending in the poem, "The Graves of a Household," although I hadn't asked for it. I was very glad to see it. I hadn't thought of it for years but as I read it it all came back freshly to my memory. Another proof of the saying that we never forget anything. It is only covered up with something else for a time. My mother had a small copy of Mrs. Hemans's poems in very fine print. One almost needed a microscope to read it, but when a girl I used to pour over it for hours, and I tried vainly to find a copy in the town library where I live for I should like to read many of them again. I suppose they are out of date and fashion now. Most of them were of the rather dreamy and melancholy order, but all beautiful. The present generation isn't dealing much in dreams and fancies, or rehearsing the past.

There is one poem that we used to read in school that I would like to see again, if anyone remembers it or has it, beginning "For the strength of the hills we bless Thee our God our fathers' God." I think that was also written by Mrs. Heman's thought. I am liable to be mistaken. I often think of it as I look off on the hills in the tender green of springtime or the gorgeous colors of fall, and the snowclad majesty of winter, and then I remember what the Good Books says, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help."

Has Cretia heard the good news that at last the "missing link" in the state road between Scotland and old Westminster, which was my home place, also is to be filled in? and if we live another year or so we may be all able to go to "dear old Westminster" (as we who used to live there all call it, though none of us want to live there now) in peace and comfort, for almost everybody hated to risk a good car over that strip of road, while to go around any other way from this direction reminds one of the old saying about "going around Robin Hood's barn" to get anywhere.

Ivy: Your verse about friends reminds me of one I am fond of. "Once in a while we find a friend Who will cling through good and ill. Whose friendship will follow us clear to the end. Be it up or down the hill. But the heart so true and the love so tender And friendships faithful smile, Whether it be in sadness or splendor, Will be found but once in a while." And that is true as gospel.

Pearl and I were evidently both brought up in the days when all girls had to learn to sew and to mend as well as cook. All might not be equally skilful. I don't say that I ever liked to mend, but I have done a lot of it and probably always shall, for I dote late to see garments with buttons off and gaping holes and tears. And now I will say good morning and good wishes to you all.

PRUDENCE STRONG

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: I am a historic Lebanon again and have just walked over the ground where Washington and Trumbull trod so many years ago. Have any of you heard of Prudence Strong, a young girl in 1780? I have heard she had a lover who was captured as a deserter but claimed he had important news. Prudence had an interview with the soldier who said "If I am punished you might deliver these to Count de Rochambeau," giving her some papers he took from his breast. She immediately went to the governor and begged that his life might be spared as she declared he was a good man. She also appealed to the count, but he shook his head. Then she said, "I know not what his punishment may be. It is a disgrace sufficient to have been arrested. But I have here—and she suddenly drew from the folds of her dress a thin packet of papers, that which he gave me to-night, saying if he were punished, I might deliver them to the count.' "Let me see them," said the count. "Not till you promise," she answered. "You are a brave maid," said the count. "You shall have your wish. Now let me have the papers." With this Mistress Prudence rushed from the room. Presently she returned and said, "I have put the papers where they are safe. Tomorrow when I see Mr. Duplan and he is relieved from all disgrace I will place them in your hands." The count was displeased but went to the governor's desk and wrote an order, pardoning Francois Duplan saying, "Give this to your escort and charge him to deliver it to the sergeant on his return to the camp."

The escort showed Prudence to her father's door by the light of his lantern. He went in and she mixed him a punch of tremendous strength. He drank another and another, so by the time he went back to camp his brain was in a whirl, and an hour after the sentinel took him to his tent in a state of the wildest intoxication.

They found on him at noon the next day the pardon the count had written. At noon Prudence appeared at the oven and seeing the count asked, "Where is Mr. Duplan?" "In his grave," he answered. She paled but did not faint and said, "You have killed a brave and innocent man. I have concealed the papers. He asked me to keep them forever in case he was not released. They are safely hidden. You will not find them unless you pull down the governor's war office."

In the spring when the snow was gone they found a few flowers planted around the stones over Duplan's grave as he was buried on the spot he fell, and a heap of stones shows the place.

If any one knows more about Prudence, shall be glad to hear it.

SUCCESS WITH PEANUTS

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Most of us that take in house plants have them started nicely by now, but have found there is a tablet called the Perfits tablet color grain, which, by putting one in the pot near the edge away from the foliage or plant or fern will make them blossom nearly twice as quickly. They are clean and odorless When watering house plants occasionally use a teaspoon of ammonia to a quart of water. This keeps the soil rich. These are the secrets of my blooms in the winter. I had a nice bumpspun linen sheet off my grandma's which was extra large. I made scarfs and pillow cases of it and found they went so well.

Please let's try and send Betty T a birthday shower of cards on Nov. 4, for she is very thankful for just a little thought from you all. She will be 84 Nov 4. The address is Mrs. Daniel Tucke, 384 Pleasant street, Willimantic, Conn. She walks about the house with the aid of cane or crutch.

CATS AND DOGS

Dear Cornerites: I am quite inclined to again take pen in hand as I can't resist expressing thoughts brought out from perusing some letters of Cornerites as for cats and dogs, you are right it is no place for them in cushioned chairs or on beds.

I too had an experience. I called at a home where there were nice people, but a cat they thought much of was allowed to lie on a cushion. Unfortunately I sat on it and having a heavy winter coat on it was hardly me the next Sunday am, when I got it to put it on. To brush them off was impossible. I had to defer church going and pull the hairs off. I had a large cat. I called him Tip as he was grey with every paw and nose just tipped with white. I thought much of him. But never was he allowed to lie on my cushioned chairs and he had been so taught he never troubled, and if left alone would not touch anything on the table. One morning I was obliged to go out a short time to the grocery store, quite forgetting I had left Tip in the kitchen—my table being left till I returned but everything was all right. I do think there is as much difference in cats and dogs even as is the human family. My Tip weighed over 13 pounds and lived 15 years. They say 20 years is the longest a cat lives. One time (as we had chickens) Tip got behind some bushes. I noticed he was watching the chickens and I knew if he caught one I never could break him of it and I would lose him. I got a switch and put it on him good. For three days I did not see him, but he never troubled again. If taken when young you can train an intelligent cat.

Next a true faithful friend is one who is right there, when one has no home for self or children because of circumstances brought upon you. A dear girl friend from our early childhood became the same one in our married lives, and when at 82 years she passed on I was with her to the last and I felt broken hearted. A true friend is one faithful to the last of one's life. Kind thoughts for all and sympathy for anyone in sickness or trouble of any kind.

Jennie: I read your letter with interest. I remember about the old wooden latches, and pulled the string to open the door many times. As a girl, I used to often go with my mother to my grandfather's and out and in many times as a child. The string was always out for me. At night it was on the inside of the door. What protection would such a contrivance be nowdays? So many dishonest people, and locks of the present time don't keep you safe from being molested by the lawless who have no regard for the rights and lives of our loved country.

POEM WANTED

Dear Editor and Sisters: It is a long time since I wrote but it is just carelessness. That's all the excuse I can give. I guess we all break good resolutions as far as writing goes. I want to thank the sisters who worked on the committee with me, at Club No. 1, the 13th, for doing my part of the work and favoring me in every way. I felt no ill effects from helping what little I did. It is good to know one has friends who think of our comfort and I appreciate it very much.

I think it no small job to open one's home and entertain 48 as Too Late did to everyone's satisfaction and I think she is an ideal hostess as she does everything to make it pleasant for all.

California Girl: You missed that delicious cake this year. Who can beat it? All came away remarking what an enjoyable day we had Hope Too Late and helpers felt no regrets from opening her home for so large a crowd.

Joan: Glad you could come and celebrate your natal day by meeting with the club the 13th. May you be able to come for many years.

Hope Cobweb: Please call as I wish to see you soon.

Has any of the sisters a poem the first of which is:

It was on a Sabbath morn.
The bells had chimed for church.
The young and gay were gathering
Around the rustic porch.
There came an aged man,
In a soldiers garb was he
And turning to the crowd, He said,
Does none remember me?

It may be in the National Preceptor a very old book our mothers used to read from at school. I would like very much to get the rest of it. Please send it to the editor if you have it.

Hope all those that are ill will soon recover. Long live the Social Corner and our editor for printing our letters.

AMY.

GREETINGS FROM MELISSA

Dear Social Corner Members: I want to thank you all for answering my letter on friendship. They were all wonderful. I do not think I have met M. O. G. and do not remember Colleen M. The rest I know.

Y. Y.: Some letter.

Blandina: If you want something easier to write about, try this which was sent to me from Los Angeles, Calif. and tell me what you think of it.

I married a widow who had a daughter. My father visited our home frequently, fell in love and married my step-daughter. Thus my father became my son-in-law, and my stepdaughter became my mother, because she was my father's wife. My stepdaughter had also a son. He of course was my brother, and at the same time my grandchild for he was the son of my daughter. My wife was my daughter. My wife was my grandmother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time, and as a husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I was my own grand-father.

Thank you for the interesting letter, Crimson Rambler. My hand is some better. It has been 10 weeks since I hurt it. Was sorry not to be at our last meeting. They all had a good time and everything good to eat.

I was fit, E. L. M. That's why you did not see me. O. D. told me it was very good. I have asked seven to go to the next meeting but that is a long time to wait.

Love to all Social Corner sisters.

MELISSA.

TO CRYSTALIZE PAPER THINGS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: To crystalize paper flowers make your roses, sweet peas or any flower you wish to crystalize and wind the stem. (I finish them all up.)

Diamond dust is the best to sprinkle on the flowers to make the flowers look if they have dew on them.

Take a salt cellar make the holes a little larger in the top so the diamond dust can have free flow.

Have your paraffine three cakes in the pan. After that is melted put one quarter cake of white beeswax into this. Have a box cover on the right side of you and then in this set your salt cellar with the diamond dust in it. Then on the left place your paraffine almost hot (not too hot.) Dip your flowers in and while your flower is still damp sprinkle on the diamond dust. Hold it in your hand about two minutes, the head or the flower will dry almost instantly, then shake them a little so that if there is any loose diamond dust it will drop off in your box cover.

Be sure and hold your flower over the box cover while dusting them and then what diamond dust has fallen off you can return to your salt cellar.

GOLDENROD EGGS

Dear Social Corner Members: I haven't written in so long I feel like a slacker. Although I am quite a way away I get the Bulletin every day and read all the Social Corner letters.

I am sending a recipe for:

Goldenrod Eggs: 6 eggs, 6 slices toast, white sauce. Boil six eggs until hard. Take off and cool. Make a white sauce. Separate the yolk from the whites of the eggs. Chop the whites very fine and stir into the white sauce. Toast six slices of bread and butter them. Place them on a platter and pour over them. Grate the yolks very fine. And place on top of that.

MAKE FRIENDS BY BEING FRIENDLY

Dear Sisters: It has been some time since I wrote so thought I would try and write a few lines to help keep the Corner good and full. I don't know as I have been missed there have been so many interesting letters much better than I could have written, but I try to do my best. I have been on a visit for the past two weeks and visited my son and family in Norwich a few days. They have a very nice home and he has four of the nicest children I know of. I think they are brought up the way they should be and go to Sabbath school every Sunday which is the proper way to teach them. Also visited my mother in Mystic. It isn't every one that can have the privilege of having a mother in her 85th year. She is quite good for one of her age. So you see I have been pretty busy of late with canning and all. Was very glad to hear from Grandma Gray. She always writes good letters and as she was speaking of friends I thought of a little verse I learned quite a good many years ago so I will repeat it.

Remember well and bear in mind
A faithful friend is hard to find
When you find one that's just and true
Change not the old one for the new.

I think we can make friends a good many times if we would show ourselves friendly. We are all human beings and have our faults and one person is as good as another if they try to do that which is right. So let us greet one another with a smile and not a frown and try to make this old world better as we go along. Smile and the world smiles with you, weep and you weep alone.

I attended Club No. 4's picnic a few days ago and had a very good time. Every one was so sociable and agreeable. What could be a better name for the Corner than what it is? We meet a lot of many people that we never would if we didn't attend some of the gatherings.

I have not been feeling very good this summer and fall but am thankful that I am able to be up and about most every day. We are so apt to think the worst of anyone but let us stop and look around us and we will find a good many much worse than we are, so let us just take things as they come along and hope for the best.

Where are all the good writers such as Historian and Bug? I think we haven't heard from her in quite a while. Will send in a very nice recipe for cup cakes.

Five Minute Cup Cakes: Take a small piece of butter a little larger than a walnut, put it in a teacup, break two eggs in it and fill the cup full with milk. Turn this into a mixing bowl with a little salt and flavoring and stir two cups of flour with two teaspoons of baking powder and put all together and stir for five minutes. This will make 14 cup cakes. Don't stir until everything is in. I think you will be surprised how nice they will come out. Try this and see for yourself.

Kind regards to all.

RURAL AUNTY. (April 10. Club 4.)

SOLVING THE LUNCH PROBLEM

Dear Editor of the Social Corner: I would like to be admitted as a member of the Social Corner. I have always enjoyed the Social Corner page and find it has many helps for the housewife.

I believe that the mother of every school child wants to provide for her children as nourishing a school lunch as possible, for it is during those growing years that good eating habits are to be established and the foundation laid for a strong, healthy, body is to be made.

Many schools today provide cocoa or milk at the recess or noon period, while others provide lunch as well. But I am speaking of the rural of village school where it is not convenient to have either.

The lunch carried from home is much harder to plan and prepare than the midday meal because there are so many kinds of foods that are not good cold and that cannot be easily packed or carried.

First the lunch container should be dust proof, well ventilated, compact and easily washed. Collapsible tin boxes, arranged with compartments and equipped with thermos bottles are easier to carry home.

Quite as important as the selection of the lunch box should be the preparation and packing of food. Materials required for this are: wax paper, paper napkins, paper plates and paper cups.

Well planned lunches should contain a satisfying variety of foods. The menu should include a substantial food, a juicy fruit or vegetable, a simple dessert and a beverage.

Sandwiches usually serve as the major part of the lunch. There are many kinds of bread which are especially good for children and easy to have such as: graham, whole wheat, rye, oatmeal, brown bread and corn or bran muffins. I would prefer any other than white bread as I do not believe that contains the required nourishment. This bread should at least be 24 hours old.

There are many nourishing fillings which go well with these b reads such as: meat loaf, chicken, ham, tuna fish, egg, salad and lettuce, cream cheese, chopped dates, jams and jellies, lettuce and salad dressing and chopped celery and nuts.

The fruit or vegetable might be an apple peach, orange, tomato, celery or lettuce.

The dessert, nuts and raisins, dates or figs, custards, cereal puddings or gelatin puddings, sponge cake or a bar of sweet milk chocolate or raisin and nut cookies. Pies, pickles, doughnuts and frosted cakes should not be included.

The beverage might include either cocoa or milk.

Here is a suggested lunch: 1 cottage cheese brown bread, 1 meat loaf whole wheat, 1 orange, 2 raisin cookies, 1-2 pint milk.

If you have taught your children to eat wholesome, digestible food, you may be sure you have endowed them with a good health-giving life habit.

HARTFORD.

BOIL BAKED POTATOES FIRST

Dear Corner Friends: Those who are fond of baked potato will like it if they boil them ten minutes, previous to baking, in salted water.

Cheese Loaf With Tomato Sauce: Two cups bread crumbs, 1 cup of grated American cheese, 1 cup cold milk, 2 teaspoons butter, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon table sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon chopped pimentoes. Cover the bread crumbs with milk 20 minutes, add the cheese, seasoning, flavoring separate the eggs; add the yolks beat five minutes. Beat the whites until you can cut them with a knife do not beat after the whites have been added. Butter casserole, pour in mixture and bake in moderate oven until firm. It takes about 45 minutes.

Creamed Pie With Egg: 8 hard boiled eggs, 1 cup seasoned [illegible] sauce, 1 quart mashed potato, 1-2 cup buttered crumbs, 1 tablespoon of chives.

The potatoes are mashed and seasoned and flavored to taste; half are put into a buttered casserole as for a crust for an oyster pie. The hard boiled eggs are cut in thin slices, the long way and laid over the potatoes, the chives are added to the cream sauce is poured over the eggs. The remainder of the potatoes are pressed through a ricer, sprinkled with buttered crumbs. Put into a hot oven, brown slightly. Dust with paprika and sprinkle with parsley.

I thought this would be different than any I have seen in the Corner.

Here is another recipe that is different I think than any you have tried.

Peach Island: Place six halves of canned or fresh peaches in a serving dish. Beat 2 egg yolks with 2 tablespoons of sugar and 1-2 tea spoon salt; add 1 cup of hot milk. Cook in double boiler till thick, cool, add 1-4 teaspoon of vanilla. Fold in the 2 beaten egg whites pour over the peaches and sprinkle with cocoanut.

Pussy's Friend made a mistake in the substitute for cream for the caramel pudding. It is 1-2 can of evaporated milk, heat until scalding hot then cool quickly, add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice and 2 tablespoons of cream. This will beat up, oh so quick.

GIFTS FROM THE RAGBAG

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters here are a few helps for making Christmas presents out of the rag bag.

To make a monkey take the end of a coconut shell to provide his face and stout wire for a skeleton which is well padded with old cotton. To form its body gray canton flannel will give him his skin and from an old kid glove his hands and feet you can fashion. Then stitch and stuff for fingers and toes. A piece of plaid from a comfort, part of an old muslin tie and a price of green velvet contribute materials for skirt, coat, and vest. An old silk sock, and a black and yellow hat band made his fez. Fur from an old worn out collarette pasted around the face and brows give a very decided monkey appearance that will bring smiles to grown ups and fill the little ones with glee.

Take an old worn out man's cuff (white stiff one) to form the body, take the cuff and sew together in the shape of a tube just large enough for a large glass marble to roll in easily. The suit is made of scraps from the rag bag. Cut two five inch strips an inch and a half wide, seam together for legs and turn. Cut two semicular pieces, the two straight edges long enough to meet around the tube, seam together the circular edges, between which legs have been inserted, then sew the other edges around the cuff. Cover about half of tube, just above the legs with silk to form a waistcoat. Make a long tailed coat without armholes, lining it with pieces of old colored silk and sew this to the cuff even to the top of the waistcoat. Make sleeves and attach at places for arms. Make hands and feet from old gloves and sew in place to sleeve and trousers legs. Put the marble into the cuff and sew on a velvet cap. Sketch a face on the front of the exposed white part and I call this my somersault doll and he is ready to delight the children with his antics.

I make a doll out of four old worn out stockings. Cut the feet off of four stockings, cut legs into strips to within three or four inches of the top. Draw one of the feet over these and form head and body. Tie closely around the neck to give proper shape. Slit each side for some of the strips to be drawn through. Cut the proper length, and plaited, for arms. Braid remaining strips that hang from the body for legs and tack a bell to each. Outline features in gloss using white for eyes. Make the wig from kinkly raveled threads (cap from an old straw hat that has been thrown away) or fine strips of corn husk plaited.

Every child delights in toy animals. From small pieces of Astrakan cloth or other similar material found in a scrap bag a wooly little doggy can be made. I cut out two sides by a carefully made pattern of a dog. These I sewed in a seam, an opening being left in the back. After being turned I stuffed the dog with cotton wadding, and the rest of the seam I closed. Ears were lined with red mercerized cloth, a little tongue of red, beads for eyes, and the tail sewed on and a pretty collar of beaded ribbon completed his dogship.

I took an old yellow sweater raveled some of that old green sock, red stockings and pieces of blue worsted and tied them together over balls of cotton wadding saved from coats. I wound the yarns in strips of various colors catching here and there to hold their place. I attached loops to a piece of rubber and they made very pleasing attractive pets.

Mrs. Y: You made a rolling nuff is a very good saying. Thank you for advising me.

KITTY LOU

THE FIRST YEAR

Dear Social Corner friends: When your child begins school you will be surprised to find how much he needs home help with his school life. His own shyness or the teacher's lack of time, or perhaps because she does not understand young children make it necessary that you visit the school after to find out where the child needs your help and encouragement.

If he has always had children to play with and was taught to respect the rights of others, to not break or injure their playthings, taught to take turns in using wagon and car and sled etc, taught to be careful and not hurt each other, he probably will not know how to get along happily and safely with the school children who have not had this training.

Those things have to be taught or the person never gets them and is always a disagreeable person to get along with either as child or later when a grownup.

So at first the child does not know just how to learn in the school way and he does not know just how to adapt himself to the ways of children of different habits than his

The child without social training should be made to change his rough selfish ways at once on entering school but we have not yet provided for that to be enforced and so that is still one of the first things the parent-teacher association should make sure that the teacher is sustained in doing.

If your child has been properly taught at home he already knows simple number work, the letters and all the simpler sounds of syllables, and has learned many definitions and ideas from your telling the pictures in his books, and will need only a little home help from you each day to enable him to do his school work.

Make it your rule that he does each day all of the work given him for that day.

If for any reason he was not taught before school age, then you will need to spend much more time on him to build up the foundation he should have already had.

The child receives his first thorough public physical, social and mental test at school.

Many children are found to be undernourished or with defective eyesight or hearing or other trouble that should have been corrected long before school age

But parents are careless or have dreaded to have anything done to the child and so he has been physically or socially or mentally neglected until the fault is harder to correct and make right as it should be.

JEREMY

ENTERTAINING MY SON ON THE TRAIN

Dear Social Corner Members: I have a sister, Mrs. D. who is always late to everything, so that another sister now calls her "the late Mrs. D." so I think you will have to call me "the late Skipper" when it comes to writing letters.

Sometime ago one of the sisters wrote telling of how she amused her children when traveling so I think I will tell my experiences with my son. From the time he was three until after he was seven we were obliged to travel a great deal, often going from Stonington to New York and back again in one day, so like most lazy pains to make the trips as easy as possible for both of use. I bought in the ten cent store a little iron train consisting of an engine, two coaches and an observation car which could be coupled together and uncoupled. These he would run on the window sill with one, two, or three cars as he chose, then I took a favorite Mother Goose book which was quite large, but printed on linen, not so bulky, a bunch of drawing paper and pencils, sometimes two or three funny sheets from the Sunday papers, also a tiny airplane and automobile.

Before he was old enough to draw pictures I would draw things which he was familiar with and leave out different parts, then let him hunt and find what was missing. Of course I always carried lunch, and while he was small he was generally tired enough to take a short nap after he ate it, so he arrived at the end of the journey rested, and so did I.

I once saw a little child running in the aisle of a moving train, fall and cut his head so badly that they were obliged to stop the train at the next station and take him to the hospital so I didn't want to risk anything like that.

I am glad to find so many sisters who like cats, for I do too. We have an old cat who has had young kittens when we have had baby chicks and if any chicks were ailing we would put them in with her at night and she would mother them with the kittens. The first night we tried it, every time the chick got cold and cheeped she would come up and jump on my bed to wake me up so I would get it back where it was warm, but soon learned to take care of them and if one did die in the night she would just push it out to one side of the basket and leave it there.

Meallsa: You surely started something with your letter. It was fine. Sorry not to see you at North Stonington. We had a fine time.

Aunt Leia: Where is that letter you were going to write to the Corner? "Seeing is believing."

Billie: Hope you have a nice winter in N. H.

Tatting: We miss you very much at the meetings.

Crimson Rambler: They tell me we won't hear any more about that for about two weeks, but it will be only one when you read this.

Cosmos: You are some hostess. We all had a fine time and hope you are going to ask us to come again some time.

Best wishes to the editor and all members.

SKIPPER. (Club No. 6.)

THE BUSY ANT

Dear Friends in the Corner: Some one has said if you want any information just write to the sisters in the Corner, so here goes. Can any one tell me who the Stranger was who took the pictures of Balsam Fir and her admirers in the beautiful field of asters at Aunty No. 1's picnic? Would like so much to see them.

Thank you Black Eyed Susie for your nice card and for all your trouble. Come again.

Last summer while out for an automobile ride, we stopped at a wayside station for lunch. Tables and seats were provided under some beautiful apple trees and we were enjoying ourselves, when I discovered just at the foot of the tree, what at first looked like a huge ant heap. I was about to make a grand exit when I found the mound was being made by large red ants but not as a habitation. Tiny particles of wood, from the inside or the trunk of the tree, were brought by the ants to cracks and crevices on the outside and dropped one by one to the immense pile below. I watched them for some time There were hundreds of workers attending strictly to business. After a little I saw one of the "bread winners" toiling up the tree dragging a green worm many times larger than himself. He, too, disappeared inside the tree with his treasure.

Evendently the band of workers did not take an hour's nooning for lunch, but had their forces divided so their fresh meat could be brought as needed. Just imagine the time it must take those little creatures to dislodge and bring to the surface those millions and million of tiny particles enough to form such an immense mound! It was very interesting to watch them. There were evidently no slackers, no strikes, no faultfinding over wages, but each one intent on his own personal load. We dissatisfied mortals could learn a lesson from these little toilers.

I discovered by accident something I will pass along. I found the mices in my stove were badly smoked and discolored. Water makes no impression, so I used vinegar and steel wool, they look as clear as when new. Try it sisters and report.

PRACTICAL POLLY.

SOME MORE WEATHER SIGNS

Dear Social Corner members: Guess I had better take the advice of Twice Twenty and get busy with my pen. Have been busy enough in other ways so that is why I did not write.

Fuller Phun: I must have you guessing. I live quite a few miles from you. My home is in one of the towns along the Norwich-Westerly road.

Here are some more weather signs:

If the sun sets clear on a week day, expect a good day to follow. If it sets clear on Sunday night look for rain in 48 hours.

If the new moon will hold water look for rain: if not look for clear weather. I have always found the above to be true.

I have also heard if the husks on corn are thick look for a hard winter; if thin a mild one

Black Eyed Susie: I saw the aurora borealis and it surely was wonderful. At first it was like a flash light flashing from in back of a big cloud and then a short time afterwards the sky overhead was filled with flashes of rainbow colors. I do love the beauties of nature. Such wonderful sunsets as we have had this fall.

Best wishes for the Social Corner from

EBIN SHIRLEY.

ELEVEN YEARS IN THE CORNER

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: As the last days of October are passing for this year, I turn back the pages of thought, and the vision of memory reveals the first letter that I wrote, and contributed to the Social Corner page. It was in October 1915, that a friend living in Willimantic, with whom I was making a brief visit, showed me a Saturday issue of the Bulletin. She suggested that I enter the list of writers and after returning to my home and with some deliberation and courage, I decided to venture. My first subject was the title of a primary Sunday school hymn, You, in your little corner, and I in mine. The editor kindly allowed space for its appearance, in the Corner column, the last week in October 1915.

I was quite pleased with my first attempt in this line of work and soon after sent in my subscription for the Saturday Bulletin, which I have continued for 11 years. My interest in the letters and their writers increased as the weeks, months and years have gone on, and up to the present time. The first Social Corner meeting I attended was in April 1916, at Willimantic and being a little stranger as I opened the door, the hearty response to my timidity was a most friendly smile of welcome greeting from Maine Lover. It was only a smile at that moment, but it meant so much to me! As opportunity came kind words were spoken by her and many others, the cordial hand clasp was extended. Time has developed friendships, near and dear to me, and I enjoy the association of the Corner writers, as a part of my every day life. There are so many helpful suggestions given, exchange of ideas on various subjects and all contribute to broadcast usefulness. Many changes have taken place since I entered the ranks of the Social Corner, and several of those faithful good sisters are with us no more. Although their pens are laid aside, we shall ever cherish their memory with pleasant thoughts. A little poem I came across the other day, entitled, So Little, has appealed to me as an incentive to turn the tide of our hopes and fears. How true it is, So little to make us sad, so little to make us glad, and we never can forget that person, that has crushed our feelings at a critical time, or they that have lifted the burden in the hour of need. We can not be too careful to be on the alert for our influence, which may, perhaps be reserved from our knowledge as to its long results. Kind wishes to all.

JENNIE.

JUST A REMINDER

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Just a few lines to remind you that Club No. 2 will meet in Odd Fellows hall 32 Main street, Wednesday, November 3 Bring plate and cup and something for the table. I wish those who have to help would be there as early as possible. Sisters from all other clubs will be welcome.

Mittie: We missed you last month and I know your heart is filled with anxiety.

Susanna: Was at North Stonington meeting, but you were not there Would like to meet you, also.

Life has no pleasure nobler than that of friendship. If we have no friends, we will not have very much pleasure out of life.

TRUE BLUE, Club 2.

SNOW IN OCTOBER

Dear Social Corner Friends: We certainly have had some storm. Beginning Sunday afternoon the rain at times just poured. This with a high wind (nature's pruner) did more or less damage. The electric lines were put out of commission by the falling of large branches along the streets which left us in darkness for a short time. I will remember a favorite saying of our grandmothers that we had to have lots of rain to fill up the swamps before cold weather could set in. I haven't seen anybody yet in a hurry for cold weather.

I well remember 50 years ago a little earlier in the month a storm of snow instead of rain. Crops were not secured. The farmers shook the trees and picked up the best of the apples to save for winter's use. In about a week the sun had melted the snow and brightened things up. This was followed by an Indian summer which gave time and favorable weather for the harvest.

By the way what an opportunity the sisters have of getting nice recipes that have been tested. Just cut the out and paste in a book for future reference.

Lucille Drew could write a good story when she was a young girl in school.

CLUB NO. 5's NOVEMBER MEETING

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: It is time once more for our monthly gathering. We hope to see as many as can possibly come to No. 5's meeting Nov. 3 at Buckingham Memorial. Do not forget to bring something for our tables and also come yourselves. We depend upon the good things to eat as much as anything. I wish to thank all those who helped me this last year to make our Corner such a success. The willingness of all to help was very much appreciated. Best wishes for all the sick, for their speedy recovery and much sunshine for the sad in ones.

We shall miss Sister Price for it will be impossible for her to be with us this time but hope she will soon be able to come again. Her pen name I have forgotten for the moment. Success and best wishes to all the Cornerites.

ALTA.

PLEASED WITH NORTH STONINGTON MEETING

Dear Corner Sisters: Having been a long time since writing, thought I would see if my pen was rusty.

I was interested about cats. I have had several, but the last one was very smart and knowing. He was brought to me from Providence and I was very fond of him. His name was Nemo He died and was buried on my birthday a year ago. Some of the sisters will remember him. He had a very nice trick of rolling over if he was told to. He used to get a card from Los Angeles once in a while, as his master who owned him before I did lives out there and wanted to hear how he was getting along. I do not think I ever knew another cat to get postal cards. I do not have a cat now. Peter and Smarthy make calls every day. They are neighbor's cats.

I attend the Shore Line club meeting last week. Although it looked a little doubtful about the weather True Blue, Savilla and I started. I told them it would be a fine day which proved to be so.

We enjoyed the beautiful scenic along the way. The trees were a kaleidoscope tinted in all the different colors, it made a picture no artist could paint.

We were served a very delicious dinner there was a well rendered program. Then it was time to come home.

It was nice to meet some of my old friends, did not even know they belonged to the Corner and made new acquaintances. Hope to see them at Club No. 2 which meets in Odd Fellows' hall Nov. 3.

Marigold: I met a sister there who was speaking of you to me. Said she had a sister living in Coventry. Perhaps you know who I mean. I have not been able to get to see you, I stayed in Hartford as long.

How is Betsy Bray? I think I owe you a letter.

Country Sister: I see you survived your trip to North Stonington. Don't work too hard.

Dom Pedro: Glad to see a nice letter from you having been ill so long. Tete Blue and White Daven: Glad you arrived home safely Friday. I came nearly not getting home at all.

Vira: If you could call at 618 Main street some morning you will be sure to find me. I have something for you.

Best wishes for the Corner,

NECIA, (Club No. 2.)

SORRY TO MISS MEETINGS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Just a few lines to let you all know I am still this side of the Promised Land. Times I have been set and ready to go but did not go.

Aunty No. 1: I was very sorry I could not be with you on the great day. Also sorry I could not go to Willimantic at Club No. 1's gathering. Two weeks ago the good man of the house was taken suddenly sick and when getting better had a relapse. Friends and neighbors came in and did what they could. Flowers, cards, cigars, tobacco, phone calls all speak for themselves. It goes to show the high esteem the people in the community have for him.

He has again started on the road of recovery and we all hope he makes a success of it this time.

I was lucky enough to be present at Club No. 2's meeting. Had a fine time. I always enjoy the gatherings.

Theoda: Hope by now you are fine and dandy.

Sweet William: Why do you not drop us a line?

Respects to all from

SISTER READY.

A JELLING TRAGEDY

Dear Social Corner Friends: It is Saturday evening, Oct. 23 and I have been going over the Corner letters of the day. Seamon and I certainly appreciate the nice things said of the meeting at our place. We hope all enjoyed it as much as we did. The visiting sisters brought so many good things for the dinner, but I believe it was one or our own number who furnished those wonderful "carrots." My mouth just waters for one this minute, not only one but a half dozen. I feel greatly indebted to Black-eyed Susie of Club No. 2, for so kindly helping out on the music. I had asked a local high school girl to play for us, but her school work prevented her from coming. I expected a sending by a new member, Connie, but home cares prevented her attendance. Another new member, heard for the first time, was Oriole, who made a hit with The Old Fashioned Parlor.

Yes, Lady Lou, as E. L. M. asked, "Where are you keeping yourself?" I received a beautiful birthday card from you on Oct. 1. I like birthday cards better than birthdays. So the card was welcome, even though my birthday is Sept. 5. By the way, I commend to the notice of the Cornerites the bright, chatty letters of E. L. M. Adopting her style of composition and her frequency of communication, the oftener one writes the more one has to write about, writing to the Corner would be less a bugaboo than some of the sisters claim to find it.

SOCIAL CORNER

At this writing, I am feeling the tribulations of housekeeping greater than the joys thereof. Having a few grapes running to waste I thought it would be a fine idea to make them into jelly. Having cooked and strained them, this morning I got the juice, with sugar added, boiling in a covered kettle. I stepped into another room for a moment, it might have been several moments (time flies) and when I returned to my kitchen the smoke was so thick I could hardly see across it, while about half of my jelly, or so it seemed to me, was on top of the stove, on the stove doors, on the stove hearth, with a pool on the floor, into which I stepped first thing. The jelly on the stove hearth had "jelled" beautifully. I had to pry it off with a fire shovel. It took me the better part of an hour to clean up. Then, with what there was left in it, I got my kettle on again. I have six glasses of grape jelly to show for all I went through. The moral of this o'er true tale, in exasperation and sorrow lived by me, is this: When you are making jelly you must be a Johnny on the spot. Eternal vigilance is the price of success. And here it occurs to me that I have heard or read that one-quarter teaspoon of butter in the kettle will prevent such dire disaster as befell me. Kitty Lou will know.

LUCILLE DREW, (Club No. 6.)

GREETINGS FROM PISCES

Dear Social Corner: I shall never forget 1926 for so many things have happened in the past nine months. Illness of one of the family enough to try a saint. Work enough for three men to do and I have done it all with the help of the Lord.

Twice Twenty had just such a seige, only worse, for she had to wade in snow up to her eyes. But we are here to tell the tale.

Butterfly: Mr. P. sends thanks for the cake you sent him and asks if you remember how you helped by your presence when he was courting your sister, for everywhere E. and your sister went your father made you go. Those days have gone forever, only pleasant memories left.

Aries: My dear friend I have a treasure chest with which I would not part. You are missing all the social times. Why can't you come to Club No. 4 when they have the next meeting. We all want to see you.

Fan Tan: I am still in the ranks of the later peelers and can beat any one at the job. Hope you are feeling better and planning for another meeting. No beans this time. Nothing so substantial next meeting.

Say the girls at East Killingly can make a perfect day for every one. Every one seemed happy and I hope to meet them all at the next gathering. Bring your singing books and voices and lots of pep.

Some one started something when they said they did not like cats. I have two named Mike and Judy. Mike is Judy's son and they behave better than most of the children.

They are never scolded, always mind and I would not take $20 apiece for them. They are not rag bag cats but have nice smooth fur, such as the Hudson seal coats are made of.

Ann Tenna: Do your relations say as mine do. How can you do so much for a woman of your age? It makes me want to sass back. Why not work if you have the strength even if the years are many.

You must come to the next meeting of Club No. 4 for I think you are within their boundary.

This is the first letter I have sent in since last winter so will not say too much this time. Just enough so I can say I am living up to the rules. I have several old songs such as The Faded Coat of Blue, The Little Log Cabin in the Lane, Wake Nicodemus, Take Me Home, Scotch Lassie Jean, Wait Till the Clouds Roll By, Jenny, I'll remember you love in my prayers and many more that I sang in Auld Lang Syne.

They tell me I most always end my letters with a prayer so here it is:

I called unto the Lord with my voice and He heard me out of His holy hills.

PISCES (Club No. 4.)

COLD WEATHER WASH DAY HINTS

Dear Editor and Members: I have attended my first Social Corner meeting and feel that I have really become a member. The dinner tasted so good, because I didn't have to cook it and the program was very interesting. The Calf Path read by Dorothy Bradford should give us food for thought about why we should do things a certain way because they were always done that way.

Hoot Owl: Your orange cake was lovely. I intend to make some and hope it is as good as yours.

Nancy Pear: Please tell Mr. Pear the apples are fine.

Prim Rose: I am glad I met you. Hope the ladies were not there next day. Try my recipe sometime. If not for an afternoon tea, for an afternoon. You will find it pays.

A few wash day hints for cold weather. Have your clothes pins in a pan in the oven until very hot. Shake up the pieces, after weighting them, put water and all in basket all at once, then the one line holds all and is not changed so much. Put in the strong soap. Take out only a few pieces at a time, so it just enough over the line for the pin to hold. If the pins are cool and not the clothes will freeze to the very little.

A little care in hanging makes the ironing so much easier. Don't stretch the flat pieces so they have "ears" when taken down. All under garments should be hung by the shoulders. House dresses are better hung by the hem, both back and front, being pinned to the line. They don't dry out of shape. Baby's knit skirts and bands should always be hung by the shoulders and be careful not to stretch. Never hang on the bottoms as this pulls them out of shape and they never fit once again. Men's heavy union suits should be hung by the shoulders using five pins and folded between each one.

Having four small kiddies I wash every day and always follow this method. No every day clothes or flat pieces get iron so it is necessary to hang and fold them right. I have a gasoline flat-iron that does very good work. Did any of the sisters ever use one?

Enough this time. Sympathy for all in distress and best wishes for those in health.

SUMAC.

DRY MOP AND BEACH CLOTH

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: I see you had a lovely time at Club No. 6's meeting. I knew you would if E. L. M. and Cosmos had anything to do with it. I see O. D. was there.

If you want a good dry mop take an old broom, cut the corn off up to the stitching, then take an old stock-

LACK OF PEP CHARACTERIZES CLOSE OF CAMPAIGN IN NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 29—The closing days of the campaign of 1926 are generally agreed to have been the slowest ever known in this city. Interest appears to be almost wholly lacking in the election that is to take place Tuesday next. Several of the most interested in politics went to Hartford Wednesday evening to hear President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia university, present the issues involved in the election. There have been no public addresses delivered here during the campaign.

PITY THE POOR LANDLORD UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 29—Owners of tenement real estate in New London declare such to be a form of investment that pays smaller return than does any money [illegible] is at interest. It is pointed out that taxes are high and that the cost of upkeep, added to the rents that are lost, makes the tenement investment a poor risk. Of course real estate owners do not mean to rent property to tenants who do not pay their rent, but they at times encounter such and then they experience a loss. There are many tenements in the section of the city about Atlantic, Potter and Water streets that are vacant now, and that are likely to be unoccupied a considerable time. The rate of taxation on these is proportionately as high as on res. estate that yields a handsome return. Repair work on the undesirable property is said to be very expensive when mechanics are paid at the rate of $1.50 to $2 an hour. An owner of some property said today that he had not received any return on what he owns twice in the past two years.

Nick Gulisi, a sailor on the United States ship Bushnell, was fined $100 in the police court this morning for operating a car while he was under the influence of liquor. The accused forfeited a ma[illegible] and paid $150 of the cost, [illegible] which was $320. He had the [illegible] in a garage and yesterday, while being [illegible] took the machine to locate it, doing so against the advice of the attendants at the garage. Later he was arrested.

The [illegible] were arraigned, but as they have since spent their were allowed to go back to work.

North Bank street has become a favorite place for autoists to park their machines. This highway leads to and from State street and is a convenient spot for autoists to leave cars. There has been a determined effort to have the street cut through to Main, the entrance to be at a point near Federal street, but nothing has come from the movement yet.

Gossip has always associated North Bank street with a new location for the railway station, that gossip having to do with a survey which the New Haven railroad company made with the idea of bringing trains into New London from the western side of the city. That survey is in the archives of the company and whether it will ever be made use of is doubtful. Nevertheless it is said that the railroad company has at [illegible] an idea of making some changes that will locate some of its business a block or two north of State street. Surveyors have been at work in that section at intervals during the past year.

Stephen A. Prentis, long an employe of the Cheney Silk company, is seriously ill at his home. Mr. Prentis has been active in the Methodist church for a number of years.

Manager Murphy and his wife are in New York where the manager is seeking bookings for the theatres of which he is the representative.

Union Masonic lodge staff is to work the master mason degree at Providence tonight. The team has rehearsed its work and will put it on at Providence with a great deal of effect. Next week, during Past Masters' night at Braingard, [illegible] this city the degree will be exemplified in full form by past masters of the lodge.

Water street, some two score years ago, was one of the busy sections of New London. It was lined with industries small and large. Now it has an air of quietude and barring the carpet factories and the plant of the Colonial Power company there is no industry there.

The absence of cider peddlers on the streets is noticeable this season. In years past farmers have netted a tidy sum by selling cider from wagons, but the prohibition law is so exacting that the peddlers of cider fear that they will have to carry it in their possession till it becomes "hard" and then they will be liable to prosecution if they sell it.

The case of Arthur Page for having run down Chief Engineer Charles H. Rose, in the fire chief's car at Pearl and Green streets, some months ago, will come to trial in the common pleas court a few days. Mr. Page appealed from the finding of the police court and went to the common pleas with the declaration that he was not guilty of carelessness.

McGARRY AUTO THIEVES HELD BY NEW YORK POLICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 29. — Charles Hummell, 228 Jefferson avenue, former restaurant worker and Kenneth Davis, formerly a lodger at the Salvation Army lodging house, on State street, will not come to trial in the police court for the theft of an automobile owned by William P. McGarry, 111 Washington street, Norwich, which was stolen in New London three weeks ago. The New York police arrested Hummell and Davis when they were found in possession of the automobile, a Buick sedan, which they had endeavored to dispose of by sale. In the automobile were stolen goods and it is because of the finding of the latter that the New York police today refused to deliver the prisoners to Sergeant John Cavanaugh, of the local department, who went to New York provided with extradition papers for the return of the prisoners to New London. Sergeant Cavanaugh returned to New London this afternoon, but will probably return to New York for the custody of the prisoners when their cases are disposed of in the New York court.

The automobile was stolen following Miss Margaret M. McGarry, daughter of the owner, coming to New London and parking the car on Meridian street, near the Hotel Mohican. There were personal effects belonging to Miss McGarry in the auto at the time of the theft. Hummell and Davis, both former members of the United States coast guard here, drove the automobile to New York, and while they were attempting to sell the car and stolen goods they had gained possession of during their brief stay in New York, they were arrested by a New York detective, George Fox.

Wallace Stearns, former New London young man, whose mother is a resident of this city, and who deserted from the United States Engineering corps, Boston, stealing his commanding officer's automobile as a means of getting away, was arrested in Buffalo, N. Y., Wednesday with his bride, Estella Stearns. Stearns was presented before United States Commissioner George P. Keating charged with stealing the automobile and transporting a stolen automobile from one state to another. He was bound over for trial. Stearns, who enlisted in New London, left a note behind him when he left Boston to the effect that he was going to get married. He was traced by department of justice agents and his arrest followed.

A further investigation by the police of the case of school boys entering the vacant, but fully furnished house corner of Pequot avenue and Converse place which was found ransacked several days ago, has resulted in the very [illegible] the windows [illegible] having been smashed by the [illegible] house is owned by George Howe, keeper, formerly manager of the New Haven Dairy Company's [illegible] this city, who moved to Bridgeport several months ago.

Two youthful runaways were arrested [illegible] Detectives Ernest [illegible] Thursday morning [illegible] the [illegible] Patrolman Officer [illegible] and W. Mansfield [illegible] will prepare for the return of the young men to their homes.

The funeral of Harry C. Hansen, former employe of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at the Montauk club, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Brainard lodge, Masonic temple and was attended by many members of visiting employes of the road. The [illegible] were conducted by Eminence Leader G. Rogers, commander and Rev. and Sir Knight J. Bishop Duffield, D.D., the service was Sir Knight Frederick Bolleng sang [illegible] solos. The honorary were Knights Templar who are employes of the railroad. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery, where the Knights Templar ritual was followed.

Frederick A. Wilson, 58, died last night at his home on Mystic after a [illegible] illness. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Frederick Wilson, Bridgeport, N. Y., and Everett Wilson of Mystic and by two daughters, Miss Mina [illegible] of Mystic and Mrs. Edward [illegible] Bridgeport. Mr. Wilson [illegible] was a foreman under the [illegible] was initiated. He was a member of Columbian lodge, I. O. O. F., of Columbian and of Mystic Rebekah lodge.

Andrew Feloni, a patient at Law

Samuel Johnson, contractor, made complaint to the police this morning that a quantity of coal that was stored at a house he is having to be constructed at 50 Willetts avenue, had been stolen. This afternoon Patrolmen Augustus Ray and George Labonte arrested a youth of 17, charged with the theft.

Stephen A. Prentis, Masonic street, and for many years employed by the Cheney Silk company, is seriously ill at his home.

Ernest Palmer of the Y. M. C. A., made complaint to the police this morning, charging evasion of responsibility, by an unknown autoist. Palmer stated that his wife was driving at Thirteenth and Connecticut avenue, Bridgeport, and that another auto collided with her car and damaged it. The driver of the colliding auto [illegible] left the scene immediately following the accident and then speeded on Garfield avenue, where he disappeared. Mrs. Palmer was unable to obtain the registration of the colliding automobile.

Mrs. Isadore Weinstein of Hartford, owner of a cottage at 23 Boardwalk, Ocean Beach, notified the New London police today that the cottage had been entered by a thief and entrance was gained since Oct. 1, as the cottage was closed for the season Sept. 30. The only loot Mrs. Weinstein stated that was taken by the crook was a pillow. The cottage is one of a score of summer residences that have been visited by crooks since the places were closed for the winter season.

John Mosebrooker, Waterford contractor, today caused a mechanics' lien to be levied against the 325 State Street corporation, owners of the new Garde theatre. The lien is in lieu of payment of sand alleged to have been furnished for the construction of the theatre and is for $948. The lien was filed with City Clerk Julian D. Moran this afternoon.

BOTHERED WITH ITCHING RASH

On Forehead For Several Months. Cuticura Heals.

"For several months I was bothered considerably with what appeared to be a rash on my forehead. At times it would seem to entirely disappear but upon getting warm my forehead would break out in red blotches. This caused an itching, burning, smarting sensation which was very annoying. Scratching only seemed to irritate it.

"I tried other remedies without much relief, but after using about half a cake of Cuticura Soap and part of a box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) A. B. Sweet, R. 1, Box 69, Monticello, Me., Jan. 30, 1926.

Use Cuticura for all toilet purposes.

ing and cut it in strips an inch wide up to an inch of the top and sew it on to that. Keep cutting them until you get enough. There you have a good dry mop.

If you want a good beach cloth take a big sugar bag make it square and work it blanket stitch. It is good for porch or the beach.

APPLE PIES WITHOUT JUICE

To the Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I've just been making an apple pie and while doing it I thought (almost out loud) if I had to go through the performance some of those Social Corner sisters do, I'd never make a juicy pie.

I thought I'd tell how I make mine and if I follow my own directions they never juice out. I put part of the sugar on the bottom crust, then the apples and the rest of the sugar on top. I roll the upper crust larger than the plate and make ten or 12 cuts in it, wet the edge of the lower crust and put the upper one on very loosely, bringing the edge of the upper under the lower and press down. Now if the upper crust is put on loose and there are enough openings in it and the edges well pressed together your pie won't juice, because there are plenty of air holes for the steam to escape without hunting for a weak place.

I find a pound baking powder can excellent for putting paraffin on jelly. The tin is thin so I bend it to form a lip and it is always ready to heat and easy to pour.

Here is something for the cat lovers

Cats

When God had finished the shell of things, the big lands and the seas,
The mountains and volcanoes, such mighty things as these,
He thought He'd make the furry things, the swift things and the sleek,
To move about the ways of men each dull day of the week.

So the bear was made,
And the lamb was made
And the dog and the kangaroo,
And the sharp little rat
And the blundering bat,
And the goat and the gaunt emu.

And a thousand others to keep us kind or keep us in skins or fat,
But the friendliest thing,
The most stand-offish thing
Cruelest, kindest, most lovable thing,
Softest, sweetest, most incomprehensible thing
That He made was the comical cat.

CINNAMON ROLLS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I am not much of a letter writer, but as I so much enjoy the letters of the Social Corner it is only fair every one should do their best. I have heard so many glowing accounts of our last meeting at North Stonington. I am more than ever sorry I was not there, but am looking forward to our next which is to be held in Veteran's hall Westerly. The hostess and her assistants are busy making their plans for the best ever. Hope everyone will bring a plate, knife and fork, cup and spoon. As I have tried these cinnamon rolls and found them nice, will pass them on, and for those who do not use baking powder use 1 level teaspoon soda and two of cream of tartar.

Cinnamon Rolls: Two cups pastry flour, two tablespoons shortening, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 3-4 cup sweet milk, pinch salt.

Mix thoroughly and roll as for biscuits, spread with soft butter and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon.

Roll like a jelly roll, cut in slices about a half inch thick and bake in a greased pan. If this is printed may have the courage to write again sometime. All success to the Social Corner.

MAY BUG (Club No. 6.)

APPLE BLOSSOM'S RAISED DOUGHTNUTS

Dear Social Corner: As it has been a rainy day I think I will start a letter. The lovely autumn leaves are all blowing off the trees and it makes us feel that winter is almost here. We have most of our crops in now and our coal, so we are ready for it.

I have made a lot of pickles and preserves and jelly and I have canned chicken and beef. I have attended quite a few Social Corner picnics and I always have good times.

I have also been to a number of Ponoma meetings and also the state Grange meeting. I went to my brother's, he took up to Pawtucket and Roger Williams park and we went to Springfield so I have had a pleasant summer all around. I am sending a recipe for raised doughnuts.

Raised Doughnuts: 1 cup sugar, butter the size of an egg, stir together, add a little nutmeg and salt, 1 yeast cake, 1 pint milk. Stir in flour to make as hard as you can without a spoon. Raise over night, in the morning, cut, shape, let rise again and fry in hot fat.

APPLE BLOSSOM.

SEYRENA JOINS CORNER

Dear Social Corner Editor: I would like very much to join the Social Corner. I have attended one meeting and enjoyed a fine dinner and program.

Enjoy reading the Corner page very much every Saturday and if I could write like the old members would have a letter in every Saturday because I know it would not reach the waste basket.

Brown Bread: 2 cups of rye meal, 2 cups of yellow meal, 1 cup flour, 1-2 cup of sugar, 1-2 cup of molasses, 1 teaspoon of soda in milk or warm water. Do not mix too thin and steam 2 hours. Please may I have a pin and will say thank you. With best wishes for the Corner I will take for my penname.

SEYRENA.

ANOTER CORNER MEMBER

Dear Social Corner Editor: I am very sorry for picking some one else penname. I am very sure you will excuse me. I am taking for my penname this time.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Political parades and rallies were the chief happenings in Norwich 50 years ago this week. Both republicans and democrats held parades to Bean Hill and in Greeneville. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Bulletin of October 1876 are as follows:

Monday, October 23, 1876—Mr. Kies gives his fifth organ recital at Park church at half past four o'clock this afternoon. The programme is probably as bright and as attractive one as any yet given.

Wood fires are becoming fashionable again. The blessed wood fire! The happiest moments we have even known was when sitting before one, with a blanket wrapped around us, trying to get warm.

The First Baptist Sunday school, West Side, give a supper and social, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week.

Arrangements have been made for a great excursion from Maine to Philadelphia today, passing through here by the Portland route. The indications are now that it will be the largest excursion that has ever passed through this city.

Tuesday, October 24, 1876—A despatch last night, from Key West, says that the bark, Galveston, from Mystic for that port, in ballast, was driven ashore on Duck Key, during the last hurricane and now lies in four feet of water.

The centennial travel last night was very heavy. The Northern road boat train was two hours late and had over 600 passengers. On the Worcester road the train was many more and the train was divided into two sections.

The schools in the Falls district have been closed and all the teachers have gone to the centennial in a body for a week.

The selectmen met yesterday and admitted 181 more voters. They hold a special session again tomorrow.

Wednesday, October 25, 1876—Owing to the disaster to the Arctic fleet whalebone has gone up nearly 50 per cent in value and only steel corsets will be worn this winter. Steel corsets are more objectionable than whalebone on the ground of danger from lightning, but there is a good deal more "give" to them, even when embraced by the left arm, we haven't much of an opinion of a girl who won't be willing to risk the lightning.

A lady in town found some cream on her milk yesterday morning, and was so astonished and overcome, that she threatened to discharge the milk man. The latter, however explained that it was a mistake owing to the drought, and settled the matter by buying the cream for $2.50 as a curiosity for the Smithsonian institute.

The long lights on Main and Water streets are now put out at four o'clock, nearly two hours before daylight. The safety of the business part of the city requires that they should be kept burning at last two hours more.

Thursday, October 26, 1876—The Boys in Blue, every one of whom will cast a vote for Hayes and Wheeler made another parade last night to Bean Hill by invitation of the companies there. On the Norwich Town green the houses were superbly illuminated and nearly every building up to Bean Hill was lighted. At the latter place a number of Hayes and Wheeler flags were run out by the leading citizens. The procession was welcomed to a collation in Continental hall. Horse cars took them back to Franklin square which was reached about 12 o'clock.

Tuesday night while the Norwich democracy was growling because Mr. Waller was not here to address them as had been announced, he and his party were up in Putnam, trying to find a place to get something to eat and to sleep.

The Dime Savings bank has declared a semi-annual dividend at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable on and after November 15th.

There were 46 cars on the first express train and two extra coal trains left for Worcester last evening.

Friday, October 27, 1876—The secretary of the Norwich Rifle club received yesterday the medal of the national association, awarded to each affiliating with that organization and to be shot for by the members.

The democrats intended to start a new daily this week. It was to be a large and influential journal and consequently $200 was required for capital. Every penny of this amount except $190 was paid up but for some reason it has not yet appeared.

The Ladies Home Missionary society of the Second Congregational church meets this afternoon and evening with Mrs. J. M. Huntington.

Saturday, October 28, 1876 — The Boys in Blue — The Greeneville company will receive the Taftville company this evening and make a parade in Greeneville. The National band will furnish the music. Persons desiring to contribute refreshments are requested to forward them to the hall any time after nine o'clock this morning.

Sadie, the fastest horse in the city, made a fine record at Fleetwood this week. She was entered in the 2.35 class, and with seven starters took third money, time 2.29.

The Rev. Joseph Cummings, D. D., of Middletown, the prohibition candidate for governor, will speak Monday evening in the Methodist church in Greeneville, and Friday evening in the Congregational church at Montville.

The democrats made a small parade to Bean Hill last night.

Look at the voting list and see that your name is there.

BIDS

Bids will be received by the Town School Committee until 2:00 P. M., November 4, 1926, for the erection of the new Samuel Huntington School at Norwich Town. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Chandler & Palmer. Bids must be left at the office of the Superintendent of Schools at the City Hall Building.

(Signed) WALTER F. LESTER, Chairman.

TODAY'S EVENTS

Halloween falling on Sunday this year, tonight will be given over to the merrymaking of Jack o'lanterns and hobgoblins.

Gertrude Atherton one of the most successful of American woman novelists, today enters upon her seventieth year.

Tonight will see the virtual close of the political campaigns throughout the United States, preceding the elections next Tuesday.

The annual Pacific International livestock exposition, one of the largest of the kind in the country, will open at Portland, Ore., today for a week's engagement.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who has been making a political tour of the far West, is to address the Republican Woman's Federation of Southern California at Los Angeles.

The Belgian royal family will embark today on the steamer Marie Jose for Gothenburg to attend the marriage of the Belgian crown prince and Princess Astrid of Sweden.

The brief Canadian tour of Queen Marie of Roumania and her party is scheduled to conclude today at Winnipeg. After a day in the western Canadian metropolis the party will leave for St. Paul.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theater

One of the most delightful well balanced [illegible] comedies the screen has offered for a long time is The Waning Sex, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture starring Norma Shearer which opens at the Breed theater Sunday with Conrad Nagel as leading man.

Two girls and a man are the focal points of the plot. One of the girls wants him but doesn't love him, the other the one he loves, but doesn't want what man [illegible] she is not quite sure of her own mind.

The [illegible] in the case is the girl who wants him but doesn't love him. She is married to him. He is invited to her home for dinner and while [illegible] deprives [illegible] compromising circumstances. [illegible] just what the [illegible] in the case [illegible] punishment by the [illegible] and the frustration is just [illegible] as satisfying as if [illegible] the [illegible] male villain.

[illegible] has the role of the [illegible] Arthur, [illegible] Wray, and [illegible] are seen in the cast. [illegible] Z. Leonard is the director, has [illegible] the picture with whimsical [illegible] [illegible] romance, [illegible] the [illegible] by Dorso [illegible] Shearer as the star has the [illegible] a woman lawyer who bests her [illegible] against the hero, [illegible] that she can [illegible] and she does. But [illegible] The Waning Sex is the type of [illegible] audience enjoys.

Strand Theater

Starting with comedy, throbbing [illegible] with [illegible] Hands Across the Border, Fred Thomson's [illegible] thrilling [illegible] swings into [illegible] Strand theater tomorrow for [illegible] engagement. The picture is [illegible] as the best thing [illegible] public western star has done, [illegible] it is expected that it will [illegible] the public sides with laughter, [illegible] No western [illegible] has ever [illegible] into production [illegible] were so redolent of mirth as Mr. Thomson's. The [illegible] supporting cast includes such [illegible] Tyrone Power, Bess Flowers, William Courtwright, Clarence Geldert and Tom Santschi.

The man or woman—or child, for the matter of that—simply doesn't exist who wont get a great, big, tingling thrill—or, rather, a succession of them—out of The Fighting Thorobreds, Billy Sullivan's new Rayart picture, scheduled for presentation at the Strand theater for one day, Sunday as the second feature on a double program, while a snappy comedy completes the bill.

Broadway Theater

Mary Pickford, who has made a score of screen masterpieces that brought pleasure to millions has just completed a picture which is said by many critics to be the best of her career.

The picture is Sparrows, a United Artists corporation release, and it comes to the Broadway theater on Sunday for four days only. The role of Mama Mollie offers to Mary Pickford a splendid opportunity. At times she is an impish, mischievous little hoyden, and yet again the tender mother heart yearning over the orphan rows of the babies and comforting them with stolen dreams and magic kisses.

There is no fine raiment for The World's Sweetheart, in this picture, no gorgeous costumes nor fairy princes. Quainter than Annie Rooney, sweeter than ever, until the very end of the picture, she is tattered and torn, barelegged, ragged, but radiant.

There is not a dull moment in the story, and the picture is brimming with comedy. It has punch and thrills and suspense—everything a successful picture needs, and in addition it has the one and only Mary Pickford.

A new comedy and Kinograms completes the bill.

Palace Theatre

"So This is Paris", Ernst Lubitsch's great comedy drama with Monte Blue and Patsy Ruth Miller, and Irene Rich in her big dramatic success "Compromise" and Gene Tunney in chapter eight of the exciting serial of adventure "The Fighting Marine" comprise the big program that will be shown for the last times today. Tomorrow evening the new double feature bill will be headed by Bebe Daniels in "The Campus Flirt" her latest success. Leave it to Bebe to burst forth with something new. This dainty and charming comedienne is with us again in a comedy that should win an honorary degree. Bebe's story concerns itself with the activities of a college girl who "high hats" everyone who fails to come up to her ridiculous standard. The girls subsequent treatment at the hands of her fellow students provides a laugh every second and the production sparkles throughout and numbers in its cast Charlie Paddock "world's fastest human," playing a featured role. The other feature of the double program is a melodrama of the great Chicago fire entitled "Barriers Burned Away" with Frank Mayo, Wanda Hawley, Arline Pretty, Tom Santschi and Harry T. Morey, that can be depended upon to furnish those who like thrilling drama their hearts desire, for it is a gripping story with such thrills as the screen has never known. A clever comedy "The Banana King", a film novelty and the Palace Topical Events with the latest news of the world and fine music by Walter Lang's concert orchestra completes one of the finest Sunday evening programs presented this season and one that no one can afford to miss seeing.

Lyceum Theater, New London

Mordkin, Russia's greatest male dancer, now on his third tour of the United States and Canada will, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 3 appear with his Ballet at the Lyceum New London. When first seen on this side of the Atlantic Mordkin was associated with Pavlowa as her dancing partner since which time he has ripened into an even greater artist, dancer and ballet creator of unique abilities. With him as principals are Vera Nemtchinova, former Prima Ballerina Diaghileff's Ballet Russe, Hilda Butsova, former Prima Ballerina Pavlowa Ballet and Pierre Vladimiroff, former partner of Karsavina. The company numbers over 50 and includes a symphony orchestra of 15 under the direction of Vladimir Bakaleynikoff. It is said that Messrs. Block and Endicoff, who by arrangement with Mr. Simeon Gest, are directing the tour of Mordkin and his fellow artists have formed an organization that will compare favorably with any other that has ever toured this country.

Capitol Theater, Willimantic

Tom O'Brien was born in New York city, the son of the general contracting agent of Barnum & Bailey, and in 1900 went on the stage with Madame Modjeska, then on a tour of the United States. O'Brien accompanied Paul J. Rainey on the first big African picture exploration party ever attempted. He guarded J. C. Hemment, the photographer of the Water Hole. Now he plays the part of Corporal "Bull" O'Hara in King Vidor's production of The Big Parade at the Capitol theater, Willimantic on Sunday night, Oct. 31st and Monday matinee and night, Nov. 1st.

It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture starring John Gilbert.

Christ Episcopal Church.

The 10.30 morning eucharistic service in Christ Episcopal church Sunday, the eve of All Saints' Day, will be very impressive. The organist will play one or two numbers on the organ, then the processional hymn, "I Heard a Sound of Voices Around the Great White Throne," by H. J. Storer. The Kyrie, by B. Tours and J. Barnby. The Sequence hymn, "O Lamb of God Still Help Me," by F. C. Maker. Gloria Tibi and Gratias Tibi, by Gounod. Sermon hymn, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand," by J. B. Dykes. Offertory by S. B. Whitney. The prayers for the departed and for our dear ones in paradise will be used and many other special intercessions. Everyone is most welcome to attend The All Saints' Day service will be on Monday, Nov. 1, plain eucharistic at 10.30 a. m.

Little Duchess in Y. M. C. A. Pictures.

At four o'clock on the coming Sunday afternoon in the big gymnasium of the local Y. M. C. A., an exceedingly impressive moving picture will be shown. The title of the picture is "The Little Duchess." It is a winsome and a winning picture story, sounding the depths and heights of the human mind, with the sweet influence of a little child bringing sunshine and beauty into gloomy and crabbed lives.

It is a loveable and elevating tale which appeals strongly to any audience. The old man would have nothing to do with his family because of his son marrying against his wishes. Finally death made the little girl an orphan, and in due time she is taken to an orphan asylum. Her grandfather finally takes her to live with him in Carimore castle. Though unwelcome and resented at first, her sunny disposition wins the hearts of all, and at last even the old man succumbs to her charm. Beautiful views of an interesting old castle serve as a pleasing background to the picture. The music for the picture will be furnished by Hugh Kinder, who will also render vocal solos. A brief talk in line with the picture will be given. To this meeting both sexes 14 years and over are invited.

First Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Monday night meeting of the Boy Scouts at 7 o'clock. Tuesday night meeting of the Camp Fire Girls at 7.15. Thursday night meeting of play committee. Friday night choir rehearsal. Saturday morning at 10 confirmation instruction.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mrs. Mulroney and Mr. Maples
Marche Slav	Tschaikowsky

Food Booth.

The man who said we could live without lots of things, but not without cooks, whether a husband, or a disgruntled bachelor, knew whereof he spoke. There is probably nothing that adds more to a happy home than well-cooked food. That being the case, it might be well for many a housewife to look in at the Food Booth of the Hospital Bazaar, Armory, Nov. 16-17, and invest in some of the delicacies which will be found there.

The country represented will be Ireland, and for that poetic and beautiful land of the Little People, of course, the color scheme could be nothing but green, white and gold. The booth will be constructed to represent an Irish hut, with green and white draperies, and in their midst a replica of the quaint, historic Harp of Tara. Little gold harps, stamped or painted on the hangings will add their symbolical touch, and those in attendance at the booth, are to wear costumes in which green will predominate.

Mrs. Joseph P. Cummings is the chairman of the food booth. Mrs. Roderick F. Sullivan, vice chairman, and Mrs. James Purdon, treasurer of the funds. Miss Mary Carroll has planned the costumes, and Mrs. John R. Tarrant is the efficient chairman of the decorating committee.

Winter Telephone Directory

The winter issue of the telephone directory goes to press soon and subscribers wishing to make changes in their present listings are advised that notice of such desired changes should be received by the local exchange manager not later than November 6.

Persons who plan to have a telephone installed should arrange for it before the date mentioned so that the listings of such new telephones will appear in the forthcoming directory.

Delivery of the new directory will take place the latter part of December.

Norwich Music Asso.

The program for the regular monthly meeting to be presented on Monday evening, November 1st by Willard Amison will be published in Monday's paper.

Membership fees are $3.00. Six regular meetings and two extras. Communicate intention of joining the association to William H. Collins treasurer, either at his home or at the door on Monday evening.

Next Week at First Baptist Church.

Monday 10.45 a. m. November meeting of the Thames River Valley Ministers' association. Rev. J. N. Lackey, D. D., Hartford, the main speaker. Tuesday, 4.30 p. m. A supper hike by the Boy Scouts of Troop No. 9. Meet at corner of Asylum and West Main streets. Thursday, 7.45 p. m. Mid-week service of the church. Topic, The Peacemakers.

Danny is Suddenly Bashful.

It's funny how you sometimes shrink
From doing what you plan and think.
—Danny Meadow Mouse.

All the way home from the seashore, through all his adventures, Danny had planned and talked about how he would rush in and make himself known to Nanny. He had pictured to himself how she would squeak for joy and perhaps rush out to meet him. But now that he was here on his own doorstep, so to speak, he hesitated. He had doubts. Yes, sir, Danny had doubts. Perhaps Nanny wouldn't be glad to see him after all. Perhaps she would even wish he hadn't come home. All his confidence in himself somehow seemed to ooze right out of his toes.

"Aren't you going to climb up there?" inquired Peter.

"I-I think I'll wait a bit," squeaked Danny. "After all, that is Nanny's

"Aren't you going to climb up there?" inquired Peter

house, and if she shouldn't be at home I wouldn't want to go in there. And if she is at home I don't want to frighten her. I think I'll wait out here a little while. Don't you think that would be quite the right thing to do?"

"Oh, certainly," replied Peter, turning his head aside to hide a grin, for he knew exactly how Danny felt. You see, Peter had stayed away from home longer than he should have and he had had to make peace with little Mrs. Peter. "Certainly, if I were in your place, I would wait. I would find out what state of mind Nanny is in before I made myself known. Take my advice and wait until you are sure she has had a good dinner. You know, a full stomach dulls a sharp tongue. Be sure she has had a good dinner and then break the news to her little by little."

"How am I going to break the news to her little by little?" demanded Danny.

"I don't know, but that's what I would do if I were in your place," replied Peter. "Give her my love and break the news to her little by little that you are home."

Peter turned and hopped away. Danny watched him out of sight. Then he looked up at that snug little nest in the bush. He saw just how Nanny climbed up there. Three or four times he started and then turned back. The truth is, Danny hadn't felt so bashful since he first went courting Nanny. Never in all his young life had he felt more shy than he did right now. And all the time he was possessed by a dreadful fear that perhaps, after all, Nanny wouldn't want him. Then the thought occurred to him that perhaps the sudden shock of joy at finding him alive would be too much for her. Had Peter been there he could have told him that he needn't worry about anything of that kind. But Peter wasn't there, and Danny did worry.

"Perhaps," thought he, "Peter is right and it would be better to break it to her little by little. Yes, sir, I believe that would be the way to break the news to her. If she should come along now and see me sitting here it would be a dreadful shock to her. She might think I was a ghost or something. I really think that Peter is right and that I ought to break it to her little by little. I must go off and sit down by myself and think. I don't know how one goes about doing such a thing, but I really must break it to Nanny little by little. I wish I could sing. If only I could sing, it would be easy. I would sing off in the distance and keep coming a little nearer and a little nearer until she realized that it was I. That would be breaking it to her little by little. But I can't sing, so what can I do?"

Danny looked over his shoulder very thoughtfully at his short tail. Suddenly an idea was born. It was born right there and then. It was born of looking thoughtfully at his short tail (Copyright, 1926, by T. W. Burgess)

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKETS AT A GLANCE
New York

Stocks steady; coal shares rise on large export demand.

Bonds strong; many foreign issues at new 1926 highs.

Foreign exchanges firm; French francs higher.

Cotton steady; bullish spot market.

Sugar firmer; commission house buying.

Coffee higher; European buying.

Chicago

Wheat barely steady; heavy Canadian marketing.

Corn easy, continued heavy receipts.

Cattle dull.

Hogs lower.

MARKET WAS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment imparted considerable irregularity to today's stock market. Prices sold off during the morning, rallied in the early afternoon and then utrned heavy again toward the close. One of the most significant developments of the day was the reduction in the rate on 60 to 90 day loans to 4 3-4 per cent, the lowest since last August.

The weekly mercantile reviews reported further irregularity in business, with October gains over last year not as large as in September. As yet, however, there is no indication of a definite general downward trend, the recent falling off in some lines being attributed to unusually large mid-summer activity. Ingot production of the United States Steel corporation's subsidiaries in the Chicago district was reported to be down to 72 per cent, the lowest in some time.

U. S. Steel common and General Motors, two of the recent leaders, both closed fractionally lower on the day. New loan prices for 1926 were registered by American Agricultural Chemical preferred, International Agricultural Chemical prior preferred, American & Foreign Power, Indian Motorcycle, Hudson Motors, Otis Steel preferred and Worthington Pump. Selling of the chemical shares probably was influenced by the growing movement to restrict cotton production in the south next year.

Oil shares were again in brisk demand, Producers & Refiners common and preferred advancing to new high levels for the year and substantial gains being recorded by the Pan-American issues and Atlantic Refining. Sugar shares were liquidated freely toward the close on publication of a poor earnings report by the Cuban Cane company. The late run-up in Fox Film A was in anticipation of the first showing of the new talking picture in which the company is interested.

Except for Southern Pacific, which advanced 2 points on the possibility of an early increase in dividend, the railroad shares made little progress on the up-side. Talk of a future merger of the Pennsylvania and New Haven railroads stimulated interest in those issues.

Call money held steady at 4 1-2 per cent with banks calling about $15,000,000 in loans during the day. Time money was easier, 30 to 60 day loans being quoted at 4 3-4 to 4 7-8, with the longer maturities at 4 7-8 to 5. Prime commercial paper ruled unchanged at 4 1-2 to 4 3-4.

Commodity prices moved within a narrow range. Active wheat futures yielded fractionally with speculative sentiment inclined to bearishness by the lack of export demand and heavy Canadian marketing. Cotton prices advanced 7 to 13 points in quiet trading. Raw sugar was unchanged and coffee prices advanced slightly.

A further advance of 5 points in French francs, which crossed 3.15 cents for the first time since last spring, was the only development of consequence in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly firmer around $4.84 5-16 and Italian lire held steady just below 4 3-8 cents.

GREENEVILLE

A very pretty as well as successful Hallowe'en supper and sale of aprons and candy was held in the Sunday school rooms of the Greeneville Congregational church Thursday evening when about 200 people were fed. The tables were decorated very appropriately for the occasion with orange and black crepe paper, also yellow candle sticks, corn stalks, and pumpkins. The waitresses were attired in black and yellow caps and aprons to match.

The committee in charge of the supper was Mrs. Chas. Levitsky, chairman, Mrs. Fred Sears, Mrs. Geo. Geer, Mrs. Geo. Mitchell, Mrs. William Fleming, Mrs. Richard Stevenson, Miss Elizabeth Brown.

The reception committee included Mrs. S. S. Lathrop, Mrs. Jennie Young, Mrs. Alexander Sutthill.

The decoration committee was Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury and Mrs. Fred Thompson.

At the apron table were Mrs. Rydholm and Mrs. Chas. Macmillan and at the candy table Mrs. Howard Spaulding, Mrs. Thomas Haslam and Mrs. Alexander Sutthill.

The waitresses were Mrs. Carrie Prentice, chairman, Mrs. Geo. Turner, Mrs. Alfred Smith, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Miss Florence Tilly, Mrs. William Kramer, Mrs. Louise Atterbury, Mrs. Raymond Britten, Mrs. William S. Murry and Mrs Chas. Foster.

TAFTVILLE

The death of Mrs. Mary F. Aberg, wife of Axel L. Aberg of 74 North Third avenue occurred Friday morning in Norwich where she had been ill for three weeks. Mrs. Aberg was born in Gothenburg, Sweden, and was married in that city. She has been a resident of Taftville for many years where she had many friends. She is survived by her husband, two sons, Albert J. Aberg of Taftville and William A. Aberg of Washington, D. C., and six daughters, Mrs. Floyd Parrish of Hartford, Mrs. Roy Clarke of New London, Mrs. Willer W. Kellner of Preston, Mrs. Raymond A. Pingree of Saylesville, R. I., and Mrs. Earle M. Wood and Miss Helen C. Aberg of Taftville. There are fourteen grandchildren.

There was a large attendance at the Rockwood Well Child's conference held Friday afternoon at the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building. Dr. George M. Thompson was the examining physician.

A new sign denoting the entrance to Mohegan park has been placed at the function of the old Canterbury turnpike and Hunters road.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Recave of Oneum have been registered this week at the Hotel Woodstock, New York.

A meeting of the Taftville Business Men's association was held Thursday evening in the Fire company hall on Merchants avenue.

Men have been at work for the past few days widening in places the Gallows Hill road and grading and repairing the shoulders of the road.

The members of the Dramatic club held a meeting Friday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

The N. F. C. met this week at the home of Miss Ruth Anderton of North Third avenue. After the business session, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Herman Fink of School street and Alfred LaBarre of Hunters avenue have returned to their homes in town after spending a week in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Ocowasin group of Camp Fire girls njoyed a hike and out-of-door supper on Ponemah heights Friday afternoon under the direction of the guardian Mrs. Edwin G. Crowdis and the asistant guardian Mrs. John Volkman.

Divorce for Wife's Desertion

Franklin H. Converse of West Willington and Leila Estella Morse of East Hartford were married in December, 1913, when she was a school teacher in Tolland. She left him a year later after the birth of her child, and he has seen her but once since. He obtained a divorce Friday in the superior court at Hartford.

Make More Money

Healthy, vigorous men find life's best prizes. Buoyant step, bright eyes, clear complexion and exuberant vitality denote a system free from impurities. Constipation poisons the whole system, slows the step, saps energy, destroys confidence and cuts down the earning power.

Rid your system of constipation and its poisons. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets remvoe them gently, tone up the system, clear the eyes and complexion and bring back normal vigor. A compound of vegetable ingredients, prescribed to patients for 20 years in place of calomel. They act easily and quickly on bowels and liver.

Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets and keep fit for the daily grind. Thousands of happy men and women use them regularly as an aid to success in their every day tasks. Know them by their olive color, 15c, 30c, 60c.

VERSAILLES METHODIST CHURCH IS TO OBSERVE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The 50th anniversary of Versailles Methodist Episcopal church, where Rev. Harvey H. Conklin is the pastor, is to be celebrated Sunday with special services in the morning and in the afternoon.

At the morning worship at 10:30 the following will be the order of the services:

Voluntary, "Liebestraum" (Lisst); processional, "Peace, Perfect Peace"; congregation joining with third verse; apostles' creed; prayer, concluding with Lord's prayer and choral response; anthem, "Send Out Thy Light" (E. S. Lorenz); responsive reading, Psalter Forthy-fourth Sunday morning; Gloria Patri; solo, Miss Elsa Nisbet; scripture leason; notices and offering; offertory, Menuet (Beethoven); duet, "Sometime, Somewhere," Mrs. Erlbeck and Miss Toplift; hymn, "My Jesus, as Thou Will"; sermon, Rev. Charles T. Hatch; hymn, "O Perfect Love"; pastor's and choral benediction; organ postlude, "Berceuse", (Gaston de Lille).

Dinner is to be served in the basement of the church to all guests.

At the anniversary service at 2:30 in the afternoon the order of exercises will be as follows: Voluntary, "Adagio Religioua," (Max Ocston), organ and violin; processional, "The Church's One Foundation"; hymn, "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne", No. 6; prayer, followed with choral response; anthem, "In Heavenly Love Abiding" (Waring); responsive reading, Psalter seventh Sunday morning; reading of church history, Mrs. Robert McNeely; scripture lesson; talks by former pastors; solo, "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled" (Oley Speaks), Archibald Torrance; address, Rev. Myron E. Genter, district superintendent; hymn, "And Will the Great Eternal God"; benediction, organ postlude, "La Cinquantaine" (Gabriel-Marie).

The trustees of the church are A. H. Boutilier, John Macht, Henry J. Benker, C. W. Perkins, Mathew Exley, Louis Erlbeck, George Allen, Jr., E. M. Tarbox, F. H. Topliff.

A church mission is to be held from Sunday evening to the following Sunday morning with services every evening at 7:15 o'clock, at which Rev. Mr. Conklin will be the pastor evangelist and Miss Elsa Nisbet will be song leader and soloist. There will be special music, vocal and instrumental, with a chorus choir.

Anticipated visitors on the different evenings are the following: Monday evening Baltic M. E. church; Tuesday evening, Versailles league; Wednesday evening, Norwich Town Methodists; Thursday evening, Everyman's Bible class of Norwich Trinity M. E. church.

BIG AUTOMOBILE TRAFFIC FOR YALE-ARMY GAME

There will be more traffic on the state highways today (Saturday) perhaps, than there has been on any other day of this year, owing to the press of automobiles toward New Haven from all directions for the most popular game of the present season. Every available seat in the Yale bowl has been sold for the Yale-Army game and the great majority of those attending will be transported in automobiles.

The state motor vehicle, police and highway department, in co-operation with the New Haven and West Haven police and the New Haven Automobile club and Connecticut company have perfected the traffic arrangements that have governed the handling of traffic occasioned by the big games at New Haven in the past two weeks. Their experience this year as well as in past years, has shown that the rules and directions are followed. They are to avoid extremes of speed on the highways, not traveling so slowly as to hold up traffic behind not so fast that the driver does not have complete control of his car.

The trouble with the slow driver on occasions like these, when every main highway running into New Haven present the spectacle of an unbroken line of well-filled automobiles, is that it encourages the driver behind him to try to turn out and pass. Others follow out into the right of way opposite traffic all along the line until the slow car gets into New Haven. This leads to confusion, and experience of past years has shown that it is the most dangerous practice to be guarded against.

HOLY CROSS FATHERS' DAY IS TO BEGIN THE 30TH

Today (Saturday) Oct. 30, and Sunday, Oct. 31, will be "Fathers' Day" at Holy Cross college. Invitations have been sent to fathers of students at the institution and Connecticut will be well represented as in former years. The invitation bears the signature of Rev. Joseph N. Linand, president of the college, and reads: "Now that the college has entered upon a new scholastic year and classes have been resumed in all departments, it is the earnest desire of the faculty to invite the interest and co-operation of the parents, particularly the fathers of our students, in the education of their sons. "Fathers' Day at Holy Cross" was proposed as a means of securing the sympathetic understanding between the fathers of the students and the college authorities."

The program this year includes a golf game at the Worcester Country club and football match between Holy Cross and the University of Dayton at Fitton field.

"VOTE" SAYS THE LEGION TO AMERICAN ELECTORATE

Adjutant Joseph Bellefleur of Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, in a statement issued Friday, urges all legion men to exercise their privilege of voting in next Tuesday's election. Mr. Bellefleur says: for many months the American Legion, in conjunction with the National Civic Federation, has been appealing to the voters of the United States to rally for a determined stand in defense of our most cherished principles of government. The legion's national americanism commission in carrying on this national movement to re-awaken interest of citizens in public affairs, has given to the whole country impressive evidence that the legion is performing in peacetime services every bit as important as legionnaires rendered in the war. The movement now being carried on is not to end on November 2nd, but is to be carried on undiminished. Voters are being urged not only to vote but also to make themselves effective units in the machinery of party politics by which public servants are selected and governmental policies given life. The legion is not concerned with the individuals politics! belief. It does not care with which party he chooses to align himself.

On November 2nd, the political system of the United States—its system of government—will undergo a test. On that day the voters of the United States senate, thirty four governors of states, hundreds of members of state legislatures and thousands of county and local officers. The election of November 2nd will determine whether ours is still truly a representative of government, as our forefathers believed it should be, or whether it has become non representative because of the apathy or indifference of one-half of our citizenship. This year's election will determine whether or not the tendency revealed in 1920 or 1924 is still operating, whether or not civic consciousness is dying of dry rot. If the non-voting citizen does not reassert his rights, he is going to find his government some day nothing more than a soviet of organized selfishness. He will find voting in the house and the senate, not the representatives of the people of the United States, but the collar marked agents of private interests. On November 2nd every citizen can bring politics back to the people and the people back to politics.

To all ex-service men in particular we wish to bring this message. "You should be posted as A. W. O. L. as an American citizen. If you do not vote this fall." Considering how few of us vote these days compared to other days, voting does seem old fashioned. But try it once, all slackers. You may like it, and get the habit, and make it fashionable again. It costs nothing, it is self starting. Exercise the privilege for which you fought. You were not indifferent in 1917 and 1918 to the nations affairs. Why be now. You did not ask others to fight for you. Why expect them to vote for you now. You used to take orders. Try giving a few. You did not just talk about your war unit being superior. You worked to make it so. So do not just talk about making this the best of nations. Work to make it so. Make it "the gang's all here" at the polling booth. Shell shock, scars, medals, prosperity or adversity; forms no excuse. If you find no choice between men, vote for the issue; if no choice between issue vote for the man. If no choice between either, scratch the ticket and vote for your own candidate. Lacking one, then vote for the fellow whose personality and principles you always approve—yourself. Anway, vote.

LEASE, DIVORCE AND SUPPORT SUITS FILED

Three new suits for the superior court, two of which are returnable in November and one in December, were filed here Friday at the office of the clerk of the court, Judge George E. Parsons.

Atlantic Carton corporation of New York, having its place of business in Norwich, sues John B. Fyans and others of Fall River for $11,000 damages to collect rent of $9,500 which it is claimed was due on September 18, 1926.

The defendant named is one of the firm of Fyans, Fraser and Blackway Co., which the plaintiff alleges leased on May 1, 1924 certain floor space for storage purposes in the Atlantic Carton Co. buildings on North Main street. The space leased was 101,444 square feet in several buildings.

Divorce, alimony and the custody of a minor child are sought by Mrs. Emilia Zacher Zeleuski against Louis Zeleuski, both of Norwich. They were married July 24, 1923. She alleges that her husband has been habitually intemperate for more than a year past and intolerably cruel since March 1, 1926.

The December suit is the suit of Leona Newman of Franklin against her husband Thomas Newman for support of herself and two children, girls aged 10 and 8. She alleges that since January, 1926 her husband has failed to provide necessary support for herself and children, although he is well able to do so. She also asks that he be ordered to contribute such sum as may be reasonable and necessary from the time of service of the complaint, and that execution be issued monthly for the same, which when collected, shall be paid to the plaintiff.

PLANTING 2,800 TREES ON HIGHWAYS OF STATE

A definite step towards systematic beautification of Connecticut roads was taken Friday with the awarding of two contracts by the state highway department for the planting of trees along the state roads in a number of towns. These are the first contracts of their kind to be awarded and twenty sections of roadway in all parts of the state are involved.

The quantity of plantings will reach about 2,800 nursery-grown shade-trees which will be furnished, planted and watered and guaranteed for one year by the companies supplying the trees.

The trees to be planted include a variety of straight stock such as pin oaks, Norway maples, sugar maples, American elms, red oaks, silver maples, Crimean linden and mountain ash.

All the trees will measure from ten to fourteen feet over all, according to specifications, and no branches shall appear at a height of less than seven feet above the ground. All shade trees must be nursery grown, having been frequently transplanted under the supervision of the department's landscape architect and will be started at once.

The following roads have been chosen for the work: Ridgefield-Danbury road, 50 pin oaks; Newton-Hawleyville-Brookfield road 210 Norway maples; Southbury-Roxbury road, 75 pin oaks; Thomaston-Torrington road, 100 sugar maples; Torrington-Goshen road, 50 sugar maples; Norfolk-Canaan road, 100 American elms; Canaan-Salisbury road, 80 American elms; Lakeville-Sharon road, 50 American elms; Suffield-Agawan road, 200 sugar maples; East Hampton extension, 35 Norway maples; Hampton-Chaplin road, 280 red oaks; Colchester-Hebron road, 180 silver maples; Putnam-Killingly road, 140 Crimean linden. Hartford-New Britain Elmwood, 85 American elms; Milldale-Meriden road, 106 American elms; Boston Post road in East Lyme, 110 American elms; Shelton-Nichols road, 90 American elm; Bridgeport-Trumbull road, 125 American elms; New Milford-Cornwall road, 500 mountain ash; State street, North Haven, 40 red oaks.

POETRY

Invitation

Out of the cottage, the mansion, the pal ace;
Out from four walls, be they ever so dear!
For red is the sumac and scarlet the maple,
And these are the last gypsy days of the year.
Come!

Out to the high road that stretches on broadly,
Out to the by-road that wanders at will;
Radiant last days are turning to past days,
With portents at sunset so flaming and still.
Come!

Out to the moors and the tang of the ocean,
Before all the splendor is over too soon;
Earth, sea, and sky with sheer beauty are calling,
And mellow at night hangs the big hunter's moon.
Come!

—Alice Lawry Gould in The Christian Science Monitor.

October

October is a Gypsy lass,
Staid Autumn months between,
With cloak of red and turbaned head
And twinkling tambourine.

Her feet are light as any sprite,
She trips on twinkling toes,
And who would fear her call to heed,
To follow where she goes?

October is a Gypsy lass,
With sash about her hips,
Within her eyes a challenge lies,
A lure upon her lips.

And if she mocks or if she shocks
Her sestasy her moods,
Whose pulses yearn, whose footsteps turn,
To follow where she goes.

—L. Mitchell Thornton in Munsey's Magazine.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Her Friend: "Why don't you ask your husband's advice on the matter?"

Herself: "I intend to, as soon as I decide on what I'm going to do."—Boston Transcript.

Wilbur: "I read in a magazine that they have been playing chess for thousands of years."

Wilma: "Gracious! Isn't that game nearly finished?"—Boston Globe.

"Don't mumble your prayers, Helen. I can't hear a word you say."

"I wasn't speaking to you, mother!"—London Punch.

"Is your boy on the football team this year?"

"I hope so; he was under it last year."—Detroit Free Press.

Nip—They say I'm the hardest guy in this state.

Tuck—Well, you might be in this state, but not when you're sober.—Lehigh Burr.

Gentleman: "Waiter, what's wrong with this chicken?"

Waiter: "It's been in a fight, sir!"

"Well! Take it back and bring me the winner."—Grinnell Malteaser.

If I was evolved from a monkey,
Way back where the age first began,
Pray, why did they fail to leave me my tail
When they fashioned me into a man?
—Humor Digest.

"Children," said the teacher, "be diligent and steadfast and you will succeed. Take the case of George Washington. Do you remember my telling you of the great difficulty George Washington had to contend with?"

"Yes, ma'm," said a little boy. "He couldn't tell a lie."—Laughter.

KALEIDOSCOPE

The eyelids of frogs wink upwards.

A frog that does not pass through the tadpole stage has been found on the Island of Dominica.

Ancient man in Indo-China domesticated the chicken, peacock, buffalo, elephant and zebu.

Exceptional weather sweeping South Africa recently brought snow to many parts where it had never been seen before.

Natives of Tierra del Fuego are said to endure extreme cold with greater hardihood than even the Eskimos of the north.

Aviators making long distance sea flights are greatly assisted in keeping to their course by radio communication with passing ships.

As a step to encourage courtship and marriage, the Wortley district council has closed two miles of country land near Ecclesfield, England, to all but pedestrian traffic after dark. Complaints had been received that the motor traffic was making courtship impossible.

The love letters of William Pitt, the elder, the first Lord Chatham, are soon to be published. Pitt's private correspondence has been almost unknown to the public, though many brilliant epistles and some of historic importance are included. They have been retrieved now from the Pitt manuscripts in the Record office, edited by Ethel Ashton Edwards, and are soon to be issued in book form.

Herbert Murray, a boy of Fifeshire, has adopted a young seal as a pet. It lives in the lad's garden with an old box as its home. The seal was found at the sheds of the Wormit Boating club and refused to leave. Though placed in the water, it insisted on returning to the beach. Two members of the club rowed out with the seal in a boat and threw it overboard. The seal, however, returned, crying piteously. Then Herbert Murray, whose father is a noted Scottish whaling skipper took pity on the visitor and adopted it.—London Express.

A strange, three-layer arrangement of water has been revealed by recent hydrographic investigation of the Faroe-Shetland channel, north of Scotland. The layers are so distributed that a swimmer in the channel could take his choice of swimming in Atlantic ocean water at the surface or diving into the Norwegian sea which flows at the bottom, while between top and bottom he could enjoy a mixture of the two kinds of water with a dash of Icelandic Arctic current added to the blend. The observations of the channel have recently been reported to the International Council for the Exploration of the Sea.
